Miss McCarter, of Boston, who has lately taken up residence in town, delighted the gathering with several vocal selections. Miss McCarter has a voice of great range over which she has splendid control and her singing of "Sing to me the old Scotch songs," "The Japanese Song" and "Come Sweet Morning," were a treat, indeed, and highly appreciated.

Little Miss Kathleen Walace proved to be one of the leading artists of the evening in her clever work on the violin. Her elegance of style, sympathetic and clear intonation, characterised her performance throughout and won for her enthusiastic applause.

Mrs. James Kendry's readings from Drummond are always a treat for an audience, and her recitation of several numbers from Drummond were heartily encored. They were given with Mrs. Kendry's usual clear articulation and expression.

Mrs. A. G. Parker, of Belleville, when she resided here was always a favourite in her vocal efforts, and her reception last night showed that her talents had not in anyway depreciated since her removal from town. In her usual sweet voice she delighted her hearers with "Oh for the Wings," "A Sweet Lass" and other selections.

Miss Edmison's piano selection was given with good expression and altogether a programme of rare excellence was provided.

God Save the King brought the entertainment to a close.

At the conclusion of the concert those who assisted in the sale and otherwise were dined in the refreshment room.

While all the ladies worked assiduously in the matter of getting up the affair, still it might be well to mention that the originator of the scheme was Mrs. C. B. McAllister, who superintented the affair in a very systematic manner and devoted a great deal of time and energy in attending to every detail of the work.

The thanks of the ladies are due to Messrs. Alexander & Miller for electric fixtures, Messrs. Richard Hall & Son, Sutcliffe & Sons, for the use of bunting, etc., to China Hall, for the use of articles; the merchants who gave sugar, etc.; the florists of the town and the cabmen who gratuitously assisted in various ways.

The audience was disappointed in the non-appearance of Miss Paterson who was prevented from being present by a severe cold, and Miss McCarter very kindly took her place on the programme with an extra solo.

The receipts of the evening amounted to $100.

TRIMMED HATS

THEY ARE VERY BEAUTIFUL.

Ladies are sending up a chorus of laudations concerning our beautiful trimmed hats. They are even prettier and richer than those sold at Fall Openings, and the variety is larger. The felt, velvet, fancy braids, pompons, feathers, wings, etc., were specially selected for these hats. Made up in our own workrooms, but their fresh grace and refined trade indicate their origin. We want the ladies to see them. No matter what your fancy may be, we believe you can realize it to the best advantage at this store. : : :

LORD KITCHENER.

A Descriptive and Highly Spiced Article About Him—M. Germain Bapst in the Paris Figaro.

The Paris Figaro recently contained a descriptive and highly-spiced article on Lord Kitchener, by M. Germain Bapst, who is by family ties in close touch with officials. The tone of the article may be judged by one or two extracts. It starts with a sketch of the conqueror of Khartoum, with some thoroughly French touches, as, for instance, the following:

"Do not speak of women to this man, who is devoured by ambition. This superb specimen of humanity, who might be credited with numberless feminine conquests, does not understand woman. He is insensible to her charms, her grace and her beauty. He prefers not to have officers under his command who are married or who are noted lady-killers. The man who is attached to a woman consecrates to her a portion of his life, whilst those who serve under Lord Kitchener must be lemons from which he can squeeze all the juice."

Evidently, says The London Chronicle's correspondent, commenting on the article, the writer imagines that modern warfare ought to include the amorous gallantry of mediaeval knighthood; and the general tone of the article indicates that sentimentalism which seems to have been forgotten in Madagascar and elsewhere. Lord Kitchener neglects the wounded and treats the sanitary service as an obstruction. He is such a thorough "condottiere" that he looks ungainly in ordinary gentlemanly attire. He is, in a word, more of a machine than a man. The following passage is of a serious turn:

"As a General, 'Machine' Kitchener has produced nothing literary. His orders and despatches are not drawn up in the studied form of a Napoleon or a Wellington. In a couple of lines the operations are reported, or the results only are telegraphed. On the other hand, when Lord Kitchener is in the leisure of private life he is not insensible to art, literature or lofty thought. Far from that, on the day he was named Sirdar he chose a house in the most agreeable district of Cairo and filled it with the treasures of eastern art and with masterpieces by artists of Damascus depicting the grand epoch of Islamism. When ordered off to the Transvaal these were all sold by auction, with the mansion that contained them."

M. Germain Bapst faintly refutes the charges of cruelty in which French papers hourly revel. He concedes, however, that the hero of Omdurman is not a Bayard, or even a Napoleon, and concludes thus:

"Kitchener is above all a man of action. If England remains at peace with the world his mission will be over and he will remain effaced. If, on the other hand, she goes into new wars, he will be the General most adapted to achieve good results, but probably according to principles which are not those of our age."

Studying Monkeys.

The new monkey house of the Zoo when completed will probably serve to increase the already deep interest which is always manifested in the ways and works of "our poor relations." The burlesque — or shall I call it a tolerably close imitation?—of poor humanity which our quadrumanous neighbor exhibits proves an unvarying source of amusement to the public, while it affords a subject of intense interest to the zoologist. I often think that were visitors to the Zoo to peruse such a work as that of Romanes on "Animal Intelligence," their natural history rambles might be made both more profitable and more instructive, especially where the intelligence of the ape tribe is concerned. I confess I never visit Monkey Mansion without recalling to mind Darwin's story of the keeper, who, being attacked by a fierce baboon, had a little monkey as a friend who came to the rescue, the poor little ape biting and attacking his savage brother in the endeavor to succor his human friend. One advantage of the new house will be the bringing together of all species of monkeys, including the higher kinds (represented by the orangs, chimpanzees, gorillas, and gibbons); these last, as visitors know, have hitherto been housed in another part of the garden.—The London Chronicle.

A Story of the King.

This story (writes a correspondent of M. A. P.), which was told me by a friend, may interest your reader as another proof that the King is one of the most unaffected of men. Some few years ago my friend was fishing on the Dee near Balmoral. Down to him at the waterside came a gentleman, unattended. Dressed in fawn Harris tweeds, with wide knickerbockers and rough woollen stockings carrying a heavy walking-stick, and smoking a cigar, he watched my friend in silence. Then he came down to the stones by the water's edge, and spoke long and enthusiastically of the best flies, the most tempting casts, the ways of trout, and the influence of the weather. My friend was quite charmed with the simple mannered English gentleman, whose voice was so low and soft, with just a slight suspicion of a German accent. Judge of his surprise when some time after, at a big social function, he recognized in the Prince of Wales, who was the guest of the evening, his fishing acquaintance of the Deeside.

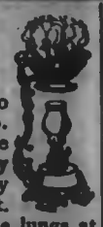
To the Lungs.



Do you go to Chicago to reach Quebec? No. There's a better and more direct way. Then why try to reach your lungs by way of your stomach? Don't. Better go straight to the lungs at once. Just light the vaporizer and breathe in the healing, soothing vapors of Cresolene. The medicine goes exactly to the right place. Your lungs quickly heal and your cough disappears. For whooping-cough it's simply perfect.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE CO., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

ART OF BREATHING.

Scientific Men All Over the World Are Recognising Its Importance.

It is perhaps one of the signs of the times to those alert for indications that the art of breathing has become more and more a subject of attention. Oculists as well as physiologists go deeply into its study in a way hardly to be touched upon in a limited space. Physicians have cured aggravated cases of insomnia by long-drawn, regular breaths; fever-stricken patients have been quieted, stubborn forms of indigestion made to disappear. A tendency to consumption may be overcome, as some authority has within the past few years clearly demonstrated, by exercise in breathing. Seasickness, too, may be surmounted, and the victim of hypnotic influence taught to withstand the force of an energy directed against him.

There is a famous physician of Munich who has written an extensive work upon the subject of breathing. He has, besides, formulated a system by which asthmatic patients are made to walk without losing breath, while sufferers from weaknesses of the heart are cured. At Meran, in the Austrian Tyrol, his patients are put through a certain system of breathing and walking. The mountain paths are all marked off with stakes of different colors, indicating the number of minutes in which a patient must walk the given distance, the breathing and walking being in time together. As the cure progresses the ascents are made steeper and steeper.

Few People Escape Piles

And Dr. Chase's Ointment is the Only Positive and Guaranteed Cure for This Torturing Disease.

There is usually very little satisfaction in consulting a physician regarding a case of piles. In nine cases out of ten he will recommend a surgical operation, forgetting, it may be, the risk, suffering and physical as well as financial expense which this treatment entails. For this reason very many people are going about in misery with piles, believing that they cannot be cured except by means of the surgeon's knife.

It is to such persons that this advertisement will bring good news of great value. Dr. Chase's Ointment has grown in popularity until to-day it is recognized the world over as the standard ointment for the cure of itching, burning skin diseases, and as absolutely the only preparation that can be relied upon to cure every form of piles.

It seems strange that anyone should suffer the wretched uneasiness and acute torture of burning, itching piles when it is so easy to procure Dr. Chase's Ointment. Nearly every dealer in medicine keeps Dr. Chase's Ointment, and you can apply it at home without any inconvenience. The first application is usually sufficient to put an end to the itching, and it is rarely that more than one box is required to make a thorough cure.

Mr. F. Stokes, 116 Dunlop street, Barrie, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with blind, itching piles for years, and could get nothing to stop the constant itching. I was always in pain until a friend of mine told me of the wonderful cures Dr. Chase's Ointment had made among his acquaintances.

"I only used one box, and am entirely cured. In gratitute for this marvellous cure, and for the benefit of others suffering as I did, I send you this record of my case."

Mr. Geo. A. Booth, of Trenton, Ont., writes:—"This is to certify that Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely cured me of itching piles from which I suffered for two years in spite of all the remedies I used and which failed to cure me."

Hosts of cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has actually cured serious and long-standing cases of piles have been reported in the Canadian press. Should you want to know more about it ask your druggist or your neighbour. There are few people in Canada who are not familiar with the record of this famous preparation. If your dealer does not have Dr. Chase's Ointment in stock it will be sent post-paid on receipt of price, 60 cts. a box, by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 12

Twenty-Five Japs Killed.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 19.—Reports have been received here of a disastrous wreck on the Great Northern, near Culbertson Station, in the northeastern part of the State. An eastbound extra freight collided with a work train, and twenty-five Japanese are reported to have been killed.

Big Railway Order.

London, Nov. 19.—The Natal Government agency is reported to have placed orders in this country for rolling stock to the value of half a million pounds. The stock will include nearly 30 engines and a corridor train, the latter being the first of its kind to be used in Natal.

Troops Ordered Out.

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 19.— Two companies of State troops have been ordered out in connection with the labor troubles here.

DEAN FARRAR'S ALARM.

He Startles the English Religious World With a Declaration.

Very Rev. Frederic William Farrar, Dean of Canterbury, startled the religious world on Saturday, 26th Oct., by his public declaration that the Church of England must make essential reforms if it is not entirely to lose the masses of the English people. Ceremonials, rituals and theological subtleties, the dean declares, must be abandoned, and a living spirit infused into the forms of the state religion. The great canon admits as a terrible fact the drift of the working people from the church. He says the prayer book no longer attracts the people. The poor of the cities complain that the services are tiresome and too long. The saloon and the gambling den are more valued than the sanctuary. If this state of things is to be changed, the church, in Dean Farrar's opinion, must rouse itself to action, and quickly. Ministers must look to their enthusiasm and their office as reformers. Dean Farrar is without doubt the most intellectual churchman in the English communion.

Neuralgia Almost Drives People Mad.

Only those who have suffered it, know of the darting, distracting pains and aches neuralgia inflicts. Ordinary remedies don't even relieve. It requires an extraordinarily strong, penetrating liniment to drive out the pain. To get relief rub Polson's Nerviline into the spot. Pain can't resist Nerviline, which has five times the strength of any other liniment. Drives out neuralgia in half an hour. Never fails! Never harms! Always successful. Try a large 25 cent bottle.

Not In Order.

In a certain Lanarkshire village a meeting was called to consider the advisability of erecting a bridge over a creek which had been heretofore crossed by means of stepping stones.

The schoolmaster, who presided over the meeting, warmly advocated the erection of a bridge in an eloquent speech, when a local worthy, who was something of a character and noted for his outspokenness, got up and interrupted:

"Hoot, toot, schulemaister, you're fair haiverin', man! Wha wad gang an' put a brig ower siccan a wee bit creek as you? Leah, man, I cud cross it wi' a stannin' jump!"

"Order, order!" exclaimed the chairman angrily. "You are clearly out of order."

"I ken I'm oot o' order," rejoined the interrupter amid the laughter of the audience. "If I was in order, I cud jump as faur again!"—London Answers.

Very Tired.

It has remained for a little girl to nearly, if not quite, equal a famous witticism of Leigh Hunt. Of course she spoke in childish innocence, where the English essayist and wit used his ripened intellect.

Hunt, in describing an exceedingly warm day, it will be remembered, spoke of it as one which tempted him to strip off his flesh and sit in his bones.

The little girl had been romping and running all day. Toward nightfall her father met her. "Are you not very tired, little one?" he asked.

"Oh, not so very tired, papa," she replied. Then in a burst of confidence she whispered, "Only I do feel as though I'd like to take my legs off and carry them awhile."

The First in the World.

Merrill's System Tonic is the first medicine to combine the tonic with the reconstructive treatment in the cure of disease. The blood is purified, new blood is made, the nerves, muscles and tissues of the heart, stomach, liver and kidneys is toned and strengthened, and then nature is enabled to throw off the disease which has been ravishing the body. For Constipation, Catarrh and Chronic Rheumatism, System Tonic is a positive cure. Sold at 50c. per bottle by Ormond & Walsh, the druggists.

Dog and Wolf.

There has been some dispute as to the descent of the dog—whether it is an improved progeny of the wolf or a distinct variety. That it is a different species is proved by the fact that the dog and the wolf will mate and produce offspring. Nevertheless it is probable that the dog is merely descended from the same original stock with the wolf.

Why He Escaped.

The Literary Editor—That fellow Scribbler sent in a poem this morning entitled "Why Do I Live?"

The Editor—What did you do with it?

The Literary Editor—Returned it with an inclosed slip saying, "Because you mailed this instead of bringing it personally."

Here Rests Your Hope.

New remedies come, and new remedies go; but Scott's Emulsion is the great rock foundation on which hope of recovery from weak throats and lungs must rest. It is The Standard of the World.

CURED OF SEVERE PAIN IN RIGHT SIDE BY... POWLEY'S LIQUIFIED OZONE

Stomach trouble of no matter how long standing is caused by some organ not performing its work properly. If there is a lack of the gastric juices for instance, the food you eat is not properly digested, becomes fermented, produces gas which presses against the heart and lungs and causes intense pain. That was the condition of Peter Coady of Montreal. He had stomach disorder and was cured by Powley's Liquified Ozone.

Read his own story.

Gentlemen: For nearly twenty years past I have been troubled with indigestion, and nearly all this time I have suffered with a severe pain in my right side, extending round to the centre of my back. I had to lay off from my work, many times, the pain was so severe. I have had to give up several good situations, being unable to do the work, and have lost hundreds of dollars by not being able to hold my situations. I never expected to be cured, having tried all kinds of medicines, but never received any benefit from them.

On May 20th, 1901, I procured a bottle of Powley's Liquified Ozone and began taking it. I at once experienced relief and continued with the treatment. I have taken six large bottles and I feel a very different man. The pain has entirely left my side, and I now feel well and strong, my stomach retains my food, and I am able to do my work with greater ease than for years past. I am very thankful for it and attribute my cure entirely to the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone. I cannot thank you too much for your wonderful preparation and the good it has done me. I would not be without Ozone in my house.

(Signed) PETER COADY, 488 Ontario St., Montreal, P. Q.

Powley's Liquified Ozone assists and strengthens any weak or deficient organ of the stomach. It stimulates the gastric glands healthily, insures a plentiful supply of resolvent liquids, so that the food is thoroughly digested. It makes your stomach take good out of the food you eat and makes your system strong. Powley's Liquified Ozone is liquid life.

LAND OF THE AMEER

THE INTERESTS OF BRITAIN AND RUSSIA IN AFGHANISTAN.

A New Ameer Sits Upon the Afghan Throne and It Looks as If There Will Not Be Trouble for the Mother Country in the Change—Portrait of the New Ruler.

For years English soldiers have met Russian intrigue in Afghanistan. With the coming of each new ameer since the days when both countries began pushing their claims to territory in Central Asia, there has come trouble. From the north Russia has pushed her troops southward until England cries "stop." From the south has come English soldiers who have several times invaded the country either for the purpose of settling internal disorders that endangered

AMEER HABID ALLAH KHAN.

British interests, or to repel direct attacks upon the English army or English prestige.

A new ameer sits on the Afghan throne. His ascension may not bring the customary trouble to England. He may prevent internal disorder, and he may not listen to Russian promises of support and accept Russian bribes given for the purpose of supplanting England as the controlling power. If he accomplishes these things, and prevents war it will be an innovation in Afghan history which England will not be slow to greatly appreciate and it looks as if this were to be the case. The brothers of the new ameer have coincided in his claims, and it has been stated that Britain and Russia fully understand one another at this time with reference to the country interested.

Russia has covetous eyes upon Herat, along the northern frontier of Afghanistan. She has pushed her troops as near to this point as diplomacy will permit, and is only seeking an opportunity to occupy the place. She has expended millions of treasure in the building of railroads that would enable her to move troops rapidly when occasion arises. The Trans-Caspian railway has put her in almost direct communication with the Afghan frontier at many points, and the Czar is in a position to throw 100,000 men into Afghan territory within the course of but a few days if occasion for doing so but offers itself.

At the same time England has been building railways up from Bombay and Calcutta to the Afghan frontier on the south, and the greater part of the English army in India could be pushed through the mountain passes into the country of the ameer within a comparatively short time. What will be the outcome of these preparations in the critical times just ahead it is hard to prophecy with any degree of assurance.

The old ameer, Abdur Rhaman Khan, who has just died, was placed upon the Afghan throne by the British soldiers. His son, the new ameer, Habib Ullah Khan, a favorite of his late father, is not likely to forget this fact even in the face of Russian bribes. For the near future his greatest difficulty will be to prevent the outbreak of civil war, and the beginning of a revolution against his government on the part of his half brother, Mohammed Umar Khan. The new ameer is by no means popular with his own family, and may yet find it a thorn in his side. They refuse to forget the fact that his mother was a slave, and this fact they have used against him among the Afghan tribes.

The old ameer was able to maintain a stable government by reason of his own strong personality. He was never a popular ruler among his people, who complained bitterly of the hardships he imposed upon them. It is generally conceded that the new ameer is as strong personally as his father, but if his ascension to the Afghan throne is to be a peaceful one he must take some measure to strengthen himself both with the army and the people. This he has seemingly recognized, for he has already announced an increase of pay for the army, and proposes to reduce the taxes on land. Both measures will be popular. The first, of course, with the army, whose loyalty it is necessary to purchase, and the second with the people, and the two measures may prevent the outbreak of the revolution that is feared.

It was in 1880 that Ameer Abdur Rahman Khan ascended the throne of Afghanistan. His ascension followed the close of the campaign against the Afghans, in which England so severely punished the tribes for their massacre of the English Embassy at Cabul. It was in this campaign that Gen. Roberts, now commander in chief of the British army, won his first great renown, and for which he was created Baron of Kandahar.

The sufferings endured by the British troops during that campaign have but seldom been equalled in modern warfare. The mountain passes through which the invading army had to pass offered wonderful opportunities for defence; opportunities of which the revolting Afghans made excellent use.

The immediate cause of this war was Russian intrigue. The cause really dated back, as did the war, to 1878. At that time Russia had induced Shere Ali, the Afghan ameer, to receive a Russian Embassy and to refuse to receive one from Great Britain. This brought about war between the Afghan ameer and Great Britain, a war which lasted until the death of Shere Ali in February, 1879, when his son and successor, Yakoob Khan, made peace with England. The undisciplined Afghan army was not satisfied with this peace, and, urged on by Russia, they revolted, a revolt for which England held the ameer accountable, and for which he lost his throne, being succeeded by the late ameer, Abdur Rahman Khan.

Since that time Russian intrigue has twice caused the revolutionary pot of Afghanistan to boil over. Russia was back of the efforts of Ayoob Khan to wrest the Afghan throne from Abdur Rahman Khan in 1881. During that revolution England feared for a time that she would again have to invade the disturbed territory, as the existing government seemed in a fair way to be overthrown, as the ameer lost several important engagements. But the fortunes of war turned in his favor after a short time, and by defeating the rebels at Herat he regained his lost prestige and soon had the revolution squelched.

Again, in 1887, Russia secretly supported a revolution against the Afghan Government, and for a time the war offices of both England and Russia were taking measures to rush troops to the Afghan frontier, but again the ameer showed his ability to deal with the situation, and soon had the revolt well in hand.

This little mountain country which has played such an important part in the history of both England and Russia during the last third of a century lies directly between Russian and English territory in Asia. Its boundary on the north are the central Asian states belonging to Russia, and on the south and east the English colonies of India and Baluchistan. For a third of a century both nations have been pushing their boundaries further into Afghan territory, the one fighting every move and every claim made by the other.

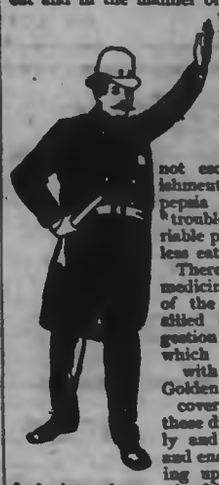
The Law

Of health has no uniformed guardians of its peace. If it had there would be arrests innumerable in every restaurant every day of the year. Both in the quantity and quality of the food they eat and in the manner of its consumption men and women sin each day against the laws of health. Those who will not heed Nature's warnings cannot escape her punishments, and dyspepsia or stomach "trouble" in the invariable penalty of careless eating.



There is no other medicine for diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition which can compare with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures these diseases perfectly and permanently, and enables the building up of the whole body into vigorous health.

"I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble," writes Clarence Carnes, Esq., of Taylorstown, Loudoun Co., Va. "It did me so much good that I didn't take any more. I can not speak anything now. I am so well pleased with it I hardly know how to thank you for your kind information. I tried a whole lot of things before I wrote to you. There was a gentleman told me about your medicine, how it had cured his wife. I thought I would try a bottle of it. I am glad I did, for I don't know what I would have done if it had not been for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Guizot's Father.

Guizot lived through the most eventful periods of modern France. He was born in 1787 amid the mutterings of the revolution. Guizot's parents were married by a proscribed Protestant pastor, and his birth was never legally registered. His father, who was an advocate, used his talent for public speaking in the interests of the persecuted Protestants and became a marked man. After living for several weeks in danger of his life he was at last arrested, unwillingly enough, by a gendarme who knew and respected him.

"Shall I let you escape?" said the man.

"Are you married?" replied M. Guizot.

"Yes. I have two children."

"And so have I," replied the prisoner, "but you would have to pay for me. Let us go on."

They went on, and M. Guizot died on the scaffold a few days later. At this time Francois, the future statesman, who was the elder of the two children, was six and a half years old and always preserved the recollection of going to see his father in prison, or what was euphemistically called the house of justice.

Blue Predominant.

He was from the country and stood helplessly before the haughty young lady clerk of the downtown store.

"What do you want, please?" she demanded icily.

He gulped down his embarrassment, for he was hopelessly young and shy and awkward, and she was a most superior looking creature.

"I want twelve yards of blue predominant," he finally said.

"What?" demanded the startled clerk.

"T-twelve yards of b-b-blue predominant," he stammered again.

"I'm sure I don't know what you mean," said the clerk. Then, womanly kindness and intuition getting the better of her hauteur, she said, "Tell me just what it was your mother or your sister told you to bring."

He gave a sigh of relief and said:

"They wanted some wash goods for my little sister's dress. They said they were not so particular as to quality and color, just so I got blue predominant. Can't I get it here?"—Memphis Scimitar.

"ERNEST THOMPSON SETON."

The New York Journal Explains This Change of Name.

The New York Journal reports that Mr. Ernest Seton Thompson, the well known Canadian writer on animals, has been granted by Justice Bischoff the right to change his name to Ernest Thompson Seton. The Journal gives the further interesting but doubtful information on the subject. It states that the proceedings were taken "because," his servant says, "the tradesmen here, ignorant in the use of hyphenated names, persist in calling him 'Thompson,' whereas he calls himself, sensibly, Seton. He does not like the name of Thompson, and by right, it is not his family name. He is descended from the noble family of Seton. He is a Briton by birth. His parents came here with him when he was six months old. They were of the race of Seyton that had a castle in the place where Edinburgh is now. Thompson was a name assumed by the Seton family to hide its identity after taking part in the Jacobite rebellion of 1745. When Mr. Seton began to write, he said to his parents, 'I will not sign my name Thompson. I do not like it. I will sign "Ernest Seton."' His parents objected. They said: 'More than ever, if you write for a living, you should use the name of Thompson; for it is not right to degrade, by writing for a living, the noble name of Seton.' He replied: 'I will compromise and sign "Seton-Thompson.' You see, he thought the people would call him 'Seton,' as his friends who know him well do; but they persist in calling him 'Thompson.' It is 'the butcher for Mr. Thompson,' 'the milkman for Mr. Thompson,' 'this and that for Mr. Thompson,' all the time. It is annoying, isn't it?"

A True Brain Food.

Must replace the feeling of lassitude and mental tiredness by clearness and strength of mind. Not that it goes directly to the brain, that were foolish. The true brain food must be carried by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look not to the brain, but to the stomach and assimilative organs. No remedy yet discovered possesses the marvellous brain strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in thousands of cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion, strengthening the nervous system, stimulating the assimilation, giving new strength to the heart, it sends a stream of red vitalizing blood to the brain. Thus it is a true brain food. Ferrozone is sold by Ormond & Walsh.

To Save the Oyster Beds.

An Order-in-Council has been passed providing that fishing for clams in bays, harbors, and other waters in Canada where oysters are taken shall be permitted only on areas set apart and marked out by the local fishery officer for the respective districts in which such fishing is prosecuted. The idea of the regulation is to prevent persons committing depredations upon oyster beds when digging for clams.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

AN EARNEST ISHMAELITE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — A correspondent in your issue of Monday writes respecting the terrible consequences of the drink traffic, and comments upon the inconsistency of the members of Christian churches voting to sustain the licensed traffic in strong drink. With every word of the correspondent I agree, but I don't think he went far enough. It is the inconsistency of churches, and of Christians professing to be religious, that discredits Christianity and religion with the unthinking. While it is not only inconsistent, but wrong, in my opinion to vote for licensing strong drink, is there no inconsistency on the part of ministers and moralists in our churches, who very properly condemn strong drink, in upholding, or at least patronizing and permitting, entertainments in churches, contrary to the spirit of the Gospel? I am told that we have in our churches, throughout this Christian country, or in aid of them, entertainments differing only in degree and in the skill and monkey merit of the tomfoolery practised, from a minstrel or vaudeville show. This is wrong, for many reasons. In the first place, it is not fair to the devil to prostitute his programme to the (Heaven save the mark!) glory of God, and promotion of His cause. Your correspondent speaks of persons partaking of Holy Communion, and then voting for licensed whiskey. Think also of persons partaking of or administering Holy Communion, and then, in touch almost of the same altar, permitting, or patronizing, entertainments of a worldly, coarse and unchristian character — ecclesiastical cake walks, frivolous recitations, illustrated by dancing, etc. Why, I was at a church entertainment where a minuet was danced by boys and girls, the latter in ballet skirts, and at another, where the dancer, a young lady, pirouetted inside the communion rails, and if the communion cup had not been previously removed — shame that it should be shoved aside to make room for carnal delights — the capering Coryphee would have kicked it over with her nimble heels. We have our consecrated places of worship degarated and defiled with all sorts of worldly-wise schemes for making money for religious uses—pink teas, "bun feeds," corn socials, handkerchief socials, pop-corn socials, measuring socials and similar abominations ad infinitum. I once heard a Presbyterian minister in a sermon declare a great truth — that giving to the glory of God was as much an act of worship as prayer or praise. I believe this firmly. And yet we see the worship of giving turned over to the godless and unholy of life. We convert our communion platforms into play stages, and we lay thereon our gifts (which should be consecrated by pious purpose) by proxy—we concoct some frivolous programme of amusement—the lighter and frothier the better—it will attract more of the unregenerate, and we have the sublime audacity to offer the price of this unhallowed amusement to Almighty God as an acceptable gift. I don't refer to any particular church; I don't see very much difference among them all in regard to making the devil pay toll for the fun afforded his followers, to fill the coffers of the church. Preachers and other Christians rightly enough condemn, deplore and fight against the curse of strong drink, but they should not encourage and help it. When religious sentiment and reverence for sacred things, are outraged by the desecration of our churches, and their prostitution to worldly and godless amusement; when religion is discredited in the house of its friends, when the carnal appetites for worldly and material pleasures are catered to by church dances, and church gluttony parties, then the scoffer has his excuse. When the moral sense of the ungodly is further blunted, and their will and inclination to substantial good lessened, the conditions are provided that make them and easy prey to the other social temptations, in which strong drink is an element. Let us inveigh with all our soul and strength against strong drink, but let us be consistent; let us cease from defiling sacred things; let us cease from tempting the weak to carnal enjoyment, by the offer of church suppers, and church variety shows, and thus instilling a contempt for sacred things, instead of making them reverenced for their own sake. Let the spirit of the Master prevail. Let us borrow his whip of cords and drive the money changers, whether parson or pew-holder, from the temple.

Yours, with deep regret,
ISHMAEL.

Our correspondent, "Ishmael," is very earnest and, no doubt, sincere. Whatever may be thought of his conclusions in regard to church entertainments, they are out to the extent that he goes too far in his premises. He is too sweeping in his assertion of facts, for there are, as we all know, many church entertainments in all churches which do not properly come under his broad ban. Very many persons are conscientiously opposed to all secular expedients that tend to supplant what they consider the Scriptural way of giving for the sake of a good cause. There are others equally honest, who consider it justifiable to hold social entertainments to assist the funds of the church, because by these means money is provided for good purposes and many are brought under the influence of religious surroundings who might under other conditions, never darken a church door. By these entertainments the social element, often a powerful influence for good, is brought into play. Very often, too, the features which "Ishmael" condemns, and very properly, too, are as much of a surprise, and a painful one, too, to the promoters of the entertainment, who are not always in a position to know beforehand what is the character of the contribution to the programme some obliging, but injudicious, "local talent," intends to present. A mistake in this way may happen occasionally in one or other of our church socials, but it is safe to say that it will seldom be repeated. The wholesale denunciation of the correspondent is not quite just. It is rather hair-splitting reasoning which confounds as equal sources of evil the influence of never so worldly a church entertainment, and the unutterable woes that follow the intemperate use of strong drink. The intemperate exercise of zeal and the intemperate use of strong language, are very often no small evil in themselves. "Ishmael" leaves himself open to inquiry as to his own consistency. He admits being present at two of what he calls worldly church socials. Is he not thus particeps criminis of what he so violently condemns? And he is reminded that St. Paul describes charity as the supreme jewel of the Christian graces.

BOLD BURGLARS AT WORK.

Visited Little Britain and Valentia Monday Night.

A Rich Haul Made at Jenkins' Hotel and Money and Stamps Taken From the Valentia Post Office.

There was consternation among the good people of Little Britain and Valentia yesterday morning when it was learned that during the still hours of the early morning burglars had visited both of these little hamlets and had not gone away empty handed.

Mr. Joseph Jenkins, proprietor of the hotel at Little Britain, discovered traces of intruders as soon as he came downstairs in the morning, the door leading into the bar-room being open. On investigating he found that the till had been pried open and that he was minus a sum of $250, received at a late hour the previous evening in payment of a loan, in addition to $10 or $15 in small bills and silver.

Mr. Jenkins suspects that a stranger who spent some time about the hotel Monday evening was acting as a spy, and that the robbery was the work of a gang of thieves who were driving about the country. A vehicle was heard going south at an early hour yesterday morning, and in all probability it contained the men wanted.

Postmaster Wm. Sutton, of Valentia, is also a sufferer, and thinks the gang stopped long enough in their flight to pay him a most unwelcome visit. He mourns the loss of $15 in cash and $13 worth of stamps. No letters were taken.

Chief Nevison, of Lindsay has been informed of the burglaries and has sent cards at once to the police of the district giving a description of the strange guest seen at Jenkins' hotel, and urging the arrest of any suspicious-looking parties. The description is as follows: "Sandy complexion, full beard and moustache, with a little shaved off under lip, beard turning grey, red nose, dark clothes and dark overcoat, light coloured soft felt hat."

IT COST MONEY.

—Many a man has spent all his earnings in trying to get rid of rheumatism. It cost Mr. James Davison, Oconto, Ont., between $1,000 and $2,000 before he tried Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. He was a helpless invalid for six years but suffered from sciatica in his hip joint for ten years. Six bottles cured him completely and he is now working his farm. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Your Floral Wants.

PROTEST FROM CRAFT OWNERS

Cabinet Decides Not to Permit American Bottoms to Participate in Canadian Trade—Decision in Accordance With Policy Advocated by Vancouver Who Wish to Feel Secure in Their Business Investments.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The Cabinet yesterday decided not to grant the application of Montreal shippers for permission to use American bottoms for the transportation of grain from Port William and Port Arthur during the balance of the present season. The forwarding interests are up in arms against the proposition from Montreal, and their views are explicitly set forth in the following telegram, signed by practically all the large Canadian grain carriers, which was sent to the Government from Toronto:

"Have received the message of Montreal shippers, and beg to say that facts as outlined are not correct. It is true weather has grown stormy, but not exceptionally so for this season of the year. Vessels have been making good time, and with every prospect of doing so until the close of navigation. There is no blockade at Port William, and present shipping capacity can move fully one and one-half million bushels per week. We have not had an unusual demand for charters, and it will be most unfair and contrary to all promises received to bring American competition against our Canadian vessels at this time of the year. Our present rates of freight are on a par with American rates. New boats are now in course of building, and contracts for more vessels to be built this winter are under way. We can never expect to build up a Canadian merchant marine unless we are assured of a permanent policy regarding coasting trade. The plea that defaults in contracts would occur is not correct, as shippers are not bound by contract, except as tonnage is secured. We protest against any change being made, and it was promised to the marine deputation by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that none would be made, except by vote of Parliament. (Signed), Hamilton & Port William Steamboat Co., St. Lawrence & Chicago Steam Navigation Co., Montreal & Toronto Steamboat Co., the Wentworth Navigation Co., J. B. Fairgrieve & Co., R. O. & A. B. Mackay, Sylvester Bros., George B. Jacques & Co., Conlin Bros., W. D. Matthews, J. T. Matthews, John H. G. Hagarty, E. Crangle, Playfair & Co., Barlow Cumberland, Capt. John Gaston, Montreal Transportation Co., Myles Transportation Co."

The announcement that the Government had refused to allow American bottoms to participate in the coasting trade of the upper lakes and carry grain for the balance of the season from Fort William to Georgian Bay ports were received last evening with satisfaction by the shipping interests here.

NOVA SCOTIA LIBERALS

They Make a Clean Sweep in the Municipal Elections.

Halifax, Nov. 21.—The Liberals of Nova Scotia won another notable triumph in the municipal elections, which took place throughout the Province Tuesday. The County Councils are elected by direct vote of the people, there being one municipal representative, or County Councillor, from each polling district, and they held office for three years. Tuesday the elections were in the main fought out on straight party lines, and as a result the Liberals have swept the Province. In the eighteen counties of Nova Scotia, represented by between 500 and 600 Councillors, the Liberals held over two-thirds of the representation. They have a majority in sixteen of the eighteen counties, and in the remaining two the representation is about evenly divided between Liberals and Conservatives. This victory, while giving the Liberal party control of municipal as well as Federal and local affairs, will make that party invulnerable in Nova Scotia. This is the first municipal election here in which party politics played a prominent part.

The Gas Was Turned Off.

Windsor, Nov. 21.—The officials at the office of the United Gas and Oil Company said yesterday morning that the supply of natural gas to Detroit was turned off Tuesday evening in compliance with the promise given by the Interior Construction Company to the Toronto courts for a week's continuance of the injunction restraining Sheriff Iler from disconnecting the submarine pipes.

Skated Into Air Hole.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 21.—Miss Belle Woods, aged 25, Charles P. Vallency, aged 26, and Stanley McLeod, aged 24, skated into an air-hole in the St. Louis Bay last night, and were drowned. The three were skating together, and did not see the hole until too late. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

HOW NATURE WORKS

Prof. Ritchey Discovers Proof of the Nebular Theory.

EVOLUTION OF STELLAR SYSTEM

A Former Brilliant Hypothesis Reduced to Certitude—La Place's Theory and Widely-Entertained Belief About the Beginning of Worlds Proved by Photographs—A World-Famous Discovery.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Prof. Ritchey of Yerkes Observatory is reported to have made a discovery in astronomy which will make him and the observatory world-famous. The discovery, in brief, is the proof of what is known as the nebular theory; and Professor Ritchey appears to have reduced to certitude what has heretofore been merely a brilliant hypothesis. It is said that he has done this by obtaining photographic evidence of evolution among the planetary bodies.

Prof. Ritchey's observations, it is asserted, not only prove the truth of the celebrated nebular theory of creation announced by the famous Frenchman, La Place, and of the widely-entertained belief that the solar system, and even star clusters, have been formed by millions of years of slow evolution from great bodies of gaseous matter floating in the inconceivable abysses of space, but also prove that a nebula, with a star for a nucleus, changes its shape and the quantity of light it emits, and that these changes are so rapid as to be observable within the compass of a few hours.

The celebrated object upon which Professor Ritchey has made his observations is the mysterious star Nova Persens, which suddenly appeared last February in the northern sky, blazing with strange light, in a place where there had been no star before. Its light rapidly increased until it became a star of the first magnitude. Then it gradually faded away, until now it is only of the sixth magnitude. At present it is altogether invisible to the unaided vision. On the night of September 20, Prof. Ritchey photographed Nova Persens by means of the 24-inch reflector at the observatory. The negative disclosed the fact that the star was surrounded by a nebula, a fact which had been previously shown by another observer. But on the plate made by Prof. Ritchey, after an exposure of three hours and fifty minutes, there were two fairly dense wisps of nebulosity toward the west, with a curve to the north, merging into the convolutions of the nebula.

This was a startling fact, but Prof. Ritchey patiently waited for a favorable night to secure another negative. The opportunity came last Wednesday night, November 13, when, for seven hours, Prof. Ritchey exposed his plate to the light of the mysterious star. When he looked at the negative he observed a fact in which he at once recognized the proof so long sought and so ardently wished for by observers everywhere. The spots of density in the west field of the nebula had moved. Never before had this amazing fact been found, and Prof. Ritchey, who at once saw the immeasurable importance of the discovery he had made, was gratified beyond words.

Fatal Explosion of Dynamite.

Port Arthur, Nov. 21.—News has been received in town of the terrible death of two men working on the construction of the C.P.R. near Mine Centre, on Friday last. The men belonged to a gang working on a rock cut, one being the foreman. They were working on the other side of the cut, thawing out dynamite, when one of the sticks must have accidentally gone off. The men in the cut did not realise what had happened until they were horrified to see a man's head thrown in among them. Upon investigation it was discovered that the foreman and assistant had been blown to atoms. They were both foreigners.

Smothered in a Grain Chute.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—Sylvester Bros.' large grain elevator, situated on the waterfront at the foot of Church street, was last night the scene of one of the most shocking fatalities that have taken place in Toronto in a long period. Thomas Allen, the victim, fell into a grain chute, and was literally buried alive. Two hours elapsed before the body was taken out by fellow-workmen. Coroner Greig is investigating the circumstances surrounding the death, and will open an inquest to-night at 8 o'clock at the Morgue.

Suspended on Wire Fence.

Calgary, N.W.T., Nov. 21. — Constable MacDonell, N.W.M.P., while patrolling northeast of Calgary, was thrown from his horse and when first seen by his company was hanging on a wire fence. He is still unconscious, and his physician reports his condition as critical.

Admitted 20 Forgeries.

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—John Verrall, an Englishman, traveling from Cincinnati, as headquarters, walked into the police station last night, and, after admitting twenty or more forgeries, committed in various parts of the country, said he wanted to give himself up. The forgeries, he said, aggregated $12,000, and were committed under various aliases, including K. D. West, embezzlement at Toronto, Ont., and W. K. West, embezzlement at Hamilton, Ont.

THINK WHAT IT MEANS.

It is stated that the Clergue syndicate at the "Soo" pays out for wages and materials in their chain of industrial enterprises the enormous sum of $750,000 per month. Think what this means—a sum of nine million dollars per year injected into the circulating medium of the Province of Ontario. This sum would keep the affairs of the Province of Ontario going for nearly three years. Think again what it means. It means the development of the resources of New Ontario, and affords an inkling of the tremendous possibilities that that country contains. Great as the Clergue enterprises are, with all this expenditure for wages and materials, they only affect a small corner of the vast northern section of Ontario, leaving millions of acres capable of yielding equal returns. Think that the nine millions paid out, as stated, by the Clergue syndicate in a year is almost enough to buy two towns like Peterborough—real estate and personal property—at their assessed valuation. Think that of this nine millions at least half is paid out in wages, to be all spent in purchasing personal and household supplies, and think of the stimulus thus imparted to retail mercantile operations and through these to our wholesale houses, and again through these to the manufacturing concerns that supply these wholesale houses, and again through these to the workmen and operatives, employed in these factories, and through the workmen to the farmer who supplies them with his products in return for the wages thus earned. Think of the four and a half millions spent in purchasing materials, giving employment to settlers in the new country or employment to factories producing machinery and other supplies, and employment to mechanics working in such factories, and so on to the farmer. See how the circle is completed. Think again that all this comes through the encouragement given the Clergue syndicate through the land grant to the Algoma Central Railway. It is true that Mr. Clergue and his associates had originated large industries, but they were at a halt without facilities for supplying the raw material for their use of these industries. So the Ontario Government gave a liberal grant of land to assist in building this railway, and, a future supply of raw material being assured, the work is going on at a rate so astonishing that nine million dollars a year are being spent for wages and materials. The development policy of the Ross Government is doing a great work, and the Clergue syndicate operations, in one corner of the vineyard, is only one of many enterprises due to a liberal policy of aiding development. Mr. Whitney said that the land grant to this railway was a "phenominal steal." He was short sighted. It was no steal but an investment that is yielding rich returns even in its beginnings — pumping millions of wealth through the arteries of commerce and industry, both in old and new Ontario. Think that the New Ontario, of which one comparatively little corner is putting in motion, nine or ten millions a year, comprises 65 million acres of land, every acre of which is capable of yielding some return to development operations. There are millions of acres of agricultural land, capable of providing homes for hundreds of thousands of settlers. There are immense areas of timber and pulp lands, capable of yielding a revenue that will stave off direct taxation for a century at least. There is untold mineral wealth calling for and capable of giving untold employment to labour and capital. It is the land of magnificent resources, the land the Liberal Government has confidence in, and not what Mr. Whitney calls "the land of the stunted poplar." The Ross Government has full confidence in it; it also has faith in its resources, and a firm belief that their development will not only make a great country of New Ontario, but in the process help and stimulate settled Ontario. It is no wonder then that the policy of the Liberal party is a progressive policy. It is no wonder that the watchword of the Ross Government is "Build up Ontario."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"The policy of the Liberal party is a progressive policy. The watchword of the election is 'Build up Ontario.' Build it up in every particular."—Hon. G. W. Ross.

A sugar refinery of a capacity sufficient to supply the people of Canada with sugar every year, has been destroyed by fire in Italy—wasted its sweetness on the smoky air.

It's a wonder that the amiable press of Hamilton hasn't suggested "Stytonia," as a good name for the new palace hotel Toronto is building. It has the double merit of being euphonious and etymologically appropriate.

If the "bar-keep" of the new Toronto hotel has as much trouble in persuading his patrons to "give it a name," as the projectors have in finding a name for it, Carrie Nation won't find much use for her hatchet there.

The products of the soil of Ontario brought out through the operations of the farm, amounted in 1899 to 215 millions of dollars. The mineral products of Ontario for 1899 were between eight and nine millions. "The farmer, he feeds us all."

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

What is Going on in the Village to the East.

Miss Dr. Alger, of Stirling, spent a few days in town last week the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Cuff.

Mr. W. Ross Cameron spent Sunday in Peterborough.

A meeting of all interested in hockey has been called for Wednesday evening at the McGregor House for the purpose of re-organizing the club for the coming season. The committee which was appointed sometime ago to interview the Rink Company, re having the sides of the rink boarded up did so with the result that men are now at work putting the rink in good shape. Now that the rink is being put in proper shape, Norwood people may expect to see some good matches this winter, and it is hoped that they will give our hockey boys liberal support.

The Rev. J. A. McDonald, who about seven years ago occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church for three months during the illness of the late Rev. James Carmichael, was in town on Saturday renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. J. G. Sherry was in Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. Jas. Robb, of Stony Lake, was in town to-day.

Mr. W. Fairman is in Toronto, undergoing an operation.

Dr. Holdcroft returned home from Toronto on Monday.

Mr. Stephen Clark, of Belmont, died on the 17th inst., aged 50 years. His funeral took place on Tuesday to the Maple Grove cemetery under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. and A.O.U.W.

HISTORIC HASTINGS.

The steamer Rainbow brought down a load of grain from Rice Lake on Saturday for Messrs. H. M. Fowlds & Son. Captain Copperwaith reports rough stormy weather on the Lake.

The concert held in the town hall last Thursday evening was a decided success. Mr. Konklin was highly appreciated by all those present, receiving a hearty applause to all the selections given.

Mr. Frank Burnett, proprietor of the lumber mills on Rice Lake, was in town on Saturday.

Mr. H. M. Dart, who has been relieving Mr. C. P. Fisher, as G.T.R. agent for the past two weeks, has been transferred to Orillia.

Mr. T. F. Learmouth who is at present attending the Norwood High School, spent Sunday under the parental roof.

A grand Thanksgiving dinner and concert will be held in the town hall on Thursday evening, 28th Nov., under the auspices of the Methodist church. The concert will consist of vocal and instrumental music, songs, choruses, and short addresses by resident ministers, which will without doubt make the evening one of unusual interest and enjoyment.

Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., was in town on Saturday.

Mr. Jas. Gallagher and Mr. E. W. Valleau paid Keene a flying visit last week.

Anniversary sermons will be preached in the Methodist church on November 24th, both morning and evening by the Rev. T. C. Bell, of Havelock. The collections taken will be in aid of the Trust Fund.

Mr. James Whitton, of Belleville, was in town on Saturday looking after a large shipment of cheese.

Deafness is Curable!

Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhalation of Catarrhozone are reported, and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to our readers. Catarrhozone quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxall of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarrhozone, after years of deafness. Price $1. At druggists or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The cheese factory here closed two weeks ago.

The steamers Majestic and Sunbeam are still towing wood from the north and will continue with this work until the lake freezes.

The hunters have returned from their outing well satisfied with their luck.

We have had a foretaste of winter, but the roads are in excellent condition for this season of the year.

Mr. Samuel Nugent's family is very ill at present, we hope they will soon recover.

CANKER.

There is a mistaken idea as to the cause of cankers in the mouth and throat. Sufferers imagine that they arise from stomach troubles, but it is nothing more or less than the result of impure blood. Numerous so-called remedies have been floated on the market, but experience has proven that there is only one cure, "Climax" Iron Tonic Pills. 25 cents a box at all druggists, or mailed on receipt of price. TRIMMED HATS

THEY ARE VERY BEAUTIFUL.

Ladies are sending up a chorus of laudations concerning our beautiful trimmed hats. They are even prettier and richer than those sold at Fall Openings, and the variety is larger. The felt, velvet, fancy braids, pompons, feathers, wings, etc., were specially selected for these hats. Made up in our own workrooms, but their fresh grace and refined trade indicate their origin. We want the ladies to see them. No matter what your fancy may be, we believe you can realize it to the best advantage at this store. : : :

Sharp Attack of Lumbago.

Know what Lumbago is?
Pain catches you right in the small of the back,—makes stooping over or rising up excruciating agony.
Wrong kidney action is the cause of the trouble, and if you let Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets set the kidneys working right you'll be quickly cured.
Here is some evidence:

Mr. James A. Sarris, the well and favorably known boot and shoe merchant of Norwich, Ont., made this statement:—"During a recent sharp attack of Lumbago, in which the pain was extremely severe, I took a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They took the pain out of my back so quickly, and so far as I can see made a cure that is so permanent, that I consider them unequalled for that most prevalent and painful affliction. I am only too pleased to recommend them to other people who may be suffering as I was."

QUEEN DRAGA SHOT.

Rumors Rife in Vienna Indicating a Crisis Exists in Belgrade.

Vienna, Nov. 21.—An unconfirmed report has reached Vienna that Queen Draga has been shot in the streets of Belgrade.

The papers here publish various rumors, one declaring that the Servian Queen was assassinated, another that she was wounded, and a third that she committed suicide.

Reports from other sources deny the statement that Queen Draga was killed, and assert that the rumor of her death was caused by an hysterical scene with King Alexander.

There is no reliable information on the subject here, but it is generally believed that a serious crisis exists in Belgrade.

THE TRADE QUESTION

Mr. John Charlton's Speech at the Washington Convention.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA

This Question Discussed by the Members of the Convention—Mr. Coppins of Massachusetts Admitted That Canada Had Great Reason to Complain of Inequitable Conditions—New Facts Adduced.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—Mr. John A. Ewan, the Globe's special correspondent, telegraphs:

Washington, Nov. 20.—In the evening at the Reciprocity Convention now in session here, the subject for discussion was reciprocity with Canada. It was opened by George T. Coppins, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Manufacturers' Association, in an extraordinarily liberal speech, wherein he plainly told the meeting that Canada had great reason to complain of the inequitable conditions that at present existed.

At the conclusion of Mr. Coppins' address the Chairman informed the meeting that Mr. John Charlton, M.P., a member of the International Joint High Commission, had been an interested auditor of their meetings. A motion was immediately made requesting that Mr. Charlton make a contribution to the discussion.

Mr. Charlton was received with great heartiness. Almost every address delivered had been read. Mr. Charlton, although dealing with intricate figures, had nothing but a couple of slips of paper, and the ease with which he handled his subject was much appreciated and rendered it far more effective than if it had been read. Mr. Charlton's points, although in the main familiar to Canadians, were quite evidently new to an American audience, and he was listened to with the deepest attention. He chiefly dwelt on the fact that during the last fiscal year Canada had imported $119,000,000 worth of American goods, while the United States had only taken $70,000,000 of Canadian goods. But even this statement did not reveal the real disparity, for fully $30,000,000 of that sum was bullion, gold and silver, and other minerals, so that but $40,000,000 was the real material of trade. The balance of trade in favor of the United States, when similar reductions were made from both statements, was fully $71,000,000. The goods which Canada purchased embraced manufactures, farm and other natural products. He showed that Canada bought far more farm products from the United States than the latter bought from Canada. The convention laughed heartily when Mr. Charlton stated that the state of affairs was giving Canada that tired feeling, and he could assure them that it would not be much longer endured. He spoke solely for himself, but believed that reciprocity in all natural products of the mine, the forest, the farm and the fisheries would be satisfactory to Canada, and less she would not have. Canada was already one of the best customers of the United States, and as she had in her possession the last great stretch of fertile and unsettled land on the continent she was bound to become every year a still more valuable customer. Last year 12,000 American settlers went into the northwest. This year 24,000 went in, and next year he predicted that 40,000 would go in. A country growing like that was worth trading with.

The Regular Press Report.

Washington, Nov. 21.—At the forenoon session of the National Reciprocity convention yesterday A. B. Valentine of Bennington, Vt., president of the National Association of Knit Goods Manufacturers, offered the following resolution as representing the views of that association: "Resolved, that in the opinion of this convention, the treaty known as the French reciprocity convention should not be ratified." It was referred to a committee.

Titus Sheard of Little Falls, N.Y., declared that competition was the means for resolving any reciprocity proposal into its proper class. He said the French reciprocity treaty had officiated actually to reduce the duties on knit goods 2 to 10 per cent. below the duties imposed by the Wilson bill. A great deal of foreign trade was done on a profit of 5 per cent.

The session adjourned at noon, when the officers of the convention and a committee of 10 proceeded to the White House and called on President Roosevelt.

The session last night was devoted mainly to the question of reciprocal trade relations with Canada. Several papers were read, after which some routine business was disposed of, and the convention finally adjourned.

The views of the Boston Chamber of Commerce on the subject of reciprocity with Canada were presented in a paper by Mr. George P. Coppins. There was, he said, from the conclusion that Canada should be included in any general scheme for reciprocal treaties, no logical escape. We should cultivate such a good customer and not incur his hostility.

Mr. William Irvine of Chippewa Falls, Wis., largely identified with the lumber interests, discussed the attitude of the lumber interest, on the question of reciprocity with Canada. He believed that the lumbermen of the United States would voluntarily agree to the same concession proposed by the Canadian High Joint Commissioners, provided those who are engaged in the manufacture of things consumed by the lumbermen in the manufacture of lumber agree to a similar reduction of their products. He also discussed the preferential duty given by Canada on goods imported from Great Britain.

A True Brain Food.

Must replace the feeling of lassitude and mental tiredness by clearness and strength of mind. Not that it goes directly to the brain, that were foolish. The true brain food must be carried by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look not to the brain, but to the stomach and assimilative organs. No remedy yet discovered possesses the marvellous brain strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in thousands of cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion, strengthening the nervous system, stimulating the assimilation, giving new strength to the heart, it sends a stream of red vitalizing blood to the brain. Thus it is a true brain food. Ferrozone is sold by Ormond & Walsh.

The Fast Atlantic Line.

London, Nov. 21.—Disappointment was felt here yesterday over the statement reported to have been made by Lord Strathcona upon his arrival on the Oceanic at Queenstown yesterday that the fast Atlantic negotiations were yet in their infancy. Recent Canadian cablegrams had given another impression. His Lordship also said that Louisburg or Sydney would be the best available Canadian terminus, and it is supposed one of them will be selected. Asked regarding the English terminal, Lord Strathcona said that probably it would be Liverpool, via Queenstown, but he thought it would be left to the option of the contractor.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

For Throat Irritation

Hoarseness, Dry Throat, Sore Throat, Bronchial Troubles, Coughs, Colds and Asthma Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is a Cure of Proven Merit.

There are more ministers, singers and public speakers using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentime than any similar preparation, because it is exactly suited to their needs. By taking a dose of this preparation before going on the platform they feel certain of freedom from dry throat, hoarseness and throat irritation, than which there can be nothing more embarrassing to a singer or speaker.

Besides the annoyance of throat irritation public speakers seem to be especially susceptible to bronchial trouble, pneumonia and lung diseases, and for this reason it seems wise to have in your grip when leaving home a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, which is beyond all doubt the most thoroughly effective treatment for bronchial and lung troubles that is to be obtained.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine

aids expectoration, clears the throat and air passages, soothes and quiets the nerves which cause coughing, and thoroughly cures all throat and bronchial troubles. There are other preparations of Linseed and Turpentine put up in imitation of Dr. Chase's. Be sure that the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase are on the bottle you buy. 25 cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THANKS-GIVING!

In gratitude to the generous people of Peterborough for the lion's share of the patronage bestowed on Gough Bros. during 1901, we intend to express our gratitude in a practical way. For the week preceding Thanksgiving Eve, we propose to UPSET ALL PAST STANDARD OF VALUES. We intend to retail Overcoats, Ulsters, Suits, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, Underwear, Neckwear, and Men's and Boys' Furnishings at prices LESS THAN WHOLESALE—in many cases less than the cost of production. This big double store will be teeming with buyers.

IT'S A CASE THAT WARRANTS UNBRIDLED ENTHUSIASM. We are bound to make it so—we will put it to a point that will do greater honour to this great store. If you don't want to buy come and look on. You can't stay away and be wide-awake. No matter when or where you see a bargain, we have a better one for you. But look sharp!—there'll be a run on the plums, and the ripest fruit is readiest to drop.

They Like Their Pastor.

Last evening at a meeting of the Quarterly Board of Queen street Methodist church, a unanimous invitation was extended for the return of the present pastor, Rev. A. J. Harvey Strike, for the next Conference year, beginning in June, 1902. The Board also voted Mr. Strike a handsome increase of salary for the present year, and expressed their very warm appreciation of the good work being done by their pastor and his amiable helpmeet since coming to Lindsay about a year and a half ago from Prince Edward County.—Lindsay Post.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

St. Luke's Woman's Auxiliary Tea and Entertainment Liberally Patronized Last Night.

The annual tea and entertainment under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church, was given last evening in the Ashburnham Town Hall, and although a great success was anticipated, yet the most sanguine did not expect to see the affair patronized to such an extent as to keep the ladies serving steadily from half past five until nine o'clock. At the latter hour operations had perforce to cease, as the provisions were exhausted, even the bones being picked clean of the remnants of thirty huge turkeys, a corresponding amount of boiled ham having also been consumed, as well as salads innumerable, and hot vegetables, not to mention cakes, pies, etc. It is understood that over $70 was collected at the door, and when the large number of tickets which were sold earlier in the week are taken into consideration, it is evident that the members of the Woman's Auxiliary will have a very gratifying statement to make concerning the financial success of the tea. Hearty congratulations are due the ladies for the method which enabled them to handle so large a crowd in so systematic a manner. It is safe to say that a crowd of such proportions was never catered to before by St. Luke's, or any other congregation, and yet all appeared to be served in a satisfactory manner.

The hall was very handsomely decorated for the occasion with great streamers of bunting, which radiated from the centre of the ceiling to the various corners. Large flags were also used profusely in beautifying the hall.

After the supper-tables had been cleared away, the assemblage was called to order by the Rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, who made all welcome in his characteristically hearty manner.

The programme was opened by a piano duet by Misses Houlihan and Yenney. Addresses during the evening were delivered by Rev. C. L. Thompson of the Mark street church, and Rev. J. McKee McLellan, of Norwood. Pretty little Jessie Spence danced a Highland Fling in costume, and vocal selections were contributed by Miss Houlihan and Messrs. Milne, James Dawson, Jos. Halpany, G. W. Mulligan, and Gilbert Scott.

A "Jack-in-the-box" took the place of the "fish pond" of old time recollections, and as the crowd present appeared to have plenty of loose change "Jack" was sold out early in the evening.

REV. IRL R. HICKS IN NOT DEAD

Notwithstanding a widely current rumour that the Rev. Irl R. Hicks, was dead, he never was in better health, and never did a harder and more successful year's work than that just closing. He has just completed his large and splendid Almanac for 1902 and, with his staff of able helpers, has brought his journal, Word and Works, justly forward into international reputation. For a quarter of a century Mr. Hicks has grown in reputation and usefulness as the people's astronomer, and forecaster of storms, and the character of coming seasons. Never were his weather forecasts so sought after as now, his timely warning of a serious drought this year having saved the people from loss and suffering. Millions of bushels of wheat were harvested through his advice to plant crops that would mature early. The North American people will certainly stand by Prof. Hicks, when it costs them so little and the benefits are so great. His fine almanac of 200 pages is only 25 cents, and his splendid family journal is only one dollar a year, including the almanac. Send to Word and Works Pub. Co., 2201 Locust street, St. Louis, Mo. 2d2w

POLICE COURT.

At the police court this morning Ed. Renton was charged with having wilfully destroyed a fence belonging to Mrs. Ragan on Water street, north. Mrs. Ragan did not put in an appearance in time to prove her case and the charge was dismissed.

Wm. Bafferman was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $4.60 in all, for being drunk and disorderly.

HAS CALLED A MEETING.

Mayor Denne and the Sugar Factory—The Plan for Action.

If there is not a beet sugar factory located in Peterborough within the next twelve months, it will not be the fault of His Worship Mayor Denne.

Ever since there loomed up the faintest possibility of having such a concern in our midst, Mayor Denne has been untiring in his efforts with that end in view. Encouraged by the excellent results of the analysis of the sugar beets, and the limestone from the Peterborough district, he is now taking steps to have the matter more fully brought to the attention of the public. Accordingly he has called a meeting of, and has received assurances from, the following bodies expressing their approval of the scheme, and stating that they would be present: The Warden and County Council of the County of Peterborough, the Town Council, the Reeve and members of the Ashburnham Village Council, the chairman and members of the Peterborough Board of Trade, and other representative gentlemen. The meeting will be held in the Town Council Chamber on the evening of Tuesday, December 3rd, at which there will also be present the president of an organized company, who will explain under what conditions his company will locate in Peterborough. Every possible effort should be made to forward and bring the matter to a successful issue. The meeting should be a large and representative one, as the securing of a beet sugar factory in Peterborough will mean the expenditure of a great amount of capital, the employing of a large number of men, and the introduction into the farming community of a new and paying line of agriculture.

HUNTERS BANQUETTED.

Capt. Jack Cottingham Entertained His Friends Last Evening.

The dining room of the Commercial House was the scene of a very happy gathering last night, it being the occasion of a little banquet that was tendered to the Fitzgerald - Westlake - Gunsolus hunting party by the captain of the same, Mr. Jack Cottingham. It was an exceptionally happy assemblage as the hunters of many years sat around the festive board and told many amusing and exciting stories of incidents connected with the camps of the party from time to time.

The table was handsomely arranged, and an excellent bill of fare was placed before the party, gotten up, perhaps, in better style, than that which they were accustomed to having in the north country, but in the end relished none the more.

The chair was occupied by Capt. Jack Cottingham, and seated around the table were Messrs. Chas Westlake, M. Tooley, W. H. White, J. H. O'Shea, R. Tivey, C. Gunsolus, ex-Capt George Fitzgerald, R. Sheehy, Charles James, H. Evans, Sam Bennett and Thos. Parker.

After doing justice to the good things provided, a delightful half hour or so was spent in songs, story-telling and speech-making. Mr. R. Tivey gave several of his well known recitations, Harry Evans sang the songs he used to sing when in the north country, whilst Mr. Tooley told about the deer he didn't shoot.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Captain Cottingham, and to Mr. and Mrs. O'Shea for the entertainment. Capt. Cottingham replied, expressing his great pleasure in having the boys present and hoped it would not be the last of such gatherings.

A NEW SEWER.

Tenders are Wanted for Another Piece of Work.

A meeting of the Board of Works was held last night when the matter of the construction of the Perry street and Rubidge street sewers were under consideration. The sections in question are on Rubidge street, between Dublin and Edinburgh streets, and on Perry street, between George and Aylmer streets. It was decided to call for tenders for the laying of a nine inch pipe in each case. The tenders must be in by 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. As the season is getting pretty well advanced it will be necessary to proceed with the work at once. Tenders for the construction were invited before, but the price, in the estimation of the Board, was too high. However, it was for a larger sized sewer.

PERSONALS.

Miss Florence Scott is home from Toronto.

Mr. W. Carlyle, of Lindsay, was in town yesterday.

Mr. Robert Fair is in Toronto on a business visit.

Mr. F. B. Stevens, of Chatham, is in town on business.

Wm. E. Crowe, of Souris, is paying a visit to these parts.

Mr. Sam Reid, of Toronto, and formerly of Peterborough, is in town.

Miss Eakins, of Millbrook, is in town, the guest of Miss Mary Eakins, town.

Father Keilty, Douro, is spending a few days in Toronto. He is a guest at the Rossin House.

Mr. Fred Lefevre sailed yesterday for Europe. He expects to be home for Christmas.

Lieut.-Col. C. M. Strange, of Kingston, is in town inspecting the stores of the 14th Field Battery.

Mr. C. M. Paterson, local ledger keeper of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, to-day received notice of his transfer to the Belleville branch of the bank. During Mr. Paterson's two year's residence in Peterborough, he has made himself exceedingly popular amongst a wide circle of friends all of whom will regret to learn of his removal from town. He has proved himself an enthusiastic member of the Rugby Club, a valuable acquisition to the sergeants of the 57th Regiment, whilst in social circles he will also leave a gap that will be hard to fill. Mr. Paterson will be succeeded by Mr. Jack Erskine, formerly of Ashburnham and recently of the Bank of Commerce, Toronto. Mr. Erskine has a host of friends in town all of whom will be pleased to know that he will be back again amongst them.

KILLED AT QUEBEC.

Death of Mr. Joseph Morency Brother of Mr. Edw. Morency of Town.

Mr. Edward Morency, engineer of the Peterborough Lock Company, received a telegram yesterday announcing that his brother, Joseph, had been killed at South Quebec.

The deceased was in charge of the switching and making up of trains on the Grand Trunk Railway at that place.

This is the fourth brother that Mr. Morency has had killed through accidents on railways.

Mr. Morency leaves to-night to attend the funeral. Deceased was a married man with a large family.

WHERE IS JOHN?

An Niagara Falls Man Who is Missing—His Description.

The Chief of Police has received a circular letter from W. H. Mains, Chief of Police, Niagara Falls, asking that a lookout be kept for a man named John Mellon, aged 35 years, 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighing 153 pounds, dark brown hair, sandy moustache, large blue eyes, rather pale complexion, and high forehead.

No reason is assigned for his disappearance, but the Chief of Police Niagara Falls would be pleased to hear of his whereabouts.

St. Andrew's "Oisken Spere."

In addition to other attractive features to be presented at the celebration of St. Andrew's Day, on Thanksgiving night, it is a pleasure to be able to announce that Hon. Senator Kerr of Cobourg, has accepted an invitation to deliver the annual address—of about 20 minutes — on the subject of "The Day and a' Wha Honour It." Senator Kerr is a Scotchmen to the manner born, and well qualified by gifts of oratory and literary culture to do splendid justice to so splendid a subject.

QUIETLY MARRIED.

Nuptials of Mr. D. H. Williamson to Miss Emma Hubbell.

A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. John Williamson, Water street, on the evening of the 20th inst., when his eldest son, David Henry, was married to Miss Emma Hubbell, of Dummer. The ceremony was witnessed by a small company of near relatives of the contracting parties, who made the bride the recipient of some handsome and useful presents. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. R. Mackenight, B. A. After a delicious supper, the company dispersed.

The groom is a brother of Mr. R. G. Williamson, of town, and holds a responsible position with the Crown Corundum and Mica Company.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Rice Lake is frozen over.

—Fine harvest weather for the bricklayers.

—Toronto has plenty of soft coal, but we in Peterborough find hard coal hard to get.

—The regular mid-week service of All Saints' church will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.

—The country roads are in splendid condition, and the Saturday market should be a large one.

Moderate to fresh west to south west winds; fair and somewhat milder to-day and on Friday.

—The bylaw regarding the throwing of paper on the streets, does not seem to be very strictly enforced. George street looked very untidy this morning.

—The first band concert of the season will be held in the Market Hall on Friday evening next, when an entirely new programme will be presented. 3d

—Mr. R. M. Roy on Tuesday evening took some very pretty pictures of the interior of the Y.M.C.A., as arranged by the Ladies' Auxiliary, and also of the senior "Gym" class.

—The finder of a black fur attachment belonging to a lady's cape, which was lost on Hunter street on Monday evening, will confer a favour on the loser by leaving at the Examiner office.

—The Ottawa Municipal Association, which was formed a few days ago to bring about better business methods in the city council, has decided that aldermen, city officials, and those nominated for civic office shall not be eligible for membership in the association.

A GRAN' SCOTCH NICHT.

The large handsome blue posters are out announcing the celebration of St. Andrew's Day in Peterborough by a grand "Clachan Spiore," or Scottish merry-making event in Bradburn's Opera House on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 28th. The Executive committee who have this anniversary event in hand, have gone to a great deal of expense in providing popular talent and attractions, and they deserve the liberal patronage of all Scotchmen who are more specially interested in "the day and a' wha' honour it," as well as the general public. The list of attractions on the programme are certainly sufficiently varied and versatile to pack the Opera House. Prof. Sheetu' trained class of twenty Highland lassies and laddies will dance all the most fascinating Scotch figures, as well as Spanish dances, cake walks, skirt dances, etc. Prof. McKay, the distinguished humorist and character delineator, will be another strong attraction. Madame Palmina Bonivini, prima donna soprano, from Italy and the prominent concert Halls of Europe, will appear twice during the evening. Miss Currie, elocutionist, will give select Scottish readings, and a detachment of Highland Pipers, from Toronto, will render a number of national soul-stirring airs on the bag pipes. Come a' the gither!

WANT MONEY FOR MISSIONS.

Revs. Dr. Robertson and J. A Macdonald Speak.

$1,000 FROM ST. PAUL'S.

Is What They Ask, and a Like Amount From St. Andrew's—Interesting Missionary Addresses.

A missionary meeting was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian church last night, when interesting and very instructive addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Robertson, Superintendent of Home Missions, of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Westminster.

The meeting was only fairly attended, but those who were present could not but be struck with the earnest appeal made on behalf of the Home Mission cause, and at the same time feel more enlightened as to the extent of Canada, physically, and as to its unbounded resources, all of which were made plain by the two speakers.

The chair was occupied by Rev. Dr. Torrance, and there were also present Rev. J. G. Potter, pastor of St. Andrew's church, and Rev. George Yule.

During the evening Miss Clara Belleghem and Miss Nellie Davies rendered vocal selections that were much enjoyed.

MR. MACDONALD.

The first speaker was Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Westminster, who in the course of a lengthy address, showed himself to possess an unlimited degree of knowledge of the condition of Canada from a missionary standpoint. His address was delivered with an earnestness that held the attention of his hearers throughout. There was not a more representative meeting.

The great work before the church in Canada is the Home Mission work, and unless we put ourselves resolutely to this work we cannot call ourselves Christians. It is the essence of paganism, said the speaker, in being content to go to church, and taking part in the local affairs of the church only. No man can believe in Jesus Christ and not care for the wide interests in which he is concerned. How can we best devote ourselves that our lives will be more useful in His service? This is the question that must be considered. As a matter of fact, there is no work in the world that is greater to-day from a Canadian standpoint, than the work of our own Canadian church. Think of what the field is—not the field down by the sea, but the country to the west. Here is a country having room for 50 millions of people, and stretching many thousands of miles. The evangelising of this great district is committed to the church of Canada.

The speaker here went on to emphasize the extent of the field for the Home Missions and Augmentation Committees. At the present time the church gave only 6 cents per head per year for this work. The work of Home Missions has changed to a very great extent even within the past ten years, and the facilities for carrying on the missionary work at the present day are much improved.

Mr. Macdonald spoke of the work that is going on in the eastern mission field, such as Quebec, where the population is decreasing; the same may be said of the rural population of Ontario, and they are therefore unable to support ordinances any better than they could 30 years ago. The situation in the newer part of Ontario is vastly different, and the speaker here referred to the rapid growth of the Temiskaming district, a country with untold wealth of timber and other resources. Rainy River was none the less richer than the last mentioned district, and seventeen new townships had been surveyed and settled already. The people are still pouring in as a result of the better transportation facilities. Until recently the only religious services held in that community were held by representatives of the Presbyterian Home Mission. In Manitoba not one-tenth of the land has been settled, and with the aid of better railway facilities the province is being augmented by eighty-eight thousand people a year. Next year it is anticipated that one hundred thousand people would move into that province and the Territories from the United States. The influx of population can, in fact, hardly be estimated, and the Christian who is not inspired by the situation to work should go to his closet and ask God to open his eyes. Never in fact in the whole history of the Presbyterian church in Canada, was the work so important, and, in fact, so critical. There is always some complaining that the population of the country is not growing sufficiently fast, but the speaker considered that it was even now outstripping the work of the church. The church cannot keep apace with it and should the population make any very alarming strides the result will be, as in most parts of the United States, where they are endeavouring to do away with everything in the shape of religious reform.

The speaker also urged that more attention be paid to the missionary fields in Quebec, showing how that the highland families that settled there many years ago are becoming absorbed into the Roman Catholic church. As an instance of this he mentioned the fact that away back in the early settlement of that Province, 24 Scotch families took up land in the northern portion of Lower Canada. To-day their descendants number 1000, everyone of whom are going to mass and speaking the French language. The same will happen in other parts of Canada unless looked after by the Home Missionary Society and the Augmentation Committee. The speaker, continuing, pointed out that the strength of the church is not in the city but in the country. But New Ontario should be in sympathy with Old Ontario both in matter of church, schools, trade and commerce and in family life, and we should all take an interest in one another. Any man who is too absorbed in his private affairs to take any interest in public questions is not doing his duty towards their country. If we had men who believe in their God and who would do their duty at the party convention they would be doing a mighty piece of work. The men that are settling in New Ontario and in Western Canada are of mixed Nationalities, pro-Boers and everything else. They have votes and they will send representatives to Parliament shortly to represent their particular feelings whether they be pro-Boer or not. There are 5,000 Mormons in Southern Alberta, and unless they are watched they will put through legislation as they see fit. They are a very able people and unless the church evangelises that mass they will make themselves felt, and they will be a running sore in the side of Western Canada. The Mormons have missionaries out working only for their expenses, so that every effort should be made to check their progress. The speaker then went on to speak of the conditions of the people of the farther west, which he said constituted the worst form of social life, and were it not for the church and its work in the Kootney district the condition of the place would be exceedingly deplorable. It would not, in fact, be fit to live in such a country were it not for the work of the few churches. In conclusion he made an earnest appeal in support of the Home Mission cause.

DR. ROBERTSON.

Dr. Robertson said that after the complete presentation of the case by Mr. Macdonald there was not much need for him to speak at length. However, he explained that the Home Mission and Augumentational Fund required at least $50,000 to meet notes already maturing. The case, he said, was alarming, but it was owing to the fact that they used to get a large number of special contributions which, for some unexplainable reason, had ceased. The rev. gentleman went very minutely into figures to show the increased expenditure and the decrease in the revenue. The donations from the Old Country which we have in the past received, have been cut off, as the people across the water appear to think that when we talk of being a nation we are able to take care of ourselves. In the course of his address the speaker pointed out the mighty work that is ahead of the church in fighting the methods of the Mormons, and evangelising the west. He urged upon them to give financial aid towards the work, and he considered that St. Paul's could raise at least $1,000.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

What is Being Done by Local Buyers—The Shipments.

Business in live stock has been fairly brisk this week, Mr. Kennedy alone having handled between 40 and 50 cars, including about 200 cattle, over 1000 sheep and lambs, and about 3000 hogs.

A very choice load of export cattle, averaging 1300 pounds, purchased from Mr. George Webber, was without exception, the best load of grass-fed cattle weighed on the market this year.

Mr. Kennedy states that choice cattle are commanding strong prices, both butchers' cattle and for export, though light cattle are still a drug on the market.

Sheep and lambs continue low. One double decker, 220 lambs, was purchased at $2.60 per cwt. Hogs have advanced 25c per cwt., bringing 5 1-4 on the local market live weight.

DOUBLE STAMPS!

The Port Hope Knitting Works, the people's favourite hosiery and underwear store, will give double stamps all this week on their whole immense stock of knitted goods.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Should we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Enfeebling pelvic Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their pernicious fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you, and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no secret in this world for sexual, physical or nervual debility. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Drains, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Heart, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. JOHN HAY'S SPEECH.

Declares American Diplomacy Is Based on Monroe Doctrine and the Golden Rule—Notable Utterances.

New York, Nov. 20.—The 133rd annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce was held at Delmonico's last evening. Covers for 450 were laid in the main banquet-room, which was decorated chiefly with American flags. At the table of honor, presided over by President Morris K. Jessup, were Ambassador Joseph H. Choate, United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James; Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State, and other prominent statesmen and citizens.

The speech-making was opened by President Jessup, in a very few words. He then proposed a toast to the memory of William McKinley. It was drunk with all standing, and in silence. President Roosevelt's health was then toasted, while the orchestra played. The next toast was that of "King Edward of England."

In introducing Secretary Hay, President Jessup proposed a toast, "Our Diplomacy." The Secretary was warmly welcomed by the guests.

Secretary of State Hay spoke of diplomacy, and said, in part: "There was a time when diplomacy was a science of intrigue and falsehood, of traps and mines and countermines. It may be another instance of the credulity with which I have often been charged by European critics when I say that I really believe the world has moved onward in diplomacy, as in other matters. In my experience of diplomatic life, I can say, without hesitation, that we have generally told squarely what we wanted, announced early in the negotiation what we were willing to give, and allow the other side to accept or reject our terms.

"If we are not permitted to boast of what we have done, we can at least say a word about what we have tried to do and the principles which have guarded our actions. The briefest expression of our rule of conduct is, perhaps, the Monroe doctrine and the golden rule. With this simple chart we can hardly go far wrong.

"I think I may say that our sister republics to the south of us are perfectly convinced of the sincerity of our attitude. They know we desire the prosperity of each of them, and peace and harmony among them. We no more want territory than we covet the mountains of the moon.

"As to what we have tried to do—what we are still trying to do—in the general field of diplomacy, there is no reason for doubt on the one hand or of reticence on the other. President McKinley, in his messages during the last four years, has made the subject perfectly clear. We have strived, on the lines laid down by Washington, to cultivate friendly relations with all powers, but not to take part in the formation of groups or combinations among them. We have sought, successfully, to induce all the great powers to unite in a recognition of the general principle of equality of commercial access and opportunity in the markets of the Orient.

"We consider our interests in the Pacific Ocean as great now as those of any one power and destined to indefinite development. We have opened our doors to the people of Hawaii; we have accepted the responsibility of the Philippines, which Providence imposed upon us. We have put an end to the embarrassing pandemonium in which we were involved in Samoa, and, while abandoning none of our commercial rights in the entire group, we have established our flag and our authority in Tutuila, which gives us the best harbor in the South Sea. Next in order will come a Pacific cable, and an Isthmian Canal, for the use of well disposed people, but under exclusive American ownership and American control.

"Let us be diligent in our business and we shall stand—stand. You see, nor crawl—nor swagger—stand, as a friend and equal, asking nothing, putting up with nothing but what is right and just, among our peers, in the great democracy of nations."

In his peroration, he said: "No wantonness of strength will ever induce us to drive a hard bargain with another nation, because it is weak, nor will any fear of ignoble criticism tempt us to insult or defy a great power, because it is strong, or even because it is friendly."

After he concluded Secretary Hay was obliged several times to acknowledge the applause accorded him.

His Nerve Played Out.

Montreal, Nov. 20.—Maximilian Mousseau, the employe of the post-office, who confessed to stealing money letters, was sentenced to three years in penitentiary yesterday morning. The prisoner, who is well connected and only married six months, made a scene when sentenced, and was carried out of the dock in a swoon.

The Baby Sick?

Then probably it's a cold. Babies catch cold so easily and recover so slowly. Not slowly, however, when you use Vapo-Cresolene. Then a single night is all that is necessary for a cure. You just put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and place near the crib. While baby sleeps he breathes in the healing vapor. Cold lessens, inflamed membranes heal, and all trouble ceases. It's a perfect specific for whooping-cough and croup.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.25; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

TROOPS REQUESTED.

American Diplomatic Agent Dickinson Seeking Miss Stone's Doom.

Sofia, Nov. 20.—It is reported that Mr. Dickinson, the United States diplomatic agent here, has informed the Government of Bulgaria that the abductors of Miss Ellen M. Stone and Madame Tsilka, with their captives, are concealed in a defile of the Belleritza Mountains, near Snotchno, District of Dubnitza, and has requested that troops be sent to surround the place and liberate the captives.

The Brigands Are Impatient.

Sofia, Nov. 20.—The negotiations for the relief of Miss Stone are again in danger of being broken off. No real progress has been achieved, and the prospects of an immediate settlement with the brigands are unsatisfactory. Mme. Tsilka's husband is still in daily consultation with United States Consul-General Dickinson. It is likely the missionary will be one of two men appointed to hand over the ransom. Reliable information has just arrived here, to the effect that the captives are concealed in the immediate neighborhood of Samakov.

The Right Thing.

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front.

For several years, Eucalyptol Guaiacol and Hydrastin have been recognised as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately, and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics, into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh, and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark House, Troy, N. Y., says, "When I run up against anything that is good I like to tell the people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50c box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and am glad to say that they have done wonders for me, and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing."

Mr. Geo. J. Casanova, of Hotel Griffon, West 9th street, New York City, writes; "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given me better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried."

A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach.

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are so harmless that little children take them with benefit, as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drugs.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50c for full size package, and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form of catarrh.

RUNAWAY MARRIAGE

LIEUT. CECIL AND HIS BRIDE NOW AWAIT THE PENALTY.

Miss Bain and Her Husband, a Ward in Chancery, Defied the Court and Married in Scotland—A Serious Offence Committed by Miss Bain Under English Law—What the Chancellor May Do.

Interesting details are given in The London Daily Telegraph, which arrived by the English mail on the 30th October, of the Cecil romance, which has attracted great attention in England, owing to the fact that the young couple concerned have set at defiance the Lord Chancellor, by getting married in Scotland.

The bridegroom, Lieutenant Richard William Francis Cecil, a nephew of the Marquis of Exeter, is a ward in Chancery, being 19 years of age, and, under the will of his grandfather, Sir William Cunliffe Brooks, enjoys or will enjoy an income of about $40,000. His marriage with Miss Jessie Bain, the daughter of a Belfast stock broker, was objected to by his mother, Lady Francis Cecil, who procured an injunction from the Court of Chancery to prevent it. The lovers, however, went to Edinburgh, where the English Court of Chancery has no jurisdiction, got married, and proceeded to London to await the consequences of their evasion of the English law.

"Quite a reception," says The Daily Telegraph, "awaited the stout-hearted couple at King's Cross Station. They were cheered as they stepped from the train and walked to a cab to drive to a hotel. Lieut. Cecil, in an interview, declared that he had no particular course of action marked out. He was now within the jurisdiction of the Lord Chancellor, and would await whatever action the court might take with regard to him. Mrs. Cecil, who is a tall, handsome lady, was dressed in a grey traveling cloak and blue toque, with black trimmings. Her husband is a stalwart-looking young fellow, quite six feet in height. He wears a slight, fair moustache, and looks at least 23 or 24, instead of his real age of just over 19 years.

It seems to have escaped general notice that the offending person in this very delightful modern romance is not Lieut. Cecil himself, but the lady, who has had the temerity to make him her husband. Wards in Chancery form a class in the community whom the law guards with special jealousy. If they are of the weaker sex, they are surrounded with microscopic precautions, and they must only do or be done by as the Lord Chancellor desires.

"The ward must not be sent to school or to business without the consent of the court; and, above all, the guardian must not take the ward abroad or allow him to go abroad without the special permission of the Lord Chancellor. But, by far the most awful penalties attached to anybody, male or female, who marries a ward of court without permission. So careful is the Lord Chancellor about this matter, that the ward's guardian 'must not allow the ward to make love or be made love to, with a view to marriage, still less to be engaged to be married, or to marry, without leave from His Lordship.'"

It is a serious thing to marry a ward of court. And the ungallant part of the law is that it attaches the same penalty, whether the ward is male or female. It is unlikely that Lord Halsbury will have Mrs. Cecil hauled before him and committed to Holloway Jail for her "contempt" in marrying Lieut. Cecil, without first consulting the head of the Court of Chancery, but the lady undoubtedly is in a dangerous position.

But, with a topsy-turveyness not frequent in the English law, the "punishment" in such case usually consists in imprisoning, not the lady, but her husband, until he makes a settlement of his property in such a way that the wife cannot get any of it. Fortunately for Mrs. Cecil, she runs no risk of this punishment, because it is only resorted to where the judge "is satisfied that the lady is a designing woman, who has inveigled the unsuspecting youth into a clandestine marriage and an untimely fate." What will happen to Lieut. Cecil, however, depends entirely upon the Lord Chancellor. Mr. Cecil managed to avoid the arrest which the Lord Chancellor ordered in consequence of the young man's disregard of his guardian, who, in this case, was his mother, but, so far as the law goes, he does not appear to have committed any contempt of court. That very indeterminate class of "offence" was committed only by Miss Bain in daring to wed Lieut. Cecil without first consulting the Lord Chancellor and obtaining his consent.

It is exceedingly improbable, however, that Lord Halsbury will impose a vicarious punishment by imprisoning her husband or stopping his allowance until he reaches the age of 21. He may, however, take strict measures in relation to the disposal of Mr. Cecil's fortune, so that the property and money shall not go to those who might profit by it in ordinary circumstances; that is to say, he can prevent any portion of it going to Mrs. Cecil, should she survive her husband.

It is understood that Lady Francis Cecil will take no further proceedings against Lieut. Cecil for his marriage with Miss Bain.

Killing Rats With Gas.

Some interesting experiments have taken place at the London docks to show the effect of a new system for the extermination of rats on board ships. The vessel is charged with sulphur dioxide gas, which apparently has the effect of attracting the rats from their hiding places, and as soon as they breathe the fumes they become suffocated. In the experiments on the steamer Gourkha several hundred rats were destroyed in a few minutes by means of the gas, which has no injurious effect upon the decorations of the saloon.

THE NEW BABY

Opens up a new world to the loving mother. If it is a strong, healthy baby that new world is a world of happiness. If it is a weak, fretful child the new world is full of anxiety. It has been proven in thousands of cases, that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes all the difference between strength and weakness in children. Healthy, happy mothers have healthy, happy children. "Favorite Prescription" gives the mother strength to give her child. It makes the baby's advent practically painless and promotes the secretion of the nourishment necessary to the healthful feeding of the nursing child.

"I have been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and can say it is just what you advertise it to be," writes Mrs. Victor J. Hadin, of Leonardsville, Riley Co., Kansas. "I began taking it just two months before baby came and was greatly benefited by its use. The doctor who attended me said I did about as well as any one he had seen (as I was sick only about three hours), and also that your 'Favorite Prescription' was 'one patent medicine' which he did have faith in. We now have a darling baby boy, strong and healthy, who weighed nine pounds when born. During this month he has gained three and one-half pounds. Have never given him one dose of medicine."

silk or soft materials which are very smart to be worn with the now universally accepted black skirt. These coats have usually large sleeves, and they are much tucked.

Eminently sportsmanlike and sensible is the smart hunting costume shown in the illustration. It is made of dark green tweed trimmed with bands of leather strongly stitched. The coat is made in the Russian blouse shape, with a yoke and three bands of leather. It is made collarless, and with it there is worn a waist of buff flannel somewhat on the shade of the leather trimmings. The sleeves are bishop, and the cuffs are ornamented with narrow bands of the leather. Each gore of the skirt is ornamented by a band of leather, and the bottom shows an elaborate arrangement of the strappings.

NAMES OF PRESIDENTS.

Most of Them Are Derived From Christian Names, a Few Others From Occupations.

The origin of names is ever an interesting field of study and exploration. One newspaper writer has been looking into the patronymics of the presidents of the United States, with this result:

Washington is an English territorial name, being, with the exception of Lincoln and Garfield, the only of its kind on the list. Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Johnson, Harrison, are all true derivations from Christian names, meaning, respectively, the son of Adam, of Geoffrey, of Matthew, of John, and of Harry, which last is not a nickname in English, but the true form of the word, Henry being later and a purely slavish following of the French spelling of the word. Polk is an abbreviation for Pollock or Pollok, itself from Paul, and the "l" in it used to be sounded, though it is now dropped for the sake of euphony. Pierce follows the same analogy, coming from Peter, the French Pierre—"Piers Ploughman."

Tyler, Taylor and Cleveland are from occupations. Hayes is from an old English word, "hay" meaning simply a hedge, and denoting in the first instance one who dwelt near a notable feature of that kind in the rural landscape. Fillmore seems to be a nickname fastened to a fibulous ancestor. Buchanan is Scotch and the first syllable is to be sounded with a short, not a long "u." McKinley is also Celtic. Van Buren is Dutch. Lincoln derives the latter syllable of the name from the Latin "colonia," indicating that in ancient times the Romans held a colony in that particular locality, while the field in Garfield's name has the significance in Danish of a camp or fort, the "gar" meaning a weapon, as in the Christian name Edgar, and the whole standing for a battle-ground. Grant is simply the old Norman-French grand, and means great, properly enough.

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Ways of Russian Officers.

One of the hardships of an English newspaper correspondent who tried to accompany the Russians during the recent military activities in China had to do with the convivial capacities of the Czar's officers, whose guest he was. Vodka and sakuska were their favorite tipples. These, as everybody knows, are not "soft," and to drink a Russian toast means the rapid consumption of a full glass of strong alcoholic liquid. Then the glasses are turned upward and they must leave no moist spot upon the tablecloth. One toast is to be responded to with another, when the same formality must be again celebrated, and so on. "When that great war between Russia and some Eastern power really comes," the man declares, "ability to speak Russian will not be the qualification looked for by editors when searching for correspondents."

RUGBY.

The Rugby team will leave on Wednesday night of next week for Montreal, where they will play Quebec for the intermediate championship of Canada.

Any person contemplating going down to Montreal with the Rugby team should make application to the secretary at once.

WHERE IS THE GATE MONEY FROM THE LAST GAME.

The London News says: — "In view of the fact that Peterborough is squealing so loud about the $50 London owes that club, President Reid authorizes the News to state that London will pay Peterborough out of the first money they receive at the gate, and London thinks that the least Peterborough can do is to give the local men a chance to earn the money by playing them—Peterborough to have the choosing of the grounds, the remainder of the gate receipts to go to charity. London does not want to gull Peterborough out of what is justly coming to them, but London's finances are not in exactly the best possible condition, and Peterborough should give them the chance to earn the money. The game would be a great drawing card, and it would pay well. Peterborough would get their money, and all would be peace and quietness once again. It is a debt of honour and must be paid." If Peterborough will not play London then the local men will have to resort to some other scheme to get the money."

NOT AS BAD AS THAT.

A despatch from London reads as follows: "An article appeared last evening in a local paper regarding the cup which has been awarded to Peterborough by the O.R.F.U., as intermediate champions of Ontario. The article stated that the cup had mysteriously disappeared, no one knew where. This is a story which it is impossible to account for. There was not grounds at all for the statement, unless it was a desire on the part of the local sheet to 'knock' the London team. The cup is in the possession of the officers of the London Rugby Football Team, and President Reid said this morning that he would ship the trophy at once to Peterborough, as such a childish and senseless trick as the spiriting away of the cup had never entered the minds of the local men. While we do not mire the Peterborough men for accepting such a hollow championship we nevertheless recognize the fact that the O.R.F.U. gave them the cup, and we will carry out our part of the business to the letter. Much indignation was expressed by local football players and followers of the game that a local paper should print such a silly and unfounded story."

GLEESON WITH THE COLLEGE.

Ottawa College Football Club got a boom yesterday afternoon, when a deputation, headed by President B. Slattery and Capt. T. Boucher, waited on Mr. Eddie Gleeson and represented to him that College had much need of his presence on the team for the championship game. Gleeson was not at all inclined to play, as he considered that the three half-backs who have played together all season, should be left together, and his presence might not help them to any extent; in fact, might hurt the combination. The club, however, had made up their minds that Gleeson would be the right man in the right place, and he consented, under the pressure, to play centre-half-back. In all probability, his brother Joe will be dropped on Saturday, as he is the lightest man, though there is little to choose between the three half-backs, Callahan always having a call over the other two, however, by reason of his being the goal kicker. Capt. Boucher also handed over the captaincy of the team to Gleeson for the match, the team having great confidence in his judgment. The acquisition of Gleeson will certainly greatly strengthen the half-back line as he is a good runner, and that is where Colle[illegible] were behind. The team had a rattling good practice yesterday after noon with Gleeson in his new position. He is a man that is always in shape, and he played as if he had been in the steadiest of practice. The practice showed lots of snap, and the team should by Saturday be in their best shape. Every man on the team is being warned to avoid off-side play, so as to give no advantage to their opponents. It is said that President Clarton will be left to appoint the officials, and the college men feel sure that the style of scrimmage adopted by the Argos, and which they claim is off-side, will not be allowed.

HOCKEY.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club will be held in the skating rink on Tuesday evening next.

GOLF.

In answer to a query in yesterday's issue, as to who is the custodian of the keys of the club house, it might be stated that the secretary is always in a position to state where they may be found. As a rule, the keys can be found in the possession of one or other of the members of the Executive Committee.

BASKET-BALL.

As announced last week the winners of the Hamilton vs. Ackerman game would play the Electricians from the Canadian General, on Saturday of this week. As the opening of newly fitted parlours will take place from 7.30 to 9.00, it has been decided that the game will be held at 9 o'clock sharp. This will decide the championship of the factory games, and no doubt large numbers will turn out supporting their respective teams. Mr. Sandford Hall will referee the deciding game and the umpires will be Messrs. H. E. Ayers and W. Maguire.

The intermediates will participate in a lively game to-night, teams Nos. 2 and 4 participating. The public are invited to attend each and all these matches, but especially the matches on Saturday evenings, which will be held each Saturday night during the winter.

CURLING.

The Norwood curlers met in the McGregor House on Tuesday evening for the purpose of re-organizing fo rthe coming season. Mr. W. A. F. Campbell, president, occupied the chair.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read, and on motion, confirmed.

The treasurer's report was then read and showed the club to be in a flourishing condition.

The election of officers was then proceeded with. The following being elected for the ensuing year:—

Patron and Patroness — Mr. and Mrs. W A F Campbell.
Hon. President—P W Reynolds.
President—J B Waddell.
Vice-President—J G Keefer.
Secretary—W R Cameron.
Treasurer—P E Graham.
Executive Committee — President, Vice-Pres., Jas. Cumming, W A F Campbell and T E Finlay.

The secretary was instructed to write the secretary of the Ontario Curlers Association, and make inquiries with a view of joining and being scheduled to play games in this district.

HUNTING NOTES.

The Jeffry's party have returned from the back country, where they had poor luck, they report the deer very scarce in the Long Lake district, but nevertheless they procured a couple and brought them home.

Last evening Mr. Jeffry invited his fellow workmen of the Canadian General Electric Works, to partake of a venison supper which was greatly appreciated by them. The toast list was a long one. Mr. Jeffry addressed the boys in a manner that did him credit. The evening's enjoyment was brought to a close in the usual manner by singing "He's a jolly good fellow," and God Save the King.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, Nov. 20th, 1901.

"Reading Company's future prospects brightest known."

Buy some of the Reading issues, do so immediately, and hold on to them. The present buying of these issues is exceptionally good, present move being based upon the large earnings for October. These earnings are known to be the best on record.

It is reported that the net increase over last year will be $1,200,000 for the month.

Readings Auxiliary Company, the Jersey Central, increased net earnings for the month of October to the extent of $700,000. This will make Reading increase for one month about two millions.

It is generally understood that Reading will soon take control of the Lehigh Valley Co. This will make Reading more dominant than ever in the coal trade, and increase its importance as a transportation company. These three roads carry nearly 10 per cent. of the Anthracite coal, inasmuch as Reading owns the larger portion of undeveloped anthracite territory, the influence of the combination of the coal trade is readily understood.

The influence of the new combination upon the coal trade in general, the coalition of these great companies is another step in the concentration of railway ownership, now making rapid progress in all parts of the country. Reading ownership of Jersey Central proves very profitable, the earnings on the Jersey Central stock owned by the Reading, will be equivalent to 16 per cent. this year, a fact which will enhance the value of the Reading Collateral Trust Co., which are secured by the shares of the Jersey Central Co.

New York, Nov. 20th, 1901.

Market Letter.—Yesterday's letter presents additional reasons why it is advisable, not only to buy Reading issues, but all coal stocks.

Each issue should sell materially higher, and those who will buy and hold on will, in our opinion, have no reason to regret it.

Earnings in the Southern roads continue to expand. For several weeks in November L. N. Railway increased $38,745; Norfolk, $40,362; Southern, $40,279. From July 1st Southern Railway has increased $765,762. The Southern shares should be excellent purchases.

Gross earnings of the roads already reported for October exceed $8,250,000, or nearly 12 per cent. more than for October, 1900.

The market seems in the doldrums, selling off a little after an early advance. Louisville, Met., Manhattan, N. Y. C. Coalers and Atchisons were the strongest railway features. The industrials were steady, fluctuating within narrow limits, with exception of P.S., which sold over two points from its best price.

For the time being scalpers' profits can be secured, by buying when off 1-2 to 1 1-2 per cent., closing out rallies. The market will eventually be higher.—Haight & Freese Co.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of Monday a letter appeared over the signature of A. W. Beall, which shows clearly enough the sympathy of the writer with the temperance cause, but leaves the reader somewhat in doubt as to the correctness of the statement I made in the sermon on Sunday morning last in the Charlotte street church.

Perhaps the best thing I can do is to repeat in this letter what was said in the sermon with reference to this subject, and let the reader judge for himself whether I had a nightmare or was mistaken in the matter.

I was preaching from the subject—"The Misplaced Switch," and had as my text Job 6, 18—"The paths of their feet are turned aside, they go to nothing and perish." The last point in the sermon was to the effect that so long as the saloon was allowed to exist, society is guilty of leaving an open switch, if not of placing an open switch on the line of life, over which our fellow men are running.

That because of this open switch many thousands of our fellow men were prevented from making a straight run in life, while 3,000 per year in our own Canada were actually ditched and overthrown by this open switch, and still it was neither closed nor spiked.

I further stated that, if our world was moving in the right direction, each generation should have a clear track and a safer run, and that the present generation should turn trackmen out for the purpose of keeping the line of life clear and safe, for those who come after us in later years. If any one questions the correctness of the statement that 3,000 human lives are sacrificed each year in Canada by the liquor traffic, let him look up the official record, and see for himself.

It was stated in one of the Toronto dailies last week that since the Boer war began in South Africa 18,000 British soldiers had been killed, besides a much greater number wounded. This presents to us a horrible picture of disaster and death, enough to make us shudder at the sight. But this picture, horrible as it is, is quite equalled by the ravages of the liquor traffic in our own loved Dominion, for since the Boer war began an equal number of our own sons have been slain in our own country by this enemy of God and man, saying nothing of the multitude of the wounded who have not been quite killed.

Shall every effort be made to terminate the Boer war, and prevent the killing of more British soldiers, and shall nothing be done to stop the killing in our own country? The answer is for us to say.

It would be interesting to know how much or how little of manly asperation or of sweet satisfaction is awakened in the hearts of those engaged in the liquor traffic, by the contemplation of the ravages wrought in human hearts and homes by their adopted business.

Shots Fired at Premier of Greece During Student Riot.

800 MARINES WERE LANDED

Seven Persons Were Killed Outright, 30 Were Severely Wounded and Many Others Slightly Wounded—The Scenes Were Heartrending When the Dead Bodies Were Handed Over to Their Relatives.

Athens, Nov. 22.—The agitation against the proposal to translate the Gospels into modern Greek was continued yesterday. Twenty thousand persons assembled around the ruins of the Temple of Jupiter Olympus, and took part in a demonstration organized by the students. A resolution was passed calling on the Holy Synod to excommunicate any person who translated the Gospels into Greek as now spoken.

Eight hundred marines were landed and co-operated with the troops in patrolling the locality. Several collisions occurred and occasional shots were fired. During the demonstration following the assemblage several shots were fired at M. Theotokis, the Greek Premier, but without effect.

During the encounters between the military and the turbulent demonstrators, 7 persons were killed, 30 were severely, and many others slightly wounded. Heart-rending scenes occurred when the bodies of the dead were handed over to their relatives. Among those slightly injured are the Prefect of Police of Athens and the Prefect of Attica.

As a result of the demonstration of the day, the Metropolitan has resigned office.

The commander of the gendarmes and the Prefect of Police have resigned. Gen. Vassous has been placed in command of the armed forces.

COLUMBIAN REVOLUTION.

The Taking of Colon Created No Panic —American, British and French Vessels There Already or Going.

Colon, Nov. 22.—The City of Colon was perfectly quiet last night. The community is not antagonistic to Liberalism. The Liberals say they are in possession of all the railway stations between Colon and Las Cascada. No immediate attack on Panama is contemplated. There is no panic here. The Government at Panama is still busy erecting breastworks in the vicinity of the railroad property, in the direction of which the Liberal attack is expected.

What It May Mean.

Paris, Nov. 22.—The Liberte accuses Washington of seeking a pretext to seize the Isthmus, and declares the Americans will now strive their utmost not to release their prey.

Britain Takes a Hand.

Kingston, Ja., Nov. 22.—The British cruiser Tribune left here yesterday for Colon.

Another French Boat.

Paris, Nov. 22.—La Presse asserts that the Government has telegraphed the French commander of the West Indian station to send another cruiser to replace the Suchet.

For a New President.

Mexico City, Mex., Nov. 22.—Gen. Pedro and George Holguin, the former Minister of War of Columbia, and the latter formerly Finance Minister, have arrived here to confer with Gen. Reyes, a member of the Pan-American Congress. It is understood they will offer him the Presidency of Columbia, assuring him that his taking office will bring peace to the country.

RECIPROCITY RESOLUTIONS.

The Americans Aim to Have Benefit Go Their Own Way.

Washington, Nov. 22.—The National Reciprocity Convention finished its work last night and adjourned sine die. Several important resolutions, embodying the views of the convention on reciprocity and other matters were adopted.

They provide as follows:

(1) That this convention recommends to Congress the maintenance of the principle of protection for the home market and to open up by reciprocity opportunities for increased foreign trade by special modifications of the tariff, in special cases, but only where it can be done without injury to any of our home interests of manufacturing, commerce or farming.

(2) That in order to ascertain the influence of any proposed treaty on our home interests, this convention recommends to Congress the establishment of a reciprocity commission which shall be charged with the duty of investigating the conditions of any industry, and reporting to the Executive and to Congress for guidance in negotiating reciprocity trade agreements.

"This convention recommends to and requests that a new department be created to be called 'the Department of Commerce and Industries,' the head of which shall be a member of the President's Cabinet. That a reciprocity commission be created as a bureau of this new department."

The chairman was instructed to present a set of the resolutions to President Roosevelt, and the officers of the convention were authorized to appear before the Senate Committee on Finance, and the Ways and Means Committee for the same purpose.

Commandant Buys Captured.

London, Nov. 22.—A despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated from Pretoria, Nov. 21, says Commandant Buys has been captured after attacking a patrol of one hundred railroad pioneers on the Vaal River, near Villiersdorp.

Kingston, Nov. 22.—Jacob Steel, jr., of Kennebec Township went out Wednesday to hunt partridge, and, in some manner, accidentally shot himself in the breast, causing death. His body was found yesterday.

THE TROOPS' LOYALTY

In Event of French Strike Becoming General Questioned.

LIFE OR DEATH TO THE REPUBLIC

An Official Declaration Expected in a Day or Two—A Partial Strike Has Already Broken Out—4,000 Out of 15,000 Miners in the Department of the Nord Quit Work.

London, Nov. 22.—The question of a general strike of the French miners, says the Paris correspondent of The Times, is again causing anxiety. Since the re-opening of the Chamber, the Premier, the Minister of Commerce and the Minister of Public Works have been kept busy with audiences in which they formulated their opinions. The labor exchanges ring nightly with speeches by stump orators.

The miners' three demands—shorter hours, more pay, and pensions—would, if granted, says the correspondent, involve an annual expense to the State of 80,000,000f.

If, the correspondent declares, the general strike takes place it will prove a question of life or death to the Republic. The importation of foreign coal would result in violence on the part of the miners. What would be the conduct of the soldiers, so long the object of the incitations of the Reactionists and Socialists? The correspondent asks: Can the Government count on the troops?

The situation in the mining centres of France is again approaching a climax. The next day or two will see a definite decision upon the question of a general strike. The result of the recent referendum, which, while it gave a majority in favor of the actual number who voted, actually indicated that a very considerable number of the miners were either opposed to a strike or not enthusiastic, impelled the federation officials to put off a strike declaration, on the plea that it was advisable to await the decisions of the Commission of the Chamber of Deputies engaged in studying the demands of the miners. It now appears unlikely that the Commission will satisfy these demands and the extreme partisans are endeavoring to force the hand of the federation officials in favor of a strike.

Already a partial strike has broken out in a coal field in the department of the Nord, where a general meeting of miners voted yesterday in favor of a strike and sent a despatch to M. Cotte, Secretary of the Federation, calling upon him to declare a strike immediately. M. Cotte declines to assume the responsibility, and announces the holding of a final consultation of delegates of the various mining centres and the publication of the decision in the course of a day or two.

The situation at present is that 4,-900 out of the 15,000 miners in the department of the Nord have struck, and that about 1,000 have gone on strike in the adjacent pits of the Pas De Calais district. The movement is spreading in the department of the Nord, and it is asserted that all miners there will cease work to-day.

Thus far complete order prevails, but an imposing force of gendarmes, infantry and cavalry has been billeted in every coal field to cope with any disorder.

Trying to Break the Strike.

New York, Nov. 22.—The officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad are striving to break the strike of the switchmen on the Harlem division of the line, and express confidence in their ability to do so. Twelve men, brought here from Boston during the night, were put to work yesterday morning, and one of the railroad officials said that 300 additional men engaged to take the places of the strikers would be at work in the yards within 24 hours. The milk trains arrived on time.

The strikers were in session yesterday, and it was expected that they would make some effort to extend the strike.

Strike for Sympathy.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22.—Sympathetic action was taken here yesterday by 115 switchmen, freight handlers and yard brakesmen employed in the yards of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, in accordance with an order issued from the strike headquarters in New York.

Press Feeders on Strike,

Baltimore, Nov. 22.—Two hundred press feeders and helpers employed in about 50 job printing offices of this city quit work yesterday. Their number will probably be increased by the pressmen. The strikers demand a work day of nine hours and an increase of pay, averaging $2 a week, for each of the workmen.

Killed Near Whitby.

Whitby, Nov. 22.—Another fatality occurred yesterday afternoon three miles west on the G.T.R. tracks, where work at the double tracking is going on. One, W. Davis, who was one of the construction crew, was struck and killed by a passing engine. Coroner Carson will hold an inquest.

Trooper Armstead Dead.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—A cable received last night at the Militia Department, says that Trooper W. Armsden of Melita, Man., died of enteric fever at Kimberley. Walter Toner of 215 Bleecker street, Toronto, is dangerously ill.

A POLICY OF MISREPRESENTATION.

In Essex it is charged that the Ontario Government is shuffling on the question of the stoppage of the exportation of natural gas precisely as it has shuffled and deceived on the scrap-iron question.—Mail and Empire.

"The Mail had not the honesty, says the Hamilton Times, to state that the export of gas had been ordered stopped; that on the company refusing to obey an injunction had been obtained to compel obedience; that when it was suspected gas was still being exported, the pipes were ordered to be taken up, and that although the company by appealing to the courts prevented that being done, it had agreed in court to respect the order against exporting gas. But it is, perhaps, useless to expect fairness or truth from the organ." The above paragraph quoted from the Mail, was written two or three days ago. In spite of the facts in the case the Mail continues to sacrifice the truth to its political ends.

In the issue of the Mail and Empire of Thursday we read:

"Essex is now in revolt against the Ross Government because, while pretending to stop the exportation of natural gas, the Ministers allow the exportation to go on."

What can be done with a newspaper pretending to be respectable, which deals with public questions on the principle, apparently, that a lie often enough repeated will after a time serve the purpose of truth? The organ has a reputation of deliberately and systematically dealing in misrepresentations of facts in relation to political exponents, and no one can claim that it has not earned this reputation. Through blind party fealty its readers may for a time accept its misstatements as facts, but if a newspaper continues a policy of misrepresentation its credibility will be destroyed, and when it may possibly blunder into speaking the truth, it will not be believed. The tactics the Mail is so fond of pursuing will bring their own punishment.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto Star patly remarks that when Cape Breton steel is exported to the United States, the iron may be said to have entered into Uncle Sam's soul.

The Toronto News says:—"Premier Ross is using a machine to build up Ontario." Yes that's so. Pulp machines, road making machines and beet root sugar machines.

"There are" says the Toronto News "plenty of scaley things to bring against the Ontario Government without falling back on the San Jose Scale." And the News is one of those who are bringing plenty of scaley arguments against the Government.

Sir Charles Tupper is in Toronto, and still talks politics politics. But it is to be noted as a significant circumstance, that he refuses to express an opinion as to Mr. Whitney's prospects or position in provincial politics. (With his magnificent political optimism, Mr. Whitney's chances must be considered exceedingly shady when the tough old Bucanet can't prophesy a sweeping victory for his erstwhile political protege. Sir Charles' political plan of campaign will be quite Machiavellian power by seizing the provinces in detail in local politics. Is it the case that Mr. Whitney is such a heavy load that even the evergreen optimism of Sir Charles refuses to try to shoulder him?

There is an agitation in the United States for the reduction of the duty imposed on Canadian lumber imported in that country. Let them agitate; let Uncle Sam stew in his own juice. He brought his trouble on himself, in the shape of action on the part of the Ontario Government, which requires that Ontario sawlogs shall be manufactured in Canada. He did all he could to ruin the lumber industry of Canada by imposing barbarous duties on Canadian lumber. If he had done the decent thing, the people of the United States could have had cheap lumber; there would have been no exportation of logs, for with a low duty, or none, on lumber it would not have paid to export logs. Uncle Sam, perhaps, thought he was doing a "smart" thing when he worked the Dingley lumber tariff. It had the effect of depriving him of Ontario sawlogs. Now he is squirming under this prohibition. Let him squirm — as he will have to do — for the manufacturing condition as to sawlogs is put there to stay. Uncle Sam has played fast and loose to such an extent with the duty on Canadian lumber, that he can't be trusted to do the fair thing in the future. Ontario now holds the winning cards, and she is not disposed to consent to a new deal.

THE SENTIMENT IS STRONG.

Montreal Star.

The New York Sun uses the article from the pen of Mr. Arnold Haultain, formerly of Peterborough, in the Nineteenth Century, as a text for saying some things about Canada. The comments are marked by an entire lack of knowledge of Canadian sentiment, and want of reliable history reading, which too frequently causes Canadian readers, of United States papers to marvel.

The Sun writer says: "How strong is the sentimental tie that is alleged to bind Canada to Great Britain we shall never be able to tell until the self-interest of Canadians is subjected to sharp and continued strain. Such a strain would be imposed if Canada's co-operation in England's wars, instead of being the outcome of spontaneous good will should be demanded by the mother country on the score of ethical or legal obligations. Especially severe would be the strain to which self-interest would be exposed, if the war in which Canada should find herself plunged by her connection with Great Britain were a war with the United States, for, obviously, in that event she would have to bear the brunt of the contest."

Precisely the test the New York Sun would see applied to Canadian sentiment is that which a reading of history would have told our New York friends, is the test we have had. Twice have Canadians, at times when they were almost unaided by the mother land, been obliged to lay aside their peaceful avocations and shoulder the musket to preserve this country for the British Crown. Repeatedly have they been obliged to drive back raids made by filibusters whose quarrel was not with us but with the Government of Great Britain.

In Canada we are not continuously resurrecting from musty volumes, pages of history wherein are related the conflicts we have had with our neighbours, and how they resulted. Victories which are worthy of being remembered are passed by in silence in this country, while we see our neighbours proudly celebrating their glorious defeat at Bunker Hill, and similar occasions when Revolutionary arms won honours. On this side of the line there is and always has been a strong desire to preserve friendly relations with those next door to us, but it were folly to allow them to forget the lessons of history.

The idea that Canada would not maintain a war for the sake of British connection, where she had to bear the brunt of conflict herself, permeated the Congress and people of the Revolting Colonies in 1775. Richard Montgomery and Benedict Arnold brought armies into this country, and scattered proclamations, assuring the people of their friendship and that they came but to rescue us from the British yoke, and enable us to share in the glory of Republican freedom. The forty-five days' defence of St. John's; the defeat and imprisonment of Ethan Allen's command at Longue Point; the smashing defeat of Montgomery and Arnold by Canadian militia, under the walls of Quebec, taught the invaders that those who removed the British flag from Canada had no holiday task before them.

Again, in 1812, when Britain was fighting the battle of liberty against tyranny in the old world, our neighbours declared war against the Mother Land. Again did armies invade Canada; again were we to bear the brunt of battle in one of Britain's wars. There was but a handful of British troops in all Canada, but the way the Canadians rallied to the defence of the flag and the sturdy fight they not only kept up on their own border, but carried into the enemy's country, demonstrated that the sentiment of British connection was strong in the heart of the Canadian.

After quoting some of Mr. Haultain's observations on Canadian habits and Canadian expressions, showing that we more resemble our neighbours in many things than we did the Old Country, the Sun says in conclusion: "The means of Canadians pay us the unconscious compliment of imitation. To individual Englishmen they offer no such distinctive tribute of sympathy and admiration. We believe it to be a just deduction that in the bulk of the Canadian people there is no great stock of pro-British sentiment, to which an appeal might be made if self-interest should point to a severance of the British connection."

The nation which shapes its policy on the assumption that the pronunciation of a word here and there, or the style of hat worn, indicate that any considerable number of people in Canada are ready to throw off British connection, is preparing to sup sorrow.

NEW ONTARIO FILLING UP.

People From Quebec Take up Land There and Make Good Settlers.

Mr. D. M. Brodie, Crown lands and mining agent at Massey station, is in Toronto, and reports considerable activity and development in that district, which lies about 100 miles west of Sudbury. The village has a copper mine, which has passed the experimental stage, and Mr. Brodie expects that a smelter will be established within a year. The Massey Station Mining Company is the operator of the mine nominally but the concern is said to be a branch of the Orford Company.

Outside the rich mineral ore there are, says Mr. Brodie, large tracts of excellent farming lands in the district, and during the past summer a large number of settlers have taken up land there. These come from the County of Pontiac, in Quebec, and about seventy-five per cent. of them are French-Canadians. Mr. Brodie pays a tribute to the industry and broad-mindedness of these people, and says that as far as his experience has been in mixed communities any bigotry has largely been chargeable to English speakers.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is building a spur line from Massey Station to the Copper Mine, a distance of some three miles.

Diseased Kidneys

Results From Exposure to Cold and Dampness or Injury of the Back—A Wonderfully Successful Home Treatment is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Though among the most painful and fatal of diseases, derangements of the kidneys are indicated by such marked symptoms that it is not necessary for anyone to be in doubt as to their ailment. Increasing weakness, debility and loss of weight; dull, heavy pains in the back, over the kidneys; frequent and pressing desire to urinate; scanty, highly-coloured urine; quick pulse; dry, harsh skin; constipation and diarrhoea alternating; nausea and stomach troubles and dropsical swellings, are the indications of kidney disease.

As the most frequent cause of kidney disease is exposure to cold and dampness or straining of the back and kidneys, it is especially common among workingmen, teamsters, railroaders and farmers. Kidney disease is also the result of constipation, and is found to prevail among men and women of sedentary habits and those accustomed to irregular hours, highly-seasoned foods and alcoholic liquors.

Mr. James Dellihunt, a most respected resident of Consecon, Ont., states:—"I was a sufferer from Bright's Disease for several years, and at times the tortures of mind and body were almost beyond endurance. The pains were in my head, between the shoulders and down the whole spine, concentrating across the kidneys, where I was never entirely free from pain. When I got up in the morning I went about bent over nearly double. It gave me great pain to urinate, and at times the water was very scanty. Medicines seemed to have little or no effect in my case, until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The first dose relieved me, and five boxes entirely cured me. I have no pains in my kidneys, and can do as good a day's work as I ever could."

Mr. J. J. Ward, J. P., of Consecon, certifies that he knows Mr. Dellihunt's statement of his cure to be correct and true and without exaggeration. It seems Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills owe much of their success to the fact that they have a direct and combined action on both the kidneys and liver, and so thoroughly rid the system of complicated diseases of these filtering organs. There is no longer any doubt as to the remarkable virtue of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In Canada alone last year there were sold over one hundred and ninety thousand boxes of this great kidney medicine; one pill a dose; 25c. a box; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The winter weather has begun.

Pigeon Creek is covered over with ice sufficiently strong for skating.

William Bradburn, proprietor of the Bradburn opera house, has renovated and improved the inside very tastefully, and there are quite a few entertainments in contemplation.

Many of our boys would like to get employment at the Peterborough industries during the coming winter months.

Rev. Mr. Teny, the Anglican minister, who succeeds Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, is being well received.

Our sports have organized a hockey team.

Our village was crowded on Monday; farmers were delivering live turkeys to Dundas & Flavelle. Some loads brought as high as $60.

A large number of our farmers have been delivering more grain than ever to the Peterborough Market.

IT COST MONEY.

Many a man has spent all his earnings in trying to get rid of rheumatism. It cost Mr. James Davison, Oconto, Ont., between $1,000 and $2,000 before he tried Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. He was a helpless invalid for six years but suffered from sciatica in his hip joint for ten years. Six bottles cured him completely and he is now working his farm. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment. Price $2 sends at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

They enjoy the advantage of the extra high prices there.

Omemee citizens are wondering if there will be a branch of the Peterborough electric road extended here next summer.

William H. Kennedy, proprietor of our planing mill and sash and door factory has found business increasing to such an extent as to necessitate taking his brother, R. J. Kennedy, as partner. They will also act as agents for the Peter Hamilton Co.

Mr. J. D. Thornton, district agent for the Peterborough Cordage and Binder Twine Co., has increased the number of shares lately. Considerable more confidence is being shown by the public.

Deafness is Curable!

Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhalation of Catarrhozone are reported, and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to our readers. Catarrhozone quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxall of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarrhozone, after years of deafness. Price $1. At druggists or by mail, from Poison & Co., Kingston, Ont.

An Emergency Congress.

In an emergency to make a compress for a wound if nothing better is at hand clean tissue paper makes an excellent application. It is much to be preferred to a strip torn from clothing or a soiled handkerchief, which may be the only other choice.

A QUIET DAY IN GALWAY.

Mr. Plunkett Declares He Would Not Take the Seat—Sketch of Winning Col. Lynch.

Dublin, Nov. 22.—The voting yesterday in the Parliamentary contest in Galway, between Colonel Arthur Lynch, who fought in the Boer Army, and Horace Plunkett, Unionist, is very brisk, and the excitement is increasing. A large contingent of Lynch's supporters have arrived from the country, and the police are kept busy averting serious collisions between the two factions. The result of the voting was as follows: Lynch 1,247, Plunkett 473.

On the whole, the polling was conducted with comparative orderliness. A large additional force of police prevented numerous street scrimmages, which were the outcome of drunkenness, from developing seriously. Women were conspicuous in these affairs, and many of them were arrested.

In the event of Col. Lynch's election being squashed on the ground that he is a traitor, Mr. Plunkett says he will decline to take the seat, thus reverting to him. He will be returned straight or not at all.

Col. Lynch's friends seem satisfied that he will attempt to take the seat.

Sketch of Col. Lynch.

Arthur Lynch, journalist and author, was born near Ballarat, Australia, in 1861, and was educated at Ballarat, Melbourne University, Berlin University and Paris. He practised some time as an engineer, and subsequently lectured on scientific subjects in Melbourne. After traveling in New Zealand he went to Berlin to study philosophical subjects. He was a candidate in Galway for Parliament, and being defeated, went to Paris to live. He went to London, published some books and began a journalistic career, afterwards making a voyage to America. Returning to London he became a war correspondent in Ashanti.

What Redmond Says.

In Montreal Wednesday Nationalist Leader Redmond discussed the Galway election, and was asked what the legal position of Mr. Lynch was. Mr. Redmond said there was no bar to Lynch's election, but when the latter reaches the House of Commons there can be an inquiry as to his antecedents, and if he is guilty of felony he would not be allowed to sit.

Irish Leaders at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—John E. Redmond and his colleagues from Ireland were given a big reception in the Russell Theatre last night, which was well filled. The speakers were introduced by President D'Arcy Scott of St. Patrick's Society. Yesterday afternoon, at a luncheon in their honor, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. R. W. Scott attended.

Five Men Narrowly Escape.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—A miraculous escape from instant death was experienced at 2.30 yesterday morning at the Chaudiere by five men, Peter Cantin, the driver of a cab, and four passengers. The cab was crossing the C.P.R. track on Broad street, when a freight train backed down and smashed it into kindling wood. Cantin and three passengers were tossed on to a lumber pile, and Frank Charleson, the fourth passenger, was pinned in the wrecked cab. He was released, and found alive, but much cut and injured. Cantin was hurt in the back, but the others escaped with slight injuries and cuts.

New Voters' List.

Winnipeg, Nov. 22.—At a meeting of the Executive Council of the Provincial Government yesterday a proclamation was issued appointing the County Court judges of the province as a Board of Registration in accordance with the Manitoba Election Act for the purpose of compiling a new voters' list for the electoral division of Portage la Prairie, which constituency has been rendered vacant by the death of the late William Garland.

Impaled on a Stake.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—News comes from Baskatong, up the Gatineau, of the horrible death of a bushman named J. B. Stemmett. The unfortunate man was engaged in lumbering operations, when he fell upon a stake and was terribly impaled. When extricated, death speedily ended his sufferings. The victim was buried at Maniwaki.

YUKON CONSPIRACY

Official Reports of the Plot Received at Ottawa.

SKAGUAY AND SEATTLE PLAN

The Object of the Plotters Was to Secure Possession of the Yukon—"Order of the Midnight Sun"—The Mounted Police Acted Promptly—Whole Thing Has Probably Been Abandoned.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—There appears to be considerable basis for the report that a conspiracy was planned by adventurers to overpower the Mounted Police and seize the Yukon. Owing to the vigilance of the police, however, the plot was nipped in the bud, and any attempt at filibustering will find the Canadian authorities fully on the alert. Information of the conspiracy reached the Government here some time ago, and reinforcements of police were quietly moved up to the Yukon and stationed at White Horse to prevent any movement of freebooters across the border. The force of Mounted Police in the Yukon now amounts to 275, and it is quite possible that their ranks will be still further strengthened, in order to guard against possible contingencies. Whether the raid was sufficiently well planned or strongly supported to have resulted in any measure of success is doubtful, but the prompt action of the police, supplemented by the precautionary measures ordered from here, will render impossible any attempt at invasion.

Official Report of the Plot.

The story of the plot, based upon official reports to the Minister of the Interior, is as follows: About three weeks ago the police at Dawson under the able direction of Superintendent Woods, shadowed a man whom they deemed a suspicious character. The police got into this man's confidence, and he finally disclosed a plot, which he said had been formed by people at Skaguay and Seattle. The idea was to rush the posts in the lower part of the Yukon and then take possession of the country. The conspirators reckoned upon the American citizens in the Yukon not assisting the Canadian authorities, so that the raid, in their opinion, would be a comparatively easy matter.

Police Act Promptly.

News of the plot was quickly sent from Dawson to White Horse, and the police there soon had under surveillance all suspicious characters. The headquarters of the conspiracy was located in Skaguay, and it was ascertained who the characters associated with it were, and where the papers bearing upon the plot were kept. There was nothing, however, to show any overt act of treason to the United States or Canada, consequently the authorities could not take any proceedings. Canadian officers went down to Skaguay, nevertheless, and consulted with United States officers, and concerted action was agreed upon in case of necessity. In the meantime the parties connected with the plot were closely watched.

Disreputable Adventurers.

A high official of the Government said last night: "No respectable Americans were associated with the conspiracy, but, as far as we can make out, the men at the bottom of it were disreputable adventurers. We have taken every precaution that the situation demands, and we are prepared to deal sternly with these men if they cross the border. The Government has every confidence in Major Woods, who is in charge of the Mounted Police, and Inspector Snider, who commands at White Horse. The police are thoroughly on the alert in case of further developments. The situation may not have been of such gravity as the reports make out, but it is just as well to be fully prepared. I fancy, however, that premature publication has spoiled the plot, and it is possible that we shall hear nothing further of it. The United States authorities are acting in harmony with us."

"Order of the Midnight."

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 22.—The Times yesterday afternoon prints a story of the conspiracy on the part of certain miners to attempt the overthrow of Canadian authority in the Klondike, as published in The San Francisco Call last Saturday. The Times says it has in its possession documents and seals of the Order of Midnight Sun, the secret society which was organized for the sole purpose of accomplishing the overthrow of Canadian rule in the gold fields.

A True Brain Food.

Must replace the feeling of inanimate and mental tiredness by clearness and strength of mind. Not that it goes directly to the brain, that were foolish. The true brain food must be carried by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look not to the brain, but to the stomach and assimilative organs. No remedy yet discovered possesses the marvellous brain strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in thousands of cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion, strengthening the nervous system, stimulating the assimilation, giving new strength to the heart, it sends a stream of red vitalizing blood to the brain. Then it is a true brain food. Ferrozone is sold by Ormond & Walsh.

New Yukon Railway.

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—McLean Brothers of this city, contractors for the Chilliwack dykes and other large Government works, are interested in the construction of a new railway line, which will be built in the Klondike early next season. The line will be twelve miles in length, and will cost $600,000. At present, the cost of taking goods from Dawson out to the mines, on the various creeks, is three and four cents per pound. The new line will materially reduce this tariff, and will be a paying investment.

Taken to Brantford Jail.

Brantford, Nov. 22.—Dr. Harbottle of Burford was brought to Brantford jail on Wednesday evening by Constable Dunn. The doctor takes his arrest very calmly, will not talk about the shooting, and says that it will all come out at the trial. The charge against him is "intent to do bodily harm." A number of friends called to see him in the jail yesterday. His wife and son also called, and are endeavoring to arrange bail, but on account of the judge's indisposition at the present time this cannot be arranged for. The trial will likely be taken up on Saturday. The doctor in the meantime remains in the county jail.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THANKS-GIVING!

In gratitude to the generous people of Peterborough for the lion's share of the patronage bestowed on Gough Bros. during 1901, we intend to express our gratitude in a practical way. For the week preceding Thanksgiving Eve, we propose to UPSET ALL PAST STANDARD OF VALUES. We intend to retail Overcoats, Ulsters, Suits, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, Underwear, Neckwear, and Men's and Boys' Furnishings at prices LESS THAN WHOLESALE—in many cases less than the cost of production. This big double store will be teeming with buyers.

IT'S A CASE THAT WARRANTS UNBRIDLED ENTHUSIASM.

We are bound to make it so—we will put it to a point that will do greater honour to this great store. If you don't want to buy come and look on. You can't stay away and be wide-awake. No matter when or where you see a bargain, we have a better one for you. But look sharp!—there'll be a run on the plums, and the ripest fruit is readiest to drop.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.

Mr. William Kerr Passed Away This Morning at His Residence in Ashburnham.

One of the eldest pioneers of the district passed away this morning at his residence in Ashburnham, in the person of Mr. William Kerr, who has passed almost his entire eighty years of life in this vicinity.

The deceased was born in Little York, in 1821, and on March 3rd, 1822, came with his parents to South Monaghan, taking up residence in the vicinity of Bemafort. Early in the forties he moved to Hamilton Township, where he lived until about fourteen years ago, when the family came to Otonabee, moving into Ashburnham two years later.

As may be supposed Mr. Kerr was probably the oldest living settler of Monaghan district, and his tales of the privations of the early pioneers were most interesting. A widow and seven children survive, viz.: George, of Cold Springs; James and William, Cobourg; Mrs. Robt. Carter, of Jermyn; John and Annie, who lived at home and Edward, of Toronto.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 2.30 from the family residence, James street, Ashburnham, to the Little Lake Cemetry.

WAS REMEMBERED.

Mr. C. M. Paterson was Given a Little Send Off Last Night.

Mr. C. M. Paterson of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, who has been transferred to the Belleville branch, was last night tendered an enthusiastic farewell in the Crown Hotel, by a number of his Peterborough friends. Among those present were: Messrs. A. Jackson, J. Mac Morden, H. Rush, J. Hamilton, M. Hamilton, G. Revell, G. Burnham, T. Burnham, W. Hall, L. Hall, A. Terrill, A. F. Paddon, S. Burton, J. Gracey, N. Bell, R. Glover, D. Davidson, George Dawson and E. S. Clarry.

Mr. Paterson was presented with a beautiful pipe and case, the boys at the same time expressing regret at his departure from town.

Mr. Paterson, the guest of the evening, made a suitable reply, in which he stated that he appreciated very sincerely the kindness of the boys in remembering him, and he would long look back with feelings of pleasure to his associations with them.

A NOVEMBER WEDDING.

Nuptials of Mr. J. Isbister of Centreville to Miss Irwin of Millbrook.

Millbrook Reporter.

A quiet home wedding took place on Wednesday evening, 13th Nov., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irwin, Bank street, when their daughter, Mabla, was united in marriage to Mr. J. Isbister, of Centreville. The wedding was quiet, only the most intimate friends of the contrating parties being present.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white organdie, and was supported by her cousin, Miss May Duncan, who was also attired in a dress of white organdie.

The groom was ably supported by his cousin. Mr. James Isbister, of Lakefield.

The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Allen of Millbrook. The party afterwards partook of a very sumptuous dianey.

The presents were numerous and well chosen, showing the high esteem in which the bride and groom were held.

They take up their home in Centreville.

Towle's New Restaurant.

The well know "buttered pop-corn" man, Mr. A. D. Towle, has blossomed out in a new restaurant, lunch room, oyster parlour, and cigar store, at No. 225 George street. Mr. Towle has his premises fitted up in a tasteful, attractive and cosy style, with such an air of comfort as will be welcome to his patrons and give them a "come-back-to-morrow" feel. He has a nobby sign post outside, mounted with a fancy-coloured glass lamp, and lighted with electricity. No vacations—open day and night.

THE DAN SPENCE MEMORIAL FUND

Will be Devoted to the Purchase of an Ambulance.

CONTRIBUTIONS ARE NEEDED.

Mr. Kendry is Confident That the Man ufacturers Will Gladly Subscribe Twenty-Five Dollars Each.

A representative meeting of the Dan Spence Memorial Fund contributors was held, last evening, in the council chamber, and as a result the large and unweildly committee has been relieved of its duties and a smaller and more workable one appointed and given definite instructions to the effect that it is the wish of the subscribers that the fund be devoted to the immediate purchase of an ambulance.

The chair was occupied by Mayor Deane, and Mr. R. E. Layfield was the first speaker to address the meeting. He stated that together with Messrs. Robertson, Drew and Robinson, he represented some three hundred contributors from the Canadian General Electric Works. As the result of a meeting held at the works, fully 95 per cent. of the subscribers had voted to have the fund expanded in the purchase of an ambulance. The employees of the works had contributed $130, and in order to make the contribution as general as possible, those inclined to donate larger sums than 25 cents, had been asked to keep their subscriptions until the last. In this manner subscriptions of very small amounts had come in and consequently almost every employee was able to be a contributor. All had subscribed on the understanding that an ambulance was to be purchased, and as stated 95 per cent. did not wish to see the money used for anything else. He moved that the old committee be discharged and a new one appointed with instructions to purchase an ambulance.

Mr. James Kendry, M. P., in seconding the resolution, stated that when the fund had been started it was for the specific purpose of buying an ambulance. The employees at the Auburn Woollen Mills had all subscribed on that understanding. If the sum already raised was not sufficient for the purpose, there should be no difficulty in increasing it to the necessary amount. As Mr. Comstock had already purchased an ambulance, he thought it would be a good idea to purchase that one. The arrangement from the first had been that after the ambulance was purchased the town should provide a horse and a place in which to keep the vehicle.

Mr. D. W. Dumble stated that he did not subscribe for the purchase of any particular kind of memorial, but for something which would be an expression by the people of their appreciation of the loyalty and sacrifice made by a brave man for his country. At first he had thought an ambulance would be a good thing. However, a private citizen had purchased one, the use of which could be obtained for a small sum, so he had come to the conclusion that it would be better if a more lasting monument could be set up and had thought of a tablet which could be let into the wall of the Court House. It would be there for all time, and be read by the children and children's children. It was, however, simply a question of judgment, and whatever the majority decided on he was sure that there would be no captious objection.

Mr. G. W. Powell was in favour of purchasing Mr. Comstock's ambulance, if it could be given a less mournful appearance. He did not like the idea of a tablet, but if it was decided not to buy an ambulance, would like to see the money invested in the establishment of drinking fountains around the town. He was of the opinion that all subscribers would willingly double the amount of their subscriptions in order to secure a properly equipped ambulance.

Mr. Dumble thought that the high duty of loyalty and patriotism should not be lost sight of in making the selection, and was of the opinion that the object lesson would be finer in a monument than in an ambulance.

Mr. William Robinson spoke of the fact that when making collections for the fund all of the subscriptions he received had been for the purchase of an ambulance, and he thought it would be breaking faith to divert the money to any other use. If there was not enough money the council could easily grant $150, instead of throwing money away in taking trips around the country as was being done this year.

Mr. J. W. Bennet had always been in favour of the purchase of an ambulance, and didn't think the committee was under any obligation to take that of Mr. Comstock as the fund was being raised before this one was bought. The ambulance could be kept in the fire hall, and the town horses used on it.

Mr. Kendry did not think that the town would mind footing the expense of maintaining an ambulance.

Mr. John Green urged that an ambulance, which would be locked up in a stable nearly all the time, would not be a fitting memorial, and stated that if any of the subscribers who did not want to see a monument purchased would withdraw their money, and he felt sure that many who did not care about seeing an ambulance bought, would come forward and subscribe so liberally that several thousand dollars would be quickly raised, and a memorial erected which would represent the whole county.

Ald. Shortly reminded those present that at the first meeting nearly everyone was in favour of having an ambulance. All the subscriptions he received had been given for that object. He thought that it was a big mistake to limit the subscriptions to one dollar. There would be no trouble about the horse, as the town needed another one anyway.

Mr. Kendry was sure that enough money could easily be raised, as the manufacturers would be willing to put up twenty-five dollars each for such an object. He would start such a subscription with the sum mentioned.

Ald. Roger had not attended the first meeting, as he bore in mind the manner in which the Edward Brown memorial fountain had been used, but when he heard that an ambulance was about to be purchased he was thoroughly in accord with the object of the fund. As so many had subscribed under the belief that an ambulance was to be secured, he was of the opinion that it would not be right to divert the money to any other use. Seconded by Ald. Shortly, he moved that the limit of one dollar, which had been placed on subscriptions, be removed. The motion was carried.

Ald. Shortly spoke of the fact that as chairman of the Board of Health, he could remember many urgent requests sent to the Council from that body, on the representations of medical men, to the effect that an ambulance was an imperative necessity in the town.

The Mayor was sure that there would be no trouble about the council maintaining the ambulance, and spoke of a former discussion of the matter when the question of allowing one of the liveries to have charge of the vehicle had been discussed. The fire hall was too crowded to afford the accommodation, which was now needed by the Fire Department. This however was all a matter of detail, which could be settled later on.

Councillor J. H. Smith, of Ashburnham, wanted to know whether the village would have the use of the ambulance, and whether the village council would be called on to help maintain it? He thought Leary's livery stable, being centrally located and roomy, was the place for the amulance to be kept.

The discussion was brought to a close by the adoption of the resolution moved by Messrs. Layfield and Kendry, and the following committee was appointed Mayor Deane, Ald. Roger, E. B. Edwards, K.C., James Kendry, M.P., R. E. Layfield, Joseph Succee, J. H. Smith, D. W. Dumble, and Ex-Ald. C. W. Robertson.

Mr. R. C. McHarrie and Mr. S. R. Armstrong were requested to still continue their duties as Treasurer and Secretary, respectively.

At a subsequent meeting of the committee, Messrs. Layfield and Succee were appointed a sub-committee to ascertain the prices, etc., in relation to ambulances, and report at a meeting to be called by the Mayor.

THANK YOU MR. TOOLEY.

The Examiner was This Morning the Recipient of Some Venison.

When Mr. Michael Tooley comes back from a deer shooting expedition he does not forget his friends. Mr. Tooley's generosity and kindly acts of remembrance have on various occasions been demonstrated in Peterborough, but when a member of the reportial staff of this paper hustled into the office with a beautiful hind quarter of venison, weighing 25 lbs., or more, the gift of Mr. Tooley to the Examiner, it was evident that the genial proprietor of the Queen's had broken all records of practical evidences of kindly feeling towards the press. Mr. Tooley's present is a handsome one. It is appreciated, and the Examiner hopes that he will be spared to go deer shooting another season, and have the same good luck.

First Saturday Social.

A BABY'S BOOTLESS QUEST.

After a Toddling Search of Five Hours he "Couldn't Find Dod."

A morning or two ago there was great excitement on Gilmour street, and frantic grief in a Gilmour street home. A little baby boy, about three years old, disappeared mysteriously at nine o'clock in the morning. A search through the street, with vexation at the troublesome child as its chief element, was in vain. Soon vexation gave way to alarm, as continued search by many persons, failed to furnish any trace of the missing enfant terrible.

Naturally the mother became frantic, as hour after hour passed by, and views of all sorts of imaginary evils, and numerous forms of gruesome death, filled her soul. Thus the agonizing hours aped on, and still no tidings of the child.

About two o'clock the young sister, persistent in her search, was passing St. Peter's Cathedral, and her ear, alert for every sound that could give some clue to her missing brother, caught the sound of a child crying. She went into the church, and there found the lost baby, "Why Herbert, what are you doing here?"

"I'se lookin' for Dod, and I couldn't find Him," was the sobbing reply of the wandering child.

It is unnecessary to say that there was joy in one Gilmour street home, like unto the joy in heaven over a sinner that repenteth. The little fellow, tired and hungry, was literally mobbed—crushed with hugging, smothered with kisses, and stuffed with bread and butter.

The door of St. Peter's Cathedral stands ajar for the convenience of worshippers, from early morning till ten at night. In his wanderings the little fellow had entered the "open door," thus giving a lesson to mature sinners. His infant mind had in its first conceptions of the Heavenly Father associated Him with a church, and hence his simple act of faith, in entering a church to find Whom he sought.

The little fellow's failure to find in the church, what he sought, in the form of his infant imaginings must not be construed as having any theological significance, or construed into any reflection upon the verity of the Presence the child was looking after in the house erected to His name.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the Executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club will be held in the Y.M.C.A. this evening at 8 o'clock sharp.

It seems a very senseless thing for London to boast of what they could do to Peterborough on neutral grounds. It might be asked why London refused last year to play Peterborough on neutral grounds in the second game for the championship?

In playing on the M.A.A.A. grounds, the Peterboroughs should meet many old friends, as the grounds are situated at Westmount.

The London News still keeps up its howl about the disqualification of the London team, and claims that not a player ever received a cent of money. The News knows perfectly well that this is not the question, and it should know that the team has been let down very lightly by being only suspended. It was taking big chances when Peel was played after President Reid of the Londons, had been warned only the day before by the O.R.F.U. that the man in question was still under the ban. But if London really wants to get Peel reinstated how is it that the whole case involving his professionalism is not opened before the O.H.A.? There is no doubt but that the O.H.A., as well as every athletic organization in the country would like to have the matter of those very peculiar affidavits thoroughly ventilated.

Toronto Telegram: "The O.R.F.U. trophy stolen! Not on your life. The man isn't born yet that could steal anything from that London bunch."

Mascot—D. Donnelly.

The boys intend entering the Trent Valley League.

A few of the Bobcaygeon young ladies on invitation of Miss Thompson, met last Thursday evening at her residence for the purpose of organizing a Ladies Hockey Club.

The meeting was very encouraging and the following officers were elected:—

Captain—Miss Thompson.
Sec.-Treas.—Miss McIntyre.
Managing Committee—Miss Nora Welsh and Miss May Hunter.

The young ladies are very enthusiastic over hockey, and a large membership is expected.

COBOURG FOR THE O. H. A.

At a largely attended meeting held in the council chamber last evening the Cobourg Hockey Club was organized for the coming winter. Mr. Geo. E. Mitchell acted as chairman, when the following officers and patrons were elected:—

Hon. President—Mr. J. S. Skeaff.
Patrons—Judge Clark, J. F. McColl, M.P., Sam. Clarke, M. P. P., Mayor Hayden, Dr. Fairbanks, Messrs. H. H. Osler, W. J. Gressen, John Dick, W. L. Allen, George E. Mitchell and Rev. Wm. Beattie.
President—Mr. Charles McCallum.
Manager—Mr. Ed. Hargraft.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. Bert Climo.
Delegates to the O.H.A. — Messrs. Charles Gould and Jake Brown.

Teams will be entered in the junior and intermediate series of the O.H.A. The club has a membership of fifty already. It was the most successful hockey meeting held here for some time, and judging from the enthusiasm taken the game should boom in Cobourg this winter.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE.

The annual meeting of the Norwood Hockey Club was held last evening, when the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—W.A.F. Campbell.
President—W. R. Cameron.
Vice-President—W. A. Eaton.
Sec.-Treas.—John F. Anderson.
Captain—C. P. Pearce.
Executive Committee — President, Sec.-Treas., Captain, J. J. Miller, B. Pearce.

It was decided to again enter the Trent Valley League. Representatives to league, John F. Anderson and W. R. Cameron. By the enthusiasm displayed at the meeting Norwood will have a first-class team this season. A number of the old players intend getting in shape, which will greatly strengthen the team. Hockey will boom this year here, as the rink company are boarding the rink, which was badly needed.

GOLF.

A Scotch "meenister" took up golf, and, despite great practice, could not succeed in passing the tyro stage. His simple exclamations of "Tut, tut!" "Oh, dear, now!" "Well, well!" and the like were plain evidence of a perturbed spirit. One day, when the perspiration flowed freely from his brow and his honest countenance shone with radiance which was not due to calmness of soul, but rather to the heat of the sun and his laborious efforts to move the obstinate gutta-percha from its station on the tee, he was tempted to indulge in strong language. "Dear, dear, but I'll have to gie it up. I'll have to gie it up!" he said at last, with a despairing look at the ball. "Give up the game?" exclaimed his friend, who had been a witness of his attempts. "Na, na, the meenistry," answered the other, with a sigh.

JUDGMENT GIVEN.

The Town and an ex-Market Clerk Settle a Little Matter.

A dispute has existed for some time past between a former market clerk and the town regarding the amount the town alleged was due them on a balance according to their contract.

It was decided that the matter had better be tried in the Division Court, which was done this morning. The town's claim was for $70.50; they were willing, however, to give a rebate of $25, on account of the time the scales were out of use for repairs.

The ex-Market Clerk, however, had a heavy counter claim made up of various amounts alleged to be owing him by the town by reason of inconveniences subjected while improvements and other work was in progress.

Judgment was given in favour of the town for the full amount.

PERSONALS.

Mr. J. W. Beanet is in Lindsay today on business.

Captain John Breen has decided to spend the winter in Peterborough.

Miss Barron, of Toronto, is visiting Mrs. C. B. McAllister, at "The Pines."

The members of the Knickerbocker Club will hold an informal dance this evening in the Simcoe street hall.

Miss Florence D. Glover, of Elmira, N.Y., is in town, and will reside with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Glover, Ashburnham.

—The Fraser Mission Band of St. Paul's church intend giving an entertainment on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, December 5th.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Lindsay is building a $5000 fire hall.

—The City of Peterborough is being pulled out of the water.

—There is said to be good skating on the canal behind the Golf Club house. It is liable, however, to be a trifle dangerous yet.

—The steamer Water Lily was launched again yesterday. It seems rather extraordinary that a boat should be launched at this season of the year, but the Lily was hauled out for some repairs which have been made to her, and she will now continue her business.

—The Peterborough public are reminded of the first of the winter series of band concerts which will take place in the Market Hall this evening. Mr. Gliddon has arranged for an entirely new programme, and many new features will be introduced.

—The Canadian Music and Trades Journal has the following to say:—"The Peterborough contingent of the Royal Chorus that sang at the Duke of York's reception in Toronto gave a concert in Peterborough, Nov. 7th, under the baton of Mr. G. W. Mulligan, accompanied by the 57th Regimental Band. The local papers speak very highly of the affair."

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, Nov. 21st, 1901.

Market Letter—"The Marvel of the West."

We have repeatedly called the attention of our readers to the wonderful Southern Pacific, and its remarkable growth. This is one of the greatest improving stocks, listed upon the exchange, and it will in comparatively short time sell above par.

Gross earnings of Southern Pacific just reported for September show an increase of about $80,000. This illustrates the rapidity with which improvements, charged to operating expenses, are being consummated. In addition to the gain in operating through betterments, the company spent $480,000. In the three months, including September, $3,337,133 was expended on betterments. Suplus after charge for three months was $1,672,934.

The Road expects to expend about thirty million dollars, all on the property, charging every dollar of the same to operating expenses. Once this is finished the operating expenses will drop from the present percentage of 74 to at least 64 per cent., which is the next highest in the Southern Pacific territory.

Northern Pacific operates for less than 70 per cent., when this comes about the Road will show at the present rate of earnings, over ten per cent. net on its capital stock. It is more likely that earnings will be larger than at present, owing to the remarkable and fast developements of the Southern Pacific territory, and the large and steady increase in population. The Union Pacific people certainly took a long look ahead when they purchased control of Southern Pacific, we believe Southern Pacific will sell at a very large premium, no other Roads presents greater possibilities for the future, astute management, powerful friends, geographically situated, as to be certain of a growth in earning power.

Its stocks present a most attractive appearance to both speculator and investor.

The second largest gross carner in the United States, with immense mileage through a new, rich, and rapidly developing country, the career of the Southern Pacific must of necessity be onward and upward.

Present comaparative dullness of the market is brought about by the following causes—the large operators and manipulators are doing what they can to discourage large advances, in other words are holding the market back, pending the return flow of crop cash to New York, and a subsidence of gold shipments, in order to avoid all possibility of creating higher and more active money, on the other hand all other factors are too remarkably bullish to engineer a decline, hence narrow fluctuations.—Haight & Freese Co.

RECRUITING IN CANADA.

Mr. Chamberlain Asks if the Offer Is Still Open—More Boers Have Been Rounded Up.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—If Great Britain wants to recruit more Canadian troops for service in South Africa she has only to make her wishes known. When she does so arrangements will be made to meet her desires. The Colonial Secretary's recent despatch simply asked whether the offer of last spring to raise a Canadian mounted force of 600 men was still open. Doubtless Mr. Chamberlain's question will be answered by the proper authority, and we shall then learn what further steps the Imperial authorities wish to have taken. There seems no reason to doubt that if Canada's offer is accepted immediately six hundred men can be recruited, provided with outfits and equipment, and ready to start in about a month from now. These men would not all be recruited in the west, but a proportion would be taken from each Province, according to population, preference being given to those who have already served in South Africa, and are physically and otherwise qualified to take the field.

Two Commandos Captured.

London, Nov. 21.—A despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated from Pretoria yesterday, says Lieut. Colenbrander's column has rounded up Beyers' and Badenhorst's Boer commandos, 30 miles northwest of Pretoria. The troops killed three men, wounded three, and captured 54, including two field cornets. The column also captured much stock and munitions of war.

No Intervention.

The Hague, Nov. 21.—The Administrative Council for the Court of Arbitration decided yesterday that it was incompetent to consider the Boer appeal for intervention in the war in South Africa.

Concentration Camps.

London, Nov. 21.—The Times publishes translations of two letters, written by a violently anti-British Boer woman to her father and mother from the concentration camp near Pietermaritzburg.

The writer states that she is comfortably housed, is not compelled to work, and is well clothed and well fed. Kaffirs do all the work, and the Boer women can play tennis all day if they like.

The Times prints, with the letters, a note vouching for their authenticity.

Not For the Boers.

London, Nov. 21.—The steamer which the Government caused to be detained Tuesday at Victoria Docks is named the Banrigh. She has been used to carry passengers between London and Aberdeen, and was sold three weeks ago, ostensibly for use in the West Indian fruit trade. It was at first suggested that the vessel was laden with contraband of war destined for the Boers, but it is now vaguely suggested that any contraband on board of her was intended for Columbia. Customs officers are still on board the Banrigh.

Charged With Treason.

London, Nov. 21.—When Dr. Krause, the former governor of Johannesburg, who was arrested September 2nd on the charge of high treason and inciting to murder, was brought up on remand at Bow street yesterday for the thirteenth time, the treasury representatives created some excitement by announcing that they withdrew the application for the prisoner's extradition to South Africa, and wanted Dr. Krause committed to the Old Bailey on charges of high treason and incitement to murder. The treasury officials consider there is ample justification to try Dr. Krause here on the charge of inciting Dr. Cornelius Broecksman, the former public prosecutor of Johannesburg, who was executed Sept. 30, to murder Douglas Foster, an English lawyer, attached to Lord Roberts' staff, who was very active against the Boers. Witnesses were called to support the charges. Dr. Krause was remanded for a fortnight in £4,000 bail.

Another Canadian Hit.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—A cablegram from Mr. Chamberlain states that G. M. Cove, South African Constabulary, was dangerously ill of enteric fever on Nov. 11. The father is George R. Cove, Amherst Head, Cumberland County, N.S.

Plague Rife at Cape Town.

Norfolk, W. Va., Nov. 21.— The British steamer Monmouth, Captain Troop, which arrived here yesterday direct from Cape Town, South Africa, reports the existence of over 800 cases of bubonic plague in the vicinity of Cape Town when she left that port. Up to the time she sailed 380 deaths from the plague had occurred.

Ultimatum to Brigands.

Sofia, Nov. 21.—Mr. Dickinson, according to The Veserna Posta, whose editor was a member of former Macedonian Committee, has sent an ultimatum to the brigands giving them six days to accept a specified sum as the ransom for Miss Stone. If this amount is not accepted within the time mentioned, Mr. Dickinson's offer will be withdrawn.

London, Nov. 21.—Mr. Dickinson's ultimatum to the brigands, according to a despatch from Sofia, to The Daily Telegraph, specifies £12,000.

Fire Cuts Off Miners.

Telluride, Col., Nov. 21.—By a fire in the bullion tunnel belonging to the Smuggler Union Mining Company, probably 30 lives were lost yesterday. Seventeen bodies have been recovered. The fire, which is known to have been accidental, started early yesterday morning in the buildings at the mouth of the tunnel.

The Falls Claims Another Victim

Many times has this statement been published. But if Niagara has claimed its thousands, neglected coughs and colds have claimed their tens of thousands. You can't stop the Falls but you can stop the cough or cold in two days by taking a 25c. bottle of Four T's, the great guaranteed cough and cold cure. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

When in Bed

Put some Vapo-Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp and place it near the head of the bed. Then all the time the baby sleeps it will breathe in the healing, soothing vapor. The hard, tight cough loosens; the fever gradually goes down, the breathing becomes natural, and pneumonia is avoided. Every part of the throat and bronchial tubes are touched by the medicine. For the hard colds and coughs of children nothing equals Vapo-Cresolene. 9

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Ednison, druggist.

THE IRISH LEADERS.

Messrs. Redmond, O'Donnell and McHugh Spoke on Home Rule at Montreal Wednesday Night.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—John Redmond, Thomas O'Donnell and Patrick McHugh, the Irish envoys, addressed a big meeting at Windsor Hall here last evening.

Mr. Redmond, in an eloquent speech, referred to the plan of campaign that was now being waged in Ireland, and said that the efforts of the Irish party would be continued until their demands were met and until Ireland enjoyed the same measure of freedom that Canada now enjoys.

Messrs. O'Donnell and McHugh also spoke. Mr. O'Donnell, after speaking in English, made a short address in Irish, imitating the role for which he was expelled from the House of Commons, and he was loudly applauded. The envoys will visit Ottawa, Toronto and other points before returning home.

Enthusiastic Converts.

There are Thousands of Them Who Believes as This Woman Does.

Miss Ira Knowlton, of Butte, Montana, is a most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as a cure for obstinate stomach troubles. She says: "I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that for years I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

"I was troubled with gas in the stomach, causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach; sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost resembled spasms.

"Doctors told me I had catarrh of the stomach, but their medicines would not reach it, and I would still be a sufferer had I not in sheer desperation decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I knew they were an advertised remedy, and I didn't believe anything I read about them, as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburg wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her little daughters of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite and I hesitated no longer.

"I bought a fifty cent box at my drug store, and took two of the large Tablets after each meal, and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

"I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of our family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs."

Mr. E. H. Davis, of Hampton, Va., says; "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

"Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and they cure stomach troubles because they digest the food eaten, and give the weak, abused, over-worked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

New Order Not Formed.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The proposed Canadian Order of Railway Men was not formed here yesterday as was expected. The meeting was slimly attended, and officers of the present international orders discouraged the formation of the new order. The meeting adjourned sine die.

A BURNED SHOOTING.

Dr. Harbottle Tries to Kill Herman Stewart Near the Village.

Brantford, Nov. 21.—Dr. Robert Harbottle of Burford, Brant County, yesterday morning shot Herman Stewart, a well-to-do farmer, who lives a mile south of the village on the Fairfield Road. The shooting was not accidental. Dr. Harbottle deliberately pulled the revolver from his pocket when he was standing only a foot from Stewart, and, pointing the weapon at Stewart's head, pulled the trigger. The bullet entered Stewart's head at the temple and passed out just behind and slightly above the ear. Although the victim bled profusely, the wound is not at all dangerous, and he will recover without a doubt. The bullet did not enter the scalp, but glanced off. One-quarter of an inch more and Stewart would have died instantly, according to the doctor who dressed the wound.

The doctor is a Boer sympathizer, and this has caused him trouble in the neighborhood. He was committed for trial on a charge of shooting with intent by the magistrates yesterday afternoon.

Neuralgia Almost Drives People Mad.

Only those who have suffered it, know of the darting, distracting pains and aches neuralgia inflicts. Ordinary remedies don't even relieve. It requires an extraordinarily strong, penetrating liniment to drive out the pain. To get relief rub Polson's Nerviline into the spot. Pain can't resist Nerviline, which has five times the strength of any other liniment. Drives out neuralgia in half an hour. Never fails! Never harms! Always successful. Try a large 25 cent bottle.

Crop Averages in the West.

Winnipeg, Nov. 21.—The Northwest Farmer, Western Canada's farm journal, in its issue yesterday published an exhaustive review of western crop yields for the past year, gathered from correspondents of the paper in Manitoba and the Territories. The Farmer says: "Striking an average of the yields reported we obtain the following results: Manitoba—Wheat, 23.76 bushels to the acre; oats, 44.44; barley, 35.43; flax, 13.60. Assiniboia—Wheat, 20.31 bushels to the acre; oats, 56.60; barley, 39.63; flax, 17.50. Alberta—Wheat, 30.29 bushels; oats, 54.13; barley, 37.17. Saskatchewan—Wheat, 28.50 bushels; oats, 50.75; barley, 38.33.

The First in the World.

Merrill's System Tonic is the first medicine to combine the tonic with the reconstructive treatment in the cure of disease. The blood is purified, new blood is made, the nerves, muscles and tissues of the heart, stomach, liver and kidneys is toned and strengthened, and then nature is enabled to throw off the disease which has been ravishing the body. For Constipation, Catarrh and Chronic Rheumatism, System Tonic is a positive cure. Sold at 50c. per bottle by Ormond & Walsh, the druggists.

Liberals Capture Colon.

Colon, Columbia, Nov. 21.— The Liberals made an unexpected attack on Colon at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The Government was not prepared, and there was little resistance. After some fighting in front of the Cuartel (barracks), and in certain streets for an hour and a half, the Liberals gained possession of all the public offices, and the town of Colon. The prefect, Guardia, is a prisoner. Over 12 men were killed, and about 30 men were wounded. The United States gunboat Machias, now here, took no part in the proceedings.

Hoodless Firm Assigned.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—Yesterday morning the old-established furniture firm of J. Hoodless & Son made an assignment to C. S. Scott. A receiver was at once put in charge of the firm's stores and factory. The assignment will be a big surprise to most business men. The liabilities are between $30,000 and $40,000, with fully $50,000 assets. It was established in 1850 by the father of John Hoodless.

Vaccination in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The City Solicitor says the Council cannot suspend the law regarding compulsory vaccination. The Board of Health is going to enforce vaccination, while the council says it should not be enforced.

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase — America's Greatest Physician.

King Edward Is Well.

London, Nov. 21.—Sir Frederick Treves, surgeon to King Edward, when submitting the toast to the King at a banquet at Aberdeen on Tuesday, said it was pleasant to know that His Majesty had never enjoyed such excellent health as at present.

Sleeping Since Nov. 7.

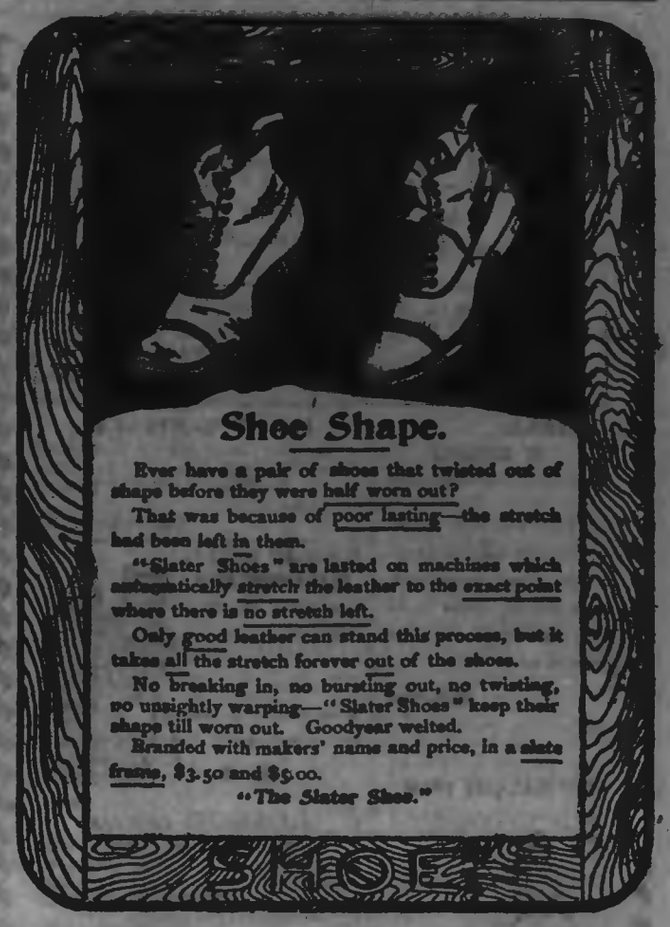
Peoria, Ill., Nov. 21.—James A. Harris, aged 67 years, a poster by trade, and father of ten children, went to sleep on the morning of Nov. 7th, and all efforts to awaken him have so far proved unavailing.

Broke Through the Ice.

Winnipeg, Nov. 21.—While endeavoring to cross the ice from Norman to Hat Portage yesterday William Mitchell, aged 17, broke through and was drowned.

Hard on the Rank Business.

That great discovery made by a Brantford druggist and known as Four T's does away with hacking and coughing in two days. As a lung tonic and lung tissue reconstructor it has no equal. Children take Four T's and it cures whooping cough and croup. Price 25c. per bottle. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.



Shoe Shape.

Ever have a pair of shoes that twisted out of shape before they were half worn out?

That was because of poor lasting—the stretch had been left in them.

"Slater Shoes" are lasted on machines which automatically stretch the leather to the exact point where there is no stretch left.

Only good leather can stand this process, but it takes all the stretch forever out of the shoes.

No breaking in, no bursting out, no twisting, no unsightly warping—"Slater Shoes" keep their shape till worn out. Goodyear welted.

Branded with makers' name and price, in a slate frame, $3.50 and $5.00.

"The Slater Shoe."

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—There were about 800 head of butchers' cattle offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day, but there were no really good beef critters among the whole lot, and even the moderately good animals were rather scarce and brought higher rates than on Monday. A few of the best medium cattle were sold at from 3½c to 4c per lb., but much the larger proportion of this kind of cattle sold at from 2½c to 3½c, while the common stock brought from 2½c to 2c per lb. There were over 200 head of cattle that were only fit for canning purposes, and these brought from 1½c to 2c per lb. The calves were nearly all grassers, and sold at from 2½c to 4c per lb., but prime veals would bring 5c per lb. Shippers paid 3c per lb. for good large sheep, and the butchers paid from 3½c to 3¾c per lb. for the others. Lambs sold at from 3c to 3½c per lb. Fat hogs have been advancing in price, and sold at about 5¼c per lb., weighed off the cars, a few choice lots bringing 5¾c per lb.

EAST BUFFALO CATTLE MARKET.

East Buffalo, Nov. 21.—Cattle—Receipts, 3 cars; quiet; unchanged. Veals—Dull; top, $6.75 to $7; common, light to good, $4.50 to $6.50; grassers and feeders, $2.25 to $3.25.

Hogs—Offerings, 41 cars; higher for good grades; pigs, lower and light; yorkers, only steady; heavy, $6 to $6.10; mixed and medium, $5.90 to $6; yorkers, $5.80 to $6; pigs, $5.25 to $5.50; roughs, $5 to $5.40; stags, $4 to $4.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 20 cars; dull for lambs; top natives, $4.40 to $4.55; culls to good, $3.25 to $4.35. Sheep, steady; top, mixed, $3.25 to $3.40; culls to good, $1.75 to $3.10; wethers and yearlings, $3.50 to $3.60.

NEW YORK LIVE STOCK.

New York, Nov. 21.—Beeves—Receipts, 611, mainly consigned direct; no sales reported. Exports, 40 sheep. Calves, receipts, 540, dull and weak; about 400 head unsold, mainly grassers and westerns. A few veals sold at $5 to $7.50. Bunch of grassers at $2.75.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4030; sheep, about steady; lambs, averaged easier. Sheep sold at $3.50 to $3.75; lambs, common to prime, $4 to $4.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 4081; one deck on sale; quoted steady; prime State hogs, estimated to bring 6c per lb.

Impure Vaccine.

St. John, Nov. 22.—Coroner Berryman and a jury held an inquest last night into the death of Lilly Causton, who died from lockjaw, following vaccination. The jury found that the child's death was due to lockjaw, and that impure vaccine was used by the druggist who vaccinated her.

Cheaper Tobacco.

Melbourne, Nov. 22.—The Federal Government has announced its purpose to tax all imported wearing apparel 25 per cent., all cotton and linen piece goods 10 per cent., and to reduce the duty on tobacco to 8s. 3d. a pound.

Imitations

of Dodd's Kidney Pills are legion. The box is imitated, the outside coating and shape of the pills are imitated and the name—Dodd's Kidney Pills is imitated. Imitations are dangerous. The original is safe. Dodd's Kidney Pills have a reputation. Imitators have none or they wouldn't imitate. So they trade on the reputation of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Do not be deceived. There is only one DODD'S. Dodd's is the original. Dodd's is the name to be careful about—

"Crying for the Moon"

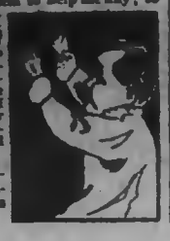
Has become a proverbial phrase to express the futility of mere desire. There are a great many people who think it is as useless to hope for health as to cry for the moon. They have tried many medicines and many doctors, but all in vain.

A great many hopeless men and women have been cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; people with obstinate coughs, bronchial lungs, night-sweats and other symptoms of disease which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

"Golden Medical Discovery" has a wonderful healing power. It increases the nutrition of the body, and so gives strength to throw off disease. It cleanses the blood from poisonous impurities and enriches it with the red corpuscles of health. It is not a stimulant, but a strength giving medicine. It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic.

Sometimes the extra profit paid by inferior medicines tempts the dealer to offer a substitute as "just as good" as "Discovery." If you are convinced that "Discovery" will cure you accept nothing else.

"I was in poor health when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mr. Elmer Lawler, of Volga, Jefferson Co., Indiana. "I had stomach, Kidney, heart, and lung trouble. Was not able to do any work. I had a severe cough and hemorrhage of the lungs, but after using your medicine a while I commenced to gain in strength and flesh, and stopped coughing right away. Took about six bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' then, and last spring I had Grippe, and it settled on my lungs, leaving me with a severe cough. I had the doctor, but he didn't seem to help me any; so I commenced your medicine again and took three or four bottles of the 'Discovery' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and that straightened me up. I feel like a different person. I gladly recommend your medicine to all sufferers, for I know it cured me."



Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation by curing its cause.

QUEER ENGLISH CHAPEL

Built in the Form of a Coffin, to Remind Members of the Congregation That They Are But Dust.

The Baptist chapel at Fressingfield, Suffolk, is probably one of the most curious places of worship to be found in England, its design resembling the shape of a coffin, as shown in the accompanying photograph.

Its origin is not the outcome of an accidental freak on the part of the builder, the structure being expressly planned on these lines by a former pastor of the place, who desired that the chapel should be erected in the form of a coffin in order that the worshipers and public generally might be reminded of their latter end.

That the wish of the designer has been fulfilled is clearly evidenced by the name of "the coffin chapel" being applied to it, by which cognomen the building is known locally, and as such attracts the attention of all strangers who visit the pleasant Suffolk village in which it stands. The gruesome-looking building is visited by hundreds of people every week and opinions upon it are various.

Peafowls Around the Farm.

Peafowls are not only ornamental but excellent for the table. They are slow in reaching maturity, and the hen seldom lays before she is two years old. The chicks, however, grow very rapidly at first, but as they begin to feather almost at the start of life they require frequent feeding or they will perish. They soon begin to fly, and roost on the highest positions they can find. The hen lays from ten to sixteen eggs, according to age and treatment. The young chicks should be fed the same as young turkeys, but meat, finely chopped, should be given three times a week after the first week. The male is a quarrelsome bird in the barnyard, and often makes short work of some chicks. They are more ornamental than profitable, though the tail feathers may be pulled for sale as soon as the moulting season begins.—Mirror and Farmer.

Early Pigs.

The early farrowed pig, February or March, should be out of the way in time to give his brother following him in April time to get a good start before winter comes on, says J. M. Jamison in National Stockman. The early pig can be fattened much cheaper than one farrowed later that has to be fed into winter to get ready for market.

Another point in favor of the early pig, he can be put on the market before new corn hogs crowd the market and packers begin to break down the prices. Last year and the previous year were notable examples of having the spring pig ready for market in October, not later than the third week.

Banquet for Redmond.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—John E. Redmond, M.P., will be tendered a luncheon by Ottawa Irishmen when he comes here on Thursday, and a public reception will be held in the Russell House later on.

THE RED CHIEF.

"We saw his fire upon the hills;
The spruce trees blew the crawling smoke,
A thousand harries of the wood
Took on the scarlet of his cloak.

"Like far trails felt his moccasins
Trod soft along the cedared way.
The ancient pines behold the flare
Of his red shield, at break of day.

"He hailed the birches down the stream,
Gaudily he sang with his soft breath;
His eyes were brown and kind, and yet
They shimming elders dreamed of death.

"The gray goose heard his sure approach
And left the blue lake's still retreat;
The sunset mocked his feathered crest,
The partridge berries stained his feet.

"And we, who saw upon the hills
The curling signals of his fire,
Knew that the Spirits' Chief had come
To woo us to his swift desire."

—Theodore Roberts.

Coloring of Flowers.

A florist says that the law governing the coloring of flowers makes a blue rose impossible. According to this law the three colors red, blue and yellow never all appear in the same species of flowers. Any two may exist, but never the third. Thus we have the red and yellow roses, but no blue; red and blue verbenas, but no yellow; yellow and blue in the various members of the viola family (as pansies, for instance), but no red; red and yellow gladioli, but no blue, and so on.

Rubber Plants.

Many plant growers become annoyed because the older leaves at the base of their rubber plants turn yellow and fall off. This is a natural process. It does not indicate any defect in the plant. It is simply the ripening of the old foliage, which cannot be retained indefinitely. Sometimes, however, the loss of foliage results from the want of root room, but in such cases the plants refuse to grow.

Railroad Telegrams.

When a traveler in the grand duchy of Baden, Germany, wants to send a telegram while he is in the train, he writes the message on a postcard, with the request that it be wired, puts on a stamp and drops it into the train letter box. At the next station the box is cleared and the message sent out.

Matrimony and Eyes.

An old man was rallied by his friends, on his marrying a young wife, on the inequality of their ages. He replied, "She will be near me to close my eyes."

"Well," replied a friend, "I've had two of them, and they opened my eyes."

Smart Girl.

Her Mother—Edith, don't you think you are getting too old to play with little boys?

Edith—No, mamma; the older I get the better I like them.

The Consultation.

"My wife always consults me about every article of attire she buys—frocks, hats, shoes, gloves, everything."

"My wife does, too—that is, she asks me for the money."

The proceedings commenced with the morning prayer and a sermon by Rev. E. Daniels, of Port Hope. On assembling in the Schoolroom Archdeacon Allen delivered his address. Papers on the opening of new missions were read by Rev. G. Warren, Rural Dean of Northumberland, and Rev. E. Soward, Rural Dean of Haliburton. Luncheon was then served by the ladies of the parish. In the afternoon the subject of Christian Science was discussed by Rev. W. J. Creighton, of Bobcaygeon, and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Ashburnham, and on Holy Communion by Rev. John Creighton, of Cartwright, and Rev. J. C. Davidson, of Peterborough. At 8 p.m. evening prayer was said by Rev. W. C. Allen. Lessons were read by Rev. G. Warren, and the sermon was preached by Rev. E. C. Cayley, Rector of St. Simon's church, Toronto.

This morning holy communion was celebrated at 9 a.m. by the Archdeacon, assisted by Rev. John Creighton. The report of committee on the Archdeacon's address was read and adopted. The subject, "The need of consecrated and fit men for the Ministry," was introduced by Rural Dean Marsh who was followed by Rev. Wm. Farncomb. After luncheon Mr. J. H. Knight read a paper on Sunday school work, and was followed by Rev. W. L. Armitage, Peterborough. Later on Rev. Canon Spragge, M.A., Cobourg, dealt with the question of Christian unity with members of other communions.

WEDDED AT HARWOOD.

Nuptials of Miss Katie Carroll and Mr. Daniel Hayes on Monday.

The wedding took place on Monday at St. Mary's church, Harwood, of Miss Katie Carroll, daughter of Mr. Felix Carroll, of Hamilton Township, and Mr. Daniel Hayes, son of Mr. James Hayes, of Skibereen, Otonabee. The bridesmaid was Miss Maude Hayes, of Haldimand, cousin of the groom and Mr. Jack Carroll, brother of the bride, officiated as groomsman. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Connell.

A sumptuous wedding breakfast was afterwards served at the residence of the bride's father.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, who begin married life with the best wishes of hosts of friends will reside at Zion, Otonabee.

TORONTO TO PEMBROKE.

Government Approves Plans for an 8-mile Section.

The Government have received and approved plans for an extension in a northerly direction for eight miles from Bancroft of the Toronto, Lindsay & Pembroke Railway. The extension will pass through the Townships of Herschel, Monteagle and Faraday, in Hastings County, and is another link in the direct line being gradually built between Toronto and Pembroke. The line was subsidized $3,200 a mile in 1900 for an extension of 36 miles from Bancroft to Golden Lake, where connection will be had with the Canada Atlantic Railway for Ottawa and also with Pembroke.

"And the Band Played on."

And the chorus was "What's the matter with Charley LeGros? He's all right!" Now customers dropping in every day to his Tony Tonsorial parlours. Additional swell automatic chair, making four altogether. Your pick of four artists to shave you or trim your hair, without any useless waiting. The latest toilet preparations for face and scalp, electric hair brushes, hot towels for everyone. These are a few of the luxuries that make up a combination that can't be beat anywhere in city or town. Shop recently enlarged and refurnished. Everything up-to-date, night or day.

CHARLEY LEGROS.

DIED

KERR.—In Ashburnham, on Friday, November 22nd, 1901, William Kerr, aged 86 years.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, James street, Ashburnham, on Sunday afternoon at 2.30, and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

FATHER McCLOSKEY INJURED.

He Fell From a Buggy and was Badly Shaken up.

A few days ago an accident befel Rev. Father McCloskey, pastor of the Roman Catholic church, Campbellford, which has disabled him for the time being and he is confined to his bed.

Early in the morning he conducted a service at Hastings, for Rev. Father Maguire, and afterwards started homewards to be in time for service in his own church in Campbellford. He was riding in a buggy from a Hastings livery, the horse being driven by a young man. Just as they were descending Butler's hill, about six miles west of Campbellford, the britchin strap broke, and the horse began to kick. Fearing danger Father McCloskey tried to avoid it by jumping from the buggy, but in doing so he was struck by the buggy top which was partially raised, and he fell on his side and suffered a severe injury to his hip. He was unable to rise, but two men soon came to his assistance and lifted him into the buggy, another horse was procured and he was conveyed home. Fortunately no bones were broken as at first was feared, and he escaped from bruises and cuts. His many friends wish for his speedy recovery.

The construction of the Lakefield Portland Cement Co's power station at Young's Point is completed and they expect to have their plant here lighted this week by electricity generated at Young's Point. The company are very much pleased with the result of their labours at the Point.

Mr. Fred LeFevre left on Friday for New York, whence he sails on Wednesday for England. He hopes to be back to spend Christmas at home.

Dr. J. B. Fraser has returned home from a hunt with the Crowe party, which were camped at Grubb's cottage, Stony Lake. He reports a good time, getting 16 deer in a party of 9.

The Gordon party has returned from the hunt with five fine deer, among them a buck weighing 120 pounds.

The Baisdon and Baptie party arrived home on Saturday with ten fine deer.

Mrs. Phillips and Master Phillips of Oakville, are visiting in the village, the guests of Mrs. Langley.

Miss Lightfoot of Peterborough, who has secured a position in the Lakefield Portland Cement Co's office, arrived in town on Monday.

We are pleased to report that Miss A. Young, who has been ill for some time, is considerably improved, and able to be report again.

The management of the Presbyterian church is making preparations for a grand entertainment in the town hall during the Christmas season.

"The Growth of a Popular Tea."

Some few years ago the "Salada" Tea Company purchased and remodelled their new and commodious premises at 22 Yonge street, Toronto, making them the best equipped and most elegantly fitted up tea house on the continent. It was then thought that the facilities possessed would be amply sufficient to serve all demands for some years to come, but so great has become the growth and expansion of "Salada" Ceylon Tea that it has been found imperatively necessary to still further enlarge and improve, also to add two storeys, which will certainly not only greatly facilitate the conduct of the "Salada" business, but largely add to the appearance of an already imposing structure.

Killed by His Bosom Friend.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Nov. 22.—Joseph O'Shea, a student at Niagara University, was accidentally shot and killed by another student near the college grounds yesterday. A party of students were shooting at birds with a rifle, when O'Shea stepped in front of the rifle just as it was discharged. The rifle was in the hands of John Carrasa, 26 years old. The two men were bosom friends. They came here over a month ago from Ireland, to complete their studies for the ministry. They had spent several years of preparation at All Hollows' College, Dublin, and both were to have been ordained next June.

Still After Buckland.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—Mr. Andrew Marshall, who was shot by some unknown person last week, is still in a dangerous condition, and Dr. Kennedy said yesterday that his patient might not recover. The wound is a terrible one, but Marshall is getting the best attention medical skill and careful nursing can give him. The police are still searching for Arthur Buckland, whom Marshall says shot him. Yesterday Detective Robillard went up the Gatineau to look for Buckland, for whom there is a warrant out.

Her Condition Improved.

Apeldoorn, Holland, Nov. 22.—Although Queen Wilhelmina has not yet left her room, her condition has improved. The court physician visits Her Majesty only once a day. She is still weak, and requires a great deal of rest. The Queen will probably return to The Hague in a month.

Count Tolstoi Not Dead.

London, Nov. 22.—There is no confirmation of the report circulated by a news agency in the United States of the death of Count Tolstoi. A letter to The Times from Odessa, dated Nov. 18, reports that he had quite recovered from his illness and resumed work.

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

The Terrebonne Election Case.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—In the Supreme Court yesterday Mr. L. Beaudin, on behalf of Trudel, the petitioner in the Terrebonne election case, was present to make application for leave to substitute Mr. Nantel as counsel in place of Mr. Benoit, and to revoke the order made by the court on Oct. 1, enlarging the appeal until February next. Mr. Beaudin read affidavits from Trudel, stating that he was drunk when he gave his consent originally to substitute Mr. Benoit's name for that of Mr. Nantel, and that he had been approached and offered money. Mr. Ritchie, in reply, read an affidavit from Mr. Raymond Prefontaine, the appellant, and Mr. Benoit and others, denying Trudel's allegations. The court agreed to the substitution of Mr. Nantel's name for that of Mr. Benoit, and will give judgment to-day on the motion to hear the appeal at the present term.

Canadian Fattened Chickens.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The Department of Agriculture has forwarded another lot of specially fattened chickens in cold storage to Liverpool this week. This lot was from various fattening stations, and contained 2,592 chickens. Returns have just been received regarding the first shipment of fattened chickens sent by the department this season. These were fattened at the poultry fattening station at Bondville, Quebec. They were sold in Liverpool, wholesale, at 14 cents per pound, and the net returns were equal to $1.31 per pair of chickens at Montreal.

Queen Draga Stories Untrue.

Vienna, Nov. 22.—An official Servian statement, just issued, declares there is absolutely no foundation in the reports that Queen Draga has been shot at, or that she has committed suicide.

London, Nov. 22.—A special despatch from Buda-Pesth yesterday says a newspaper there asserts that Queen Draga and King Alexander of Servia recently quarreled, and the King slapped the Queen's face. The latter thereupon drank poison, but her life was saved by physicians.

PROHIBITION IN MANITOBA

Province May Enact Such a Law Says the Privy Council.

RECENT ACT CONSTITUTIONAL

Question of Position of Hudson Bay Company Not Considered—The Points at Issue—How the News Was Received in Winnipeg—Opinion of Hugh John Macdonald, Who Passed the Act.

London, Nov. 23.—Yesterday the Privy Council gave judgment in the Manitoba liquor case. Their Lordships declared that the Legislative Assembly of the Province has jurisdiction to enact the Liquor Act.

Regarding the subsidiary questions, the principles of which were whether the Manitoba liquor manufacturers licensed by the Dominion Government and also the Hudson's Bay Company were subject to the Manitoba Act, Their Lordships said no useful answer could be given.

Their Lordships declare the provisions of the Act as extremely stringent, and add that, unless the Act becomes a dead letter, it must interfere with the revenue of the Dominion, with licensed traders in Manitoba and, indirectly, with business operations beyond the limits of the province.

No costs were given.

Lord Machnaghten delivered the judgment in which the law lords said that, although the questions submitted to the Court of King's Bench in Manitoba numbered 11, only one question was considered in the Court of King's Bench, and Their Lordships had considered only one question in the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. The question was: Had the Manitoba Legislature power to pass the Act? If not, in what particular respect has the Legislature exceeded its powers?

RESUME OF CASE.

Salient Features of the Act That Caused All the Trouble.

"It is expedient to suppress the liquor traffic in Manitoba by prohibiting provincial transactions in liquor."

That is the preamble of the Liquor or Prohibition Act which the Manitoba Government passed in July, 1900, to come into force last June, and which the supreme Court of that Province declared unconstitutional because, in a word, it interfered with transactions that did not end within the limits of the Province.

The various sections, which the court held the Legislature had no power to enact, went to the extent of prohibiting "all use in Manitoba of spirituous, fermented, malt and all intoxicating liquors as beverages or otherwise than for sacramental ,medicinal, mechanical or scientific purposes." They included a number of prohibitions and restrictions affecting the importation, exportation, manufacture, keeping, sale, purchase and use of such liquors.

HUGH JOHN MACDONALD,

Questions Court Answered,

The questions submitted to the court were :

1. Had the Legislature power to pass the act?

Two other questions dealt with particular sections.

4. Had the Legislature jurisdiction to make regulations, limitations or restrictions on the sale or keeping of liquor by brewers or other persons licensed by Dominion government for the manufacture of liquor in Manitoba?

5. Has the Legislature power to prohibit or restrict the giving away in Manitoba, as a free gift by the owner thereof, of liquor which has been lawfully imported into Manitoba or otherwise lawfully acquired by owner?

6. If the Legislature has no power to prohibit the importation of liquor into Manitoba, has it authority to declare it illegal for an importer to employ an agent residing in the province to make the importation on his behalf or to prohibit the importation thru such agent?

The seventh was a similar question.

8. Has Legislature power to provide that no sale of liquor for export shall be made within the province, unless such liquor shall be delivered by the vendor at some point outside the province?

9. If not, has the Legislature power to compel a person buying liquor in Manitoba to convey it to a place outside the province, without issuing the package or parcel?

Questions 10 and 11 related to Hudson Bay Company.

All the answers were against the Government. The last two were not considered.

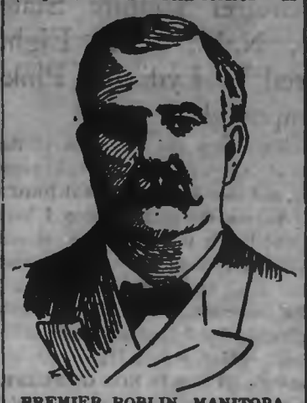
In the Privy Council.

In the appeal to the Privy Council the Attorney-General of Manitoba, Hon. Colin H. Campbell, with Mr. Haldane, K.C., and R. O. B. Lane of the London bar argued that the act was valid and within the powers of the Provincial Government to enact. Hon. Edward Blake and F. H. Phippen opposed the appeal on behalf of the Manitoba License Holders' Association, while E. L. Newcombe watched the case for the Dominion Government. The argument lasted three days, July 10, 11 and 12. It was heard by Lords Hobhouse, Machnaghten, Davey, Robertson and Lindley.

THE NEWS AT WINNIPEG.

Neither Cabinet, Which Met, Nor Premier Will Say When the Act Will Be Put in Force by Proclamation.

Winnipeg, Nov. 23.—The topic of conversation in the whole city yesterday was the decision of the Privy Council, which has been announced, declaring the Liquor Act to be valid. The bill was introduced by the Hon. Hugh John Macdonald on June 1, 1900. The sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor was given to it on July 5th. The Licensed Victuallers' Association then entered in the courts a protest against it, and the Legislature at its session passed an act suspending the operation of the Liquor Act until the decision of the Privy Council had been secured as to the validity of it. According to this bill, the act shall come into force by a proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.



PREMIER ROBLIN, MANITOBA.

There was a Cabinet meeting held at the Parliament Buildings yesterday morning, at which every member of the ministry was present, but no announcement was made of what was done. Premier Roblin, Attorney-General Campbell and other Ministers were seen, but they all refused to talk. They said that they had no announcement to make as to when the act would come into force, or what measures would be taken to enforce it.

Premier Roblin, in reply to the question, "Can you enforce the Liquor Act at once, or will it be necessary to permit the licenses at present issued to run out?" said "That is a matter of law."

"Did you discuss the question in Council this morning?"

"We received a cablegram apprising us of the decision, but we cannot discuss the question fully until we know the full text of the decision. But I am not going into the matter to-day. I have nothing whatever to say for publication."

Opinion of Hugh John.

Hon. Hugh John Macdonald, K.C., who was Premier of the province at the time the act was passed, and who was principally responsible for the legislation, said yesterday: "It was the judgment I expected, especially after I heard what had taken place during the arguments before the Judiciary Committee of the Privy Council. In fact, I believed when the act was introduced that this would be the result, and that, although it went near to dangerous points, it was always within the competence of the Legislature of the Province. I would not like to express a further opinion on the matter until I see the full text of the judgment."

WHAT THEY SAY IN TORONTO.

Opinions of Mr. F. S. Spence and Mr. James Haverson.

F. S. Spence, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, in an interview, expressed his satisfaction over the result of the Manitoba appeal, and said he believed in time prohibitory enactments would be passed by all the provinces, except Quebec.

"The decision," said Mr. Spence, "will put us in a position of advantage, by giving a definiteness to our work. The cause of prohibition in Canada has been handicapped by the aversion of the French people. Now we are practically freed from the handicap, and there is nothing now in the way of a prohibitory law in Ontario. It was really the adverse vote of Quebec that prevented a national prohibitory law. Outside of Quebec the majority for prohibition was 108,011, being 64 per cent. of the votes polled. In 148 constituencies outside of Quebec 121 voted for prohibition, the average majority being 1,034."

Mr. Haverson Speaks.

James Haverson, solicitor of the License Holders' Association of Ontario, said he was not surprised to learn that the Privy Council had upheld the Manitoba law. He did not think that Hon. G. W. Ross had promised to pass a prohibitory law. This promise was made by Sir Oliver Mowat, and he did not think the present Government was obliged to father it. It would not be difficult to apply the act in Manitoba, where there are only 150 licenses, but in Ontario there are 3,000 licenses, of which Toronto has 201. Quebec, he said, would never have prohibition, and, as Ontario borders on Quebec, the act would not be practicable here. He thought that a people who spend $40,000,000 yearly for liquor would not be dictated to like a lot of children. The decision of the Privy Council would merely change the licenses to the drug stores, and transfer the trade to those places. If the temperance people push for prohibition, it will make things lively, he said.

Rathbun Indicted.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 23.—The special grand jury selected to investigate the Rathbun insurance conspiracy and murder case, yesterday afternoon returned an indictment against Newell C. Rathbun, charging him with murder in the first degree. The body of Rathbun's alleged victim, supposed to be that of Charles Goodman, arrived from Little Rock during the afternoon, and was taken in charge by Coroner Coots.

Cuttlefish Ink.

Pliny says that the liquid of the cuttlefish was often used by the Romans as an ink. It was considered superior to the lampblack preparation, but was not used so freely on account of its much greater cost.

POLICE FORCE STRENGTHENED

The Police Have a Couple of 7-Pounder Field Guns, and an Abundance of Rifles and Ammunition—A Volunteer Company of 45—Mr Scully's Report on the Yukon Order.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—The authorities here are disposed to think that ample precautions have been taken to prevent the execution of any designs upon the integrity of the Yukon. The Mounted Police at White Horse have been strengthened, and they have been supplied with a couple of machine guns. At Dawson the police have a couple of 7-pounder field guns and abundance of rifles and ammunition. A company of volunteers, which, according to the latest militia list, numbers 45 of all ranks, could also be called upon in case of need. If occasion required no doubt scores of citizens there would volunteer to help in preserving the law and order. It is not believed, however, that there is now the slightest prospect of any armed invasion of the country. Doubtless the conspiracy might have proved dangerous if it had been allowed to mature, but it has been rendered abortive owing to the premature disclosure of the plot, and the ringleaders have made themselves scarce.

Mr. Scully's Report.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 23.— James Scully of the secret service of the Yukon Territory here says the conspiracy formed in Dawson was discovered by the police there in September. It was an organization known as the "Order of the Midnight Sun," founded at Dawson by some Americans Yeniens, and a branch was formed at Skaguay, but the order did not extend south. The plans were for the conspirators at Dawson to rise when the order was given, after the Dawson trails were unfit for travel, and seize the barracks of the N.W.M.P., while their Skaguay confreres, after cutting the wires, would surprise the Mounted Police patrols along the river. There are but 250 Mounted Police scattered through the district, and as there are few in Dawson the scheme was thought to be feasible. The papers of the association were seized at Skaguay, but the seizure being made in United States territory, are held by American officers. The Secretary of the order has fled to Seattle.

LECTURE ON SOCIALISM.

Description of Comrade Spargo who Speaks This Evening.

"Citizen and Country" gives the following description concerning Mr. John Spargo, the Socialist, who speaks in the Sons of England Hall this evening:

"Who is Comrade Spargo? Born in Cornwall, England, in 1876. Left school at 11 to work in the great tin mines of Carnborne. When only 15 became a Band of Hope speaker, and at 16 was a Wesleyan Methodist preacher, acquiring considerable local fame. While studying at 18 for the regular ministry he began to speak on other subjects, but continued to work as a granite-cutter's apprentice, and attended a course of lectures in connection with the Oxford University Extension Movement, winning a university certificate and a cash prize of three pounds. He made his first Socialist address in an Established Church mission house. In 1895 went to Wales, and continued to work as a granite cutter. Was an active unionist and a member of the Social-Democratic Federation, lecturing incessantly. Debated on many platforms with prominent men who opposed Socialism, and contributed regularly to Socialist publications. Was delegate to American Federation convention, in London, 1896; Northampton, 1897; Edinburgh, 1898; Manchester, 1899; and London, 1900—at each of the last four being elected to the National Executive Council. Has been a candidate in educational campaigns, and has been for years regarded as one of the orators of the Socialist movement in England. Began a tour of the New England States in February for the Social Democratic party, and has been actively engaged as a speaker and writer during the summer and fall, contributing regularly to prominent British and American publications. The work done by Comrade Spargo in various capacities has won for him the esteem of a large circle of admirers, but perhaps his best work has been done on the New York Secretariat, and during the recent election campaign. He has the united support of the labour unionists, whom he has served so faithfully, and of the Socialists, whose cause he has so ably championed."

Deafness is Curable!

Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhalation of Catarrhozone are reported, and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to our readers. Catarrhozone quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxall of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarrhozone, after years of deafness. Price $1. At druggists or by mail, from Poison & Co., Kingston, Ont.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:— Inflammation and ulceration of the uterus laid me low and robbed life of its joys for me. For eight years I was in frequent pain and misery, and then Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to me, the greatest boon I have known, for it brought new life and health to me. I used several bottles of Compound and your Sanative Wash. My improvement was slow, but from the first bottle I felt that I was better, and so I kept up courage and continued the treatment. None of my friends ever dreamed that I would be well again, but I have now enjoyed life to its fullest extent for three years." — MRS. MAMIE HERBERT.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Ontario Conservative journals blame the Government as being slow in sending another Canadian contingent to South Africa. Why don't they get Mr. pro-Boer, Conservative leader Monk, to stir the laggard Government up?

The pro-Boer Englishman is demanding that the war in South Africa stop short, but it does not occur to him that he could help matters to this end by taking a gun to the front, and shooting, instead of hiring a hall and shouting. When British authority is everywhere paramount in South Africa, then the war can stop—not before.

It seems a little singular that the Conservative newspapers which are discussing Hon. John Dryden's little private interest in a Dakota stock ranch, haven't shown that the patriotic course would have been to have started a ranch in New Ontario, which Mr. Whitney patriotically discribes as "the land of the stunted poplar."

"Canada has been invited to send another contingent to Africa, with a view to bringing the irregular warfare in South Africa to a speedy termination. But she does not seem to be so responsive as she once was. There is less glory in it."—Boston Globe.

In comment upon this the Toronto Mail and Empire says:

"No, that is not the reason. The country is as full of fight as ever, but the Government has been Boer-ased."

No, it has been Monk-eyed with.

The Mail and Empire says, that "if there are any good laws passed by the Ontario Legislature it was Mr. Carscallen who drafted them." The only law Mr. Carscallen, the Conservative star from Hamilton, ever drafted was knocked higher than Gildrey's kite by the courts, and the Conservative papers supporting Mr. Whitney, have been lambasting this same good law with a "stunted poplar" club. Poor Mail, the joints in your mail are as big as the meshes in a whale net.

It is estimated that the unmined coal in Pennsylvania amounts to five thousand million tons. At the rate of the output this year — fifty million tons — this supply will last one hundred years. The fact that the coal in that region will be exhausted in another century doesn't bother present consumers. Nor does it bother the present coal robbers who own the mines and keep the price of coal up to precious metals price. Before a hundred years, according to orthodox theology, they will be having the full benefit of an inexhaustable supply of fuel.

The London (England) Canadian Gazette has the following: — "The royal tour will have done much towards enlightening the British public in their ignorance of colonial geography and colonial customs. Amusing exhibitions of this ignorance are constantly occurring. It is related that a lady in England said not long ago to one who came from the City of Quebec, 'I suppose you frequently see the Falls of Niagara.' 'Oh, yes,' was the reply, 'I often take a morning walk there before breakfast,' adding, 'It is only about 500 miles.' According to another story, cited by the Globe, at the time of the Queen's Jubilee in London a lady of rank sent an invitation for a garden party to some Canadians. It was a very pleasant letter and very kindly expressed, and she ended by saying, 'Please come in your native dress.'"

INVASION FROM THE SOUTH.

Eighteen thousand settlers from the United States found homes in Canada this year, and an officer of the Immigration Department expects fully 100,000 immigrants of that class next year, the advantages of Manitoba and the Northwest now being well understood by homeseekers in the neighbouring country. Many of these settlers are of Canadian stock, the men or the sons of men who left Canada for the Western States years ago, but have not found the conditions as good as they had hoped. But a percentage of the immigrants will be men who have had nothing to do with Canada in the past, yet their coming is awaited without any apprehension. There is no reason for fear. The front counties of Upper Canada were very largely settled by men from the United States, including down-east Yankees, Albany and Pennsylvania Dutchmen, Tunkers, Mennonites and others. For a short time after the war of 1812-14 the provinces were hospitable, admitting "aliens" to acquire land like the country. But it was soon found that the new-comers were not into good Canadian citizens, willing to work hard and improve their property, even if they did not shout "God Save the King," quite as heartily as some of their neighbours. So it will be in the Northwest. With good government, moderate taxation, fair railway facilities, cheap land, and bountiful harvests, the settlers from the United States will be well content, and they will waste no time devising schemes of annexation. If they were foolish enough to try that game they could not make it work, but they won't try. But their industry will give profits to the railways and will help to keep the manufacturers of the older provinces employed. — Hamilton Times.

TO BRING BRIGANDS TO TIME.

United States Consul Dickinson May Give Captors of Miss Stone Ten Days to Accept $10,000.

Sofia, Nov. 23.—Mr. Dickinson, the diplomatic agent here of the United States, started yesterday for Constantinople, there to confer with Spencer Eddy, the secretary of the United States Legation, as to the best means of hastening a solution in the deadlock which has arisen in negotiations over the release of Miss Stone. Mr. Dickinson will probably return here, bringing with him cash with which to pay Miss Stone's ransom, as her kidnappers insist that this payment be made in Turkey.

Mr. Dickinson is considering the advisability of presenting an ultimatum to the brigands, in which he will fix ten days as the period within which £10,000 must be accepted by the brigands as Miss Stone's ransom. If this proposal is not accepted by her captors, all dealings with the bandits, so far as the United States is concerned, will cease.

If these conditions have not already been dictated by Mr. Dickinson, the ultimatum compromising them will almost certainly be delivered as soon as the American diplomatic agent returns from Constantinople.

According to the latest information received here, both Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilka continue in rather good health. They are concealed in a large village near Dubnitza, whither they were taken blindfolded, and where only rude comforts are obtainable.

According to the statement of a person who arrived from Dubnitza last night, the captives have been removed from a village near Dubnitza to a point near the frontier, and Miss Stone got wet while crossing the river Struma.

CAREWORN MOTHERS.

Life Often Made a Burden Through Nursing a Cross and Fretful Baby.

All babies should be good natured; well babies, if there is no outward reason for discomfort, are always good-natured, and yet how many mothers permit themselves to be thoroughly worn out caring day and night for a sick, cross and fretful baby, when a little care and foresight would remove all the trouble and make both mother and baby happy. The little one's suffering and crossness may be caused by any one of the numerous ills that make baby lives a misery to themselves and a constant source of worry and discomfort to the mother, such as colic, worms, indigestion, constipation, the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth, etc. When baby is cross do not, if you value your child's future welfare, give it any of the so-called "soothing" medicines, as they only stupify and deaden without removing the cause of the trouble. What is needed is a simple, vegetable compound such as Baby's Own Tablets, which reach the root of all the minor ailments of little ones, making them well and happy. The best proof of this is the high praise all mothers who have used this medicine award it. Mrs. W. S. Beaverstock, Church street, Brockville, says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets in my house for several years and know of no medicine for little ones that can equal them. When my baby was teething she was restless, cross and peevish, and I could do very little with her. I gave her the tablets and they quieted her when other medicines did no good. When baby was troubled with constipation the tablets always gave prompt relief, but above all things I think they are most excellent in indigestion; she vomited a great deal, was very cross and would scream with pain, and I had to get up with her many times during the night. No matter how much she ate she kept growing thinner. It was then I began the use of the tablets, and she grew plump and fat, and I had no further trouble with her at night. I can recommend the tablets to any mother who has a sickly, cross or fretful baby, and I am sure she will never be without them again." Baby's Own Tablets are easily administered and dissolved in water can be given safely to the youngest infant. If your druggist does not keep them send 25 cents to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and a box will be sent you by mail, post paid.

Enemies of the Fishes.

Hatchers of trout and other fish find that the finny tribe has more enemies than they ever supposed before they came into position to know. Mink and weasels will enter a pond and, using their claws as gaff hooks, pull numbers of the fry out of water. Hawks, kingfishers and herons are always on the watch, to say nothing of tame ducks and geese.

A favorite method of killing the former sort of marauders is to line the ponds with tin. Then a mink or weasel getting into the water will find it impossible to climb out and may be shot or speared as desired.

Hawks and kingfishers have a way of alighting on some convenient perch near the pond. The fish hatcher makes a perch for them by erecting a pole with a groove in the top, cut so that a steel trap will just fit into it. When the next bird alights, it is caught and killed.

A Use For the Hyphen.

A teacher had just given a lesson on the hyphen, and thinking that his class understood it now, he wrote the word "birds-nest" on the blackboard. "Now, boys, why do we have a hyphen between birds and nest?" asked the teacher.

Several hands went up, and the teacher pointed to a small boy who seemed very anxious to answer. "For the birds to rest on," was the reply.

Rice and Rice.

To most people rice is rice, but, notwithstanding this, there is a considerable difference between the Chinese or Japanese and the American article. The former is darker in color and in no way compares with the latter in flavor or quality. Of the American, however, there are a number of grades, of which that grown in the Carolinas is considered the best. When purchasing, see that the grains are large, plump and unbroken. In washing be careful not to break them between the hands.

Send me no money, but simply write a postal for the book you want.

I will send with it an order on your nearest druggist to let you have six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He will let you take it a month. If it cures, the cost will be $5.50. If it fails, he sends the bill to me.

This remedy strengthens the inside nerve power that operates all vital organs. It brings back the only power that can make the organs do their duty. It have spent a lifetime on it.

I sometimes fail, but only when the trouble is organic—some trouble like cancer that causes a damage beyond repair. Such conditions are rare. My records show that 39 out of 40 who get these six bottles pay for them. Yet no druggist accepts a penny where the patient states that the treatment failed.

This offer is too fair to need argument. Your own druggist is the one who fulfills it. Won't you write me a postal to learn what I can do?

JOHANNESBURG PLOT

On Tuesday Last Twenty Arrests Were Made.

CONSPIRACY NIPPED IN THE BUD

Houses in Various Parts of the City Visited at Midnight—Great Sensation in the City—The Third Canadian Contingent Through British Will Be Canadian—Looking for Transports.

Johannesburg, Nov. 23.—Another conspiracy has been nipped in the bud.

Twenty arrests were made at midnight Tuesday in houses in various parts of Johannesburg.

A great sensation followed.

Is Chamberlain Sick?

London, Nov. 23.—The friends of Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, have for some time been concerned with regard to his health. Yesterday Mr. Chamberlain wrote to the Handsworth School, declining to distribute prizes at that institution, because, as he said, "It is absolutely necessary for me to confine my strength to public work."

NO REPLY FROM WAR OFFICE.

Hon. Mr. Borden Expects Acceptance of Third Canadian Contingent.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Up to midnight the Government had received no reply from the War Office as to its acceptance of the offer of a Canadian force of 600 mounted men to help wind up the war in South Africa. Hon. Dr. Borden, however, expects that such a reply will be received. In that case the work of organization will be begun at once, and in a month the men will be fully armed and equipped and on board a transport at Halifax, ready to sail for Cape Town.

The Minister of Militia, when asked yesterday for a statement as to the position of the so-called third contingent offer, said:

"The War Office wrote to us to the effect that it was being said in the press that Canada's offer, made last spring, to raise a mounted force of 600 men, was still open, and asking if such were the case. We, of course, replied that it was. I have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion the logical outcome of the correspondence will be that our offer will be accepted, although we have not received word yet. In fact, there has scarcely been time. In the event of our offer being accepted, the force will be raised, and upon the basis of our proposal of last spring it will consist of 600 mounted men."

"Would it be commanded by a Canadian officer?" was asked.

"Certainly," the Minister replied. "I have had in mind since last March the man for the position. In fact, his name was submitted to the War Office along with our offer, and is now before the Imperial authorities. So it will be, although not so in name, a Canadian contingent in composition, only that the officers will have their commissions from the Imperial Government.

"We shall furnish the horses, the arms and equipment complete, even to the tents, so that when the force lands in South Africa it will be ready to take the field."

The Minister did not state who the commanding officer would be, but it is generally understood the command will be offered to Col. T. D. B. Evans of the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

After Transports.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—The Minister of Militia, in view of the possibility of a contingent being despatched, has been making inquiries of the Allan and Elder-Dempster steamship companies with regard to engaging a suitable transport. The force will wear a uniform similar to that of the Canadian Mounted Rifles. Numerous applications have come from Canadians in the States who are anxious to serve in South Africa. Several militia officers have also applied for commissions.

A TEAMSTER'S STORY.

Suffered Greatly From Asthma and Kidney Troubles.

Spent Some Time in a Hospital and Almost Impoverished Himself Buying Medicines Without Benefit—Again Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cure After Other Medicines Fail.

From the Recorder, Halifax, N. S.,

Mr. William Cochrane, a well known teamster, who lives near the Halifax Polo Grounds, is one of those who willingly bear testimony to the curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A reporter of the Acadian Recorder, who had heard of Mr. Cochrane's sufferings and subsequent cure, called at his home, when he gave an account of his experience, substantially as follows:—"He had for many years been a constant sufferer from asthma, accompanied by an aggravated form of kidney trouble. The latter trouble caused severe pains in the back and loins, and at times his sufferings were very acute. He said he had almost impoverished himself in buying medicines of all kinds, but to no purpose. The trouble continued and seemed to grow worse as the years passed. Mr. Cochrane said that she had frequently seen her husband choke up and fall to the floor as though dead ,and he would have to be worked with and rolled around before he would revive. A few years ago he spent ten days in the Victoria General Hospital. The doctors then thought that the pains in the back were due to over-exertion in his business as a teamster, but gave him no material help. After leaving the hospital, he used bottles and bottles of medicine, but failed to find a cure. A neighbour of his, Mr. Lowe, whose wife had been made a well woman after years of sickness by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, advised him to try them. He used a couple of boxes without apparent result, and felt somewhat discouraged, but Mr. Lowe advised him to continue the use of the pills and before the third box was finished he began to improve. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a Godsend to me," said Mr. Cochrane, 'they are the only medicine which I have taken that seemed to do me any good. I had one prescription from a doctor which cost me $1.75 a bottle, which like many other medicines I took, was just so much money wasted. I have used eight or ten boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and can say that before I began their use life was an intolerable burden. I have reason to be thankful that I followed the friendly advice that urged me to use this medicine."

Most diseases have their origin in poor blood or weak nerves and it is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood and strengthen the nerves that they have met with such success in curing kidney trouble, rheumatism, paralysis, St. Vitus dance, anaemia, nervous prostration and kindred troubles. See that the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, is on the wrapper around each box. If in doubt send direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be mailed post free at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

IRISH LEADER SPEAKS.

Redmond Pleased With Lynch's Election for Galway—Latter May Take His Seat in Parliament.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—John E. Redmond and his two companions, Messrs. McHugh and O'Donnell, left yesterday morning by the 11 o'clock train for Chicago, where they are to speak on Sunday.

During the morning Mr. Redmond held a long conversation with Mr. Henri Bourassa, M.P. for Labelle, in the rotunda of the Russell House. Before his departure Mr. Redmond was asked by a correspondent what he had to say in regard to Mr. Lynch's election for Galway. "Is Mr. Lynch elected?" queried the Irish leader, and on receiving a reply in the affirmative, said: "Oh, I am glad of that; he was our candidate."

"Will Mr. Lynch be allowed to take his seat?"

"Certainly. Why shouldn't he?"

It has been suggested in the press that he is disqualified."

"I am a lawyer as well as a politician, and I can tell you that Mr. Lynch has a right to take his seat unless he has committed a felony."

"But Mr. Lynch has fought in the Boer army against Great Britain. It is suggested that that is an act of treason, which disqualifies him from sitting in the British Parliament."

"Where is that suggested?" inquired the Irish leader.

"In the press."

"Well, my friend," observed Mr. Redmond, with some asperity, "in England they regard a man as innocent until he is proved guilty."

Shot in the Side.

Guelph, Nov. 23.—What may prove a fatal accident occurred in Erin Township on Wednesday. David Cunningham, the 11-year-old son of Mr. James Cunningham of the first line, Erin, and George Nichol, son of Mr. James Nichol, took a gun from the latter's home to have a little sport. George Nichol was engaged putting a shell into the gun when it accidentally discharged. Young Cunningham was standing but a short distance away, and the charge entered his left arm and side.

W. C. Caldwell in North Lanark.

Lanark, Nov. 23.—There was a large attendance of delegates at the North Lanark Liberal convention held here yesterday afternoon. Mr. W. C. Caldwell, M.P.P., was the unanimous choice to contest this riding as Liberal candidate at the next Provincial elections. Mr. Caldwell has been representing North Lanark for over 25 years. No other nominations were made.

After the election of officers, stirring addresses were delivered, upholding the Ross administration, by the candidate, J. A. Allan of Perth, T. B. Caldwell of Lanark, Mayor Paterson and C. McIntosh of Carleton Place, Mr. McFarlane and Dr. Kirkland of Almonte, and other prominent Liberals.

"White Slave" Traffic.

London, Nov. 23.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times says France has invited the other powers to send representatives to a congress to consider means to prevent the "white slave" traffic. It is understood that all the governments have accepted and are prepared with voluminous reports. The congress probably will be held in Paris in the winter. The Czar is a strong supporter of the movement to suppress the traffic.

The Right Thing.

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front.

For several years, Eucalyptol Guaiacol and Hydrastin have been recognised as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately, and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics, into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh, and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark House, Troy, N. Y., says, "When I run up against anything that is good I like to tell the people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50c box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and am glad to say that they have done wonders for me, and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing."

Mr. Geo. J. Casanova, of Hotel Grifton, West 9th street, New York City, writes; "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given me better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried."

A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach.

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are so harmless that little children take them with benefit, as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drugs.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50c for full size package, and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form of catarrh.

A Hard Problem.

First Scientist—This is a puzzling case indeed.

Second Scientist—I should say so. Why, this would puzzle an amateur scientist.—Baltimore American.

Treated in Notre Dame

A. J. Forgue Had Chronic Catarrh so Badly His Lungs Were Affected—Tried in Vain for Relief—Ozone Cured Him.

"I consider it a great duty to write you in order to tell you all that Ozone did for me. About 15 years ago I contracted a grave attack of catarrh. I took nothing for it as I did not understand the nature of the disease. Two years ago complications set in and the discharge from my head tainted my lungs which became very weak. I took treatment at the Hospital "Notre Dame," Montreal, for catarrh and from our family physician for the lungs. I also had remedies sent me from the United States, but all without results, as I was in worse shape every time I changed remedies.

"Ozone made its appearance. I got a free bottle from your Montreal agent on May 24th last and took it according to directions. I can swear to you that when I finished that bottle I felt better than ever before in my life. My appetite is good, no more vomiting, my lungs are strong, my catarrh has disappeared, and I am sure that with Ozone I will become a man again; a better man than ever before. Never will I be without Ozone, now that I know it is the only remedy for perfect health. Doctors do not approach where Ozone is. One of my sisters, who has been sick for many years, has commenced the Ozone treatment. Once more I thank you for all that your good Ozone has done. I remain, yours respectfully,

"A. J. FORGUE, St. Constant La Prairie, P. Q."

Catarrhal trouble is due to inflammation of the membrane linings of the nose and throat. You probably pay no attention to a cold—the cold congests the linings and makes the surface of the membrane open to the attack of the germs of the catarrhal disease. The foul mucus taints the throat passages and often attacks the lungs themselves. You can destroy the catarrh germs without injuring the nasal tissues by applying Powley's Liquified Ozone to the nose in the form of a douche—one part Ozone to eight of water. Then by taking the regular internal dose you supply the system with oxygen and make all the tissues healthy—so that the germs of disease cannot operate in the lungs. There is no other preparation that will give you relief for chronic catarrh like Powley's Liquified Ozone. You know what oxygen is—you know how it feeds the blood and makes all the body healthy. Ozone is not a medicine—not a combination of drugs—and contains no alcohol.

Troubles of a Society Woman.

Was Very Nervous—Could Not Get Rest or Sleep—Had No Appetite—Suffered Much from Headache and Pains in the Back.

While nature does not bless all with perfect features, she has left it largely in the hands of every woman to be beautiful in form and figure, and in the gracefulness and elasticity which health alone can give. If to brighten the eye, to give a glow of health to the cheek, to round the form and to fill the body with the charm of vigor and strength is to make woman beautiful—then Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a beautifier of woman.

A wrinkled, tired and worn looking face tells immediately of nervousness, worry and many accompanying ills and irregularities. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food fills the shrivelled arteries with new, rich blood, strengthens and rekindles the vitality of the nerves and gives a well rounded form and clear healthy complexion to all who use it. The pale and emaciated become plump and rosy, the weak and worn grow daily stronger and health and beauty develop hand in hand when the great restorative is used regularly.

MRS. H. H. YOUNG.

Mrs. H. H. Young, of 214 Greenwood Ave., Jackson, Mich, is a leader among the "Lady Maccabees," "Lady Foresters" and other fraternal societies, and for the benefit of her suffering sisters makes the following statement:—"My social and other duties in connection with several ladies' fraternal societies had drawn so much upon my strength that I found myself all run down in health; I was very nervous, had no appetite, could get no real rest or sleep and suffered much from pains in head and back. I tried many tonics, but could get no permanent relief; finally I purchased Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, took two boxes as directed, and found it a perfect cure for my trouble. Its action was mild and effective, and I believe it to be the best treatment in the world for nervous troubles and for building up the system."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Is most remarkable as a restorative for persons who are weak and run down, and who lack nerve force. It is especially valuable to women. 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THANKS-GIVING!

In gratitude to the generous people of Peterborough for the lion's share of the patronage bestowed on Gough Bros. during 1901, we intend to express our gratitude in a practical way. For the week preceding Thanksgiving Eve, we propose to SPORT ALL PAST STANDARD OF VALUES. We intend to retail Overcoats, Ulsters, Suits, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, Underwear, Neckwear, and Men's and Boys' Furnishings at prices LESS THAN WHOLESALE—in many cases less than the cost of production. This big double store will be teeming with buyers.

IT'S A CASE THAT WARRANTS UNBRIDLED ENTHUSIASM. We are bound to make it so—we will put it to a point that will do greater honour to this great store. If you don't want to buy come and look on. You can't stay away and be wide-awake. No matter when or where you see a bargain, we have a better one for you. But look sharp!—there'll be a run on the plums, and the ripest fruit is readiest to drop.

HUNDREDS OF TURKEYS WILL BE BOUGHT WITH THE MONEY SAVED AT GOUGHS' THANKSGIVING SALE

THANKSGIVING MARKET.

An Enormous Quantity of Fowl Brought in From the Country To-day.

Good roads and the fact that this is the Thanksgiving market, resulted in a large amount of country produce being brought into town to-day.

In the building the great quantity of fowl which was marketed was noticeable, and notwithstanding the quantity the prices kept up stiffly, and the demand was sufficiently brisk to clear up all that was offered at an early hour. Turkeys brought from 75c to $1, and the large ones ran as high as $1.25. Geese were worth from 60c to 70c., ducks, 60 to 70c., and chickens 35 to 50c. From 18c to 20c was asked for butter, and from 18c to 20c for eggs.

Almost every wagon on the outside market was loaded with beef. It was a very fine display, and sold by the quarter at 4c. Lamb by the quarter brought 6c and 7c. Quite a number of bags of potatoes were brought in; from 55c to 60c was asked.

The grain deliveries during the day were not especially large, but a good deal has been brought in during the last few days. The prices are as follows: Wheat, 68c to 70c; peas, 75c to 88c; oats, 40 to 44c; barley, 50c to 56c; and rye, 50 to 53. Hay is bringing from $7 to $8 a ton, and is fairly plentiful.

The farmers are making great complaint about the lack of rain. Many of the wells are dry, and cattle have in some instances to be driven fully five miles to water.

RECEIVED THEIR CHEQUE.

The Ontario Government Paid $3,500 to the Mud Lake Bridge.

Immediately upon word from the county of the completion of the Mud Lake Bridge, the Commissioner of Public Works for the Ontario Government, sent the Departmental Engineer to inspect the work, and upon his certificate that the work had been performed satisfactorily, an order-in-Council was passed, paying over to the treasurer of the County of Peterborough, $3500, being the Ontario Government's contribution to the erection of the bridge. The county received the cheque some days ago.

All Saints' Church.

The church year will close to-morrow, and the usual promotions in the Sunday school will be considered. The Bible class for adults will meet at 3 o'clock. Rev. W. L. Armitage will conduct both services.

First Social of a Series.

The parlours of the Y.M.C.A. will be re-opened to-night with a social to begin at 7.30. The coffee room will also be open for the first time this season, refreshments being provided free to all men who attend. Basket ball match at nine.

Chrysanthemums.

Carnations, Roses, Mignonette, Smilax, flowers for weddings and public functions; funeral designs on short notice; plants to rent for decorations. All parcels delivered, and prices right, at 551 Aylmer street Greenhouses. Phone 132. J. H. Cobb, Florist.

Death in the West.

A western exchange says: "The death was announced at Enderby last week of James H. Montgomery, an old-timer of Cariboo. He was well over 70, and his death is regretted by many friends." Mr. Montgomery was the youngest brother of Mr. Andrew Montgomery, Dublin street, who left here to try his fortune in the California gold fields.

"And the Band Played on."

And the chorus was "What's the matter with Charley LeGres? He's all right!" New customers dropping in every day to his Tony Tonsorial parlours. Additional swell automatic chair, making four altogether. Your pick of four artists to shave you or trim your hair, without any useless waiting. The latest toilet preparations for face and scalp, electric hair brushes, hot towels for everyone. These are a few of the luxuries that make up a combination that can't be beat anywhere in city or town. Shop recently enlarged and refurnished. Everything up-to-date, right or day.

CHARLEY LEGROS.

MARRIED.

BROWN—ZRALAND.—At the Methodist Parsonage, Fraserville, by Rev. T. P. Steel, on November 20th, 1901, Mr. Fred Brown, of Centreville, to Miss Minnie, eldest daughter of Mr. John H. Zealand, of Hope Township, Ont.

THE CONTRACT TAKEN OVER.

The Quaker Oats Company Will Erect Their Own Buildings.

Messrs. Bogue and McDiarmid Have Dissolved Partnership and Given up the Contract.

Mr. Robt. Stuart and Hon. Senator Cox, are in town to-day on business connected with the contract for the erection of the Quaker Oats Company buildings.

It seems that Messrs. Bogue and McDiarmid, the contractors, have decided to dissolve partnership, the latter being interested in a number of other matters of a like nature to which he desires to give more particular attention. As no basis of settlement has been reached between the members of the firm, the Quaker Oats Company has arranged to take over the work themselves from this date forward.

In conversation, this afternoon, with Mr. Stuart and Mr. Miller, the architect, they stated that any arrangements which it was necessary to make in order that the work would be pushed forward with additional speed, would be made at once. The old contract called for the completion of the brickwork by the first of January, but it was extremely doubtful if this could have been accomplished. Under the new regime the number of workmen will be vastly increased and it is expected that the work will be carried forward in a manner which will insure the early completion of the buildings.

DAN IS BEATEN.

Mr. M. Caddigan of Bannismore the First Man to Have His Team on the Ice at Chemong Lake.

Mr. Dan Whetung, of the Chemong Reservation, was in town this morning, and feels rather crestfallen over the fact that for the first time in many years he has been beaten out in the matter of being the first man each season to do work with horses on the ice at Chemong Lake.

The ice has formed, and is sufficiently strong to support a pedestrian, as shown by the fact that Dan, himself, walked on it from Bobcaygeon to the Indian Village yesterday. On his way, down, however, he came across Mr. M. Caddigan, of Bannismore, working away with a team on the ice in the bay. He was chopping out logs and drawing them to the shore.

SONS OF SCOTLAND.

A Grand Rally of the Peterborough Camp.

The members of the local Camp, Clan Alpine, Sons of Scotland, cam' a' thegither last night in their hall on Simcoe street, and made an unusual demonstration on behalf of their growing fraternal order, which has for its motto the significant motto, "Leality, Loyalty, Liberty." The occasion was made increasingly interesting by the presence of the official organizer of the High Camp, Bro. Robert Nimmo. Eleven new applications were received, and two new members initiated. Camp Alpine has buckled on its armour and has started on a campaign of recruiting which will not exempt a solitary son of Auld Scotia who is known to be outside the Order. A special meeting is to be held on Friday evening next, 29th inst, to help storm the heights.

PERSONALS.

Miss Evlyn Elliott is in Millbrook visiting friends.

Miss Bella Morgan returned to Toronto last night.

Miss Maud Kindred is visiting Miss Myrtle Fitzgerald in Lakefield.

Mr. Albert of Lindsay, is visiting Mrs. Stubbs and Mrs. Chittick, Dublin street.

Miss Gillespie, sister of Mr. David Gillespie, of Douro, left on Wednesday last for Dakota, where she intends to make her future home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen of Kentucky, who have been spending the summer months on their island at Stony Lake, have closed their cottage for the season.

A GALWAY WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Minnie Collins an Mr. Maurice D. Hickey.

The church of St. Mary's, the Immaculate of Galway, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the morning of the sixth of November, when Rev. Father O'Leary, parish priest, united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Minnie Collins, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Collins, and Mr. Maurice D. Hickey, both of Galway.

The bride was handsomely costumed in a travelling suit of grey, trimmed with grey satin, with hat to match. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Maggie, attired in a grey travelling suit similar to the bride's. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Maurice J. Hickey.

After the marriage ceremony was performed the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's father, where a sumptuous repast awaited them. The afternoon was spent in a social manner, and the evening was spent in dancing, and social intercourse. The bride and groom are exceedingly popular among a wide circle of friends, as was evident from the great number of handsome and costly presents received.

The next morning the newly married couple drove to their future home in Galway. Their many friends join in wishing them a long and happy married life.

THE CLACHAN SPLORE.

Tickets for the great Clachan Splore or Scottish merrymaking at the Opera House on Thanksgiving afternoon and evening may be had from the following members of the committee:—W. Menzies, Ald. G. H. Roger, Chas. Cameron, R. H. Glover, Dr. Carmichael and W. H. Robertson, or from W. Bunton, G.T.R. Ticket Agent, where plan of hall may be seen. dtf

MASONIC PAST MASTERS' NIGHT

Well-Skilled Craftsmen Retired From the East Preside at the Temple.

An unusually interesting communication of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A. F. and A. M., took place last evening. It was Past Masters' night—an annual event now, when "true and trusty craftsmen of mature age and sound judgment" preside. The very large attendance of members and visitors witnessed an excellent interpretation of blue book and ritual in the impressive ceremonies of the Sublime Degree of a M. M. The respective offices were ably filled by the following well skilled Eastermen:

Past Master W. Thompson .....W. M.
Past Master Chas. Cameron, ...I. P. M.
Past Master R. McFadden, ...S. W.
Past Master H. Rush ....J. W.
Past Master Rev. W. L. Armitage...Chap.
Past Master Dr. D. N. Carmichael...S.B.
Past Master A.G. Herridge ... ...J. B.
Past Master W. Conway ....S. D.
Past Master R. Logan, ...J. D.
Past Master W. Bamford ....I. G.

Assisted by Past Master W. Collins, of Kinsardine, Past Master E. J. Menaros, and Past Master Alex. Gibson. After an elaborate exemplification of the work of the 3rd degree, the brethren adjourned to their dining room and fraternized and refreshed themselves for a pleasant half hour.

"All honour to these 'silver-grays' then—
Of Masonry the props and stays when—
We temple build of living men—
By Old Past Masters.

Happy the lodge who 'mid its members,
Can list the men who faithful benders,
Le , set or work,—and wisdom tenders,
These Old Past Masters."

"CITY" MAY BE SOLD.

Commodore Calcutt's Big Steamer May Pass Into Other Hands.

There is a probability that the steamer "City of Peterborough" may change owners in the near future, but it is pleasing to be able to announce that in any event she will be found running on the waters of the Otonabee next season.

Captain Elliott and Messrs. Lannin and Begbie, of Lindsay, who have formed a navigation company, and purchased the steamer "Crandella," were in town yesterday, and made a thorough inspection of the "City," with the object of ascertaining her qualifications for handling the Otonabee trade.

Although many will be sorry to see the flagship of Commodore Calcutt's fleet pass out of his hands, still with so many other interests to hold his attention, he finds it difficult to keep as closely in touch with the river traffic as desirable.

With the street railway extended to the locks, almost every excursion out of town next season would go down the river, and many would be also attracted from outside points. A remunerative season can, therefore, be confidently anticipated.

FIRST OF SERIES.

A Delightful Band Concert That Took Place in the Market Hall.

The first of the series of band concerts to be held in the market hall took place last night. Considering the fact that there were counter-attractions, the attendance was fair, but through some misunderstanding the hall was not heated. No one regretted this more than the management of the band themselves, but the matter will not occur again.

The programme rendered was one of exceptionally high quality and was thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. Cronk's Euphonium Solo "The Vacant Chair" by Rollinson, was one of the delightful features of the evening. The programme was as follows:—

March, "Old Pensioner," ... Pearson.
Overture, "Pique Dame," ..... Von Suppe.
Serenade, "The Warbler," ..... Wood.
Selection, "Erminie," ..... Jakobowski.
Euphonium Solo, "The Vacant Chair," Rollinson ....Mr. Cronk.
Narcissus ....Nervin.
(From the Water Scenes.)
March, "A Frangeans," ....Costa.
Waltzes, "Blue Danube," ... Strauss.

WHERE IS FLORENCE?

A Barnardo Home Girl Disappears Suddenly.

The local police authorities have received the following communication from the Police Constable at Colborne:

"Colborne, Nov. 21st.

"Dear Sir,—Any information regarding the whereabouts of one Florence Kenny, an emigrant girl, aged 12 years, thankfully received. Not very bright, either has left or was carried away from the home of Dr. Mallory in this village, last Sunday evening about 6 o'clock. Had no coat or hat on, otherwise comfortably clothed; from the Peterborough home. Yours truly, W. H. Smith."

Well Worth Hearing.

WAS ALMOST A DROWNING.

Two Boys Went Through the Ice Yesterday

And Were Rescued Home to Soon by Mr. D. H. Burritt—An Ice Cold Plunge.

There came very nearly being a double drowning fatality yesterday afternoon, in the creek that runs through the town. Had it not been for the timely arrival of Mr. D. H. Barritt such would undoubtedly have been the case, and there would have been sorrow in at least two homes. Mr. Barritt was not out hunting for Victoria Crosses, nor parchment papers from the Royal Canadian Humane Society, nor was he anxious for an ice cold bath; he was on his way to his home, corner of Brock and Aylmer streets, when he responded to the call of duty and obeyed unhesitatingly. Mr. Burritt was near the old tannery on Aylmer street when a couple of children came to him and informed him that there were two boys drowning in the water. When Mr. Burritt reached the edge of the little dam near by he found that there was some truth in the youngsters' story.

Master Lawson, the son of Mr. Frank Lawson, and the young son of Mr. Wm. Norris, Murray street, were playing on the ice at this point a few minutes previous to Mr. Burritt's arrival. Young Lawson broke through the ice and was having a very hard time of it when the Norris boy went to his assistance. The water was about 4 feet deep and the boys were being carried under the ice. Mr. Burritt plunged into the creek and with a great deal of difficulty landed the youngsters on the bank. Lawson was very nearly staying under the ice and it was only by a considerable amount of presence of mind upon the part of the rescuer that the lad was saved. Dr. Scott was summoned and the lad is still under the physician's care.

Mr. Burritt is being warmly commended upon his prompt action in the matter.

HUNTING NOTES.

The Careless Handling of Firearms in the Woods Should be Summarily Dealt With.

Mr. J. D. Collins states that in returning from his hunting trip he met a number of other hunters on the train and learned of two accidents, one fatal, caused by novices discharging their firearms at moving objects without waiting to see if it was a man or a deer. Mr. Collins does not regard these as accidents, but thinks that a man who would carelessly fire his rifle in this manner should be charged outright with murder, and there is a good deal in what he says.

When one considers the number of lakes that dot the northland it is a wonder the deer fare as well as they do; for with hounds swift on the scent and hunters with long-range rifles huddled on every shore or wielding the paddle with strokes that soon out-distance terror's swiftest swimming, the game of the forest king would seem to be up. But that in an astonishing number of cases it is not up is borne out by the story of the huntsman and the fewness of his victims. How they escape is a fertile topic of Nimrodian discourse. By listening to them one may find out what they know about how the deer avoids his enemies; how that would compare with what the deer knows on the same subject is hard to say.

Deer are so alert for sounds and so sensitive of smell that very often they detect the distant approach of dogs and are able to keep safely ahead of their pursuers till nightfall. It is almost impossible to come up with a deer that is going with the wind. On the other hand when the wind is blowing in the same direction, he will come right up to the hunter before detecting danger.

They often display a craft that is almost incredible. On coming to a stream a deer will run in the water for a long distance before taking to land again and thus cause the dogs to lose scent. It will run along the edge of a lake going zigzag in and out of the water with the same object, and very often succeeds in it.

A deer runs through the woods with incredible silence and great swiftness so that its approach is not always easy to detect. Arriving at the edge of the lake its sight and hearing again enable it to discover danger. Failing that it enters the water cautiously with little noise, swims with only its head above water and with considerable speed. Head winds and rough water impede the canoeist and mar his aim while they serve to render the deer's head an illusive target. Yet occasionally the hastening bullets find their mark and the valiant swimmer gives up and dies.

The Crawford—Henderson party, of Lakefield, composed of Messrs. Crawford, Abel Hendrea, A. J. Kidd, Stuart Tighe, Sam White, Mr. Thompson, of Maple, and the Rev. C. A. Campbell, wended their way to Mr. Stabler's property in Cavandish Township, about 37 miles from Lakefield. Here they remained a week without so much as sighting a deer. Sickened with hope deferred they journeyed 7 miles further on to Long's camp and made their second week's stay there. Success rewarded their efforts. Even whilst they were pitching their tent a deer jumped into the water close to them, but in the consequent confusion that ensued, the animal made good its escape. Next day Mr. Stuart Tighe was lucky enough to shoot a beauty. On the day following, no less than four fell victims to the sharpshooting skill of various members. Mr. S. White obtaining one and Mr. Kidd one, whilst Messrs. Henderson and Crawford potted two more in Pencil Lake. These were the last the party obtained.—Lakefield News.

Mr. Sid. Johnston, express agent on the Haliburton train, has completed his count of deer shipped over that line this season. Yesterday was the last day on which shipments could be legally made. The total number of deer or saddles carried was 361 — 100 ahead of last year, and 102 in excess of the tally for 1899.

CANKER.

There is a mistaken idea as to the cause of cankers in the mouth and throat. Sufferers imagine that they arise from stomach troubles, but it is nothing more or less than the result of impure blood. Numerous so-called remedies have been floated on the market, but experience has proven that there is only one cure, "Climax" Iron Tonic Pills. 25 cents a box at all druggists, or mailed on receipt of price. The Hockey Club's Organization Meeting.

The Rugby Dance—The Trip to Montreal—Other Matters of Interest.

RUGBY.

The Hamilton Tigers are going to play the Londons on Thanksgiving Day.

Those who purchased season tickets for the local Rugby matches, paid a trifle dear for the one match which was witnessed. The Peterboroughs, however, tried their best to get on an exhibition game, but with no success.

The Executive of the Rugby Club met last night and decided to go down to Montreal on Wednesday night per C.P.R., any of those outside the personnel of the team desiring to take in the trip will please communicate with the secretary of the club.

HOCKEY.

Ere another month passes the hockey season will be upon us; the shrill notes of the referee's whistle, the wicked slash of the hockey stick, the rattle of sticks against the board walls, and the excited shouts of the spectators will, in a short time, re-echo throughout the old rink — the soup plate, as some jealous-minded sporting editors choose to term it, but the structure, nevertheless, in which many an outside team has met its Waterloo, in which victories and championships have been won and lost, which, if reports be true, will not after this winter see such stirring times. It is a fact that a new rink will be erected in Peterborough for next winter. Such would have been the case this winter had it been known in time that the shareholders of the present rink did not intend making a move in that direction.

However, Peterborough will have to content itself with the present rink for this season and the boys are going to make the best of the situation. The annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club will be held in the rink parlours on Tuesday evening. There should be a large attendance as a free discussion of all matters is asked for.

A meeting of the Omemee Hockey Club was held in the sample rooms of the Commercial House, on Saturday night. The club re-organized with the following officers:

Pres.—J. N. Moffatt.
Vice-Pres.—R. H. Johnston.
Manager—Reuben Bradley.
Capt.—Joe Graham.
Sec.—Harry Limb.
Treas.—Bert Laidley.

Mr. P. Parsons was present, and arrangements were made with him for the use of the rink. Considering the strong team to be put on the ice, the boys will be heard from before the winter is over.

WANT CANADIAN PLAYERS.

The Pittsburg Chronicle says: "The season of active hockey correspondence is on and letters are flying thick between Pittsburg and the Queen's Dominion, with the managers of the three local hockey teams as the medium in the south and the crack skaters of the Ontario district at the other end. With enough Canucks already in the string to insure the fastest hockey that Father Pitt has ever witnessed, a strenuous beating of the Canadian woods is still being kept up. One of the managers was seen studying the map of the Dominion and inquiring about the railroad connections. Some flying visits to the great stamping ground of the hockey players can shortly be looked for.

"Willett, the crack skater who is well known locally, but was not in evidence on the ice last season, is one of the skaters being sought after by the different clubs. He was formerly a member of the Quaker City seven of Philadelphia, and two years ago he played with the Bankers. He may be with the Bankers this season, but the Keystone Club is also after him.

"The Bankers promise to be as strong a candidate for the championship honours as ever. The Money Handlers have so far more new Canadian cracks on the contract list than any other local team. A. E. Bish, of Toronto, and a former member of the St. George team, has been secured for cover point. W. D. Taylor, also of Toronto, and an ex-St. George player, will be found at centre. Both have good reputations. Frank Richardson is another new man secured for the keeping of the goal. He is a former member of the Victoria second team. Still another new man is Rupert Howard, a forward who played with the Montreal Athletic Club. D. Howard Henderson, one of the strongest skaters on the Bankers' string, who will be played at point, is well known here as a strong defence man. He was with Keystone last season and is one of the tallest skaters ever seen in the Duquesne Garden games.

"Harry Stoebner is one of the few Pittsburg boys still left in the business. He was on the P.A.C. reserve list, having played for the champions last season, but was traded to the Bankers for Robinson, who will be at centre for P.A.C. Stoebner wants to play for Keystone, but will have to get a release from the Bankers. The Bankers will likely secure some one of the skaters on the Keystone list for his services. Howard Taylor and Bish are all in the city, but most of the Canadians secured by the local teams will not arrive until near December 1st."

CURLIANA.

The Campbellford Curling Club met for re-organization on Wednesday evening and elected the following officers for the current year:

President—F. J. Smith.
Vice-President—Geo. A. Benor.
Sec.-Treas.—G. R. Armstrong.
Com. of Management—P. Corkery, D. W. Douglas and D. E. Tait.

Patron and Patroness—Robt. and Mrs. Dinwoodie.
Representative members — G. G. Eakins and C. L. Owen.
Hon. members—R Dinwoodie, Rev. R Laird, G G Eakins, R Waddell, D H Douglas, Rev. D J Casey, D Guthrie, E W Gaudrie and T W Williamson.

LAKEFIELD CURLERS.

The Lakefield curlers have organized, with the following officers:

Hon.-Pres.—G. B. Hilliard.
Pres.—J. L. Madill.
Vice-Pres.—John Strickland.
Sec.-Treas.—J. W. Ridpath.
Committee of Management — W. V. Reynolds, J. W. Bowden, J. C. Grylls, L. Payne, and Jas. Craig.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freese's New York Offices.

New York, Nov. 22nd, 1901.

Market Letter.—"Market basis bullish, surface factors simply deter advances."

So strong is the statistical position of the stock market, the surface factors such as gold shipments, possibilities of closer money for the time being, simply cause market dullness, nothing more.

There is no liquidation whatsoever, a shipment of gold simply causes a selling movement, followed by the inevitable rally due to covering. As long stocks do not come out on the decline, in the meantime one or two stocks each day or so, makes higher points.

Money utilised for crop moving, or for paying out balances, simply quiets speculation, nothing more. Once out of the way, then the market should get under way, on the top track, with good by strides, making up for lost time. The market at present is like the stream that has been dammed, causing for the present time lower water, finally let loose to create a flood. The upward movement is simply dammed up, once let loose, to over-flowing with vigor.

It seems impossible to get the market down materially, the main reason being no one has stopped to liquidate, and generally, business prospers to a great extent, and no selling movement can be expected.

The market must, as a matter of necessity, based upon large holdings by timid and lightly marginal holders, and the tide of general business be on the ebb flow.

The money flow from the wheat fields has already commenced, and the south will soon contribute its, quotations.

Once the Cotton movement has reached its limits, sales of securities by Europe from now on cannot be large in volume, as European holdings are pretty well returned to this country, and generally being paid for. Illustrative of the activity of business—express stocks are selling at the highest prices recorded, making large jumps the current week. They have been advancing on the volume of business they are transacting, and the likelihood of its continuation. The movement in these stocks is of an investment nature, purely as speculatio loss run in these issues, owing to the close manner in which they are held, and by people who have paid for them.

One of the most reliable barometers of business is the condition of our Express Company.

Manhattan and New York Central continued in the van of two days' bull movement, selling up to 137.4 and 169.7 respectively. Mop was a close second in the upward race, rising from 101 1-8 to 104 1-8.

The tractions were extremely active and higher, also Norfolk, in which quite a buying movement developed.

The entire railway list was strong, at higher prices.

Sugar led the industrials, advancing four points, steels, gas, copper etc., participating in the general movement.

The general market is going higher—Buy Stocks.—Haight & Freese Co.

Wear Lech's Real Furs

Wearing REAL FURS is something like wearing real Diamonds. The tendency, so far as our sales go, is to wear better Furs, which is real economy.

LECH'S REAL FINE FURS are not dear. Neither are those next to the finest kinds. Anybody can afford to wear the Furs we are making both from a standpoint of quality and price.

With cold weather ready to sweep down on us any day, it is wise to have an early choice of our full stock.

THE CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILROAD.

Many people unacquainted with the geography of the west, imagine that because the names, "Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul," are used in the corporate title of the railway owning the short line between Chicago and Omaha, they must go via the the cities of Milwaukee and St. Paul to reach their destination—and if it be Omaha or west thereof. This is a mistaken idea. On a map the line running directly east and west would look like this:

Omaha————————Chicago.

There is nothing more simple than that, and it is less than 500 miles between Chicago and Omaha. Two through trains daily in each direction with the best Sleeping Car and Dining Car Service, and all regular travellers know and appreciate the merits of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway's Short Line between the East and the West.

BLOOD POISON

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore Throat, Ulcers on the Tongue or in the Mouth, Hair Falling Out, Aching Pains, Rashes on the Skin, Sores or Blotches on the Body, Eyes Red and Smart, Dyspeptic Stomach, Sexual Weakness—Indications of the second stage. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment, —mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time, only to break out again, when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over twenty years. No experiment, no risk—not a "pick-up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited. We treat and cure Impotency, Debility, Sexual Weakness, Piles, Blood Poison, Stricture, Varicocele, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and all diseases peculiar to men and women.

FOUR BLACK CATS.

Brought Boundless Pleasure of Anticipation, but That Was All.

"We are more or less superstitious when it comes to black cats," said a well known young man about town, "and I was one of the firmest believers in the black cat and good luck superstition in Washington until a few days ago.

"I had got tired of doing the same thing in my department over and over every day in the year, and, being a member of one of the learned professions, I decided to attempt to secure a transfer to another department where my training could be put to advantage to myself and incidentally to the government.

"I am from a state where the senior senator is a power in state and national politics, a man almost unapproachable by reason of his preeminence, but who is personally one of the staunchest of friends to his friends and whose recommendation usually carries, as it is seldom given. I happen to be one of his friends.

"Next to myself, the person most interested in my ambition was my sweetheart. One night about a month ago on our return from the theater on her doorstep sat a jet black cat with a white star on its breast. The cat followed us into the house in the most friendly manner, refused to go out until it was time for my departure and then followed me to the sidewalk. My best girl in a rhapsody of delight declared that it was ordained by the stars that I was to get my appointment.

"Two or three days later, on the eve of my departure for the great and wicked city which is my home, I stepped into a restaurant on Eleventh street for lunch. A cat as black as ink, with a white star on its breast, came in the door, walked right up to my table and remained there until I finished my meal. When I told my sweetheart about the cat's visit when I saw her that evening, she had another spasm of delight, saying that defeat for me was impossible.

"I left for home about two weeks ago, and on the very first night of my arrival, as I was leaving the hotel, a big black cat with a white star on its breast came out of the cafe and rubbed its arched back against my shins. I returned at once to the writing room and wrote my girl about it. I received by return mail a letter of eighteen closely written pages explaining that with the third black cat thus thrust in my pathway my appointment was inevitable and that she could hardly contain her joy.

"On the day before I was to see the senator I stopped on Broadway for lunch. I was almost paralyzed with delight when the fourth black cat came up to my table and purred about my feet in the most friendly manner.

"Need I tell you that the senator was kindness and graciousness itself and lauded my ambition to get up in the line of my chosen profession? Need I say that the indorsements of my district leader and congressional candidate and those of my professional friends were literally thrown at my head? Need I say that my sweetheart wrote me an eighteen page double lined letter every day telling me that I couldn't lose? Need I add that everything in the big city I wanted came my way? Is it not idle to tell you that one of the great men who directs the councils of his party and who is a power therein united with the senator in an indorsement which, had it been at the beginning of the administration, ought to have given me an assistant secretaryship and personally wished me luck?

"And need I tell you that the cabinet officer to whom I presented my papers frankly told me that, having no places vacant, he could not give me one; that I had my trouble for my pains and that the four black cats threw me down hard, that my sweetheart's nose and eyes were so red from weeping that she couldn't go to the theater and that I have for disposal the strongest set of indorsements which can be picked up on Pennsylvania avenue in an hour's walk?"—Washington Star.

Malt Breakfast Food

Far Ahead of Liquid Malt Extracts for Departing Health and Strength

When it is possible, judge for yourself, more especially in matters concerning health. A large number of worthy people, in order to gain flesh and strength, use malt extracts. It should be well known that these liquid malts are spoiled by the admixture of fermented liquors, and are injurious to health.

For the gaining of health, strength and vigor, eat malt; do not drink it.

Malt Breakfast Food gives to all who are seeking for health and robustness, the pure malt in its simple and fresh condition. This Malt renders the starch of the Wheat soluble, giving a food in which digestion has already commenced, therefore easily digested by the human digestive agents.

It is an established fact — one worthy of special note—that one package of Malt Breakfast Food contains more nourishment and strengthening qualities than can be found in one dozen bottles of liquid extracts, costing from fifteen to twenty times more money. See your grocer.

For His Reputation, $200.

The proprietor of a large dry goods store had decided to tear down the old building and erect a new one in its stead. In furtherance of this plan he was removing his goods to temporary quarters in another building.

The goods were nearly all out of the old structure when from some unknown cause it caught fire. The department was promptly on hand and soon had a stream playing on the flames, but the merchant was wild with excitement. Running up to the chief, he urged him to greater haste.

"Never mind the goods!" he shouted. "Save the building! I'll give the boys a check for $500 for their pension fund if they don't let the fire spread beyond that floor!"

"Why, you're going to tear the old building down anyway, aren't you?" asked the chief.

"Yes," he said, "but do you suppose I want the insurance companies or anybody on earth to think that's the reason why it caught fire?"

By great exertion the fire was extinguished with little loss so far as the building was concerned, and the merchant was as good as his word.—Youth's Companion.

MEMORY'S PRANKS.

Why Do We Remember Certain Things and Forget Others?

The vagaries of memory are some of the most interesting of those connected with the human mind and body. Why do we forget certain things and remember others? Myriads of these irregularities are as yet unaccounted for. Perhaps not even the cleverest metaphysician will ever account for them.

Professor James reminds us how something which we have tried in vain to recall will afterward, when we have given up the attempt, "saunter into the mind," as Emerson says, as innocently as if it had never been summoned.

Again, bygone experiences will revive after years of oblivion, often as the result of some cerebral disease or accident.

Such a case is the one quoted by Coleridge of a young woman in Germany who could neither read nor write, but who was said to be possessed of a devil because, in a fever, she was heard raving in Latin, Greek and in an obscure rabbinical dialect of Hebrew. Whole pages of her talk were written down and were found to consist of sentences intelligible in themselves, but not having the slightest connection with one another. To say that she was possessed of a devil was the easiest way of accounting for the matter.

At last the mystery was cleared up by a physician, who traced back the girl's history until he learned that at the age of nine she was taken to live at the house of an old pastor, a great Hebrew scholar, and that she remained there until the pastor's death. It had been for years the old man's custom to walk up and down a passage near the kitchen and read to himself in a loud voice.

His books were examined, and among them many of the passages taken down at the young woman's bedside were identified. The theory of demoniacal possession was abandoned.—Youth's Companion.

THE PUBLIC LOOK FOR IT.

The public look for and demand true and honest dispensing when prescriptions are taken to the drug store. Our dispensing department is conducted on such perfected plans that errors are impossible. Strict attention to business, pure drugs and medicines, and low prices, have won for us a position second to none in the drug trade.

The Kind That Cures.

If you are suffering from headache, indigestion, heart trouble, liver complaint, kidney disease or ills resulting from impure blood, we strongly advise you to use Paine's Celery Compound. It is the greatest banisher of disease, the only medicine that can bring you health and new life. Try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound if you feel weak or rundown; it is a marvellous strengthener. Wm. Madill, Oak Hall Drug Store, Peterborough, Ont.

The Life of a Coal Miner.

First, the boy of eight or ten is sent to the breaker to pick the slate and other impurities from the coal which has been brought up from the mine. From there he is promoted and becomes a door boy, working in the mine. As he grows older and stronger he is advanced to the position and given the pay of a laborer. There he gains the experience which secures him a place as a miner's helper, and as he acquires skill and strength he becomes, when in the height of his manhood and vigor, a full fledged miner.

If he is fortunate enough to escape the falls of rock and coal, he may retain this position as a miner for a number of years. But as age creeps on and he is attacked by some of the many diseases incident to work in the mines he makes way for those younger and more vigorous following him up the ladder whose summit he has reached. He then starts on the descent, going back to become a miner's helper, then a mine laborer, now a door boy, and when old and decrepit he finally returns to the breaker where he started as a child, earning the same wages as are received by the little urchins who work at his side. There is no incentive for ambition in the average miner's life. He cannot rise to places of eminence and wealth. Only 1 in 500 can even be given place as a foreman or superintendent, and these are positions which few miners care to hold.—John Mitchell in Cosmopolitan.

Professional Modesty.

Dr. Quinine—You are a nice colleague to have, Dr. Cream de Tartar! Here I have been sick in bed for two weeks, and the only one who did not show up to see me was you.

Dr. Cream de Tartar—But I did not have your new address. How could I call?

Dr. Quinine—That was simple. All you had to do was to ask for the most celebrated doctor in the town, and anybody could have referred you here.

Dr. Cream de Tartar—But that is what I did. I met a small boy and told him I wanted the star doctor of the place, and he led me through one street after another until he brought me to the gate of my own house

The Falls Claims Another Victim

Many times has this statement been published. But if Niagara has claimed its thousands, neglected coughs and colds have claimed their tens of thousands. You can't stop the Falls but you can stop the cough or cold in two days by taking a 25c. bottle of Four T's, the great guaranteed cough and cold cure. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

Quite Realistic.

"This," said the eminent artist, "is my famous study of the 'Cows In the Clover.'"

"But where is the clover?" was asked, none appearing in the picture.

"Oh, the cows have eaten it, you know."

Spicy.

"If you intend to dine on us," queried the captured mariner, "why did you greet us with a fusillade?"

"Because we always pepper our food before eating it," grinned the cannibal.

Good Reason.

Professor—Why does the earth move?

Hardup (absently)—Can't pay the rent, I suppose.—Exchange.

When in Bed

Put some Vapo-Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp and place it near the head of the bed. Then all the time the baby sleeps it will breathe-in the healing, soothing vapor. The hard, tight cough loosens; the fever gradually goes down, the breathing becomes natural, and pneumonia is avoided. Every part of the throat and bronchial tubes are touched by the medicine. For the hard colds and coughs of children nothing equals Vapo-Cresolene. 9

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene sufficient, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials sent free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

THE VALUE OF POKER.

How Walter Q. Gresham Got His First Federal Appointment.

Poker has its victories no less renowned than peuuchle. It not only has won fortunes, but positions as well. Many a man owes his success in business to his character as read by an opponent in a game of draw, says the New York Press. There is a banker in New York who acknowledges that poker made him. When a young man, he had the good fortune to sit in a game with three railroad officials and a rich merchant, being invited merely to make a fifth hand, as the four did not care to "cut each other's throats." On his account the limit was made small. So well did he play his hand that he gained the respect, friendship and admiration of the old merchant, who forthwith became his patron. With such assistance his road to fortune was easy.

Three presidents of the United States had a strong liking for Walter Q. Gresham because he was the best poker player of their acquaintance. When Indiana demanded the appointment of a United States district judge in 1869, Senator Morton appealed to General Grant in behalf of a man whom he desired to have the office. Grant asked: "What has become of young Gresham who was a colonel of the Fifty-third Indiana, as I remember him? He was with me at Vicksburg." "Oh, he is practicing law in Indianapolis," said Morton indifferently. "Well," continued the president, "I used to play poker with him in the war and took quite a liking to him. He was a mighty good, cool player, and I believe he will make a good judge. So if you don't care I'll appoint him to this place." Thus Gresham got his first federal appointment.

Gresham's good play as much as his brilliant statesmanship made him a big man in the estimation of Arthur and Cleveland. The former appointed him to no less than three offices—postmaster general, secretary of the treasury and district judge. Cleveland made him secretary of state notwithstanding his former stout Republicanism. Arthur disliked to appoint him district judge, as it took him away from Washington and the White House gatherings.

A MESSAGE TO TORTURED AND RACKED SUFFERERS.

A LADY TELLS OF HER CURE BY

Paine's Celery Compound

Her Condition Before Using the Great Medicine was so bad She Could not Raise Her Hands to Her Head and Could not Walk.

In the majority of cases, the prime cause of rheumatism is a lack of nerve force. When the nervous system is weakened, the joints swell—usually the knees, elbows and wrists, and there is severe inflammation and suffering. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can banish the gathering symptoms and permanently cure the most terrible cases of the disease. Thousands of strong testimonials from the people of Canada—many from your near friends and neighbors—prove conclusively no other medicine possesses such marvellous powers for the cure of rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago. An Orillia, Ont., lady, Mrs. S. W. Sullivan, writes thus;—

"Early last autumn I was so badly afflicted with rheumatism that I could not raise my hands to my head, and often could not work owing to pains and stiffness of joints. At night I rarely slept, owing to nervousness and feelings of exhaustion. I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound, and soon found myself greatly relieved, and after use of first bottle, my pains and nervous feeling were banished. In order to make the cure complete, I used the second bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and now I am as strong as ever before. I sleep well, appetite is always good, and my digestive vigor all that I could wish for."

Grip-Quinine Tablets

are devoid of any unpleasant effect, prompt and certain in action, pleasant to take, cheaper than other Quinine preparations. Cure Grip, Colds, Coughs, Sorethroat, Neuralgia, and all cold weather complaints. Relief in a dose, cure in a day. They are useful at all times and an occasional dose will maintain the health—"Just what you have been looking for." All druggists sell it, at 25 cents per box.

APHORISMS.

The man who procrastinates struggles with ruin.

An apt quotation is as good as an original remark.—Johnson.

Progress is the activity of today and the sagacious of tomorrow.—Emerson.

To be vain of one's rank or place is to show that one is below it.—Stanislaus.

The desire of appearing clever often prevents one becoming so.—Rochefoucauld.

God is on the side of virtue, for whoever dreads punishment suffers it, and whoever deserves it dreads it.—Colton.

The mind that is much elevated and insolent with prosperity and cast down by adversity is generally abject and base.

Human nature is so constituted that all sag and judge better in the affairs of other men than in their own.—Terence.

Despite all refinement, the light and habitual taking of God's name in vain betrays a coarse and brutal will.—Chapin.

A Large Covey.

Two old hunters were swapping yarns and had got to quail.

"Why," said one, "I remember a year when quail were so thick that you could get eight or ten at a shot with a rifle."

The other one sighed.

"What's the matter?" said the first.

"I was thinking of my quail hunts. I had a fine black horse that I rode everywhere, and one day out hunting quail I saw a big covey on a low branch of a tree. I threw the bridle rein over the end of the limb and took a shot.

"Several birds fell and the rest flew away.

"Well, sir, there were so many quail on that limb that when they flew off it sprang back into place and hanged my horse!"

Turned the Tables.

A lecturer was once descanting on the superiority of nature over art when an irreverent listener in the audience fired that old question at him:

"How would you look, sir, without your wig?"

"Young man," instantly replied the lecturer, pointing his finger at him, "you have furnished me an apt illustration for my argument. My baldness can be traced to the artificial habits of our modern civilization, while the wig I am wearing"—here he raised his voice till the windows shook—"is made of natural hair!"

The audience testified its appreciation of the point by loud applause, and the speaker was not interrupted again.

Neuralgia Almost Drives People Mad.

Only those who have suffered it, know of the darting, distracting pains and aches neuralgia inflicts. Ordinary remedies don't even relieve. It requires an extraordinarily strong, penetrating liniment to drive out the pain. To get relief rub Polson's Nerviline into the spot. Pain can't resist Nerviline, which has five times the strength of any other liniment. Drives out neuralgia in half an hour. Never fails! Never harms! Always successful. Try a large 25 cent bottle.

How Our Ancestors Quarreled.

A study of mediæval rural life is apt to give the impression that the principal part of the life of the people was spent in quarreling or in the commission or prosecution of offenses. Our ancestors certainly were a very litigious and a very disorderly people. The records teem with instances of men and women drawing knives against one another, of breaking into houses, of prosecuting one another for slander. Then we have such entries as these:

"It is ordained by common consent that all the women of the village must refrain their tongues from all slandering." "Thomas, son of Robert Smith, is fined 12 pence because his wife Agnes beat Emma, the wife of Robert, the tailor, and Robert, the tailor, sixpence because his wife Emma swore at Agnes, the wife of Thomas." "It is enjoined upon all the tenants of the village that none of them attack any others in word or deed, with clubs or arrows or knives under penalty of paying 40 shillings."

Such entries, frequently occurring, in addition to the innumerable instances of individual attack, slander, petty theft and other immorality seem to show a community of far from perfect virtue.

Hard on the Hack Business.

That great discovery made by a Brantford druggist and known as Four T's does away with hacking and coughing in two days. As a lung tonic and lung tissue reconstructor it has no equal. Children take Four T's and it cures whooping cough and croup. Price 25c. per bottle. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

The Color of Wood.

A simple way to restore color to wood is to mix the color with oil and turpentine, applying with a soft cloth and rubbing in well. Either the powdered pigment or colors ground in oil may be used. For light oak use raw umber, for dark oak burnt umber. If it is very dark, add a mere shade of lampblack. For mahogany use burnt sienna, chrome yellow and bismarck brown, and for cherry use burnt sienna.

Consumption

A cure that cures Consumption and its many kindred ailments is now within the reach of every sufferer. PUL-MO was perfected after many years of study and experimenting by a well-known German scientist, and has effected more cures than any other preparation which has been offered to the public. PUL-MO, while somewhat new in Canada, has been and is curing thousands of cases, and we have on file many testimonials and kindly letters written us by grateful people who have been returned to perfect health.

PUL-MO is the only absolute cure where there is Consumption, Throat and Lung trouble, Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, Night Sweats, Chills, Fevers, or any other symptoms which may indicate a tendency toward consumption. PUL-MO has cured thousands of cases which had been treated by physicians without success, and finally pronounced by them as hopeless.

PUL-MO stands alone—the use of any other medicine as an assistant is not necessary. But good plain nourishing food, get plenty of fresh air and out-door exercise, and use PUL-MO as directed, that is all—Nature will do the rest.

Large Sample FREE

We know positively that it does all we claim, and to demonstrate our implicit faith in the merits of PUL-MO, we will gladly mail a sample bottle free of charge, direct to your post-office address, securely sealed in a patent mailing tube or box; but as we have gone to considerable expense in securing these mailing tubes for the convenience of our patrons, we ask you to send 10 cents to cover the cost of mailing. Only one sample of PUL-MO will be sent to any one person. Give PUL-MO a trial and convince yourself that it cures. All we ask is, that you take it as directed. Remember, we pay the expense of the trial, it will cost you nothing.

PUL-MO is inexpensive, being sold by druggists at $1.00 per large bottle, or you may procure a sample bottle from your druggist at 15 cents.

BANDITS OF EUROPE

THEY ARE EXPERT HIGHWAYMEN AND UNRIVALED KIDNAPPERS.

Entire Families Sometimes Adopt Brigandage as a Profession—One of Miss Stone But One of Hundreds—Founders of Many Aristocratic Houses Nothing More or Less Than Bandits.

Brigandage is a trade in some countries of Europe, notably in the southern provinces of Italy, and in the hill regions of Spain and the mountains of Turkey, Bulgaria and other eastern principalities. The brigands of to-day are the legitimate successors of the robber barons of the dark ages. Tourists who view with delight the romantic ruins which dot the hilltops along the Rhine, Moselle and other central European rivers, or along the old Roman highways, look upon the decaying piles of stone and mortar as the mausoleums of a past nobility, losing sight of the more prosaic fact that the founders of the aristocratic houses whose names they perpetuate were nothing more than bandits; highwaymen who paid tribute to more powerful chieftains for the privilege of pillaging travelers, merchants and stealing their property.

In the "good old days," of which the poet sings and the twentieth century novelist prates, merchandise was carried from one city to another in goods trains, drawn by powerful horses and guarded by mercenaries hired by the guilds of the various trading towns. Whenever such a train approached a pass leading to a fortified castle the mercenaries were formed into little bands to meet an attack. Sometimes the guard proved too powerful for the robber chiefs, and then the traders were allowed to pursue their way unmolested; but more often soldiers as well as merchants were slain without mercy and goods and horses carried off by the bandits. In the course of time the evil of brigandage assumed such startling proportions that the trading towns banded together and employed large armies to protect the lives and property of their citizens.

Some of the robbers acquired great wealth and influence and were taken into the confidence of the rulers of the various states in which their depredations were carried on. They were knighted, created barons, counts and dukes, and became the backbone of the multitude of petty tyrannical governments which kept the world in utter darkness and degradation for hundreds of years. The descendants of these courageous but unprincipled highwaymen are the aristocrats of our day; and some students of history would have us believe that 95 per cent. of all the great "old" families still in existence owe their titles to the daredevil lawlessness of some medieval ancestor.

Licensed brigandage in Central and Western Europe died out soon after the so-called Thirty Years' war, but not until after the introduction of the railroad and telegraph was it completely suppressed in either France, Germany, Austria or even England. The brigands of the north occasionally held prisoners for a ransom, but never made a specialty of this species of crime. They preferred killing a man to holding him in captivity. But in Italy, the paradise of brigands, the ransom business was always considered a lucrative side issue, and romancists of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries rarely told a story which did not have a chivalrous bandit and a fair captive maiden for its hero and heroine. The captive maiden of such tales usually falls in love with her jailor, marries him and becomes the mother of a large family of young highwaymen who revere her memory and liberate all the damsels caught by their ruder followers. Romances about noted brigands are the most popular books in many sections of Europe until this day, and there are but few healthy boys in Italy who do not cherish the ambition of some day surprising the world by deeds of daring equal to those said to have been performed by Rinaldo Rinaldini, great brigand of fiction, who restored pretty girls to their lovers after having cut the throats of their stern parents, and who righted all wrongs that were brought to his knowledge.

The brigands of Turkey, Bulgaria and Macedonia, the fellows who carried Miss Stone, the Boston missionary, into captivity and demanded $110,000 for her release, are of the same type as the Italian banditi — not those of fiction but of real life. They are thieves pure and simple, sometimes led by men of ability, such as cashiered army officers or bold young rakes seeking escape from the law. They are cruel and vindictive and have frequently proved that they look upon murder as a pastime. It has been claimed by some writers that the kidnappers of Miss Stone are acting under instructions from the so-called Macedonian Committee, which, it is stated, has decided to capture every foreigner within reach in order to attract European attention to the bad state of security in Macedonia, which Province is seeking to throw off the Turkish yoke and become the principal nation of the Balkan peninsula. It is quite probable that Miss Stone's abductors are Macedonians, but that they are patriots is to be doubted. Very probably they belong to the same tribe which, in 1870, captured Lord Muncaster and his party near Marathon, in Greece. Lord Muncaster and the ladies of the party were released in order to negotiate for a ransom of $160,000, together with a pardon for the brigands. The Government at Athens declined to grant a pardon and a detachment of troops was ordered to surround the lawbreakers. In retreating, the latter killed four English gentlemen. A year later the entire band was captured and brought to justice, many of them being condemned to death.

About ten years ago a German nobleman and his wife were captured by outlaws very near the place to which Miss Stone was carried. They were held for ransom for quite a long time and finally released upon the payment of $50,000 — a sum which was afterwards collected from the Turkish Government by the German Ambassador at Constantinople.

Carrying off foreigners is a dangerous business, and as a rule the brigands of the Balkan country confine their operations to wealthy natives and members of their families. The reward is not so great perhaps, but the danger is almost nil and returns are quick and sure. The bandits are bound together by terrible oaths; and bands in various localities work together harmoniously. The peasantry of the country in which they operate is completely under their control, partly because almost every family has one or more of its members engaged in brigandage, partly because they know that death would be the punishment for revealing the hidden places of the captains and lieutenants of the freebooters. The topography of the country also is in favor of the latter. The hills in which they operate are either rocky or heavily wooded, so that they can easily stay hidden in mountain fastnesses. Moreover, caverns of magnificent proportions and in inaccessible locations seem to be arranged by nature especially for this sort of lawlessness.

There is nothing romantic about the Balkan bandits. They are, primarily, a sordid lot. For money they would sell their souls to the evil one. They are true to each other simply because they know that treachery means certain death. An informer would be pursued to the ends of the earth, and neither castle walls nor prison bars would afford him protection. He would be hunted down and destroyed by his former companions.

The conditions which existed when the brigands of the Rhine were made counts and when the bandits of Southern Italy ridiculed the King of Naples and the Emperor of Austria have passed away, never to return. To-day the highwayman who defies international law is either shot down or hanged by the neck until dead—a fate that makes up in common sense what it lacks in romanticism.

"Pleasant Dreams"

Cries the young maid to her mother, as she retires to rest. The mother smiles, but sighs. She knows that the pains that rack her will not stop for darkness, and that if she sleeps her dreams will only be echoes of the sufferings of the day.

Why not sleep soundly and rise refreshed at morning, with strength and courage for the day's duties? Weak, nervous women, sufferers from backache, bearing-down pains, and other womanly ailments, have found a perfect cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It heals the womanly diseases which cause the pains and nervousness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"I deem it my duty to express my heartfelt gratitude for having been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to health," writes Mrs. S. M. Mann, of Springhill, Leon Co., Fla. "For nearly two years I suffered from female weakness so I could not stand on my feet any length of time; could scarcely walk at all. Appetite was much impaired; I had bearing-down sensations; can't express how badly I did feel. Had tried several kinds of medicine which did me little or no good. At last decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had not taken all of two bottles before I saw it was benefiting me, so I continued to take it until I had taken seven bottles, when I felt entirely cured. Did not feel a touch of my old complaint. It has been over a year since I took your medicine, and I can truthfully say that my health has been better for the last year than it had been for four years previously.

"You may publish this as a testimonial."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOPEFUL VIEW

The hopeful view consumptives take of their own cases is strongly in their favor. Each year is showing a larger percentage of cures.

One of the best reasons for good hope is the record of Scott's Emulsion as a medicine for consumptives. So long as the system is strong enough to use medicine of any kind it can use Scott's Emulsion.

The reason for its helpfulness in this disease is because of its long tolerance by the patient; one does not tire of it as quickly as other medicines and that is where the great benefit comes.

Italians Love Tomatoes.

Italians more than any other people value tomatoes, and each one that comes to perfection is as carefully tended as though it were an apple of gold. Not only do the housewives delight in the fresh vegetables themselves, but, generally speaking, those home tended are better than any purchased at the market, and so each one is jealously saved to make tomatoe sauce for the spaghetti, without which no Italian Sunday would be Sunday. One soapbox gardener one season sold enough tomatoes to give her quite a little pin money. No one who knows the Italian well will be surprised to learn that many of the boxes are devoted to peppers, for they in truth furnish much of their spice of life, and even the little Italian girls know how to stuff and cook them in a dozen different ways that tempt the palate.

A True Brain Food

Must replace the feeling of lassitude and mental tiredness by clearness and strength of mind. Not that it goes directly to the brain, that were foolish. The true brain food must be carried by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look not to the brain, but to the stomach and assimilative organs. No remedy yet discovered possesses the marvellous brain strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in thousands of cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion, strengthening the nervous system, stimulating the assimilation, giving new strength to the heart, it sends a stream of red vitalising blood to the brain. Thus it is a true brain food. Ferrozone is sold by Ormond & Walsh.

One Too Many.

In a village close to Larne there is a character known as "Daft Charlie," owing to his having been confined in a lunatic asylum for some years. The other day, shortly after his release, he was having an argument with some of his fellow villagers, when one of them said to him: "Look here, Charlie, you'd better hold your tongue. You've only come out of the asylum, and we all know you're daft." "Daft!" exclaimed Charlie, with ready wit; "why, I'm the only man among you who has a certificate for being sane."

REVOLVER WOUNDS.

More Dangerous, For Many Reasons, Than Those of the Rifle.

Wounds in civil life differ from those in military life in the greater after danger of septic involvement. Revolver cartridges are more liable than are rifle cartridges to have been handled frequently, to have been carried in dirty pockets and to have come in contact with various forms of infectious materials that may prove of serious consequence when buried in the tissues. Moreover, revolver cartridges are covered with a coating of grease, and this encourages an accumulation of manifold microbic material, some of which may prove to be of virulently infectious nature.

Rifle bullets are practically always sterilized by the intense heat developed by the powder at the moment of their discharge. Their rapid progress through the air while in a heated condition still further serves to cleanse them of any extraneous material that may chance to have accumulated on their surfaces. This cleansing process is very effectually begun by the rifling of the rifle barrel through which the bullet forces its way.

All these favorable factors are lacking in the case of the revolver bullet, and so it is possible that in any given case such a bullet may carry infectious material with it into the tissues. If this were in small amount, nature might effectually wall it off and no serious consequences result. On the other hand, such infectious material might lie seemingly dormant for days, but really slowly gathering strength by multiplication, and when its toxins were elaborated in sufficient amount they might paralyze protective chemotaxis and produce a septic condition.

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase — America's Greatest Physician.

Queer Creatures.

There are microscopic creatures which live in roof gutters and on the bark of trees and are known as water bears and wheel animalcula. If allowed to dry up under the microscope, they can be seen to shrivel into shapeless masses, which may be kept for years uninjured in the dried state.

On being placed after this long interval in water they gradually plump up, resume their proper shape and move about in search of food just as if nothing had happened. Much the same is true for the minute worms which from the substances in which they live are known as paste and vinegar eels. Well known is the famous case of the desert snail, which, retracted into its shell, was fastened to a tablet in the British museum and showed no sign of life for seven years, when one morning it was found crawling hungrily about the glass case that formed its prison.

The First in the World.

Merrill's System Tonic is the first medicine to combine the tonic with the reconstructive treatment in the cure of disease. The blood is purified, new blood is made, the nerves, muscles and tissues of the heart, stomach, liver and kidneys is toned and strengthened, and then nature is enabled to throw off the disease which has been ravishing the body. For Constipation, Catarrh and Chronic Rheumatism, System Tonic is a positive cure. Sold at 50c. per bottle by Ormond & Walsh, the druggists.

Up His Sleeve.

At the battle of Omdurman a soldier belonging to a Scotch regiment was nearly killed by a bullet which struck the ground just in front of him while he was firing in a reclining position. On rising to move a few feet forward, something came down his sleeve. It was the bullet. How it got up his sleeve without inflicting damage can only be accounted for by the fact that it must have been spent by the time it struck the ground in front of him and the course of its flight up his sleeve was its last billet.

I can eat well and my digestion is good. Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it. Sold by W. Madill.

CHAPTER [illegible]

Variety, they say, creates interest; but too much variety created confusion. Sometimes when we went to church we removed our belts and great-coats, and quite likely the next Sunday no man would be permitted to remove either. You may imagine how comfortable we were, after having marched a mile or so in quick time on a mild day and then be seated in a warm church for an [illegible] hour. One Sunday I had [illegible] should we take thought of it ourselves and slacken a belt or open an overcoat button or so, our names would be immediately included in the long list of defaulters, sent up to the Commanding Officer for punishment the next morning. Every Sunday morning found us in our place in the sanctuary, unless we were on duty. I was not bedecked [illegible] parade regardless of rain, [illegible] or of the depth of mud. All [illegible] us polish for an hour or more to pass inspection, and before we left the ground on which we "fell in," you could see [illegible] had not been touched and unfortunately [illegible] able, but it must be done, and done in a certain length of time, for my own troop leader gave me a slight reprimand one muddy Sabbath for not having my boots shined. I knew when I fell on parade that I would certainly [illegible] to pass inspection, it came about like this. The boys were ordered to waterproof their boots one Thursday or Friday while I was doing picquet duty in the stables. Of course I knew nothing of it, till late on Saturday night, when one of the boys told me it must be done before Sunday morning. Tragically, I procured my tin of Dubbin, a sponge, and proceeded to make my brogues waterproof. I heated the Dubbin and the boots, and then fairly saturated them. Both being warm, the porosity of the leather expanded till you could see the dampness on the inside. I was determined that if there was such a thing as making them waterproof I would do so. Sunday morning came, and the boots were still quite damp. The hours wore on till it was time to prepare for church, and still the boots were damp. I could wait no longer, so I got my daubing brush and covered them with shoe polish. I then brushed briskly for a long time, but [illegible]—there was no [illegible] nor the faintest indication that there ever would be. All this time there was hurry and bustle getting ready to fall out when the bugle sounded, which would be in [illegible] minutes. What was I to do? As a last resort, in desperation, I seized a hack-saw, and blindly polished them with shoe polish, with the hope that I might be able to get a shine, but on the leather [illegible] the polish stuck. Not realizing [illegible] I grasped the polish brush [illegible] it I can't just tell you [illegible] any hundred strokes a second, [illegible] was still baffled—there was no [illegible] The bugle had sounded "fall [illegible] few minutes before, and I [illegible] in very bad humour, as I [illegible] at my blackened boots. As I became down the line I gave the [illegible] man on my right a nudge, and told him what was in store for me. At last he reached me, and my lovely boots at once attracted his attention. "Why haven't you polished your boots?" he enquired. "They are saturated with Dubbin, sir," I responded, "and can't be polished." "That makes no difference," he went on to say "you must polish your boots till they shine, and don't come on parade again with such a pair of boots."

I was much annoyed, and would have been very thankful if he had only given me any recipe to get a shine on them boots, for Dubbin, shoe polish and a liberal expenditure of elbow grease wouldn't produce the desired result—of that I was fully convinced. A week or two after, this same officer appeared on church parade with a pair of very rusty spurs, and I thought I would like to tell him that he mustn't ever come out in that condition again, for a little labour with sand paper or emery paper would make them look like new. His servants knew all about it, but they wanted the paper to work marvels without the labour, and if it had, no doubt, I would never have been so much shocked by witnessing such a scene.

We were compelled to be church-attenders, but there was no rule forcing us to be total-abstainers, and on one occasion when the Sons of Temperance were holding a soiree, they invited all of this class among the troops then in barracks, to be present. This cordial invitation was sent to us about two weeks previous to the night appointed for the entertainment, and although there were about three hundred of us, we couldn't muster the smallest number they expected—twenty-five. It certainly didn't reflect much to our credit, but those who were not strict teetotalers do deserve credit for their courage and frankness in acknowledging their failing. Those of us who did go—about ten—had a most enjoyable time, and will not soon forget the social evening spent with the Sons of Temperance. At the conclusion of the entertainment, when we were preparing for home, my service cap could not be found, and as they were all numbered, there was no possibility of commandeering another. Some of the Reception Committee, when we arrived, relieved us of our caps and coats, and put them where it was thought they would be safe, but despite every precaution, my cap had been removed. We searched diligently all around the hall, looking into every conceivable place, but all in vain. No cap could be found. We were about to give up the hunt in despair, when a young gentleman came upstairs with the cap in his hand, and said it was found in the letter-box by the door. Nobody could solve the mystery of how it came to be there, but it was there, and that is likely all that will ever be known of the facts.

The Halifax people won't have a very lofty opinion of the temperance sentiment of the Second Contingent. It will doubtless be about on par with that which an Imperial regular soldier had regarding the citizen of a town in which his regiment was temporarily stationed. Tommy had become considerably inconvenienced through the lack of funds, and, thinking to better his financial condition, conceived the bright idea of selling his Bible. He had carefully taken stock of his whole outfit, and finally concluded this was to him the most worthless, most useless commodity, and resolved to dispose of it at a bargain. With this purpose in view, he went down street, and accosted everybody he met, and after explaining that the book would prove one of merit, and deliberating at great length on its manifold virtues, would request them to buy. His luck was very bad indeed, for the people he met were apparently like himself—possessing little regard for the Sabred Law—and he returned to the barracks in the evening much discouraged, much provoked, and with a very poor conception of the people. One of his comrades, observing his sober and dejected demeanour, ventured an inquiry to learn the cause, and asked if he didn't like the town. Tommy's face flushed with anger, as he satirically exclaimed "No! I don't think much of the moral status of a community where a bloke can't raise a sixpence on the Word of God."

During our long sojourn in the City of Halifax, the citizens' interest in us never flagged, nor did their enthusiasm become abated. The kind Sons of Temperance was only one society among many that invited us to similar function. The Free Masons, St. Paul's Episcopal congregation, and hundreds of private families endeavoured to make our visit among them as pleasant as possible. It was simply one grand series of public entertainments and quiet at-home tea parties, to which we were always, as a body or as individuals, extended a cordial invitation to be present as the honoured guests. Halifax did indeed honour us, and our minds will ever be filled with pleasing recollections of the many happy days spent in that ancient city by the sea. Perhaps no other organization manifested a keener interest in our welfare nor did more to assure our comfort, than the Young Men's Christian Association. Those indefatigable, zealous young young men elicit the most flattering words of praise from every member of the Contingent, who had the good fortune to fraternize with them and enjoy the manifold privileges and accommodations freely granted by that noble institution. There was neither labour nor expense spared in making their quarters comfortable and attractive, where the boys could drop in at their pleasure and write a letter home; receive their mail; read the daily papers, magazines or other periodicals; post their letters; have a concert with the organ as an accompaniment; use the telephone; consult the directory of the city; receive any information from the intelligence department, etc., and in fact its good features are innumerable and its Christian influence incalculable. Everything was satisfactorily arranged, but we were not even yet contented. Halifax was not our destination, and we longed for the day when the transport Milwaukee would be ready to sail for the Cape. Fatigue parties had been regularly sent down to the docks to assist the artisans in every way they could to hurray the work to a finish. Every train that came in had something for the transport, and it was indeed no small task to load the cargo on board. Tons of hay, oats, and other forage, in addition to provisions for the Contingent and crew; hundreds of cases, tons of ammunition, cannon, transport and red-corps wagons, and many other things too numerous to mention must be safely stowed away before the great ocean tramp set sail. Every issue of the daily papers, brought fresh news of the arrival at the docks of fruit, confections, tobacco and many other luxuries sent by the kind and generous people of our fair Dominion.

LOCAL MILITARY MATTERS.

The Membership of the Class of Instruction.

A Funny Incident Regarding the Return of a Uniform—Company Suppers.

The item in the Examiner's military column advocating a revival of the old time Company suppers has had a stimulating effect upon the boys and No. 4 intends breaking the ice in the matter. It is understood that arrangements for a supper are now under way and the same will take place in a week or two.

Tuesday evening next the class of instruction of the 57th Regiment will again meet and it is to be hoped that a number of new members will be enlisted. What privates and noncoms. that are already taking advantage of this class have entered upon the work with much enthusiasm and are getting in some very excellent work. The "Service roll" is as follows:

Sergeants—A Mowry, N Langford, R Watt.

Corporals—G C Revell, A F Paddon, W H G Armstrong, J D Lundy, J D Manley, J Gibson.

Privates—A R Lang, W H Mather, G Nichols, sr., F Collins, G M Hamilton, G H Dawson, H M Morden, A S Jackson, R E Harrison, Z H Burnham, G Nichols, jr., R Craig, C Whiten, R W McQuay.

HIS UNIFORM.

A rather amusing incident occurred at the drill shed the other evening. Sgt.-Major Brittain has about recovered from the shock, which of course, would have a very telling effect on any ordinary bashful man. The members of the Regiment have been turning in their uniforms during the past few weeks, which of course, is strictly according to orders. One young man brought a parcel to the drill shed, however, and left it with the Sgt.-Major, stating at the same time that it was his uniform. When the Sgt.-Major opened it he was surprised to find that the parcel contained one pair corsets, two ladies' skirts, several petticoats, and other articles of ladies apparel, including nightdresses, etc. Some one had, of course, taken the wrong parcel from his home, for Sgt.-Major says the uniform is not of Government pattern. The joke is on a member of No. 1 Company.

LET THEM SMOKE.

Most of the distinguished officers of the world hold that whatever comforts the soldier on active service may be deprived of, he should on no account be stinted in the matter of tobacco, and in the gravest of histories relating to the Franco-Prussian war it is stated that the total want of even tobacco to make cigarettes of, among the French troops on many occasions did not a little to dispirit them.

Private Jones, who obtained the Victoria Cross at Rorke's Drift, said that in the very thick of the fight several comrades lighted their pipes with blazing fragments of wood from the wooden hospital which had been fired by the Zulus, and at Majuba Hill one of the men was found dead with the stump of a cigar between his clinched teeth. Amid the awful carnage of the Russo-Turkish war Turks horribly mangled were frequently found smoking in the midst of their agony and uttering no sound of complaint.

Mr. Archibald Forbes, the great war correspondent, has told how before Metz, in the Franco-Prussian war, a soldier terribly wounded craved but one relief—a cigar—and he observed soldiers firing away at close quarters pipe in mouth. Gen. Von. Bentheim, observing a sight like this, asked one of the men for a light, and himself coolly lighted his own cigar and then led his men on. Another war correspondent, belonging to one of our great daily papers, tells that he saw at Saarbrucken a large party of Brunswick Hussars galloping into the thick of the fray with cigars in their mouths, and this in the face of a solid mass of French troops and a hail of bullets.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

DUKE OF YORK'S TITLE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In your issue of yesterday I noticed a claim of the Hon. John Hope Hodgeth, of New York, to the title and estate of the Duke of York. In the late tour of His Royal Highness, he went mostly under the title of Duke of York, sometimes Duke of Cornwall was added. I often thought of asking you how and when he came to the title and estate of Duke of York. I do so now knowing how ready you are to oblige your readers, and especially as editors are supposed to be ready to answer all questions.

I do not know if all your readers have the knowledge of His Royal Highness' claim to that of Duke of Cornwall. I was born and brought up in Cornwall. When our Most Gracious Sovereign and present King Edward the VIIth was about ten years of age he was then Duke of Cornwall. At that time the estate was badly looked after, and an officer of the Crown (a Q.C.) was sent to investigate. He had his residence with his family and servants for about six months in a gentleman's residence who had left it furnished while the family went abroad. It was but a few minutes walk from where I then lived and so had a little interest in what was then being done. Very many came to grief who had been holding land without any title. My memory may not be correct, but as far as I know the Dukedom of Cornwall was created in 1337 by King Edward the Third. Edward the Second had large possessions given him in that county by his father, who conferred on his corrupt favourite, Pierce Gaveston, the title of Earl of Cornwall. Being seized by the barons for corrupting the Prince, and for other crimes, he was beheaded; John of Eltham — the younger son of Edward the second, being his successor as the last Earl of Cornwall, who dying young and without issue. Edward the third made Cornwall a dukedom. Edward, the son of the King, was invested with the dukedom by a wreath on his head, a ring upon his finger and a silver verge. Since which time the eldest son of the English Sovereign is born Duke of Cornwall, and by a special Act is presumed of full age as soon as he is born, and claims livery and seisen of the said dukedom the same as if he were 21 years of age. He has also granted to him the Earldom of Chester and lands of Wales. The revenue of the dukedom a few years since was about fourteen thousand pounds or about $70,000 a year.

And now sir, while Royalty is on the brain, may I be permitted to say a word concerning the King's Birthday. We were all very loyal to the Duke and Duchess when here, but there seems to be some difference of opinion as to the King's Birthday, but at the same time all are very loyal to the Crown. Did not the Royal Family act very wisely in celebrating the day amongst themselves? The people of Canada will not like to give up the 24th of May; could it not still be kept—not as the Queen's Birthday—but call it the King's or Queen's Day, as it may be, as it might show our loyalty to the Crown, not the person—a day on which we could make it manifest that we were one, and the Government good, (as a minister a few weeks since told his hearers, he believed the sect of Christians to which he belonged had a little more of the truth than any other, if not, he would join some other body.) So I, as a British subject, believe we have better laws, and a better Government than any other country, and I hope we shall all long remember our late beloved Queen, who, like Saul, the first King of Israel, had a spirit given to rule wisely to the end, unlike that of Saul, when the prophet would intercede for him, was told not to speak any more of this matter, seeing I have rejected him from being King. Waiting your information, I am, yours,

JOHN BABB.

Ceilings and Ventilation.

Rooms with low ceilings or with ceilings even with the window tops are susceptible of more perfect ventilation than those with high ceilings. In such rooms the leakage at the windows, which is constantly going on, keeps the air in motion throughout the room, whereas if the ceiling is higher only the lower part of the air is moved, and an inverted lake of foul and hot air is left floating in the space above the window tops. This lake, under the law of diffusion of gases, keeps actively at work, fouling the fresh currents circulating beneath it.

PREVENTS AND BREAKS UP

GRIP

(From N. Y. Sun.)

A New Form of Grip Epidemic.

Within the last week the physicians of this city have made the discovery that Grip in a strange form is epidemic. The attack is accompanied by pains in the muscles, particularly in the arms and shoulders, which suggest the twinges of rheumatism. Vague sensations in the chest of a very uncomfortable description induce a "gone" and forlorn frame of mind. There is a sharp cough, but the most distressing features of ordinary Grip are lacking. The prompt use of Dr. Humphrey's Specific Seventy-Seven ("77") will break up the worst attack of Grip and Colds.

Solid Comfort Shoes.

Goodyear Welt shoes, with Sleeper Insole.

There are two kinds of shoes, Goodyear Welt, and all other varieties.

In a Goodyear Welt there are two kinds of Insoles; one is Leather, and the other is a Sleeper Patent Flexible Insole.

There is only one shoe that represents a perpetual comfort, whereby a shoe takes the place of a slipper in the house, or a boot on the street—this is the Goodyear Welt that is made with the Sleeper Insole.

The Sleeper Patent Flexible Insole, which is made from 18-ounce Duck, is soft and pliable, perfectly waterproof, and shapes itself to the foot in such a manner as to afford the greatest possible comfort.

The Sleeper Insole will not harden with perspiration, as leather insoles do; and is always ready for immediate wear.

THEOTOTKIS RESIGNS

With His Cabinet Although Supported by King and Chamber.

THE STUDENT RIOTS THE CAUSE

The Party of M. Theototkis Will Support the New Cabinet, Which Has Been Already Formed by M. Zaimis—Renewal of the Rioting Though Not on a Large Scale—An Official Enquiry.

Athens, Nov. 25.—As a result of the demonstrations against the proposed translation of the Gospels into modern Greek, the Grecian Cabinet has resigned. This action was taken in spite of King George's efforts to induce the Cabinet and M. Theototkis, the Premier to remain in office. M. Theototkis considers the responsibility of a judicial inquiry into the recent riots should be left to another Cabinet, in order that the truth may be established beyond suspicion. The party of M. Theototkis will support the new Cabinet.

There was a renewal of the rioting last night, though not on a large scale, with demonstrations against the retiring Cabinet. The residences of the Ministers were stoned. The crowd were finally dispersed by cavalry. The students continue to occupy the university building.

After an audience with King George last night, M. Zalmis, former Premier, completed a Cabinet table it as follows: Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Zaimis; Minister of the Interior, M. Trainid-Fyllakos; Minister of Marine, M. Topalis; Minister of Public Works, M. Monarretb; Minister of Finance, M. Negris; Minister of War, Col. Korpas.

Until an official inquiry into the causes of the riots has been concluded, M. Zaimis will hold also the portfolio of justice.

UNEARTHED IN THE KLONDIKE.

Evidence of Prehistoric Race Found at a Depth of 110 Feet.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 25.—T. F. X. Beaudet, who has just returned from the Klondike, is exhibiting nine shoe nails of solid silver, which were taken from the ground at a depth of 110 feet from the surface on Hunker Creek, by his cousin, who has a claim there. Beaudet noticed several of these nails being washed out with the gold. They appear to have been made by machinery.

In the same claim was also found, on the bedrock, a piece of cast iron that seemed to have been used as a hinge. The depth at which these relics were found, and the fact that in the same place bones of the mastodon are frequently discovered, gives some idea of the years that have elapsed since the makers went to and fro on the earth.

On Bonanza Creek the discovery was made that the district had been worked before, for a drift 30 feet long and four feet high was found in the solid rock. Mr. Beaudet found a broken tooth weighing 14 pounds, and he also has in his possession a tusk between seven and eight feet long, and weighing 48 pounds.

JUDGES FROM THE COLONIES.

Canada's Position Has Won the Day—Mr. Mr. Chamberlain's Announcement.

London, Nov. 25.—The Daily Mail has the following from its Sydney correspondent: Mr. Chamberlain has informed Mr. Barton that the London conference upon the Appellate Court has resolved that appeals shall continue from the colonies to the Privy Council. The colonies will periodically make appointments to the Judicial Committee at ample salaries; if the appointed members are judges—and this condition is not necessary—they will be obliged to quit the colonial judiciary.

This decision, which is the result of the recent conference in London, clearly indicates two things: (1) That the attitude of Canada in this matter has carried the day; and (2) that the proposal for an Imperial Court of Appeal (to which Australia was well disposed) is, for the time being, shelved.

Navigation Returns at Montreal.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—Navigation closed on Saturday and the season's record is not at all satisfactory. The following is a comparative statement of the foreign-going ships and tonnage for the past four years:

1898, 516 ships, 1,312,247 tons.
1899, 484 ships, 1,262,925 tons.
1900, 416 ships, 1,026,284 tons.
1901, 399 ships, 986,015 tons.

The business with the lower ports shows a slight increase:

1898, 344 vessels, 402,225 tons.
1900, 271 vessels, 327,889.
1901, 268 vessels, 412,810.

The collections for the season of 1900 amounted to $5,126,711, against $5,485,767 for this year. The coal received for 1900 was 681,423 tons, against 909,152 for the present season.

The Liverpool Bank Frauds.

London, Nov. 25.—Details of the remarkable frauds of Clerk Goudie of the Liverpool Bank are coming out slowly. The system by which he manipulated ledgers and concealed an embezzlement of £170,000 cannot be explained by the officials until every accomplice is under arrest. Bank bookkeeping in England is a maze of red tape, with daily checks and balances which do not always operate as safeguards.

Lamp Exploded in Her Hand.

London, Ont., Nov. 25.—Miss Nettie Keenleyside, daughter of Mr. A. Keenleyside, went down into the cellar of the family residence Friday evening. The lamp which she carried, exploded, and Miss Keenleyside was so badly burned about the upper part of her body that the physicians say there is very little chance for her recovery. Miss Keenleyside was yesterday in a very low condition.

Miss Keenleyside later died from the effects of her terrible injuries.

THE STORY IS DENIED

General Lord Kitchener Says It Is Absolutely Untrue.

BOER WOMEN NOT A SHIELD

One Hundred of the Cape Railway Pioneers Were Captured by Grobelaar—Major Fisher Was Killed—Col. Remington Forced the Release of the Prisoners After Heavy Fighting.

London, Nov. 25.—With reference to the story that the British placed Boer women and children in front during the fighting at Graspan, June 6th, when Gen. Dewet's convoy was captured—a story which has been spread broadcast on the Continent as an example of British barbarity—The Daily Mail sent a despatch of enquiry to Lord Kitchener, who replied as follows:

"The statement is absolutely untrue and devoid of all foundation. One child was killed, and one woman and one child were wounded by the Boers."

As the story has been prominent in the recent anti-Chamberlain campaign in Germany, The Daily Mail has telegraphed Lord Kitchener's reply to all the leading German papers.

CAPE RAILWAY PIONEERS.

One Hundred Captured by Grobelaar—Major Fisher Was Killed.

London, Nov. 25.—This morning's despatches from South Africa show that the recent fighting near Villiersdorp, southwest of Standerton, concerning which Lord Kitchener reported nothing beyond the fact that Commandant Bush had been captured, after attacking a patrol of 100 pioneers, was really a serious affair.

It seems that Grobelaar's commando succeeded in surrounding and capturing a British force of 100 British Cape railway pioneers.

Subsequently, Col. Remington came up with reinforcements, and, after heavy fighting, compelled the Boers to retire and to release their prisoners.

The British losses included Major Fisher killed and three officers wounded.

The casualties among the men have not been reported.

Johannesburg Conspiracy.

London, Nov. 25.—The Johannesburg conspiracy is the most important disclosure of the South African despatches. It involves another series of military trials and executions, and does not encourage hope of a speedy settlement of the race feud. The censorship allows the passage of little news from the land. Private letters from men in the employ of the mining companies report a stagnant condition of that industry, and a general feeling that the war may last another year.

Spoke Up for the Boers.

Paris, Nov. 25.—It is declared here that when the International Court of Arbitration at The Hague pronounced last Wednesday that it was incompetent to intervene in the South African struggle the Russian representative, while agreeing with his colleague as to the incompetence of the court added: "The Government of Russia expresses its deep regret that this struggle has not been submitted to arbitration."

Gen. Buller in London.

London, Nov. 25.—Gen. Buller has not lost time in obtaining a London house where he can watch the business of Parliament. It is Lowndes Square that Lady Audrey will entertain on a large scale.

Will Be Tried for Treason.

London, Nov. 25.—Col. Arthur Lynch, the newly-elected member of Parliament for Galway, has been informed that if he comes to England he will be tried forthwith for treason.

To Avenge Son's Death.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 25.—With a desire to revenge the death of his only son, who was shot by Boers last year, the Rev. R. E. Barr will leave early in December for South Africa to join the British army. For the last two years he has been rector of Protestant Episcopal churches in Whatcom and Fair Haven.

Trains in Collision.

New York, Nov. 25.—The Buffalo and Chicago limited train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western leaving here at 1.40 p.m. yesterday, and a local train from Dover, N.J., to New York, were in collision this afternoon at Morris Plains, N.J. The trains were on a stretch of single track. The engineers and firemen of both trains jumped. Those injured were: Engineer John Skillman of the limited severely hurt; Fireman Charles Loper, same train, badly bruised; Conductor Charles Nichols, same train, bruised; Engineer Gosper Hill of the local, bruised; James Liston of Morristown, passenger on the local, pinned down by wreckage of seats, thought to be seriously hurt.

Biggest Bridge in America.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 25.—A company, represented by a Sydney law firm, plans to build a suspension bridge across the Strait of Canso, from Cape Porcupine to Port Hastings. The bridge will have a span of 1,000 feet, and will be the highest in America, and will cost about $4,000,000. The building of the bridge would make Sydney the ideal port for a fast American steamship service.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Toronto will not be severe on the policemen who took the census of the city, because they visited the saloons pretty often in their rounds. Toronto can easily excuse a policeman intrusted with the duty of taking the census, who prepared himself for seeing double.

The Toronto Star sneeringly remarks that a man who has been sleeping two weeks somewhere in the "States," is a native of Kingston. Toronto people don't seem to be very wide awake either. They are as good as asleep when they submit to the cleverness of a city hall architect, a street railway company, a gas company, and a telephone company, who have hoodooed the sleeping Torontonians with hypnotic facility.

The Toronto News has openly extended its race hatred to the Irish. It puts Redmond on a level with Li Hung Chang, and suggests that he be put in charge of four policemen, as the Chinese statesman was when he visited Toronto. Let Redmond come to Toronto, let him talk. He hasn't said anything bad in Canada yet, only urged for Ireland the same measure of Home Rule we have in Canada, and on the score of his speaking there is no excuse for the News inciting to mob law.

THE GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT.

County Roads System Adopted—Leeds and Grenville Counties Fall Into Line.

Brockville, Nov. 22. — After discussing the matter three days, the Counties Council this afternoon decided to adopt a system of county roads, the counties to maintain and construct such roads. Several roads were designated, aggregating over 200 miles in the two counties. A committee was appointed to ascertain what amount the counties would receive from the Ontario Government's million dollar grant, and a committee was appointed to wait on the Towns of Brockville and Prescott to solicit financial aid in carrying out the scheme.

The clerk was authorized to prepare a report dealing with the designation of county roads, and forward the same to the clerks of the various municipalities for distribution among the ratepayers at the nomination meetings in January. The matter will be more fully developed at the January session of the Counties Council.

OTONABEE COUNCIL MEETING.

Robert Carey requested that the established road between part of the east halves of lots 17 and 18 and through part of lot 18, con. 9, to the 8th line be opened up for public travel. Moved by Messrs. Weir and Lancaster that the above road be opened up, that the clerk advertise and put up notices, and prepare a bylaw to that effect to be passed at the meeting of the council to be held on the second Monday in January.

On motion, in future all timber sold on road allowances must be paid for at the time of sale.

The following accounts were passed, John Kent, hospital fee, $10; Joseph Hastie, repairing scraper, 50c; for for gravel—Allan Easson, $5.25; C. Hewson, $4.56; John Deyell, $13.20; John Knox, $9.97; John Harrison, $4.48; cedar—Jas. Duffus, $1.20; Sidney Smith, $2.40; A. Davidson, $2.16; A. Macdonald, $12.20; Patrick Doherty, $6.32; T. J. Johnston, jury selecting, $4; J. M. Drummond, $5; Chas. Long, making and putting in culvert, $2; W. Harris, removing stones off roads, $1; Thos. Shearer, $1; Peterborough Hardware Store, hammers and nails, $1.90; D. McFarlane, repairing Keene wharf, $6.52.

Council adjourned to Dec. 16th.

IN THE BEET ROOT SUGAR INDUSTRY

There is Money for the Ontario Farmer.

Conditions in This Province Favourable for Success—Opinions of a Sugar Expert.

"The beet-sugar industry should be a great success in this Province. The climate and soil conditions for beet raising are the finest on the continent, the farms are better, there is more tile-drained land, better roads, and more farm machinery to the acre than in any State in the Union."

This was the opinion expressed yesterday to a Globe reporter by Mr. W. Skaife, formerly of Montreal, and for a number of years Manager of the Constancia Sugar Company, Santa Clara Province, Cuba, which recently sold out to an American refinery concern. Mr. Skaife, who will shortly proceed on a business trip to Honolulu, is sojourning in Canada for the sake of his health, which was broken down by an attack of Cuban malarial fever of a severe type. He is a guest at the Queen's Hotel, and during the past few weeks has visited a number of centres in Ontario where beet-sugar crop raising is being tested.

Some time ago he made a thorough investigation of the beet-sugar crops in the United States, and, therefore, speaks with personal knowledge in comparing them with the experiments in Ontario. Eleven or twelve years ago he made experiments in beet-sugar raising in Ontario, distributing seeds at Cobourg, Whitby, Berlin and other places. The results were satisfactory, but on the change of tariff resulting in free admission of sugar he turned his attention to the Cuban cane industry.

Mr. Skaife further said:—

"I heard first of the recent experiments in Ontario when I landed in the States on my back to Canada," he said, "and I am surprised and gratified at the progress made. Once firmly established, the industry will be of immense benefit to the farmer. It will not only increase his source of revenue, but will give a great impetus to cattle-raising and other established farming industries. For instance, the correct method is to raise beets for three or five years, and then on the same land raise crops for two or four years. To raise beets successfully the ground must be thoroughly tilled to a depth greater than is the case for wheat, rye and ordinary crops. As a result the ground is freshened and strengthened, and the quality of the usual crops greatly enhanced. This has been conclusively demonstrated in central Germany, where beet centres raise more wheat, rye and oats to the acre than was the case in former years. Then, again, beet pulp is the finest possible cattle feed."

The Ontario farmer has, no doubt, in the beet root sugar industry another string added to his agricultural bow. In the cultivation of beets he not only raises a valuable crop as far as profits go, but to succeed he has to give a thorough culture that prepares his soil for the production of better grain and other crops.

THE MATTER OF ICE.

It Should not be Taken From Shallow Ponds for Household Use.

As the ice-harvesting season will soon be here, dealers and the public health officers will be much interested in the experiments and investigations made by the Massachusetts Board of Health. Contrary to the opinion of not a few, it has been ascertained by these experiments that water really purifies itself from bacteria in the process of freezing. In its tendency to purify itself during the period of crystallization water will push the bacteria down into the unfrozen liquid, but if the pond is so shallow that all the water freezes into a solid mass, it is evident that all the bacteria are contained in the ice, and are more numerous at the bottom than at the top. Hence the Massachusetts Board of Health feels that ice should be cut only on deep water, the deeper the better, inasmuch as the depth furnishes a retreat for the bacteria. Illustrative of this point may be mentioned that part of the experiment when polluted water was frozen in a pail. In the rapid transformation of that water into ice, the bacteria did not have time to escape from the top and sides entirely, but during the freezing process the greater bulk of them moved toward the centre, which was the last to solidify, and when the ice was cut into pieces for examination, the outside was found to contain about 100 bacteria per cubic centimeter, while the middle contained about 20,000. Similar experiments were made with sewage, and bacteria were always driven back from the ice formation.

WILL BOMBARD COLON.

Government's Attempt to Recover the Town—Foreigners Notified.

Colon, Nov. 25.—The Columbian gunboat, Gen. Pinzon, arrived at this harbor at half-past 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The excitement in Colon at once became intense. The Pinzon will not be permitted to land the troops she is carrying at this point. If such an attempt is made the Liberals assert they will fire on them. It is thought the landing of the Government troops from the gunboat should be effected up the Chagres River, in the direction of Gatun Station and at a point about five miles from Colon, or on the beach south of Colon, where fighting would be permissible.

As a result of an exchange of notes between the United States gunboat Machias and the General Pinzon, Ignacio Feliaco, commanding the Pinzon, which has six hundred men on board, has officially notified the American, British and French warships now in the harbor that he intends to bombard Colon at noon to-morrow (Monday), thus giving 24 hours' notice.

The various consuls are notifying their respective fellow citizens that refuge may be had on the warships. To bombard the town of Colon it is absolutely necessary to fire across the railroad tracks, and railroad employes will probably refuse to work.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure all, nor a Modern Miracle but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the over-worked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give universal satisfaction.

THE POULTRY INDUSTRY.

A first class opportunity for farmers to increase their income is to be found in connection with the dressed poultry industry, a branch of stock-raising that has not hitherto been exploited to any considerable extent. Perhaps the cause of slow development in the trade in dressed poultry is due to the lack of proper markets and proper shipping facilities. The trade up to the present time has been mainly a local one. Farmers generally take their poultry produce to the stores to exchange for goods.

Improved facilities have taken the form of a new channel for Canada's surplus produce, which is destined to increase under suitable conditions. Our poultry has the reputation of being the finest in the world, a reputation our farmers should endeavour to sustain, and use to their own advantage. The poultry found most suitable for the old country markets are, in the main, Plymouth Rocks, and White Wyandotte spring chickens, without black feathers or feathered legs.

Agencies for the purpose of buying up poultry have been established at Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, St. Hyacinthe and London. It would be well if farmers would look on the matter seriously; with good markets and with cold storage, the outlook for prices is not only good, but prices are likely to be steady.

DISEASE CAUSES VISIONS.

Mohammed Only a Sick Man Says Sir Thomas Brunton.

London, Nov. 25.—Sir Thomas Lauder Brunton, the great medical authority, in an address here last week to the Medico-Psychological Association on "Theories, Apparitions and Visions," declared that nearly every one of these phenomena is traceable to mental causes. Visions are traceable to a peculiar class of disease, notably epilepsy.

In his opinion the seer of Biblical history was only an epileptic. Sodium salicylate used for rheumatism often had the same effect on the nerves. Certain forms of headache, especially megrim, produced peculiar zigzag apparitions, which, in conjunction with excessive imagination, he thought, more accountable for fairies than anything. This zigzag appearance was to be found in Dore's drawings and in the spirits of Dante. The speaker believed that Dore was affected by the same disease, as he had likened the appearance of the spirit trains to these megrim apparitions.

In Sir Thomas' opinion if Mohammed had been dosed with bromide of potassium when he had visions there would have been no Koran and no Mohammedism, for there seems to be little doubt that the visions were the result of physical disease.

Deafness is Curable!

Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhalation of Catarrhozone are reported, and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to our readers. Catarrhozone quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxall of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarrhozone, after years of deafness. Price $1. At druggists or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE OFFER ACCEPTED

To Raise 600 Mounted Men For South Africa.

WAR OFFICE PAYS EVERYTHING

Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, Corrects Opposition Misstatements About the New Force—It Is Raised by Canada as Agent for Britain—Preparations for the Enlistment Are in Progress at Ottawa.

London, Nov. 25.—The Imperial Government has received through the Earl of Minto, Governor-General of Canada, the offer of the Canadian Government to raise a fresh force of 600 mounted infantry for South Africa. The Government has gratefully accepted the offer.

OFFER ACCEPTED.

Minister of Militia Corrects Statements in Opposition Press.

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—The War Office has accepted Canada's offer to recruit a force of mounted men for service in South Africa. The official notification of acceptance has not yet been received, but from private sources it is learned that the information is undoubtedly correct. As soon as the announcement is officially corroborated preparations for enrolling and equipping the force will at once proceed.

The Government's Part.

Statements published in the Opposition papers convey an erroneous impression as to the action the Government is taking. "This will be in no sense a third contingent," said Colonel Borden yesterday, by way of correcting statements that have appeared in certain Conservative papers. "It should be made clear," he went on to say, "that this is no new offer, but is an offer made in March last, which offer grew out of the Merritt correspondence with the War Office. As a matter of fact we are doing the work for the Imperial Government now, just as we did in the case of the South African Constabulary. The work of equipping the force will be done by the Department of Militia, but under the conditions of the March offer, as has been fully explained. All the expenditure of every kind will be borne by the War Office. In other words the Militia Department will be acting merely as an agent for the purpose of recruiting and fitting out this force, precisely as was done in the case of the South African Constabulary. It is a mistake to say that the name of a commanding officer was submitted with the offer of last March. All that was done at that time was to ask the Secretary of State for War whether the name of a certain officer would be agreeable. This force will be raised for the Imperial Government, and every effort will be made to obtain the very best corps that can be supplied. This will be done on very much the same lines as were followed in the case of all the other corps except Strathcona's Horse. That force was raised mainly in a particular locality, but in the present case the men will be taken from all parts of the country. There is one thing, however, that will not be done. In the case of previous corps the men were grouped together in companies according to the localities from which they came. In this instance the men will be concentrated at some point, and when they arrive will be mixed together indiscriminately. There will be no such thing as an Ontario or a Nova Scotia company. There has been a little too much of that, and it tends to sectional feeling. It would be most convenient to mobilize the force at Ottawa, but nothing has been decided as to that."

Preparations at Ottawa.

The Minister of Militia and Major-General O'Grady-Haly were in consultation yesterday regarding the recruiting of the new force. It is understood that Colonel Borden has made up his mind as to the officer he will recommend for commanding officer, but will await official notice of the acceptance of a corps from Canada before communicating with him. As soon as notification comes the officer in question will be asked whether he is prepared to take the command. It seems to be generally understood that Lieut.-Col. Evans of Winnipeg is the officer the Minister has in mind. It is thought that the uniforms and saddlery for the men could be secured in three weeks. The uniform will be of the same pattern as that of the Canadian Mounted Rifles. The stores branch of the Militia Department has been brought into such a highly efficient state by Colonel Macdonald that the outfit and equipment will be obtained without a moment's loss of time. Horses will need to be bought, but it is not thought that there will be any difficulty in getting suitable mounts. The question of a suitable transport will not give much trouble. Inquiries have already been made of the Elder-Dempster and Allan Companies, and with the experience already gained in this respect a suitable transport ought soon to be at the Government's disposal. It is quite likely that the services of the deputy officer commanding in each military district will be requisitioned for the purpose of enrolling recruits, which will obviate the necessity of having special recruiting officers. The officer who is to command the corps will, however, have a voice in the procedure to be adopted with respect to recruiting. The Minister of Militia, Major-General O'Grady-Haly and Colonel Pinault, Deputy Minister, have to proceed to Montreal to-day, having been subpoenaed as witnesses in the libel action brought by Lieut.-Col. Cooke against The Star of that city. It is extremely awkward for the Minister and these two members of his staff to leave Ottawa at the present juncture, but it is hoped they will not be detained in Montreal very long. Colonel Borden has been summoned on behalf of the defence, while General O'Grady-Haly and Col. Pinault are required by the plaintiff as witnesses.

SERIOUS CONFLAGRATION.

Montreal Warehouse Damaged to Extent of $80,000 on Sunday.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—The central section of the city was the scene of another serious conflagration about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The fire was in the extensive warehouse of Messrs. W. & F. P. Currie & Co., situated at No. 134 McGill street. The two top flats of the building were the ones most injured by the fire. The damage to the remainder is entirely from smoke and water, and is fully covered by insurance. The top flat is completely burned out. The stock was very valuable, and consisted chiefly of paper, which was either destroyed or badly soaked. The aggregate damage will amount to between $80,000 and $100,000, which is fully covered by insurance.

MRS. NORMANDEAU

A Lady of Campbellton, N. B., has at Last Effectively Disposed of an Enemy That Persecuted her for Years.

For years, Mrs. Philomene Normandeau, of Campbellton, N. B., suffered with Dyspepsia. In addition to the tortures consequent on this disease, she was also very much troubled with sick headaches, the result of the derangement of the stomach.

She has found a cure, and is so grateful, that she is anxious for the benefit of others who are suffering as she was, to give the matter the greatest possible publicity. She has, therefore, written the following open letter:

"It is my duty and I consider it a great pleasure for me to testify that I have been cured of a very severe case of Dyspepsia, by the use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"For years I suffered with stomach sickness. My head ached almost continuously. I could eat very little, and had to be very careful.

"I consulted several physicians and used the medicines they prescribed, but instead of getting better, I gradually getting worse.

"I read in one of the newspapers an advertisement which told how a lady who had been suffering from Dyspepsia in much the same way as I was, had been cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

"Although I had but little faith, I decided to make a trial and bought two boxes. I was relieved from the very first; and now can safely say that I am completely cured.

"I can, therefore, highly recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, to all who suffer from this terrible malady, as I am satisfied that what cured my case, will cure anyone."

Science to-day knows but one way to relieve Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, and other Stomach Troubles. That way is Nature's way — Rest.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest all the food and tone up the stomach by giving it a respite from the work of digestion. The small, brown Tablets stimulate the Liver and regulate the Bowels. All in one box, 50c.

Sailors Being Cared For.

New York, Nov. 25.—The full-rigged ship Flottbek, which went ashore at Monmouth Beach during Saturday night's gale, was last night resting on the sands, apparently little the worse for her experience, and her crew are being cared for by the lifesavers of the station No. 4.

The Falls Claims Another Victim

Many times has this statement been published. But if Niagara has claimed its thousands, neglected coughs and colds have claimed their tens of thousands. You can't stop the Falls but you can stop the cough or cold in two days by taking a 25c. bottle of Four T's, the great guaranteed cough and cold cure. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355,-92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .
WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN
THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $120 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THANKS-GIVING!

In gratitude to the generous people of Peterborough for the lion's share of the patronage bestowed on Gough Bros. during 1901, we intend to express our gratitude in a practical way. For the week preceding Thanksgiving Eve, we propose to UPSET ALL PAST STANDARD OF VALUES. We intend to retail Overcoats, Ulsters, Suits, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, Underwear, Neckwear, and Men's and Boys' Furnishings at prices LESS THAN WHOLESALE—in many cases less than the cost of production. This big double store will be teeming with buyers.

IT'S A CASE THAT WARRANTS UNBRIDLED ENTHUSIASM. We are bound to make it so—we will put it to a point that will do greater honour to this great store. If you don't want to buy come and look on. You can't stay away and be wide-awake. No matter when or where you see a bargain, we have a better one for you. But look sharp!—there'll be a run on the plums, and the ripest fruit is readiest to drop.

Men Who Lie.

Mr. Elcome was the speaker at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon, and took advantage of the character of Ananias to give a Bible reading on the sin of the lie. He pointed out the greatest lie of all was in the refusal of men to accept the testimony of God, to His Son, as the Saviour of the world. Messrs. Gardiner and Cunningham sang a duett with good effect.

Where to Spend a Profitable Evening on Thanksgiving.

A recital and entertainment under the auspices of the Young Peoples' Union of the Murray street Baptist church, will be held in the church auditorium, on Thanksgiving evening, Thursday, Nov. 28th, at 8 p.m. sharp. Miss Gertrude Trotter, of Belleville, sister of a former pastor of the church, and graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music and School of Elocution, will be the principal entertainer of the evening. As a reader and reciter, she has proved herself capable of giving delightful satisfaction to the most critical audiences. She has a large repertoire of selections, ranging from the humorous and pathetic to the serious and tragic, and reliance can always be made upon her numbers being admirable. A most enjoyable musical programme has been prepared, and a pleasant and profitable evening is assured all those who attend. A silver offering will be taken at the door.

THE LATE MRS. ARMSTRONG.

A Prominent Resident of Otonabee has Passed Away.

Another of the pioneers of Peterborough County has passed away in the person of Mrs. William Armstrong of Otonabee, whose demise occurred on Saturday night, after about two weeks' illness.

The late Mrs. Armstrong's maiden name was Elizabeth Elliott, she being the daughter of the late William Elliott, of the Township of Smith. She was born in that township, about 71 years ago. She has lived in this vicinity ever since, and was known to a wide circle of friends She was a life-long member of the Methodist church and had many amiable qualities.

Besides her bereaved husband, she leaves to mourn her demise, five sons and two daughters. The sons are Messrs. George Armstrong, ex-Reeve of Smith, Fred of Douro, Samuel and George at home, and Robert, of Maple Creek, N.W.T. The daughters are Mrs. William Knox, of Asphodel, and Miss Edith, at home.

Messrs. James and Thomas Elliott, of Oregon, Cal., and Samuel, of Belmont, are brothers of the deceased.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday to the Little Lake Cemetery.

DIED ON SATURDAY.

Demise of Mrs. James Brown, a Descendant of the Pioneer Settlers.

The death occurred, on Saturday, of Hannah Brumwell, wife of the late James Brown, whose family patronymic will always be associated with the early history of Peterborough County. The milling business in its incipiency in this district was in the hands of the father of the deceased. One brother, Mr. John Brumwell, who resides in the fourth ward, survives as well as the following children:—Jacob, Fred and Jonathan, of Dakota; William, who resides at the homestead, and Mrs. Jacob Brumwell, of Bridgenorth.

The funeral took place this afternoon from the family residence, 2nd concession of Smith, the remains being interred in the Little Lake Cemetery.

OBITUARY.

Demise of Mrs. George Hooey After a Lingering Illness.

The many friends of Mrs. George Hooey, No. 246 Dublin street, will regret exceedingly to learn of her demise, which occurred this morning, after an illness extending over two years.

The deceased was formerly Annie Sharpe—she was the daughter of the late John Sharpe, of Otonabee, and was about forty years of age. Twenty years ago she married her late husband, Mr. Geo. Hooey, who predeceased her thirteen years. She then moved into the town, and has resided in Peterborough ever since. The late Mrs. Hooey was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and was well known by a large circle of intimate friends.

She leaves two sons to mourn her demise. They are Messrs. David and George. There are also her mother, her three sisters, Mrs. A. R. Treble, of Vancouver, Mrs. T. T. Emmerson, town, and Mrs. S. L. Crawford, Toronto. Messrs. Samuel, William and Joseph Sharpe, of town, are brothers of the deceased.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, at 3 p.m., to Little Lake Cemetery.

Thanksgiving Dinner.

Don't forget the annual Thanksgiving Dinner in the Charlotte street church on the evening of Thanksgiving Day. Dinner served from 5 to 8 o'clock. A good after-dinner programme. Tickets, 25c for both adults and children. 2d

STAND BY THE TOWN.

The Examiner has written columns upon columns on this topic, endeavouring to point out the unfairness and unprofit of people who make their money in town spending it outside the town. It becomes necessary to refer again to the subject, especially as the holiday season is at hand, in which there is unusual activity of buying for gift-giving purposes, and citizens are tempted to purchase from outside sources. This temptation comes in the form of elaborate circulars and catalogues from outside jewelry, fancy goods and novelty houses, some of these responsible establishments. These catalogues are finely printed and illustrated with gaudy pictures, in colours, of jewelry, etc. The prices are attached to these articles, and the unthinking may be induced to send an order. It is wrong for people living in Peterborough, who make their money here, by the help of other tradesmen and others, to do this thing. It is both wrong and unwise. No reflection is necessary to convince a man in business that he will be guilty of a wrong and mean action, if, during the year having made money through the patronage of fellow merchants, when he wants to invest in Christmas gifts he send his orders and his money to a distant city, instead of going to the local merchant, who can supply his wants. Purchasing outside the town is unwise, because the buyer could be served as well and, as a rule, better, than in a far away city. Take any of the catalogues mentioned, select some article, and go to a local dealer, and ask to see his goods and prices. You will find that the local dealer has precisely the same kinds of goods, and that in the majority of cases, his prices will be lower. Besides, the purchaser will have the pleasure,—and to the majority of purchasers, especially ladies, it is a real pleasure—of personal selection. A lady will go into a shop and spend two mortal hours in selecting a half-dollar hat pin; yet such is the passion for novelty, such the greenness of far-away fields, such the mania for being "gold-bricked," that this same lady, will, without hesitation, send her order and cash to entire strangers in a distant city for an article she never has seen, and, possibly, may never see. There is the trouble and cost of correspondence, the uncertainty of the deal coming out according to sample, the delay and the vexation, and the "good cry," if the article upon possible arrival, proves, as it is more than likely to do, disappointing. And there is no convenient redress. She can't drop in as she could do on her local tradesmen and talk the matter over, and have it set right. There are several flies in her ointment. She has the guilty consciousness of having done a mean thing, in passing by a citizen, who should have had her money in return for a better bargain than she got abroad. She will have paid an undue price for something quite unlike what she thought it was when she ordered it from the gaudy sample plate of the catalogue. A glass diamond or a sealing-wax ruby looks as well in a picture as the genuine articles. We know a gentleman who happening to be in Toronto purchased a pair of gold-framed spectacles which proved to be nothing but thin gilt brass, and paid the same price for which he could have got from, and indeed was offered, by a local dealer a pair of solid gold frames. He was swindled and served right. The same, reasoning, mutatis mutandis applies to the special Christmas catalogues, gaudy as a circus poster, and about as reliable, issued by large departmental houses. The foregoing are only types of the experience of those who, worship the unknown, long for new exsitements and prefer, to home genuineness, pinchbeck and shoddy material and social glitter. Many people in so-called society, who turn up their noses at an honest mechanic od decent tradesman, living a righteous and sober life, have been known to cotton to some sleek adventurer with a polished outside, and Whitechapel accent, take him to their hearts and homes and only found out their mistake when a ruined daughter, stolen valuables and big sums of borrowed money, never to be repaid, and debts, wherever they could be contracted, marked the trail of the social serpent. A similar spirit, a similar greed for novelty tempts many to make speculative purchases outside the town, with, on a comparative scale, similar experiences. Citizens are urged to do the fair thing, the wise thing and the honest thing, in making their holiday purchases. Buy them from those who have helped you make your money; buy what you can see; buy what can be remedied or replaced if it should prove unsatisfactory. Be loyal to honest home methods, be loyal to the town, stand by the town.

DIVORCE GRANTED.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hurley Separated by Process of Law in Michigan.

On November 21st, at the Bay City Court House, Michigan, Mrs. Charlotte J. Hurley secured a divorce from her husband, Mr. John P. Hurley, formerly of Peterborough.

An absolute divorce was granted on the ground of cruelty and drunkenness.

It will be remembered that Mr. Hurley was for many years a resident of Peterborough, and was in the employ of Mr. Thos. Menzies, afterwards being apointed Grand Trunk Ticket Agent. He was married about five years ago to Miss Charlotte Raymond, who resided with her mother on Water street.

Mrs. Raymond was a niece of the late Robt. Nicholls.

THE RUGBY DANCE.

Arrangements are Progressing Quite Satisfactorily for the Event.

The arrangements for the annual dance of the Peterborough Rugby Club, which will take place in the opera house, are proceeding satisfactorily and the indications are that the assembly will prove to be a great success. The ladies who are assisting very energetically in the undertaking desire to intimate to those contributing refreshments that the same should be sent to the opera house on Friday between 9 a.m., and 2 p.m. if possible.

The gentlemen's admission tickets may be obtained at Messrs. Ormond & Walsh's drug store or at the Examiner office.

The attendance promises to be up to that of previous years and the matter of decorations, etc., has been left in the hands of a committee that will spare no pains to see that in this regard the affair will surpass all previous assemblies of the Rugby Club.

Lt.-Col. Edwards has granted permission to the officers of the 57th Regt., to appear in their uniforms at the Rugby Ball. Major Young and Lt. Bradburn, have done the same in regard to the Dragoons, and the Durham Field Battery.

THE CHURCH AND THE WORKINGMAN.

Rev. J. C. Davidson Explains the Relationship.

All Should Unite to Make the Church the Home of the World's Workers.

Preaching last night at St. John's on "Esau's loss of his inheritance,"—Heb. 12, 16, Rev. J. C. Davidson said that his heart went out to the multitudes of workingmen outside the Divine helps and privileges offered through the Church of God. If they were not enjoying all the earthly privileges which were their right, was this a reason for throwing away their spiritual inheritance? Christian people should help the Sons of Labour gain both the temporal and spiritual privileges, which rightly belonged to them. Mr. Davidson strongly urged every member of St. John's to do everything in their power to make the church the home of the world's workers, as it was intended to be. They were a splendid and most interesting body of men, but they needed encouragement while they resented patronage. They complained that true Brotherhood was not found in the churches. The speaker believed there was more of it than was supposed, but people found great difficulty in expressing the kindly feelings which really animated them. Such expression had to be cultivated, and he urged the congregation to do what they could. At the same time, workingmen should not be too sensitive,—slights were often purely imaginary. Moreover, whatever was done or not done, it was well worth going through some difficulties to gain the privileges of the Kingdom. If they should lose them through negligence or default, or barter them away, like Esau, for self-indulgence, his loud and bitter, but ineffectual, cry would be wrung from them in the darkness. But there was yet time to turn to a loving and forgiving God.

The service was a very beautiful one. Hymns of a most touching character, appropriate to the last Sunday of the Christian year were sung. During the offertory Mr. H. Morphet sang a pleasing solo.

"And the Band Played on."

And the chorus was "What's the matter with Charley LeGros? He's all right!" New customers dropping in every day to his Tony fonsorial parlours. Additional swell automatic chair, making four altogether. Your pick of four artists to shave you or trim your hair, without any useless waiting. The latest toilet preparations for face and scalp, electric hair brushes, hot towels for everyone. These are a few of the luxuries that make up a combination that can't be beat anywhere in city or town. Shop recently enlarged and refurnished. Everything up-to-date, night or day.

CHARLEY LEGROS.

THE RIGHTS OF POOR MEN.

Mr. Spargo of New York Speaks in Peterborough.

WORKERS AND IDLERS.

An Interesting Address in the Sons of England Hall—About Governments and Corporations.

There was an audience of 150 or more at the Sons of England Hall on Saturday night to hear Mr. John Spargo, an English trade unionist and Socialist, of the Secretaryship, New York, deliver a lecture on the subject, "Our Position, Political, Economic and Ethical."

Mr. Spargo was listened to very attentively throughout, and he showed himself to be possessed of a very considerable amount of knowledge on his particular subject.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Robert McGregor, who, in a few appropriate words, introduced the speaker of the evening.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Spargo said that the Social League was not a party which formulated its lines on any whimsical basis. It was formed to combat the abuse of the labouring classes. The grievances of the working class which affected the people of the old land affected the people of every nation. The great Englishman, Disraeli, said there were but two classes, the workers and the idlers. The people who did not work were the parasites, who preyed on the workers. The working class were the world. If the wages were raised in a given district, broadly speaking, the cost of living would also be raised in proportion. The fundamental basis of economic science was that all the wealth of the world was produced by labour. This statement was not set forth to tickle the palate of the working man, but it was laid down by eminent writers on political economy of England and the United States. Money is not all that goes to make up wealth. All wealth is the result of human labour. Whilst it was created by labour, the people who do not work enjoy the most of the world's wealth. In the United States of America it was found that two-thirds of the wealth of the great Republic was owned by a few men. A few people like the Rockefellers, Goulds, Pierrepont Morgans, Schwabs and Belmonts, were exercising more power than Kings and Emperors. The ladies of these families presided at charity entertainments, balls and such like. The gentlemen lay corner stones, endow libraries and other institutions, but this the speaker did not consider work. It was like the lunatic who dug holes in the ground to fill them up again. There were but three ways of getting a living, by working, begging or stealing. These people get their immense wealth by legalized exploits and the exploiter meet and legalize the scheme. The system that is built up from unpaid labour was morally wrong and should be swept away. Whatever tends to divide men was wrong and immoral. Anything that welds people together is right. The system that enslaves men was wrong. The speaker knew that when he spoke of people as slaves he courted criticism. The British liked to sing "Britons never will be slaves," the Americans like to boast of their liberty, Canadians sang of their nation on which the sun never set, but there were white slaves in all these countries. When a man possessed all the means his fellow man had to live upon, he made a slave of his lesser fortunate brother. A few men meeting on the stock exchange in New York, Chicago, Paris, and London, could dictate terms to their fellow men because they possessed means which other men did not command. There was no class that had more right to engage in politics than the working man. The true meaning of politics was not to return Sir Wilfred Laurier or Mr. Borden to power. It was to return to the working man the product of his labour. Even if the working man struck, which he was sometimes compelled to do, he suffered. In these days the working man did not win by striking. Even though he gained his point, the employer never missed his cigar, his swise and daughters always had money to spend on fine clothing, while the striker had to go many times without a meal. There was one way the labourer could meet the capitalist and that was through the ballot box.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, who was present, was called upon, and made a few remarks covering the speaker's views.

A BISHOP FROM THE NORTH.

His Lordship Bishop Grouard in Peterborough.

Will Purchase a Steam Yacht to Navigate the Peace River—40 Years a Missionary.

His Lordship Bishop Grouard, of Athabasca, N.W.T., is in town, a guest at the Bishop's Palace. Bishop Grouard, is one of the pioneers of the church in the Athabasca and Mackenzie River Districts, and during his forty years of residence in that country, he has encountered many hardships in advancing the cause of Christianity.

His visit to Peterborough is for the purpose of letting the contract to one of the local canoe factories for the construction of a steam yacht to be used in navigating the waters of the Peace River. After making arrangements for the building of the steam yacht he will immediately proceed to his home in the far Northwest.

A representative of the Examiner had the pleasure of a short talk with His Lordship to-day and he related many amusing incidents in connection with his work in the far west, and yesterday, too, His Lordship delivered a sermon in St. Peter's Cathedral that was of more than ordinary interest, inasmuch as a considerable amount of information was imparted concerning the settlement of the north. Bishop Grouard's charge extends over more territory than the remainder of Canada itself. This seems scarcely creditable, but it is a fact nevertheless, it includes the Yukon, the MacKenzie River, Assiboina, Athabasca and Peace River districts, the inhabitants being for the greater part, of course, Indians, 90 per cent. of whom profess the Roman Catholic Religion. As previously stated, His Lordship, has been acting in the capacity of a missionary in the country for 40 years, but 9 years ago he was made Priest of the Diocese. He has under him 36 priests who are Oblate Fathers, besides a number of Lay Brothers, who help in the mission work. There are also a number of Sisters of Charity from Montreal who are doing much to christianize the Indian tribes. His Lordship speaks very enthusiastically of the great progress that they are making and is anxious to get back to his home to resume his good work.

PERSONALS.

R. Ruddy, barrister, Millbrook, is in town to-day on business.

Mr. Frank Turner, of the Cordova Gold Mining Co., was in town over Sunday.

Captain Jas. A. Fraser, of Hastings, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. J. H. Belleghem.

Dr. McClelland has completely recovered from his recent illness and resumed his professional duties.

Mrs. G. L. Hay, No. 58 Harvey street, will receive Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons of this week.

Rev. Father McCloskey's many friends will regret to learn that his recent accident near Campbellford resulted more seriously than was anticipated, his hip bone being broken and the joint dislocated.

Rev. Mr. Franklyn, and Mrs. Franklyn, who are home on a visit after six years and a half work in the missionary cause in India, gave interesting addresses in Bethany Tabernacle yesterday. They will also address a meeting in the same place this evening.

Miss Birdie Robertson, daughter of Mr. W. H. Robertson, leaves to-morrow for New York, where she will visit among friends for a short time, after which she returns to New Haven, Conn., to resume her duties in Grace Hospital. Miss Robertson, who passed through a critical illness from typhoid fever in New Haven, has been enjoying a month's visit in Peterborough at the home of her father.

On Wednesday last, at Ashfield, Ont., Miss Margaret Finley, daughter of the late Thos. Finley, of that place, and Mr. Herbert R. Finley, of Rapid City, Manitoba, were united in marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Finley were guests on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. R. Harrison, Water street, their uncle and aunt, on their way to Norwood. They return here on Tuesday and Wednesday before leaving for their home in Winnipeg.

Peterborough people will be interested in the announcement of the engagement of J. Alex. Culverwell, of Peterborough, formerly of Toronto, managing director of the Central Ontario Power Company, to Miss Jessie Houghton Hill, daughter of James L. Hill, of Pittsburg, Pa. Miss Hill has been a visitor to "Penryn Park," Port Hope, Ont., this autumn, the summer residence of her sister, Mrs. (Captain) H. H. King, of Pittsburg, Pa.

THE COUNT DE SIGRI

PICTURESQUE PARLIAMENTARY CANDIDATE IN ENGLAND.

He Is to Run, Probably in Mid-Gloucestershire, in "the Jacobite Interest"—Count de Sigri Claims Direct Descent From "Bonnie Prince Charlie"—Favorite Dress That of His Famed Ancestor

It is said that Count de Sigri—"Count of the Roman Empire"—will at the next opportunity contest a seat in Parliament on behalf of the "Jacobite party"—Mid-Gloucestershire being the probable scene of the electoral strife.

Count de Sigri is a picturesque and interesting figure in Gloucestershire. He claims direct, lineal descent on the distaff side from "Bonnie Prince

COUNT DE SIGRI.
A picturesque Gloucestershire inhabitant, who claims descent from "bonnie Prince Charlie," and who may soon contest a parliamentary seat in the "Jacobite interest."

Charlie." His house at Westend, Eastington, a considerable village six miles east of the city of Gloucester, is furnished throughout with black oak furniture, all family heirlooms of the Stuart dynasty. He possesses a bed which belonged to Prince Charlie, and is said to attend worship daily at the same private chapel used by that prince. The count's favorite costume is like that worn by Prince Charlie when at the head of his Highlanders, and upon the occasion of any village feast or festival he goes forth in Stuart tartans, with halberdiers, sword bearer, page, and standard bearers. Upon the accession of His Majesty the count's friends nailed a protest upon the doors of the village church.

Oxygen to Make the Hair Grow.

The use of gas to make the hair grow is one of the latest medical discoveries. The gas employed is oxygen. A large cap fits tightly around the head and is supplied with oxygen from a bag which is slung over the patient's shoulders. It is worn for a few hours every day and even in cases of absolute baldness is said to produce a more or less luxuriant crop of hair.

The discovery was made at the Oxygen Hospital, London. The gas is used for the cure of quite a number of diseases. A woman was undergoing the oxygen cure for skin disease, and one of her arms had for many years been placed in a light airtight box filled with the gas. It was soon noticed that on that part of the arm that was unaffected by the disease, the growth of hair was much stimulated, and this naturally suggested oxygen as a cure for baldness.

The first experiment was made upon a woman who had completely lost her hair, and it was found that after a few weeks' treatment there was quite a strong growth.

His Soft Spot.

"You must not touch the top of the baby's head," said a mother to her four-year-old. "She has a soft spot there that is very tender."

The youngster gazed at it curiously for a moment, and then asked:

"Do all babies have soft spots on their heads?"

"Yes."

"Did papa have a soft spot on the top of his head when he was a baby?"

"Yes," replied the mother with a sigh, "and he has got it yet."

And the old man, who had heard the conversation from an adjoining room, said:

"Yes, indeed he has, my dear boy, or he would be a single man today."

Going the Rounds.

Aunt Dinah—Major, if yo' cud gimme an old pair breeches yo'll make foah heahts glad.

Hard on the Hack Business.

That great discovery made by a Brantford druggist and known as Four T's does away with hacking and coughing in two days. As a lung tonic and lung tissue reconstructor it has no equal. Children take Four T's and it cures whooping cough and croup. Price 25c. per bottle. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

An Erratic Temperament.

"A man of artistic temperament never worries about the money he owes."

"No; but it nearly kills him when he doesn't get money that is owing to him."

An English authority has discovered that the average age at which English men marry is 28 years and 5 months and that of women 26 years and 2 months.

When in Bed

Put some Vapo-Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp and place it near the head of the bed. Then all the time the baby sleeps it will breathe-in the healing, soothing vapor. The hard, tight cough loosens; the fever gradually goes down, the breathing becomes natural, and pneumonia is avoided. Every part of the throat and bronchial tubes are touched by the medicine. For the hard colds and coughs of children nothing equals Vapo-Cresolene. 9

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Mix stove blacking with a little ammonia to prevent it burning off.

A teakettle should never be allowed to stand on the side of the fire with a small quantity of water in it.

A rose potpourri is made by packing fresh rose petals in salt, a layer of the petals, then a layer of salt, and keeping them covered for six months.

A convenient substitute for a corkscrew when the latter is not at hand may be found in the use of a common screw with an attached string to pull the cork.

For ink stains on furniture add six drops of niter to a teaspoonful of water and apply it to the stain with a feather. If the stain does not yield to the first application, make it stronger and repeat the process.

Stains on silverware require prompt attention, otherwise it will take a long time to remove them. Sulphuric acid will remove the stain left by medicine. Dip the spoon in the acid, repeating the process until the stain has disappeared; then wash in very hot water.

THE QUICK PACE OF DECLINING HEALTH

Wasted Nerves and Weakened Bodies Give way to Suffering and Disease—The Action of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

There are hosts of people who are susceptible to attack of various kinds of illness. Their systems are ever ready to take on disease. They bend under the slightest trial, and their health is jeopardized by every trivial exposure. They lack resisting power, and health declines because there is no nerve food to make good the waste by disease.

At first slight weakness, stomach annoyance, headache, heart fluttering, trembling of the hands and limbs, restless sleep, indicate something is lacking—that something is nerve force. Until the stock of nerve force is replenished the pace of declining health will increase, until lost vitality is expressed in every move.

Pale, languid, nerve-shattered people find exactly what they require in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It supplies the wants of wasted nerves, rebuilds the wasted cells, and renews the blood. Its wonderful cures are due to the fact that it restores natural nerve force; and it is lack of nerve force that causes most suffering these days. Brain nerves, heart nerves, stomach nerves give out, and all sorts of trouble follow.

Mrs. M. A. McCrea, Troy Hill, Ont., writes: "My system was all run down when I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was weak and very nervous, and felt so tired and worn out that I could scarcely drag myself about the house. It seemed impossible for me to get rest or sleep at night, and I felt that I was gradually growing weaker and more nervous and irritable. Since beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I feel altogether different. It has gradually strengthened my nerves and built up my system wonderfully. I sleep well now, and am being thoroughly restored to health and strength. I believe it is the best medicine to be had for the nerves."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

Hopeless.

English as she is written is illustrated by a hotel at Lucerne, Switzerland, which announces that "the menu of this hotel leaves the guest nothing to hope for."

A Lamp Mat.

A chamois skin dyed in any of the rich dark tints, red, green or a certain deep peacock blue, makes the best sort of lamp mat for a polished table. If the lamp is of some Egyptian or Indian design, the piece of colored leather suits it particularly well.

Forbade Mustaches.

In 1841 the king of Bavaria issued a proclamation forbidding the wearing of mustaches on any pretense and instructing the police to arrest offending parties and have them shaved.

An Ink Eraser.

To remove ink stains from paper brush the paper with a feather that has been dipped in a solution of salts of lemon. Two or three applications will cause the stains to disappear.

Look out for Her.

You can easily tell the woman who takes Morrill's System Tonic. Her complexion is clear, her cheeks rosy and her step light and firm. There a none of that "don't care to live" air about her. For all female troubles and for worn out, run down feelings, Morrill's System Tonic is worth its weight in gold. 50 doses for 50c. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, the druggists.

DAINTY COLLARS.

What the Up to Date Damsel is Wearing.

Never before has there been such a variety in neckwear as this year. The openwork collar is no doubt the novelty of the season. It is made of black or colored satin bands, between which there are strips of white or colored netting or chainwork. These collars owe their stiffness to skillful boning. A pretty stock worn by smart girls is of taffeta or lawn tacked or corded for a space through the center and worn twisted twice around the neck with a single loose knot in front. Gold and jeweled slides are often used to hold these ends. The handsomest of these ornaments are on the art nouveau order representing flowers or leaves.

A chic white pique stock has a narrow colored tie fastening to the left with two ends and a square buckle. Stocks and butterfly bows made out of madras handkerchiefs are all the rage. Postilion collars of plaid figure finish in front with two long tabs laced with gold cord and tiny gold buttons.

For very dressy occasions openwork collars of lace are very smart.

A simple and yet dainty waist is the subject of today's sketch. It is made of pale blue taffeta. The yoke is laid in fine tucks and is trimmed below the bust with a broad, diamond shaped insertion.

Neuralgia Almost Drives People Mad.

Only those who have suffered it, know of the darting, distracting pains and aches neuralgia inflicts. Ordinary remedies don't even relieve. It requires an extraordinarily strong, penetrating liniment to drive out the pain. To get relief rub Polson's Nerviline into the spot. Pain can't resist Nerviline, which has five times the strength of any other liniment. Drives out neuralgia in half an hour. Never fails! Never harms! Always successful. Try a large 25 cent bottle.

Saving His Money.

Mr. Wheatpit—My failure is the talk of the street! At the meeting of my creditors today I arranged to pay ten cents on the dollar.

Mrs. Wheatpit (after a moment's figuring)—Oh, Henry, isn't that lovely? Then the fifty dollar hat I had sent home today will only cost you five dollars!"—Life.

Her Passion.

"I saw Mrs. K. going into an auction sale last Monday. Isn't her craze for bargains extraordinary?"

"Yes, indeed. I believe that she could die happy if she knew that she would be laid out on a bargain counter and buried as a remnant."

British Black Rats.

The British black rat, almost entirely exterminated during the last hundred years by the brown Norwegian rat, is carefully protected and preserved on an estate at Greenlees, Montgomery.

Niagara's Energy.

The total undeveloped energy of Niagara falls is estimated by electrical experts to be 3,000,000 horsepower.

A True Brain Food

Must replace the feeling of lassitude and mental tiredness by clearness and strength of mind. Not that it goes directly to the brain, that were foolish. The true brain food must be carried by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look not to the brain, but to the stomach and assimilative organs. No remedy yet discovered possesses the marvellous brain strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in thousands of cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion, strengthening the nervous system, stimulating the assimilation, giving new strength to the heart, it sends a stream of red vitalizing blood to the brain. Thus it is a true brain food. Ferrozone is sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Longevity of Irish Peasants.

It is curious to notice the great number of centenarians whose deaths are recorded in the official returns of Irish rural districts. As an instance of the longevity of the Irish peasant it may be pointed out that the death of persons upward of sixty years of age registered in Connaught last year amounted to over 50 per cent of the entire deaths of the province.

He Knew Wall Street.

Upson Downes—There's a man over there who owes all his wealth to his deep knowledge of the ways of Wall street.

Winan Luce—Went in and won his pile, eh?

Upson Downes—No; stayed out and kept what he had.

A Delicate Girl.

There are tremendous demands made on a young girl's strength at certain periods in her life. Nature must have nourishment for certain organs and she exacts it from the rest of the body. You can make the body strong so that it can supply almost any demand if you take Powley's Liquified Ozone. Miss Francis Lamson of Woodstock, tells an interesting story.

Gentlemen: For some time back I have felt my physical condition very much impaired from weak stomach and also general weakness. I had a friend who had tried Powley's Liquified Ozone, and it helped her so much that I concluded to try it. I had not taken more than half of the bottle when I felt such a remarkable change in my condition that I was almost amazed at myself. I noticed my color growing much clearer and I felt better in every way. I recommend every young lady to use Ozone.

(Signed) MISS FRANCIS LAMSON, 45 Reeve St., Woodstock, Ont.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is most valuable for any irregularities or weakness of women or girls. It makes nature help nature, it adds strength to the system and fortifies it to supply every need that woman's delicate and complicated construction demands. Write for our private booklet for women's disorders. Free for the asking.

SPRINGS IN THE SEA

FRESH WATER STREAMS THAT BURST FROM THE OCEAN'S BED.

The Origin of the Underground Rivers That Have an Outlet Under the Persian Gulf Has Never Been Satisfactorily Explained.

Along the shallow bottom of the ocean, not very far from the land, a number of openings have been discovered in various parts of the world through which water as pure and fresh as that of any bubbling spring mingles with the salt water of the sea. Another remarkable class of fresh water springs is those that sink out of sight or perhaps never come to the surface, but follow hidden channels under the land and under the sea until they finally come to the open air on an island. Both of these types of underground rivers are perhaps most remarkably illustrated near and on Bahrein island, in the Persian gulf, a place that is also noted as one of the chief sources of pearls.

Bahrein island, the largest of the group of islands bearing that name, is about twenty miles off the coast of Arabia in the Persian gulf. As the island has almost no rainfall it is a dead level of sandy desert relieved only by palm groves and patches of vegetation where water springs to the surface from the mysterious underground channels. In many places the water does not reach the surface, but is found by sinking wells, the water being raised to the surface by donkeys and bullocks and poured into the channels from which the date palms and other crops are irrigated. These springs cannot possibly be derived from the island, and it is no more likely that they come from the sandy wastes of neighboring Arabia. The Arabian shore as far as can be seen is low and devoid of water except at El-Katif where similar springs are found.

Arabs say that these streams come straight from the Euphrates river through an underground channel by which the great river, in part, flows beneath the Persian gulf. Geologists, however, have dismissed this theory. Though the origin of the springs has not yet been satisfactorily explained, the most favored theory is that they come from the well watered slopes of the Persian mountains far to the north. If this theory is correct, it means that the rainfall sinks into the earth's crust until it reaches impermeable rock strata along which it is carried for a great distance to the south out under the sea until the rock, sloping upward, again brings the water near the surface on Bahrein island. Some of the wells that are thus supplied are enormous, and one of them, the Adari, serves for the irrigation of many miles of date palms through a canal of ancient construction. The Adari well is one of the great sights of Bahrein, being a deep basin of water 22 by 40 yards in size. The fact that it comes from a far higher source is shown by the force with which it enters the well. Divers, driven back by the strong current, are unable to reach the bottom.

There being no wells within miles of some of the coast towns of Bahrein, they obtain water from springs that issue from the bottom of the gulf not far from the shore. These springs of course have the same origin as the wells. Divers, with goatskins under their arms, dive through the salt water and fill the skins with the cold, fresh liquid at the bottom. The water obtained in this way usually contains a slight admixture of salt water, so that the mixture is just a little brackish. At some of these openings at the sea bottom the head of water entering the sea is so strong that when hollow bamboos are pushed down into it the water rises through the tubes, delivering the fresh water directly into vessels that are held by men and women who are sitting in the boats that brought them from the land. The force of some of the streams as they come from the earth is so considerable that it pushes back the salt water, and the spring is not mixed with the sea water for quite a space around the place of entrance.

It has been practically determined within the past few years that the waters of a small river in West Africa which disappeared in a fresh water swamp that has no visible outlet find their way by an underground channel into the Atlantic and mingle with the sea through an opening in the bottom that has been discovered a few miles from Cape Verde. A channel has been found on the sea floor which, apparently, was cut by some fresh water stream. During some soundings that were made in 1895 for the purpose of finding and raising a broken cable the vessel engaged in the work was surrounded by swamp vegetation that was continually rising to the surface. It was evidently brought through the underground channel from the swamp.

The breaking of a cable off the mouth of the Rovuma river in East Africa has been attributed to the destructive action of a strong current of sweet water entering the sea level several miles from the land. Another remarkable example of a submarine river is found to the north of the city of Arica on the Pacific coast of South America. A river from the Andes that is gradually swallowed up in the sand has been found to make its way invisibly into the sea, with which it unites some miles from the land.

Brain Weight.

It is stated by an authority that the weight of a man's brain has nothing to do with his mental power. It is a question of climate, not of intellect. The colder the climate, the greater the size of the brain. The largest heads of all are those of the Chugutshes, who live very far north, and next come the heads of the Lapps.

When You Eat

Do you have a feeling of undue fullness in the stomach, belchings, or sour or bitter risings? These are but a few of the symptoms of the diseased stomach.

The worst thing which can be done for the stomach in such a case is to take some tablet or powder which merely gives temporary relief from discomfort. The best thing to do is to begin the cure of the disease by beginning the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It makes the "weak" stomach strong, and puts the body in a condition of vigorous health.

"I was troubled a long time with dyspepsia, torpid liver, and constipation," writes Mrs. Julia E. Deal, of Ostwalt, Iredell Co., N. C. "Could scarcely eat anything at all; would have attacks of pain something like colic, and sometimes it seemed as though I could not live. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, stating my condition, and in a few days received a kind letter of advice, telling me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took four bottles, and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and now I can eat anything I want and it don't hurt me. I have not been in bed a day since I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I have not since felt any symptoms of disease. I have not taken any medicine in twelve months."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

HOYT'S JOKE ON M'KEE.

How the Playwright Had a Bit of Fun With His Manager.

On one occasion Manager McKee was watching a performance from a box, where he was seated with some friends.

During the first act an usher came to him with the information that a gentleman was waiting at the door to see him on most important business.

"Tell him I can't come out—I'm very busy," was the answer.

The usher returned in a moment to say that the man insisted on seeing Mr. McKee, who again sent out word that it was impossible to see him.

The man outside then sent in the message that he was an author and had a play that he wished McKee to read immediately.

This incensed the manager, who said to the usher:

"Tell that fool out there that this is no time to bring a play to be read. Get him out of the place—I won't see him. I won't read his play."

A few minutes later the usher came back and informed McKee that the man utterly refused to go without seeing him, and that he must be granted an interview, also that he was quite sure that the manager would not only read his play, but he would also produce it, and added that he would bet $1,000 that Hoyt & McKee would be only too glad to get the play.

At that McKee became furiously angry, and, excusing himself to his party, left the box with the intention of personally inviting the persistent author to begone.

"Where's that idiot who insists on seeing me?" he asked of the treasurer at the box office. Then the treasurer pointed to a man standing in the shadow with a roll of manuscript under his arm.

It was Hoyt, with his newly finished play, which he handed to McKee, who said to those present:

"It's on me—what'll you have, boys?"

Odors That Permeate Foodstuffs.

A fish dealer in one of the most stylish parts of New York was deeply hurt and badly worried one day by the complaint of one of his big customers that a fine salmon which he had sent to the house for a big dinner had proved to be entirely uneatable when served owing to a most penetrating taste of creosote that pervaded it. The fish dealer realized, although the charge was not made directly, that he was more than suspected of having sold a stale fish that had been washed or brushed with an antiseptic preparation to hide its condition. He knew that the salmon had been perfectly fresh when he sold it, and for days he puzzled in vain over the problem. But suddenly he remembered that on the day the fish was sent out a tank wagon full of creosote had stopped before his place and that his cart, into which the fish was being placed, was directly alongside of the powerful stuff. That appears to have been enough to permeate the delicate flesh of the fish.

Woods Morpheus With Picture.

"I have found a cure," said a physician, "for a person who isn't chronically afflicted with insomnia, but who temporarily cannot sleep. It is a curious thing that the picture of a person yawning will almost invariably induce sleep.

"Try it yourself some time if you come across such a photograph. For the life of you you can't help yawning, after a moment, and persistent gazing at the sleepy head will almost inevitably send you to the couch for a nap."—New York Times.

AN OVERWORKED PHRASE.

The Expression "He Took His Life in His Hands."

"The expression 'he took his life in his hands' always struck me as being very foolish," said a bright young gentleman, "and I have often wondered why so many persons persist in using it when they want to speak of extraordinary dangers. Now, extraordinary danger is one thing and the simple, commonplace thing of taking one's own life in one's hands is an entirely different thing.

"I work in a big building. There are a steam engine and a mammoth boiler in the basement. Whenever I enter that building, if they are running the engine in the basement, I take my life in my hands. I get on the elevator on the fifth floor; I take my life in my hands. I go out of town; the car may tumble over a trestle somewhere. I walk along the street; a sign may fall on me. I make my way across the thoroughfare; who knows but what a street car or a vehicle of some sort may not run me down? I cross the river; may I not suddenly find myself in the swirling stream and sinking for the last time? If I walk along the street, may not a brick or a loosened cornice come crashing down upon me? There are a row and a shot or two on the corner; may not a stray bullet wing me? And so on.

"Pessimism? No. Logic. That's all. It just shows the difference between taking one's own life in one's hand and the matter of confronting extraordinary danger. These risks are ordinary, plain, old, everyday risks. The fireman who dashes into a burning building to rescue a child, the fellow who grabs the bridle of a runaway horse, the hero who will plunge into the river to save some person who is about to drown—these are the persons who confront what I would call extraordinary dangers, and the worn platitude of saying of one of these 'he took his life in his hands' would not fit the case because there would be in the act an element of heroism which would place it much above the commonplace."

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. NEW STREET LIGHTS.

The Canadian General Awarded Contract for New Lamps at Orillia.

(From the Orillia Times.)

The Fire, Water and Light Committee awarded the contract for the new street lights to the Canadian General Electric Company. The price is $2,573, about $300 higher than the Westinghouse Company, but it is claimed the lamps are superior, having a self regulating device which gives a steady light. There will be fifty lamps, known as series alternating differential arc lamps, each lamp having its own constant current transformer to take the current direct from the main wire. The wires at present in use will answer for the new lamps, and the contractors will superintend the placing of the lamps. Each lamp will be 500 candle power, and the light will be in an enclosed flat globe, opalescent in colour. They will burn all night, and only require to be recarboned every four or five days, instead of daily as at present.

The new transformers are being installed this week. Three of these are of very large size. Two of one thousand lights each, are being put up on Mississaga street. The advantage of a large-sized transformer is that the difficulty of flickering lights is overcome, caused by the addition or removal of load. These huge machines weigh about one ton each, and stand on a platform supported by two poles. One is located west of American Hotel, and the other near the Grand Central.

Work at the sub-station is progressing very favourably. The building is up and roofed in, and this week the wire tower is being constructed, and a good deal of interior work being done.

Good progress is being made at the Rapids, and it is expected the concreting will be finished in about ten days.

REV. IRL R. HICKS IN NOT DEAD

Notwithstanding a widely current rumour that the Rev. Irl R. Hicks, was dead, he never was in better health, and never did a harder and more successful year's work than that just closing. He has just completed his large and splendid Almanac for 1902 and, with his staff of able helpers, has brought his journal, Word and Works, justly forward into international reputation. For a quarter of a century Mr. Hicks has grown in reputation and usefulness as the people's astronomer, and forecaster of storms, and the character of coming seasons. Never were his weather forecasts so sought after as now, his timely warning of a serious drought this year having saved the people from loss and suffering. Millions of bushels of wheat were harvested through his advice to plant crops that would mature early. The North American people will certainly stand by Prof. Hicks, when it costs them so little and the benefits are so great. His fine almanac of 200 pages is only 25 cents, and his splendid family journal is only one dollar a year, including the almanac. Send to Word and Works Pub. Co., 2201 Locust street, St. Louis, Mo. 2d2w

THE CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILROAD.

Many people unacquainted with the geography of the west, imagine that because the names, "Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul," are used in the corporate title of the railway owning the short line between Chicago and Omaha, they must go via the the cities of Milwaukee and St. Paul to reach their destination—and if it be Omaha or west thereof. This is a mistaken idea. On a map the line running directly east and west would look like this:

Omaha——————Chicago.

There is nothing more simple than that, and it is less than 500 miles between Chicago and Omaha. Two through trains daily in each direction with the best Sleeping Car and Dining Car Service, and all regular travellers know and appreciate the merits of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway's Short Line between the East and the West.

THE SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY

Successful Elsewhere. Why not in Peterborough?

In a copy of the Portland, (Oregon,) Oregonian, dated Nov. 8th, appears a report of the season's record of a beet sugar factory in that state, and as the beet sugar industry has become a live question in Peterborough, the facts contained in the port will be of interest to our readers, and it is well to reflect that if the industry is successful elsewhere why should it not succeed in Peterborough?

"La Grande, Nov. 7th.—After the most successful run in its history, the Oregon Sugar Company's factory at La Grande will close next Saturday evening. This is the factory's fourth year in operation. The factory has run continuously for fifty days, the only interruption being a five hour stop for repairs to a gas engine which broke down. The output will be about 35,000 sacks of this season's product. The quality of sugar is as high as that produced anywhere in the world. The percentage this year was 16 per cent. of sugar, 85 per cent. purity, an increase of one per cent. over last year.

Twenty-four million pounds of beets were cut, which is about three hundred tons, or 60,000 pounds more than was cut in any previous run.

One hundred and fifty men have been constantly employed to operate the factory, and watch the pump, presses, vats and engines which transform to sugar the juice as it passes through the 35 miles of pipes.

Eight hundred tons of lime rock have been consumed during the fifty days' run. Seventy-five tons of coke, many tons of sulphur, and 500 gallons of lubricating oil were used. Over 4,000 cords of wood were burned by furnaces.

In wages, the factory disbursed an average of $3.35 per man, a total of $327.50 a day, or $19,575 for the entire run. This is exclusive of the large amounts paid to growers of beets.

NURSES RECEIVED THEIR DIPLOMAS.

Highly Successful Closing Exercises Last Night.

THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL TRAINING SCHOOL

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt's Pointed Address to the Graduating Nurses.

There Were Many Persons Present—Mr. Richard Hall was Chairman of the Evening—An Excellent Programme—Miss Staples' Valedictory.

The graduating exercises of the class of 1901, of the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses, were held in the Y.M.C.A. last night and in many features were the most successful that have ever been held in connection with that institution. The affair differed in many respects from the character of previous closing exercises, but the change was much appreciated by those who had the pleasure of attending, and a highly enjoyable evening was spent by all. The attendance at the closing exercises was by invitation and about 250 persons forwarded acceptances. Association Hall in which the event, as in former years, took place, was handsomely decorated for the occasion. Bunting of red, white and blue was appropriately draped along the walls, whilst the platform on which the graduates were seated was a profusion of flowers, palms, and foliage of various kinds. The exercises, it might be said, took the form of an at home, and the chairs were arranged in groups in a very homelike fashion.

The graduating class this year was composed of Miss Maloney, Miss Grace Reid, Miss Edith Finley, Miss Edith Carney, Miss Edith Wilkinson, and Miss Lillian Staples. Miss Wilkinson having received an appointment in California some weeks ago she was, of course, not present last evening, but the five other members of the class garbed in the costume of their profession occupied their positions on the platform and gracefully acknowledged the many compliments passed upon them.

The reading of the valedictory was performed in an admirable manner by Miss Lillian Staples, who stood first in her examinations. Miss Maloney won the bandaging contest for which she received suitable recognition. The examining physicians were Dr. Pigeon, Dr. Greer, Dr. Carmichael and Dr. Caldwell. Miss Bolster, lady superintendent, and Miss Wilmot, nurse in charge, were in attendance, of course, throughout the evening and did all in their power to make those present feel at home in the proper sense of the word. At the conclusion of the regular programme a highly delightful social hour or more was spent during which refreshments were served by a number of ladies who very kindly assisted in this particular branch of the entertainment.

THE CHAIRMAN.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Richard Hall, chairman of the Board of Trustees, who expresses his pleasure in seeing so many present. He disclaimed any intention of making a speech, further than to say that the present year was the most prosperous in the history of the institution. They had this year the largest attendance yet, and the receipts amounted to between seven and eight hundred dollars more than last year.

MR. CRANE'S REMARKS.

Mr. John Crane, the secretary-treasurer of the Nicholls Hospital, was then called upon an gave an address in which he gave many interesting facts concerning the Hospital. He said: I have been asked to give a few facts of a comparative nature bearing upon the work of the Nicholls Hospital from its inception to the present time, but in doing so I must of necessity deal only in generalities, as the information at my disposal seems to particularly apply to Revenue and Expenditure. Those interested in the Hospital, together with those who are life long residents of the town, must supply the rest to any who wish to know.

The Hospital as instituted in 1896 on the Gravel Road, so far as I can ascertain, consisted of one flat; of some six rooms with no special provision for infectious cases; the nursing staff then consisted of Miss Dalby, the first superintendent and probably three nurses. It was then thought that this provision for the needs of the town were adequate. It was not long however, before the urgent need was shown for increased accommodation, and in January of 1899, through the liberality of the late Mrs. Nicholls the present magnificent structure, thoroughly equipped with all needed appliances for the relief of the afflicted and healing of the sick was formally handed to the Trustees, together with an endowment of $35,000.00.

From this time forward the Hospital has made rapid strides and now stands in point of general excellence, well to the fore among its kindred institutions in the Province.

The Training School for Nurses was instituted during the incumbency of Miss Dalby, and the work has gone steadily on until the present class now graduating makes a total of thirty-four trained nurses holding the diploma of the Nicholls Hospital Training School. That this diploma is regarded with favour is evidenced by the confidence placed in, and excellent positions held by, our graduates in different parts of the country.

The carrying out of this scheme of training nurses for their profession has not been accomplished without a large hearted co-operation on the part of the medical staff, and the various lady superintendents holding that position from time to time. The position of a nurse calls for the acquisition on the part of that nurse, of qualities that can only be acquired after long and careful preparation, under a tuition that must comprise all that can be desired to fit that nurse to take her position either in the home or in the public institutions. This year our examiners were Drs. Pigeon, Greer, Caldwell and Carmichael.

Again, the doctors, as you are doubtless aware, give one month of their time in rotation free to the non-paying patients of the hospital, and tributes are not lacking as to the care and skill exhibited by them under the most trying circumstances at times, to give the best in their power to those who are not able to remunerate them for their services.

I may say that the regulations provide that any Protestant medical practitioner, who has been a resident of the town for one year, may be placed on the staff by application to the Board.

During the last four years of the hospital's history the average number of patients for each year was eighty. During the last four years ending with 1901, the average was three hundred and forty, the year 1901 alone showing an increase over the previous year of some seventy-one patients treated.

The hospital has not been for some years any expense to the town. Through the liberality of the executors of the late Mrs. Nicholls' estate, Mr. Richard Hall and Mr. C. McGill, we have been enabled to forego the privilege provided in our Act of Incorporation to ask the town for a grant to meet expenditure. We have to face the fact, however, that though we have a large income in receipts from pay patients, which last year amounted to $2425.00, an increase of $400.00 over the previous year, the large outlay for the more modern needs of both the surgical ward and dispensary, together with the fact that the increased number of patients do not net us any more revenue from the Government than when the number was smaller (owing to the large number of patients receiving assistance), the Board have before them a problem to make ends meet that will require all their tact as financiers to show a clean balance sheet. Our total revenue last year (1900), was $6970; while our expenditure was $6832.

The hospital and staff consists at present of the Lady Superintendent and ten nurses. I am pleased to be able to report that this year four members of our medical staff have been created honourary members, viz., Drs. Halliday, Boucher, Pigeon and Fife. These gentlemen were practically the pioneers on the medical staff, and this step relieves them from monthly duty at the hospital, a relief which they have justly earned.

A notable fact in the Nicholls Hospital has been the large number of operations performed, and this attended with the most satisfactory results. Our hospital stands well in the Government Reports as to its death rate, which is a credit to the medical staff, the Lady Superintendent and the nurses.

The figures cited, of patients treated, three hundred and forty per year, against eighty, of 15 years ago, will go to show that a great work is being done at the Nicholls Hospital, and we cannot afford to coldly view the work from afar. The medical staff and the Board of Trustees, are doing their part without remuneration to make the place a success, and I bespeak for all concerned in the management of institution a sympathy and a discrim-

SHELLING OF COLON

Did Not Take Place Monday, According to the Notice.

FOREIGN OFFICERS INTERVENE

United States Takes Charge of the Isthmus—Battleship Iowa's Marines Protecting Each Passenger Train—Fierce Fighting at Empire Station—Insurgents and Government Both Lose Heavily.

Colon, Columbia, Nov. 26.—Transit across the Isthmus has been stopped. Marines from the United States battleship Iowa at Panama have been landed to protect the railroad, and are now on the line where the fighting is going on.

As this despatch is sent the commotion in the streets is ended, and calm now reigns. There is no jubilation, which is evidence that the Liberal army is not advancing towards Panama. It is reported to have been defeated at Matachin by Gen. Alban's command. The latter is said to be pushing on Colon.

At a conference held at 1 o'clock yesterday morning on board the British cruiser Tribune, at which General Ignacio Foliaco, Senor De La Rosa, secretary to General Diaz, and the commanders of the foreign warships were present, the general agreed at the request of the naval commanders and on the ground of humanity, having in view the large foreign population of Colon, not to land troops here or to fire on the town before 6 o'clock Friday morning.

The Columbian gunboat Gen. Pinzon is badly off for provisions, and the commanders of all the warships agreed to supply her with the necessary stores. The gunboat has not yet returned to Colon, and her whereabouts is unknown.

An armed guard of the marines from the U. S. battleship Iowa has re-established the transit across the Isthmus, and details from the Iowa's marines are now protecting each passenger train.

There has been fierce fighting at Empire Station on the railroad line between Panama and Colon between the insurgents and the troops of the Columbian Government, with very heavy losses on both sides.

United States Grasps Panama.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The U. S. Government has taken charge of the Isthmian transit. A despatch received at the Navy Department yesterday from Captain Perry of the battleship Iowa at Panama reports that fact. Captain Perry says that Gen. Alban with 600 men is fighting the Liberals on the line near Empire. Transit is in danger of interruption. Captain Perry landed with a detachment of men from the Iowa, and has started with a train to clear transit and also establish a detachment of men to keep it so.

An Occupation of the Isthmus.

London, Nov. 26.—All the morning papers discuss South American affairs. Among others The Daily News says: "All this plays straight into the hands of the United States, and that energetic power has not been slow to take advantage of it by forceful acts, which may, at any moment, develop into an occupation of the Isthmus."

Left Substantial Estate.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—In the Surrogate Court yesterday, Mrs. Belinda Wallace, widow of the late Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, M.P., and Grand Sovereign of the Orange Order, filed letters of administration for the estate of her husband, who died on Oct. 8th last, leaving no will. With the exception of Capt. Thomas C. Wallace, all the children are under age. The whole estate is valued at $33,970, made up of $18,995 personalty and $14,975 in real estate.

THE LITTLE ONES NEED THE BEST!

Malt Breakfast Food

Will Build Them Up in Flesh, Bone and Muscle.

Malt Breakfast Food is the only cereal food that children will use and relish from day to day. It has a delicious flavour and does not pall on the taste as other grain foods do.

Oatmeal and other forms of grain foods owing to the presence of insoluble starch are injurious to the stomach and digestive organs of the little ones, and frequently give rise to overheated blood and dangerous skin eruptions.

Malt Breakfast Food is easily digested by the youngest children, it quiets the stomach when irritated and gives restful sleep. Malt Breakfast Food is specially recommended for the babies after weaning. It affords all the elements for solid fleshing-forming, bone and muscle-building. Thousands of mothers are bringing up young children on Malt Breakfast Food. Try it mothers, it will give you pleasing results. Grocers everywhere.

Prisoners' Aid Society.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—The 27th anniversary of the Prisoners' Aid Association of Canada was held last night at St. James' schoolhouse, about a hundred representatives of the association being present. The president, Hamilton Cassels, spoke briefly of the various departments of the work, as showing that with increased population the field for the association's operations had also grown.

A Petition for Mr. Morris.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—A petition is being circulated for presentation to the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario asking for the removal of the disqualification of ex-Mayor Morris, so that he may again offer himself as a candidate for the Mayoralty at the forthcoming municipal elections.

Carrie Nation's Divorce Case.

Medicine Lodge, Kas., Nov. 26.—The divorce suit brought by David Nation against his wife, Carrie Nation, was begun here yesterday. Mr. Nation claims his wife took away his feather bed, drew $900 from the bank and refused to live with him.

Transfer of Timber Limits.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—The Huntsville Lumber Company have purchased the saw mills, plant, logs and timber limits at Huntsville, of the M. Brennen & Sons Company of Hamilton, for a total price slightly over $225,000.

Because He Is Sick.

London, Nov. 26.—Lord Rosebery is sending the large steam yacht, which he has bought, to the Mediterranean, and it is reported he intends to join the vessel in the Riveria.

General Hutton's Salary.

London, Nov. 26.—General Hutton will receive $12,500 salary as commandant of the Federal forces in Australia.

WEST YORK'S CHOICE

Mr. Archibald Campbell Nominated by the Liberals.

PREPARED FOR BYE-ELECTION.

Enthusiastic Gathering at Weston—Stirring Addresses by the Candidate and Senator Landerkin Upon Political Issues—Reference to the Changed Conditions in the Riding Since Last Election.

Weston, Nov. 26.—Mr. A. Campbell, ex-M.P., who, having won the County of Kent for Liberalism, after holding it for many years left it solidly established in the Liberal ranks to carry the Liberal standard in the stronghold of the late Hon. N. Clarke Wallace in 1900, has again been selected by the unanimous voice of the stalwart Liberals of West York to lead them in the bye-election, which will shortly be held. The Liberals of this historic riding have fought many gallant battles against great odds, but although victory in Dominion contests has not frequently in recent years smiled upon them, they are aggressive, and each contest as it approaches finds them ready and eager for the struggle. The keynote of the addresses at the convention which assembled at Eagle's Hall here, yesterday, was decidedly optimistic throughout. It was one of the most enthusiastic and harmonious gatherings held under the auspices of the West York Reform Association.

All parts of the riding were well represented, the contingent from the districts within the limits of the city of Toronto being much stronger than usual.

The moment the President declared the meeting ready for nominations Dr. Lynd took the floor, and in a few well chosen words nominated Archibald Campbell, ex-M.P., whom he described "as one of ourselves, who lives in the riding, and a man of ability and experience, who, if elected, as he surely will be, will well represent the county in the House of Commons." The mention of Mr. Campbell's name was received with great enthusiasm. The names of Dr. Lynd, Dr. Spence, W. J. Hill, M.P.P., J. A. E. Switzer of Richmond Hill, H. M. Mulholland and A. B. Rice were also placed in nomination. Those nominated were called upon in adverse order of nomination, and each in turn declined the honor, leaving Mr. Campbell the unanimous choice.

Mr. Campbell was tendered the nomination by the President, and on rising to reply was received with another outburst of cheering. He expressed pride at receiving the unanimous nomination from such a large, representative and enthusiastic convention. When he accepted the nomination one year ago they all had, he said, great hopes and expectations, and went into the fight to win, but unfortunately circumstances were against them. He referred to his acquaintance as a fellow-member of the House of Commons for many years with the late Hon. N. C. Wallace, who was a man of wonderful personality, an indefatigable worker, who knew thoroughly the County of York from one end to the other, and who, as Grand Master of the Orange Lodge, had opportunities of meeting men from one end of the county to the other that no other man had. Under those circumstances in a county three times the size of an ordinary county the fight which the Liberals made last November was not discreditable. Several things had occurred since then which altered the conditions.

Mr. Campbell reviewed the progress of the past five years, the credit for which he gave to the wise administration of the Liberal Government. Turning again to West York, he appealed for a clean, honest and straightforward contest, and referred to several matters which he desired to see brought about, among them the establishment of a re-mount station for the British army in connection with the stock yards at West Toronto Junction, at which officers would attend once a week to purchase horses; the extension of free postal delivery to West Toronto Junction and the suburbs and main roads leading out of the city; the granting of permission to the Toronto street cars to cross the railways on Bloor street, and the establishment of a crossing on Lansdowne avenue. In conclusion, Mr. Campbell announced, amid cheers, that he would accept the nomination.

Mr. Henry Moyle inquired what stand Mr. Campbell took upon the prohibition question.

Mr. Campbell replied that as the full text of the judgment of the Privy Council had not been received he was not seized of the full effect of the judgment. As far as he could gather from the cabled reports, however, it had been held that it was within the jurisdiction of the Provinces, and, therefore, as it was not a factor in Dominion politics, there was no need to discuss it in this campaign.

Senator Landerkin also addressed the electors.

THE PUBLIC LOOK FOR IT.

The public look for and demand true and honest dispensing when prescriptions are taken to the drug store. Our dispensing department is conducted on such perfected plans that errors are impossible. Strict attention to business, pure drugs and medicines, and low prices, have won for us a position second to none in the drug trade.

The Kind That Cures.

If you are suffering from headache, indigestion, heart trouble, liver complaint, kidney disease or ills resulting from impure blood, we strongly advise you to use Paine's Celery Compound. It is the greatest banisher of disease, the only medicine that can bring you health and new life. Try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound if you feel weak or rundown; it is a marvellous strengthener. Wm. Madill, Oak Hall Drug Store, Peterborough, Ont.

When in Bed

Put some Vapo-Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp and place it near the head of the bed. Then all the time the baby sleeps it will breathe in the healing, soothing vapor. The hard, tight cough loosens; the fever gradually goes down, the breathing becomes natural, and pneumonia is avoided. Every part of the throat and bronchial tubes are touched by the medicine. For the hard colds and coughs of children nothing equals Vapo-Cresolene. 9

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

Harris Fell Into the Trap.

Guelph, Nov. 26.—Provincial detectives arrived here yesterday with Homer B. Harris, farmer of Holyrood, Bruce County, who is charged with offering to purchase counterfeit money. Harris, it is alleged, wrote to a New York "green goods" man, who wanted $50 before he would send anything. This Harris refused to do, whereupon the New York dealer referred Harris to "J. F. Rogers," game warden, Toronto, who would do business with him, he said. The New York dealer had put in two years in prison for this business, the provincial police having arrested him at Niagara Falls. As "J. F. Rogers, game warden, Toronto," was none other than Joseph F. Rogers of the Provincial detective force, the result of the correspondence between Toronto and Holyrood may be surmised. An agreement was finally come to that Harris would get the money at Harriston and there he was arrested.

WHAT CAUSES DEAFNESS.

The Principal Cause is Curable but Generally Overlooked.

Many things may cause deafness, and very often it is difficult to trace a cause. Some people inherit deafness. Acute diseases, like scarlet fever, sometimes cause deafness. But by far the most common cause of loss of hearing is catarrh of the head and throat.

A prominent specialist on ear troubles gives as his opinion that nine out of ten cases of deafness is traced to throat trouble; this is probably over-stated, but it is certainly true that more than half of all cases of poor hearing are caused by catarrh.

The catarrhal secretion in the nose and throat finds its way into the Eustachian tube and by clogging it up it very soon affects the hearing, and the hardening of the secretion makes the loss of hearing permanent, unless the catarrh which caused the trouble is cured.

Those who are hard of hearing may think this a little far-fetched, but any one at all observant must have noticed how a hard cold in the head will affect the hearing and that catarrh, if long neglected will certainly impair the sense of hearing and ultimately cause deafness.

If the nose and throat are kept clear and free from the unhealthy secretions of catarrh, the hearing will at once greatly improve and anyone suffering from deafness and catarrh can satisfy themselves on this point by using a fifty-cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new catarrh cure, which in the past year has won the approval of thousands of catarrh sufferers, as well as physicians, because it is in convenient form to use, contains no cocaine or opiate, and is as safe and pleasant for children as for their elders.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a wholesome combination of Blood Root, Guaiacol, Eucalyptol and similar antiseptics, and they cure catarrh and catarrhal deafness by action upon the blood and mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

As one physician aptly expresses it, "You do not have to draw upon the imagination to discover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvement and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken."

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but fifty cents for full sized packages, and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders, will appreciate to the full the merit of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

CANADIAN TROOPERS

Major Merritt May Be Second in Command of the Force.

THE REGIMENT'S COMPOSITION.

Cape Colony Now Controls Her Own Troops in 29 Districts—Gen. French's Plan to Rid the Colony of the Invading Boers—W. T. Stead Warned by the Magistrate.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Up to a late hour yesterday the official notification of the War Office's acceptance of Canada's offer to raise a mounted force for service in South Africa had not reached the Premier. It is likely, however, to be received by His Excellency at any time, when, of course, Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be promptly informed.

The force will most likely be constituted as follows: One lieutenant-colonel, one major, second in command; one adjutant, one quartermaster, one medical officer, one veterinary officer, one acting sergeant-major, one quartermaster-sergeant, one sergeant and cook, sixteen privates, two clerks, two orderlies, twelve batmen; four companies, each consisting of one sergeant, five subalterns, one color-sergeant, five sergeants, one farrier sergeant, four shoeing smiths, one saddler, six corporals, four lance corporals, two buglers, and 118 privates; total of all ranks, 629.

There is an impression that the Minister of Militia intends to offer the position of second in command to Major W. Hamilton Merritt.

GETTING READY.

Col. Evans Has Heard Nothing of His Appointment, However.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 26.—Col. Evans says he has heard nothing as yet from Ottawa regarding the command of the new contingent. He is busy, however, in getting everything in readiness in case he should be offered the position.

It is thought amongst some of the military men of the city that the new force will not be recruited from the permanent force, as it is considered inadvisable to disturb it on account of the recent reports of an uneasy feeling in the Yukon. This, of course, would apply only to the non-commissioned officers and men, as the officers have the privilege of resigning in order to enroll themselves on the strength of the new contingent.

Best in the Business.

London, Nov. 25.—Canada's offer of a mounted corps of six hundred men is most favorably commented on by the evening papers. The Globe says the action is especially significant and especially welcome just now. The St. James' Gazette says no better can be had than these hardy men, who are the best of riders and the best of shots.

Casualties Operation.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The Casualty Department at Cape Town cables, under date of Nov. 22, that Trooper Arthur Timelick, New Westminster, B.C., is in a precarious condition from wounds at Krugersdorp. There has evidently been some fighting at this point. Timelick's father resides at New Westminster, B.C.

Another cable from the same department reports that Rudolph Sasur, of Quebec died from enteric fever at Pietermaritzburg on Nov. 22nd. He was with the South African Light Horse. His father resides in Quebec.

GEN. FRENCH'S PLAN.

If He Succeeds in Having Them in Barkly East District the Issue Is Not Doubtful.

London, Nov. 26.—The correspondent of The Times at Pretoria says that the fact that Commandants Touche, Myburgh, and Wessels have been left alone for some time in Northeast Cape Colony is adduced as a sign of relaxing British efforts in the Colony. The correspondent declares that this is only another instance of the unreasonable impatience recently manifested in regard to the progress of the war.

The mistake was frequently made, after clearing one district, of pursuing the Boers immediately into another, and allowing them to break back into the first. To obviate this, now that he has cleared the midlands, Gen. French has been obliged to allow the enemy to remain in comparative quiet in the Barkly East district until he has made sure that they will not break west, when he will proceed against them. The building of a line of block houses from the north southeast to Dordrecht, which is now in progress, will, it is expected, prevent the Boers breaking west.

The columns now operating in this district, if they succeed in clearing the country, will practically free the colony, east of the main line from Cape Town to De Aar, of Boers.

HOME RULE AT THE CAPE.

Colony Now Controls Her Own Troops in 29 Districts.

Cape Town, Nov. 26.—Lord Kitchener and Sir Gordon Sprigg, Prime Minister of the Cape Colony, have reached an agreement, under the terms of which the Cape Colony resumes the control of the colonial troops in 29 districts.

There has been much discontent in the Cape, arising from the fact that the colonial troops were being removed from the command of the Colonial Government.

Stead Denounces England.

London, Nov. 26.—Mr. William T. Stead, lecturing in London yesterday, said he thanked God that Germany and Europe were bold enough to call baby murder crime. "Compared with England's conduct," he exclaimed, "Herod's slaughter of the innocents was saintlike. Great Britain ought to be beaten in this unjust war. In the American war we employed redskins, just as we have loosed Kaffirs against the Boers, and, thank God, we were beaten."

Stead Will Be Prosecuted.

London, Nov. 26.—William T. Stead, the newspaper correspondent, and Harold Rylett, the secretary of the Stop-the-War Committee, who, yesterday afternoon, furnished the £4,000 bail demanded for the release of Dr. Krauss, the ex-Governor of Johannesburg, who is charged with high treason, were warned by the magistrate that if Dr. Krause failed to appear for trial they could anticipate being prosecuted on the charge of conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice.

The Trial of One Bottle Will Convince Any Sick Man or Woman.

Paine's Celery Compound is the world's greatest and most efficacious medicine for the cure of disease.

If you are a sufferer from Rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, blood diseases, liver or kidney troubles, Paine's Celery Compound will surely and quickly banish your ailments, and give you a new and happy lease of life.

Let us impress upon your mind the following facts, fully supported by thousands of testimonials from our own Canadian people; Paine's Celery Compound drives the germs of deep seated disease from the system. It allows the overtaxed system to start fairly on the road to health; it strengthens, it invigorates, it gives new tone to the system; it is food for the nerves and brain.

Mrs. J. Belanger, St. Henri, P.Q., for the second time writes regarding ing the cure of her daughter as follows:

"Eighteen months ago I sent you a testimonial in favour of your Pain's Celery Compound, which has quite restored my daughter to health and strength after other medicines had failed to cure her. I am pleased to inform you that the cure has been a permanent one and that my daughter owes her present good health to your life-giving medicine. I think more of Paine's Celery Compound today than ever before."

Strathcona's Friends Anxious.

London, Nov. 26.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian High Commissioner, is confined to his house with a severe cold, and his friends are anxious.

He but recently returned to England from Canada, after acting as host to the Duke of York. He was born in 1820, and is therefore 81 years of age. If his cold is severe, as the above despatch says, it is very probable that his friends have ample reason to be anxious.

Sir Thomas Lipton's Pluck.

London, Nov. 26.—"Should no one else challenge, I am willing to seriously consider making another attempt to lift the cup." This announcement was given out by Sir Thomas Lipton at the banquet at the Hotel Cecil in his honor last night, and which was attended by more that 400 guests.

"It would never do," added Sir Thomas, "to give up when only a pulse beat came between us and victory."

Blames Vaccination.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 26.—Benjamin Lachapelle, a Bell telephone lineman here, suffered paralysis two days after being vaccinated. He is getting somewhat better, but yesterday, five weeks after being vaccinated, he had to be carried from his bed to a chair. He is inclined to blame the vaccination, but Dr. Chabot, who vaccinated him, says the vaccination is not to blame, but likely a spinal trouble. Lachapelle is 56 years of age.

Has Faith in His Project.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—Capt. Bernier has left for Quebec, where he will take the Elder-Dempster steamship Banana for Bristol. From there he will proceed to London, where the captain expects to be able to raise the sum of $40,000 towards his North Pole project. After raising this sum, which he is confident will be obtained, Captain Bernier will return to Canada in time for the opening of Parliament.

Mostly Fortissimo.

Hunt—It seems strange to me to hear you criticise your wife's reflections as harangues, in view of the fact that in the earlier days of your married life you spoke of your wife's voice as the very soul of music.

Blunt—That's all right, too, but you see she's drifted from the Italian to the Wagnerian school.

The Only One Eligible.

Papa—So, Bobby, you're the president of your bicycle club. That's very nice. How did they happen to choose you?

Bobby—Well, you see, papa, I'm the only boy that's got a bicycle.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS...

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $100 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

Croup and Whooping Cough

Claim Scores of Thousands of Young Lives Every Year—Lives That Could as Well be Saved.

It is a serious question with every mother as to how she can best combat croup, whooping cough, bronchitis and similar ailments, which are sure to suddenly attack the little ones at times least expected. The hollow, croupy cough comes with frightful foreboding as it arouses the mother from sleep. She realizes the hopelessness of battling with a disease which often defies the most skilful physicians.

In croup above all other diseases prompt action is of the greatest importance imaginable. With Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine at hand any mother can effect almost instant relief when the children are struggling frantically for breath. By sheer force of merit it has won its way to popularity and is known throughout this continent as the most effective treatment for throat and lung troubles that science has ever devised.

CROUP.

Mr. W. McGee, 40 Wright Avenue Toronto, Ont., states: "There is no remedy, in my opinion, that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief. During the night he took several doses, and in the morning woke up bright, perfectly well and cheerful. I must say it is a wonderful medicine."

WHOOPING COUGH.

Mr. E. Hill, fireman, Berkeley Street Fire Hall, Toronto, says: "I desire to say in favor of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine that one of my children was promptly relieved of whooping cough, and as long as obtainable, will not be without it in the house, nor use any other medicine."

BRONCHITIS.

Mr. A. Wingfield, 71 Garden Avenue, Toronto, states: "My two children had bronchitis and were decidedly croupy. Two bottles of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine put them to rights again, and that quickly."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine

Is the most necessary preparation that can be kept in any house. For children and grown people alike it affords the most thorough and prompt relief for all affections of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. 25 cts. a bottle, family size, containing three times as much, 60 cts., at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THANKS-GIVING!

In gratitude to the generous people of Peterborough for the lion's share of the patronage bestowed on Gough Bros. during 1901, we intend to express our gratitude in a practical way. For the week preceding Thanksgiving Eve, we propose to UPSET ALL PAST STANDARD OF VALUES. We intend to retail Overcoats, Ulsters, Suits, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, Underwear, Neckwear, and Men's and Boys' Furnishings at prices LESS THAN WHOLESALE—in many cases less than the cost of production. This big double store will be teeming with buyers.

IT'S A CASE THAT WARRANTS UNBRIDLED ENTHUSIASM. We are bound to make it so—we will put it to a point that will do greater honour to this great store. If you don't want to buy come and look on. You can't stay away and be wide-awake. No matter when or where you see a bargain, we have a better one for you. But look sharp!—there'll be a run on the plums, and the ripest fruit is readiest to drop.

HUNDREDS OF TURKEYS WILL BE BOUGHT WITH THE MONEY SAVED AT GOUGHS' THANKSGIVING . SALE

The First Sleighing.

The light snow falls of the past few days have induced many to anticipate winter, and bring out their cutters. Though the snow will not probably last very long, it may be stated that the first sleighing last year was on Nov. 14th; in 1899, on Dec. 15th; 1898, on Nov. 11th; 1897, Nov. 19th; and in 1896, on Dec. 20th.

Where to Spend a Profitable Evening on Thanksgiving.

A recital and entertainment under the auspices of the Young Peoples' Union of the Murray street Baptist church, will be held in the church auditorium, on Thanksgiving evening, Thursday, Nov. 28th, at 8 p.m. sharp. Miss Gertrude Trotter, of Belleville, sister of a former pastor of the church, and graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music and School of Elocution, will be the principal entertainer of the evening. As a reader and reciter, she has proved herself capable of giving delightful satisfaction to the most critical audiences. She has a large repertoire of selections, ranging from the humorous and pathetic to the serious and tragic, and reliance can always be made upon her numbers being admirable. A most enjoyable musical programme has been prepared, and a pleasant and profitable evening is assured all those who attend. A silver offering will be taken at the door.

A PLEASANT EVENING.

The Programme at George Street Epworth League Last Night.

The Social Committee of George street Epworth League provided a very pleasant evening for the members and friends of the society last night. The duties of chairman were performed by Mr. F. H. Dobbin in his usual efficient manner, and a striking feature of the programme was that with the exception of two or three items, all the numbers given were impromptu. An excellent essay prepared by Miss R. M. Finley, traced the history of Thanksgiving celebrations from the early and middle ages down to the present time. Miss Mark and Messrs. Armstrong, Thewlis, Stubbs and Doidge, in two minute speeches on the subjects of "Man's inability to understand women's inability to understand herself," 'Would the establishment of a beet-sugar factory in Peterborough tend to make sweeter the dispositions of the young ladies of the town," "Why does bread always fall butter side down," etc., etc., demonstrated their ability to think quickly and provided much merriment for their hearers. The musical part of the programme consisted of a well executed piano solo by Miss Ida Sanderson, vocal duet by the Misses Grey and solos by Mrs. W. W. Daly and Mrs. McColl in their usual pleasing style, and a male quartette by members of the League choir. At the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served, and a half hour's social intercourse was enjoyed.

Next Monday evening Miss Fife will discuss the topic, "The Right Use of Ability," and a most excellent treatment of the subject may be expected.

A GIFTED VOCALIST.

A Soprano who has Appeared Before the Crowned Heads of Europe to Sing on Thanksgiving Day.

The managers of the Clachan Splore," or Scottish merry making concert, which is to be held in the opera house on Thanksgiving Day—afternoon and evening — have been very fortunate in securing Madame Bonvini's services for their event, judging from the following press comments:—

Toronto Saturday says: "Madame Bonvini's voice is wonderfully sweet, and took the audience by storm."

Musical and Dramatic World: — "Madame Bonvini was the star of the evening and displayed her splendid soprano voice to great advantage."

Liverpool Mail:—"Madame Bonvini sang the Cavative, "O Luce di Quest 'Anima" (Donizette) with skill. Her voice is strong, pure and of full compass, and her vocalisation accurate."

NAPOLEAN AS A WARRIOR.

Mr. H. Burnham's Lecture Before the T. A. Society.

A Rapid and Concise Account of the Various Wars in Which Bonaparte Participated.

The pleasant little hall, forming one of the suite of apartments occupied by the Total Abstinence Society of St. Peter's, was well filled last evening, as it was one of the society's periodical entertainments.

An address by Mr. Hampden Burnham, on "Napoleon," was the feature of the evening. Mr. Burnham handled his subject well, giving evidence of having carefully studied the career of "the Little Corporal," particularly in his capacity as a warrior. In the course of an hour or so the audience was taken quickly through the various stages of Napoleon's life and by the tone adopted by the speaker it was evident that not only is he a close student of history contemporaneous with the great wars of that period, but at the same time is a lover and admirer of Napoleon, whom, he claimed, last evening, stood in a class far above Wellington, as a general.

After briefly running over the particulars of Napoleon's birth at Corsica, and early life, the speaker urged that Bonaparte owed more to his own merits than to fortune, as when he asked the most of fortune, she had deserted him.

The relief of Toulon first brought Napoleon into the public eye, and he became the idol of the army to such a degree, that when about to enter Paris on the occasion of an outbreak the national guard which had been sent to capture him, turned instead and followed him. His career in Italy and successive defeats of the great Austrian armies were vividly described, and a word of censure pronounced in connection with Bonaparte's notorious defamation and spoilation of the Vatican.

The great Egyptian campaign was then described and the glorious return to Paris, and election as one of the three governing consuls.

A description of the second invasion of Italy followed concluding with the Peace of Amiens, after which Napolean was elected a Consul for life. Then came the breaking of the peace, and Bonaparte was in the field again The awful carnage of Oude and Austerlis preceded another declaration of peace as between Austria and Russia on the one side and France on the other. The Prussians, however, reopend hostilities resulting in Napolean vanquishing them and marching to Berlin, whence was issued the famous Berlin Decree, ostracizing England. As the result of the march into Poland by the French, the Russians, who were stated by the speaker, to have again broken the peace, were forced to sue for terms. Napolean then turned his eyes towards Spain and laid that country waste right in to Madrid, where his brother was placed on the throne. Austria took advantage of the leader's absence to again begin hostilities and Napolean hurried home leaving a large portion of his army behind him in Spain. A series of battles with the Austrians followed, in which the French were victorious. As Russia had again assumed the offensive, Bonaparte gathered up the greatest army ever led by one captain, and debouched into Russia with over 500,000 men—only 20,000 of whom he brought back with him the following year. Three hundred and thirty thousand perished and 170,000 were made prisoners by the Russians.

On reaching France, Napolean found that Blucher was once more ready to reopen hostilities, and he again gathered an army about him, but his star was on the decline and in order to save France, he abdicated being made Emperor of Elba, and promised a liberal subsidy. This stipulation was ignored by the powers, and Napolean's subsequent flight to France and the incidents leading up to Waterloo were well described by the lecturer, who closed his most interesting address with a very fine peroration on the genius of the great French general.

On motion of Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Rev. Dr. O'Brien, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Burnham.

A short but excellent musical programme was prepared for the evening, a portion of the numbers preceding the address and the balance being given afterwards. Those contributing were Mrs. George Ball, Major Miller, Mr. G. W. Mulligan, ladies' septette, and the T.A.S. Glee Club.

THE ROYAL CHORUS.

The Donations Were Received With Thanks—$42.50.

The officers of the Peterborough Rangers, as also the officers of the Children's Aid Society, have acknowledged with hearty thanks the receipt of $42.50, the proceeds of the Royal Chorus Concert recently held. One half of the amount will be paid into the bank account which stands in the name of Mr. J. D. Collins, treasurer of the Regimental Colour Fund, and will raise that fund to about $50. The other half has been paid over to Mr. Peter Campbell, treasurer of the Children's Aid Society.

THE SNOW BYLAW.

The Chief Intends Making Offenders Pay a Fine—The Recent Snow Fall.

The Chief of Police is determined that the provisions of the snow by-law shall be strictly adhered to, and intends waging a campaign upon those who fail to clean their sidewalks within the time specified by the said bylaw.

On Sunday the first real fall of snow of the season came. The merchants forgot about their places of business, perhaps, or forgot about the snow bylaw. Any way the streets within the limits specified by the snow bylaw were in a rather bad condition. No fewer than thirty names were obtained of those who did not clean their walks, and it was the intention of the Chief to have a sort of "red letter" day at the police court. But, in view of the fact that the day was Sunday, that it was the first fall of snow of the season, and that it came unexpectedly, no action, other than a warning, was taken. However this morning the Chief had 24 summonses made out against a number of persons who had not up until yesterday made any move in the matter. Whether or not these will yet be served is not certain, but the citizens will have to bear in mind that Peterborough has a snow bylaw, that there is no use in having a bylaw unless it is enforced, and that the local police department will see that it is enforced.

Your Floral Wants.

Can be promptly filled at the West End Greenhouses. In addition to a splendid regular every-day display of Carnations, Roses, Chrysanthemums, and many other fragrant plants, you will find many splendid new varieties here worth coming to see. Nice decorative plants, full of bud and bloom, that will bloom all winter. Flowers for Thanksgiving Day—flowers for wedding and table decorations, cut flowers for bouquets — flowers for the sick room — flowers and wreaths for funerals. Ring up phone 21B. A. Blade, manager at G. M. Rogers. Residence, 462 Park street.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

The Rugby team had an excellent practice last night, but it differed very considerably in many respects from the style of practices that have been indulged in of late. The gorgeous moonlight was too tempting for the pig skin chasers and instead of the regular indoor practice in the drill shed the boys spent an hour or more on Central Park. The ten or twelve inches of snow made the ball plainly visible in the moonlight and the boys went into the game with great determination. There was a good large turn out of players and they will go down to Montreal to play the game of their lives. Revell and Crowley will be on hand this time, and Paterson who has been moved to Belleville will go down by Grand Trunk. The team will leave here by C.P.R. to-morrow at midnight and will return on Friday morning.

The local club has received a communication from Rev. Mr. Bushel, an ex-member of the team, congratulating the boys upon their having won the O.R.F.U. championship.

HOCKEY.

The hockeyists oof the town are reminded of the fact that the annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club will be held in the skating rink at 8 o'clock this evening. A full attendance of members is requested.

In less than two weeks the annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association will be held in Toronto and already the clubs are nearly all organized for the season. The last day for receiving amendments to the constitution and rules of the game has come and gone. Several important ones have been handed in to Secretary Beaton. One proposes that instead of the referee receiving ten-cents a mile no matter what distance he travels, he should get $5 for any distance up to fifty miles and ten cents a mile for distances over fifty miles. Another amendment dealing with the referee provides that he is not to allow stoppages of over five minutes and that a substitute can be placed on a team during the first half in case of accident.

The Paris club as the result of the dispute last season with Stratford, seek a clever definition of the rule regarding tie games in a round.

It is possible that an effort will be put forth to secure the association's permission to play men belonging to junior leagues existing in a city, provided they file residence rules and other O.H.A. restrictions.

TENNIS.

A general meeting of the Peterboorough Tennis Club was held in the Y.M.C.A. last night. The attendance was quite large and enthusiasm displayed throughout the summer on the courts was not lacking in the Y.M.C.A. parlours in which the meeting was held.

The secretary's report showed that notwithstanding the unusually heavy expense in fitting up the courts, the club had the most successful season in its history, and the treasurer was able to report a small surplus. General discussion followed the reading of the secretary's report, and a committee was appointed to draft a constitution after which the meeting adjourned.

BASKET-BALL.

There was a splendid match last evening in the intermediate league series, when teams captained by Messrs. Cameron and Humphries, battled for honours. The game was exceedingly close, the latter team wining by 6 to 5. On Thanksgiving Day the gymnasium will be open from 9 a.m. for those desiring exercise. In the evening the intermediates will have three teams playing basket ball, the first match at 7.15 sharp, between teams Nos. 2 and 3, to decide a tie. At 8 o'clock the "Brownies" will play a team of intermediates at which a large crowd will likely attend. At the conclusion of this match there will be a local senior match.

"And the Band Played on."

And the chorus was "What's the matter with Charley LeGros? Ha's all right!" New customers dropping in every day to his Tony Tonsorial parlours. Additional swell automatic chair, making four altogether. Your pick of four artists to shave you or trim your hair, without any useless waiting. The latest toilet preparations for face and scalp, electric hair brushes, hot towels for everyone. These are a few of the luxuries that make up a combination that can't be beat anywhere in city or town. Shop recently enlarged and refurnished. Everything up-to-date, pight or day.

HANDSOME QUARTERS.

The Grand Trunk System's New Office in the Opera House Block.

Peterborough has had during the past year a number of handsome business offices added to its already complete list of establishments of various kinds, but, perhaps, none of them can surpass in point of elegance and convenience the new office of Mr. Wm. Bunton, the well-known up-town ticket agent of the Grand Trunk Railway System.

Mr. Bunton is now settled in his new quarters and is better able to administer to the needs of the travelling public than ever.

The Grand Trunk agency is still in the opera house block, George street, but is situated just one door south of the old quarters, the number being 324. The outside appearance of the office alone strikes one as being fitted up and furnished in greater style than is the ordinary office.

The handsome large gilt letters on the plate glass window attract the attention of the passer by, but it is when one enters the inside that the beautiful apartments are more appreciated. The large general office is finished off in the most artistic manner. The paper is of a pretty shade of blue, with a handsome border, which produces a very harmonising effect. The electrical fittings are costly looking, and send a glow of light on the beautiful roll top desks, finished off in the natural colour of ash.

A handsome new counter is the work of Mr. Jas. Graham, and is being much admired. Mr. Bunton has also an elegant and neatly furnished private room to the rear of his general office, and which he can occupy with every degree of comfort and convenience.

Vault accommodation and fixtures of various kinds make the Grand Trunk agency in the Opera House Block, one of the most up-to-date looking offices in the country.

AN ASSEMBLY.

The Young Men of Ashburnham Gave an Enjoyable Dance Last Night.

A very successful assembly took place in the Ashburnham town hall last night, about 60 couples being present. The affair was the first of a series that will be given by the bachelors of Ashburnham, and they promise to be most enjoyable. The music was furnished by Messrs. A. E. Talbot, Charles Wesley and W. Ferguson, whilst Messrs. Thos. Calvert and Harry Gainey performed the duties of Masters of Ceremonies.

Refreshments were served and dancing was continued until the early morning hours.

The next dance by the Ashburnham young bachelors will be looked forward to with pleasure.

The committee which had the arrangements in hand was composed of Messrs. R. Byers, Robert Gilman, and Thos. Calvert.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Frank MacPherson was in Lindsay yesterday on business.

Mr. C. M. Peterson left this morning for his new post of duty in Belleville.

Mr. A. P. Choate, of Toronto, is in town to-day making an investment in Peterborough real estate.

Lieut.-Col. Drury, of Kingston, was in town last night inspecting the stores of the 14th Field Battery. He was accompanied by Major N. F. MacNachtan.

Mrs. Robt. Morrison and children leave town this evening to join her husband in Montreal, who is now permanently employed in the Canadian General Electric Co's works in that city.

Lindsay Post: Capt. Boyd, of Toronto, an officer of the Marine Department, and Mr. Errett, of Peterborough, district measurer of tonnage, were in town to-day on official business.

BLOOD POISON

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore Throat, Ulcers on the Tongue or in the Mouth, Hair Falling Out, Aching Pains, Itchiness of the Skin, Sores or Blotches on the Body, Eyes Red and Smart, Dyspeptic Stomach, Sexual Weakness—indications of the second stage. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time, only to break out again, when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over twenty years. No experiment, no risk—not a "patch-up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited. We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Sexual Weakness, Blood Poison, Stricture, Varicocele, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and all diseases peculiar to men and women.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—There were about 800 head of butchers' cattle, 25 calves and 1000 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were slow in coming out, and trade was dull, with very little demand for any excepting the best cattle, a few of which were sold at from 4c to 4¼c per lb., but these were much better than any offered here last Thursday. Medium cattle sold at from 3½c to near 4c per lb.; common stock at from 2½c to 3c per lb., and the canners paid from 1½c to 2c per lb. for the lean cows and small bulls.

The calves were rather a poor lot, being nearly all grassers, and not very good at that. They sold at from $3 to $6 each.

Sheep sold from 2½c to 3c per lb., and the lambs at from 3c to 3¾c per lb. Fat hogs were rather scarce and sold at about 5¾c per lb., weighed off the cars. A few choice lots brought 6c per lb.

Lives With His Back Broken.

London, Nov. 25.—Joseph Hetherington of Egerton street received terrible injuries in an accident at Piccadilly and Adelaide streets Saturday morning. He was driving by the place in a buggy, when a huge willow tree that men were cutting down fell upon him, inflicting injuries which he is not expected to survive. His back was broken in two places. He was removed to Victoria Hospital, where his body was placed in a plaster cast. The skull is believed to have been fractured as well.

Lost With 200 Passengers.

Manila, Nov. 25.—The local steamer Alerta, with 200 passengers, including some discharged American soldiers from Olongapo, Subig Bay, to Manila, is believed to have been lost.

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and Itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase — America's Greatest Physician.

He Was Too Slow.

Magistrate—Your husband charges you with assault.

Madam—Yes, your honor. I asked him if he would always love me, and he was so slow in answering that I hit him with a mop. I'm only a woman, judge, and a woman's life without love is a mere blight.

Her Gentle Hint.

"I don't believe you love me a bit," sobbed his wife.

"But I do, darling. I"—

"Don't tell me. It's unnatural you should. No man could love a woman who wears such old hats as I do."

Worked Both Ways.

"It's a poor rule that won't work both ways," said the old gentleman as he stood the boys up back to back and operated the ruler so that it caught one or the other of them, both going and coming.—Chicago Post.

But Not From Her.

"Well, what on earth did he marry for?"

"For sympathy."

"And he didn't get even that?"

"Oh, yes, from his friends!"—Philadelphia Press.

A CORDIAL RECEPTION.

The Book Agent Got One That Wasn't Intended For Him.

There is a farmer living just north of Evanston and a book agent somewhere in the cosmopolitan desert of Chicago each of whom feels that he is a victim of a cruel circumstance.

Last week the farmer had a note from a nephew to say that the boy would visit the farm on Thursday. Uncle and nephew had not met for fifteen years, and the old man drove to the station in his most uncomfortable coat that he might welcome his sister's child. But the young man failed to arrive. After waiting till the last passenger had disappeared the old man drove away, disappointed.

The book agent entered into the dramatis personæ early the next morning. Looking over the top rail of the barnyard gate, he called, "Hello, uncle!"

The book agent never got such a reception before in all his life. The farmer flung the gate wide open, seized the agent's hand and pressed a whiskered kiss on the ironclad cheek.

"Say, this must be heaven," murmured the agent, following the farmer into the house and explaining that everybody at home was as well as could be expected. Not till the agent was full of a boiled dinner and attempted to sell a book did the farmer begin to see a dim light. Charged with impersonating the missing nephew, the agent explained that he greeted all elderly strangers as "uncle;" that he even had a few almost real ones in South Clark street in Chicago.

When last seen by the farmer, the agent was still running, and when the real nephew does come he may find an electric current in the latchstring.

THE POPULAR DRUG STORE.

Strict attention to every detail of the Drug business, low prices, and giving our people just the thing they ask for, have all contributed to make our establishment the popular drug store of the town. Physicians' prescriptions filled with accuracy and dispatch. We invite you to call and examine our large stock of Perfumes and new Toilet preparations.

Paine's Celery Compound.

At this time when thousands are suffering from headache, nervousness, dyspepsia, impure blood, liver complaint and kidney troubles, we can strongly recommend Paine's Celery Compound. This wonderful medicine is the prescription of an eminent physician. Try one bottle; it will give you cheering results. Our stock of Paine's Celery Compound is always fresh. Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough, Ont.

The Best Man.

For the origin of "the best man at a wedding" we must go back many centuries, to days when it was the amiable practice of the budding bridegroom to dispense with the consent either of the lady or her father. He simply waited for a suitable opportunity to capture her and make a bolt with his bride. In this enterprise he found it helpful to have the services of a friend who would assist him in the capture and keep the pursuers at bay until he had got a sufficiently long start. This friend was the prototype of the "best man" of our own unromantic day, when his duties are limited to seeing that the bridegroom doesn't leave the ring behind him or leave the church without taking his hat with him. How times do change!

A Great Mistake.

The old idea of taking blood thinning compounds in order to purify the blood, is an error, as the system is thus left in a vitiated condition. Merrill's System Tonic not only purifies the blood in a thorough manner, but the iron contained in it again enriches the blood leaving one with a lot of good rich red blood. 50 pleasant to take doses 50c at Ormond & Walsh's pharmacy.

Another Dear Old Theory Shattered.

"You can't," he argued, because he thought he was a philosopher, "get something from nothing."

"Oh, I don't know about that," she replied, picking a long yellow hair from his shoulder. "This is pretty near it."—Chicago Record-Herald.

What She Wanted to Know.

She (after the engagement)—Why did you happen to fall in love with poor little insignificant me?

He—Oh—er—because you are not like the other girls, for one reason!

She—D-did the other girls all refuse you?—Chicago News.

In a Nutshell.

"How did you like the finale to my first act?" inquired the playwright.

"I didn't see it," replied the first nighter.

"Ah! Got there too late, eh?"

"No; went away too soon."—Philadelphia Press.

A Friend's Advice.

Higgins (with his youngest in his arms)—They do say the little fellow looks like me.

Wiggins—Oh, well, I wouldn't mind what people say. The best way is not to notice 'em.

We Dispense Drugs of Standard Strength and Purity.

Our reputation in the drug business is established on sound and lasting principles. We give our customers just what they ask for, and guarantee all our drugs to be of standard purity. This means much when your doctor's prescriptions are to be filled. Buy your Perfumes, Toilet Requisites, Soap, Brushes, Combs, Atomizers, from us.

Our Best Seller.

We call special attention to Paine's Celery Compound, our best selling medicine. It is a true health and strength restorer for weak and run-down people. It gives that buoyancy of spirits and nerve energy so necessary for the establishment of sound health. Paine's Celery Compound stands far above all other medicines.

DANGEROUS FISHES.

THEY ARE NOT ALL CONFINED TO THE SEAS THAT ARE SALTY.

The Alligator Gar Is One Fresh Water Species That Is Feared In the South—A Mysterious Monster That Inhabits a Michigan Lake.

So far as any danger from the game is concerned, fresh water fishing has always been looked upon as about as safe as any sport in the world, and the fresh water fish has gone on record as harmless and nonresistant. But there are instances now and then when the fish turns the tables. The inhabitants of Osceola county, Mich., who live in the neighborhood of Lake George, an inland water about three miles long, are almost superstitiously afraid of a certain fish that inhabits that lake. No one knows what sort of fish it is, and opinion locally is divided as to whether it is a giant muskellunge or a sturgeon.

Spearing parties had now and then reported seeing a very large fish without being able to strike it, but no one gave credence to the tales until one night several years ago, when a party of sportsmen from Chicago went on the lake spearing in charge of an old resident named Armstrong.

Armstrong was the only one that returned to tell the story. He said the party was spearing in shallow water when they saw an enormous fish that resembled an overgrown pickerel. Two of the Chicago men were standing in the bow, and at first supposed the fish to be a log. Then one saw his mistake and struck with all his might. The fish gave a dart that made the boat jump as though a steam engine were pulling it. If the man had let go of the spear, all would have been well, but he hung on, and the fish gave a mighty flop to right angles with the boat. The man still held to the spear, with the result that the boat capsized, and the men found themselves standing in mud and water up to their waists.

The light went out when the boat upset, and, the night being dark and cloudy, not one of the party had any idea of the direction to be pursued in reaching shore. The shallow water occupies a large part of the lake, and they could wander in any direction without being able to tell whether or not they were nearing shore. Armstrong said afterward that nothing could equal the awfulness of the experience that followed. They made their way in one direction after another and wandered round and round, going half way to their knees in mud at every step.

To make matters worse a cold, steady, drizzling rain began to fall. They were soon numb to the marrow. Then one of the sportsmen dropped without a word, and no one went to his help. Little by little the three that remained were separated. Armstrong says he himself became unconscious after a time and remembers nothing that happened until he was roused by feeling solid ground beneath his feet and finding that the water was more shallow than it had been. He kept on and fell upon the shore. Then on hands and knees he crawled to camp and gave the alarm. Search was at once made for his companions, and their bodies were recovered. Since that time the big fish with a scar on his back has twice or thrice been seen by spearing parties, but they have passed it by.

There is one species of fish in the south that is feared only little less than its salt water contemporary the shark. This is the alligator gar. It grows to enormous size and has a bill hard and bony and much broader than the bill of the common gar of northern waters. One who goes out upon the lakes of Louisiana and Arkansas will see them jumping and splashing like enormous trout. Their usual food consists of fish, and they not only make endless trouble for those who go fishing with minnows, but have been known to round up and tear to pieces bass which the sportsman has hooked. Bathing in the lakes is considered dangerous.

A negro was sitting in the stern of a boat on a lake near Helena, Ark., letting his feet hang over the stern, when a gar grabbed him by one leg. The man hung to the boat until rescued, but his leg was horribly gashed. The fish have been known to attack in like manner negroes who went swimming in the Mississippi below New Orleans. One spring the writer was visiting a rice plantation on the "lower coast" of the Mississippi when an old negress came wailing to the house and said her five-year-old boy was dead. He had been playing at the edge of a bayou and was lying on the bank extending his arms into the water when a gar came with a rush and, grabbing the youngster by the arm, pulled him into the water. A young negro with a shotgun was standing near watching for ricebirds. He ran to the bank. The fish found it had undertaken a bigger task than it could well manage, and a wild struggle was in progress between the gar and the dying child. The negro shot the fish, but the child died before it could be taken from the water.

The Right of Defense.

In the course of a trial an English judge is reported to have said: "The laws of God and man both give the party an opportunity to make his defense, if he has any. I remember to have heard it observed by a very learned man upon such an occasion that even God himself did not pass sentence upon Adam before he was called upon to make his defense. 'Adam,' says God, 'where art thou? Hast thou eaten of the tree whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldest not eat?' And the same question was put to Eve also."

ONE MAN'S LUCK.

Steered Into a Junior Partnership by a Chance Gust of Wind.

"Speaking of taking in partners," said a downtown business man, "our junior was, you might say, blown in on us, and I saw him started in our direction, though I had no idea of it at the time.

"Going down town one summer morning on a Ninth avenue elevated train I saw sitting opposite to me a young man who caught my fancy, a substantial, earnest, straightforward looking chap, whose looks I liked first rate. He was reading a paper, and presently he tore off from his paper an advertisement leaf that he didn't want and threw it out of a window or tried to, for as a matter of fact it didn't go out. A gust of wind with just the right twist to it came along at just that moment and blew the paper back, to fall on a vacant seat next to him.

"And as it fell something in it caught his eye, and he picked up that part which he had just been trying to throw away and began earnestly to read it and ended up by folding it carefully and putting it in his pocket.

"About four minutes after I'd got in here that morning this same young man walks in and applies for a place that we had been waiting for somebody to fill. Our advertisement for a man for it was in that paper which I had seen this young man try to throw away, and which a gust of wind, by one chance in a million or more, had blown back upon him and in such a manner as to fix his attention.

"As a matter of fact I hadn't liked the young man's act of throwing the paper out of an elevated car window. A paper floating down and around as that would do might frighten horses and lead to no end of trouble and lots of damage, but no one man thinks about everything, and he'd learn better about this, I knew, and so as a matter of fact I took this young man on the spot on my first impressions of him. He far more than made good and in due course of time he came into his junior partnership, literally and truly blown into it.

"Sort o' queer, eh?"

Diluting Tea.

Few housekeepers remember, as they should, that when it is necessary to dilute strong tea it should be done with water at the boiling point. The poor flavor of tea, made strong at first and then reduced, such as is too often served at receptions and "at homes," is usually caused by the addition of hot, not boiling, water to the first infusion. A lesson in this matter may be had from the Russians, who serve the most delicious tea in the world, and who prepare it first very strong, making it almost an essence of tea. This is diluted to the strength wished, with water kept boiling in the samovar. This water is not allowed to boil and reboil, but is renewed as needed. Freshly boiled water is insisted upon by all connoisseurs in teamaking.

Her One Request.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Terkins, "there is one favor I want to ask you. I hope you will realize it is for your own good and not get angry."

"What is it?"

"I want you to solemnly promise me that you will never bet on a horse that isn't going to win."

It Makes Weak Women Strong.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he did me no good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION.' When I had used the medicine a month my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of house-work. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

CARDS AND BIBLES.

The Queer Stock In Trade of a Peddler in Kentucky.

"Not long ago," remarked a traveling man, "I went up picturesque Kentucky river on a little steamboat which runs from Louisville to Frankfort. By the way, there isn't a wilder or more beautiful stream in the whole country than that same Kentucky river. The boat passes through eight or ten government locks during the trip. On the boat I encountered a queer old customer, a long bearded, grizzled Kentuckian, who was full of interesting reminiscences.

"'Once on a time,' he said, 'I made a heap o' money up an' down this little ole river—a-peddlin'.'

"'What did you peddle?' I asked.

"'Keards,' he answered; 'playin' keards an' Bibles.'

"That was a queer stock in trade,' was my comment. 'How did you happen to have such a mixed lot as that?'

"'I bought it at a auction down t' Leo'sville,' he explained. 'The auctioneer lumped 'em, so I had to take 'em. But I got rid of 'em—yes, siree, ev'ry one of 'em. People along this river is allus wild for playin' keards. I sold 'em playin' keards fer two dollars a pack. They went off rapid, ev'ry one of 'em, yes, siree, an' I didn' have nary Bible left on hand nuther.'

"'How much did you get for your Bibles?' I asked.

"'Laws,' the reminiscent Kentuckian explained, 'them Bibles went off rapid too. I give 'em away with th' keards.'" ination that will not give credence to every malicious report that may be afoot, but be loyal to the hospital and give credit where credit is due. I thank you for your kind attention.

REV. MR. LANGFELDT.

Miss Nellie Davies sang in good form a selection entitled "A Dream," after which Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, delivered a most interesting address to the graduates and to the guests of the evening. The reverend gentleman said:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen,

It gives me, indeed, much pleasure to have been called upon to address this audience on the occasion of the graduating exercises in connection with the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses. As a new-comer to this pretty and progressive city of Peterborough, I hail the opportunity of expressing my admiration of the benevolent work carried on in the Nicholls Hospital, and I wish most sincerely that God's richest blessings may rest upon it. As it was inaugurated by a citizen of Peterborough, a noble and charitable lady, now gone to her rest, we citizens of Peterborough, naturally take a great interest in the welfare and efficiency of our hospital, and the large attendance here to-night manifests this interest, and also the gratification at the result of another year's work.

To-night we are gathered together to witness the interesting ceremony of making graduates of six young ladies, who have trained for that noble and self-sacrificing profession of nursing the sick—a Christ-like work, indeed! One of the characteristics of the ministry of Christ was to heal the sick. It was not accidental or inevitable; nothing in His work was accidental, all was deliberate, all had an object. Nothing in His work was inevitable, except so far as it was freely dictated by His wisdom and His mercy. We may infer with reverence and certainty that Christ's first object was to show Himself as the Deliverer and Restorer of human nature as a whole—not of the reason and conscience merely, without the imagination and the affections, not of the spiritual side of man's nature, without the bodily; and therefore he was not only Teacher, but also Physician. What is the present function of the human body? We see in it at once a tabernacle and an instrument; it is the tabernacle of the soul, and the temple of the Holy Ghost, and thus the human body is, in our idea, itself precious and sacred; it is an object of true reverence, if only by reason of Him Whom it is thus permitted to house and to serve. And, again, there is the destiny of the body. As we Christians gaze at it, we know that there awaits it the humiliation of death and decay; we know also that it has a future beyond; the hour of death is the hour of resurrection. The reconstruction of the decayed body presents to us no greater difficulties than its original construction, and if we ask the question, how it will be, we are told upon what is for us sufficient authority, that our Lord Jesus Christ "shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto His glorious body, according to the working whereby He is able to subdue all things unto Himself."

You, my friends, have chosen your life's work. Considering the nature of it—the care of the human body, which is a temple of the Holy Ghost—I have no doubt that God has guided you in the matter, and that in following your profession you are determined, first of all, to glorify God, and follow the footsteps of your Redeemer. I wish to leave with you to-night a message, which will make real to you the sacredness of work. We have it from the lips of our Saviour that the Son of Man has left "to every man his work." And, Oh, what a world it would be without "work!" What a weariness! What a hot bed of every bad passion! What a torment! They best know what a worthlessness of existence it is—who are finding the tedium of an aimless life—who have no definite object—who are conscious of no mission given to them to fulfil—who are trying to eat bread without labour—who are seeking to obtain pleasure without toil—who are separating enjoyment from "work!" You will never succeed! You are the most miserable section of society! You are divorcing a union which God created at the first, and which Christ sealed—both by His life and by His teaching—"man and work." You may read your Bible, but it will never yield you its inner meaning without work. You may pray, but prayer will be nothing without a holy vigilance! You may seek, but you will not find if the importunity does not go to the point of agony! You may educate, but education will fail unless there be self-discipline and drill! You may set out to do good things, and lead a useful life, but it will all come to nothing, if it has not self-denial, and the Cross, and the sweat of the brow!

It is a world of stern reality, of "work!"

Many people are fond now to talk prettily of their "work." What is it? Is the whole man exercised? Is the mind taxed? Is the heart strained? Is the body weary? Is it what a labouring man, what a professional man having much practice, or a man of business, would call "work?" Is it one of life's agreeable excitements? The world, in another form? A sentimental stepping, just where pain and sacrifice, and downright fatigue begin?

And is that work? Did Jesus work? Does it fulfil the conditions of either Testament? Many of us have a great deal to learn what that word means—"work."

But I wish you to consider the subject very practically.

The first thing that our Lord's The first thing which our Lord's words suggest, is, that every living creature has its own proper work. "To every man his work."

Doubtless, as God dispenses it there is a wonderful fitness and propriety in what each of His servants has to do for Him—for it is to each one "according to his ability." It matches with his spiritual attainments. It is characteristically what suit him, and it is neither too little nor too much; enough to engage and occupy and draw out all his powers, and yet not enough to injure or distress them. If any one find his work either not sufficient to satisfy the consciousness which he has of his own capability, and to increase his own interest, or so severe a tension that his mind and body suffer from it, that man has reason to suspect that he has mistaken his vocation. He should refer it back to God to settle the question for him. "Am I in my right place? For Jesus' conditions are made with such knowledge of man, with such sympathy and tenderness, such exquisite consideration and balance, that, as He meant it, and He gave it, there is always aptitude,—"the man made for the work, the work made for the man," "to every man his work."

Therefore, it is of first importance to be sure in any work, that it is yours—the work which God has given you. And, now, to settle that satisfactorily, two conditions must be fulfilled. There must be the vocation of the heart, and there must be the vocation of circumstance.

In other words, your own conscience and spiritual conviction must tell you, after prayer and thought, that you are called to it.

Then your own position and means must be suited, and your education and habit of mind accommodated to it.

If these two things unite, you may be perfectly sure that your "work" is given you, and you may accept it from God as much as if you heard God audibly say it to you, "Do this for Me."

I need not say what an immense strength to the mind it is to carry that simple conviction. A man's judgment may guide me to it; a man's mouth may speak to me of it; a man's hand may present it to me—but it is from God.

For, whether it be an affection which you allow, or whether it be a joy which you bear, or whether it be a "work" which you do, to accept it from God, to hold it in God, and to consecrate it to God, this—this three-fold call—makes it safe, right, holy, happy. It is enough—it is a work, your work, God's work.

That, once established, you must resolve that, from that moment, you will not be shaken by results, nor judged by consequences; with these you have nothing to do. The "work" is your own, the issue is God's. But, as respects the work—that it is your work—never again raise the question. "Work" with faith — for faith is confidence, and confidence is calmness, and calmness is power, and power is success, and success is God's glory.

Every Christian should love "work" for work's sake, independent of its effects. Is not Christ in it? Is it not done for His dear sake? Is not His Presence there? Is it not the practice for the higher exercises of a loftier life? Therefore work is in itself happy.

The composition of "work" is love, prayer and effort. If there be no love, it may be "work," but it is not Christian work; if there be no prayer, it may be "work," but it is not consecrated work; if there be no effort, it is not "work," worthy the name.

Prayer without work, is presumption; work, without prayer, is infidelity.

And so, my friends, in closing, let me address a few personal words to you who have graduated, and who are entering upon your life's work. In this noble profession you must work, as if the character and success of the work depended entirely upon the energy you throw into it, with your whole mind, all your intellect, all your affections, all your powers. You must pray as those who know that the results of work are just as God makes them, and it will be all—either the most miserable failure, or the highest success—according as He is pleased to give or withhold His blessing. There is underlying your work of nursing the sick another work, and the truest and the sweetest of every work that anyone ever does, is the work within—between your soul and God.

Never sacrifice the inner to the outer life—for if you do, both you and your work will suffer detriment.

Work from Christ; work for Christ; but, much more, work with Christ, and work in Christ.

Work as one who has not only the Presence of Christ, but Christ a fellow-worker. You are fellow-workers with the Greatest Worker that ever slaved upon this earth. You are fellow-workers with saints and angels, and, much more, you are fellow-workers with the omnipotence of Jesus.

Go on, then, in the name of the Master, in the power of His might, and be assured that though your path be sometimes steep and your progress slow, yet final victory will be yours. May the abiding presence of Jesus strengthen and support you upon your way and lead you nearer the perfection of consecrated work.

Be loyal and faithful to your Alma Mater, and remember that her good reputation depends upon the honour and efficiency of her graduates. May she never be ashamed of you, for you need never be ashamed of her.

At the conclusion of Rev. Mr. Langfeldt's excellent address, Miss Edmison rendered a piano solo. The interesting ceremony of presenting the diplomas and medals to the graduates was then proceeded with, each nurse raised her right hand at the same time repeating after the chairman the following words:—

"I do hereby solemnly affirm, that I shall endeavour, in my life and conduct, and by a faithful discharge of my duties as nurse, to honour the diploma—to be this day conferred upon me—that I accept the medal awarded me, acknowledging that I shall hold it, subject to the will and pleasure of the authorities, that I shall cherish a feeling of loyalty to the Training School for Nurses, of the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, and do whatsoever within me lies to promote its wellbeing and prosperity."

As the nurses were given their diplomas and medals one at a time they received hearty applause from the audience and huge bouquets of roses, etc., were forwarded to the front to the new graduates. They acknowledged the receipt of the same in a becomingly modest manner, and the programme was continued by the rendering of a vocal selection by Miss Belleghem, entitled "Whisper and I shall hear," which was sung in Miss Belleghem's usual excellent manner.

THE VALEDICTORY.

Miss Lillian Staples had the honour of reading the valedictory address, by reason of her having come out first in her examinations.

Miss Staples read her address in a clear voice plainly audible throughout the hall. It was as follows:

Of the six of us who have the honour of constituting the Graduating Class of the Nicholls Hospital for the first year of the 20th century, I have been selected to prepare and deliver the valedictory address.

While this duty involves an honour I very heartily appreciate, it is one for which I feel myself ill qualified, since, to give fitting expression to the feelings which such an occasion as this naturally excites in our hearts, is beyond the power of expression of any words which I can command. But as our training in the noble work to which we have committed our lives, makes the call of duty the first to be obeyed, I have undertaken, what according to usage, becomes in my case a duty, I trust I shall be able to intelligently, and at the same time, respectfully present, the views and opinions with which our three years of training and service have impressed us in relation to the promotion of the interests of the Nicholls Hospital by facilitating the beneficent work its generous foundress intended it to accomplish. While the thanks of the Graduating Classes are generally due to all those who have taken an interest in their work, the class of 1901 feel that we should be lacking in grateful appreciation if we failed to recognize the obligations we owe to the Board of Managers. To these gentlemen, we are deeply indebted for the especial interest they have manifested in our training, and the practical and thoughtful assistance they have so continuously rendered. Here I might be permitted to digress a moment to refer to the sad vacancy which the hand of death has created in the membership of the Board by the removal of Mr. R. S. Davidson from the scene of his earthly duties. On behalf of the class I wish to express our deep sense of the loss we feel that we have individually suffered by the withdrawal of his faithful services, and his genial and kindly personal presence from the personnel and councils of the Board, and in the same behalf, I wish to convey to Mrs. Davidson a sense of our sympathy in the bereavement she has experienced.

You are doubtless aware that we have in connection with the Nicholls Hospital an alumni association. It is in a flourishing condition, and has added a number of new names to its roll during the year.

We wish to express to the Lady Superintendent, Miss Bolster, our appreciation and most cordial thanks for the careful training she has bestowed upon us during our novitiate. She has been energetic and faithful in her teaching relations to us, and so earnest has been her solicitude for our progress that we feel that the interest thus shown within the walls of the Nicholls Hospital will follow us in the wider sphere of activity upon which we now enter.

We would also affectionally congratulate our nurse in charge, Miss Wilmot, upon her restoration to health, and to her ability to resume the duties she discharges so faithfully, both in relation to those under her care and to those associated with her.

Nor would we forget the examining physicians and, indeed, the entire medical staff, with whom we have come into association in the work of the hospital for the past three years. We can testify that we have invariably received from them not only every possible courtesy, but, what is more important, we have received from them valuable instruction, both in the lecture room, and the wards.

A class of nurses cannot always be together. The pleasant features of their associations must give way to the call of duty in the various spheres of usefulness for which our training has, we hope, fitted us. We have now crossed the Rubicon of life, our commissions as officers in the great army of healing we now hold in our hands. We are consecrated to a noble work—by the language of our motto, "Deo et Humanitate," for God and Humanity—and as we do our duty and give effective service to suffering humanity, we shall at the same time do work pleasing to Him who on earth was the Friend and Healer of the sick and afflicted. We go forth to our lifework with pleasant recollections of the associations connected with our preparation for it; we go forth with earnest hearts and firm in our faith in the aid of the Great Healer, and trust that with His help, with the help of our training, and with the help of healthy bodies and earnest hearts, we may do credit to our alma mater, to ourselves, to our town and to our sex, and that in our work we may realise a claim to the title of "ministering angels," with which the immortal poet has glorified womanhood as expressed in the words:

O, woman, in our hour of ease,
Uncertain, coy, and hard to please,
But, Oh, when anguish wrings the brow,
A ministering angel, thou.

A piano solo by Miss Georgie Denistoun closed the programme portion of the entertainment, and the graduates were at once beseiged by their hosts of friends, who were anxious to extend to them their heartiest congratulations.

Refreshments were served and a half hour or more was spent in social intercourse.

Mr. John Crane very kindly acted as accompanist for the evening.

Altogether the graduating exercises of 1901 will go on record as being most successful, and the Lady Superintendent, the Board of Management, and the ladies who so kindly assited with the refreshments, can congratulate themselves upon the delightful manner in which the affair passed off.

The graduating class were photographed this morning at Roy's.

ESCAPED IN NIGHT CLOTHES.

A Blaze on Harvey Street Last Night.

TWO FRAME HOUSES BURNT.

Mr. Robert Jones and Family had a Close Call From Being Burned to Death—Origin of Fire a Mystery.

A fire that proved to be disasterous enough but which came very nearly being attended by more serious consequences, occurred between 12.30 and 1 o'clock this morning at Nos. 12 and 14 Harvey street, just north of McDonel street, and the escape of Mr. Robert Jones and his family from an awful fate was none too soon.

Mr. Jones owned and occupied the frame house at No. 12 Harvey street. It consisted of the usual living apartments down stairs whilst to the rear of the house proper was a large kitchen, and to the back of this again there was a bedroom in which Mr. and Mrs. Jones and three small children, the eldest being not more than 4 years, slept. Before Mr. Jones retired for the night he took a look into the dining room in which there was a wood stove, and into the kitchen in which there was a coal range. Everything was, to all appearances, in the usual good order. This was at about 10.30 o'clock. It was about 12.30 o'clock when Mr. Jones' baby awakened its parents by crying, and they were immediately terrorized to find the house in a mass of flames. The smoke was almost suffocating and the Jones family escaped with only their night clothes on them. Mr. Jones was able to snatch a few other garments but beyond these not an article of any description was carried out of the house. The alarm was quickly given and Mr. Jones and his family made their way to his father-in-law's, Mr. Robert Duncan, on McDonel street, near at hand.

The fire brigade responded promptly to the call but their efforts in preventing the spread of the flames were greatly handicapped by the fact that owing to the anchor ice at the pumping station there was no water service. The steam fire engine was taken up to the London street bridge but in the meantime the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save in the slightest manner Mr. Jones' residence, whilst the frame house to the north owned by Mr. F. J. Jamison and occupied by Mr. Robert Mein, was going very fast. The firemen and the many citizens who were by this time on the scene, managed to remove the greater portion of the contents of Mr. Mein's residence. Finally the stream of water from the steam fire engine and another stream from the water works which were at last put in working order, got the fire under control, and prevented any further damage.

The snow on the roofs of the other houses near at hand was the only thing that saved many of them from falling victims to the fiery element. As it was a house at 92 McDonel street, owned by Mr. George Hatton, and occupied by Matthew Donohugh, was damaged considerably.

Mr. Jones' house, as before stated, is a total wreck, and in addition he lost all his household effects. His loss is, to some extent, covered by insurance, there being $700 on the house and $420 on the contents.

Mr. Mein's furniture was damaged by the removal, whilst also a portion of it was consumed. He has $500 insurance. The house which was owned by Mr. F. J. Jamison, is almost a complete loss. There is insurance on the same to the extent of $600.

The fire must have originated from one of the stoves in Mr. Jones' residence, but how it made so much headway before being noticed is a difficult matter to understand. Mr. and Mrs. Jones and family, whilst their loss is a serious one, are thankful to have escaped even in the manner they did.

KILLED IN DETROIT.

Edgar Miller Former Goal Keeper of the Colts Hockey Team.

Twenty-six men are dead, five of them unidentified and so terribly burned and blackened that identification is almost impossible, and 24 other men are lying in the various hospitals of the city suffering from terrible cuts and burns and other injuries, all results of the explosion of one of the boilers in the Pemberthy Injector Company's plant, at the corner of Abbott street and Brooklyn avenue, Detroit, at 9.30 o'clock yesterday.

Among the number is Mr. Edgar Miller, son of Mr. J. H. Miller, town, who will be remembered by many as having played goal for the Colts' Hockey Team two winters ago.

Young Miller left here on the 17th of June last to seek work in Detroit. He had an uncle in that city, Mr. Edward Miller, with whom he boarded, and he found employment in the factory of the Pemberthy Injector Co. Yesterday his mother received a telegram from the young man's uncle informing her of the sad affair.

A brother of the deceased, Mr. Harry Miller, an employee of the Dickson Co., left at once to bring the remains to Peterborough.

Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

LATE JOHN R. KINDRED.

A Well Known Resident of Otonabee Passes Away.

In the demise of Mr. John R. Kindred, of Otonabee, which occurred yesterday morning, that township loses one of its most prominent residents.

The deceased has been suffering from a chronic ailment for some months, to which he finally succumbed.

The late Mr. Kindred's home was on lot 14, concession 13, Otonabee. He was born in the township about 55 years ago, and has resided there all his life. He married about 28 years ago, Miss Sarah, the daughter of Christopher Howson, who, together with two daughters and one son, are left to mourn his decease. The son is Mr. Harold C. Kindred, principal of the Havelock public school, and the daughters are Misses Elizabeth and Josephine at home. He also leaves two brothers, Messrs. W. A. and O. M. of town. Mrs. S. Vyvyan, of Midland, is a sister of the deceased.

The late Mr. Kindred was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and of the Methodist church. He was superintendent of the Sunday school in his neighbourhood for many years. While he never took part in municipal or public affairs of any kind, he was well known throughout the community as a straightforward and representative gentleman, and by his genial personality he won to his side a wide circle of friends, who will regret exceedingly to learn of his demise.

The funeral will leave the family residence at 1.30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon for the Keene Methodist church, where a short service will be held and thence to the Keene Cemetery.

A NOVEMBER WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Florrie Bacon and Mr. W. Butcher.

The home of Mr. H. B. Bacon, on Westcott street, was the scene of a merry gathering, last evening, it being the occasion of the marriage of his daughter, Miss Florrie, to Mr. W. Butcher, son of Mr. M. T. Butcher, of town.

The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Millie Bacon. Both wore gowns of dark navy blue serge, with bows of white silk ribbon on the left shoulder.

The groomsman was Mr. W. Peacock, while Master Wendell Braund, as page, carried a small silk-lined basket of carnations, in which the ring reposed.

The bride was given away by her father, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, in the presence of about sixty guests. The tables for the wedding dejeuner were most elaborately decorated. From a handsome cake in the centre vines of smilax were extended to each corner. Smilax also ran between rows of ribbon, and each corner of the tables was ornamented with a vase of carnations. During the evening there was vocal and instrumental music and Rev. Mr. Potter made a very neat address in proposing the health of the bride. The presents received were very handsome.

Armitage will give a series of sermons on "Isaiah, and the Advent," and 'Holy Communion," respectively. The Junior Girls' Guild will meet on Friday at 4.15 p.m. Choir practice this evening at 8 o'clock.

Flowers for Thanksgiving Day and Rugby Ball.

A beautiful display of all the beautiful flowers of the season for coming special events. Roses, carnations, cryzanthemums, etc. Also, ladies' shoulder and dress sprays, gentlemen's coat flowers, hand, opera and presentation bouquets, artistically made up of the choicest bloom. Loose cut flowers for table decorations. J. H. Cobb, Aylmer street Greenhouses. 'Phone 122. Open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

AT THE FORTNIGHTLY.

An Excellent Paper by Mr. Sheriff Hall Last Night—Next Meeting.

There was a fair attendance at the regular meeting of the Fortnightly Club in the Y.M.C.A. last night, when the treat of the evening was a very able paper on the life of Charles Lambe by Mr. Sheriff Hall.

The chair was taken by the Vice-President, Mr. J. Jeffries. After a short musical programme, comprising a piano solo by Miss G. Dennistoun, and a vocal selection by Mrs. Seward, the President, Mr. Sheriff Hall, read an able essay on the Life and Works of Charles Lambe. He described in eloquent terms his early difficulties, inability to receive a college education, his poverty, and his self-sacrifice throughout life to provide for his afflicted sister. Many well-chosen and illustrated extracts from the works of Lambe, and from correspondence with his friend Coleridge were introduced into the essay, and served to bring before the hearers the strongest evidence of the genius and character of the author.

At the close of the reading the chairman complimented Mr. Hall on his able handling of the subject, and a vote of thanks was heartily tendered him.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

At the next meeting of the club, it is expected that a lecture will be delivered by the Hon. David Mills.

DR. WANATA, of Lansing, Mich.

scribe the best, and I know and have proven that there is nothing in Materia Medica which equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female disorders, I unhesitatingly prescribe it, and have never yet been sorry. I know of nothing better for ovarian troubles and for falling of the womb or ulcerations; it absolutely restores the affected parts to their normal condition quicker and better than anything else. I have known it to cure barrenness in women, who to-day are happy mothers of children, and while the medical profession looks down upon 'patents,' I have learned, instead, to look up to the healing potion, by whatever name it be known. If my fellow physicians dared tell the truth, hundreds of them would voice my sentiments."—DR. WANATA, Lansing, Mich.

FROM HISTORIC HASTINGS.

Latest News Items From the Town on the Trent.

An Open Air Skating Rink—Personal Mention—Shipment of Turkeys —Other News.

Thanksgiving is now near at hand, it will be a holiday here, everybody will close their respective places of business. Services will be held both in the Presbyterian and St. George churches at 10.30 a.m. The day will be to the citizens of this borough one of universal Thanksgiving.

All the people of Hastings will on Thanksgiving Day,
Unite in one grand swelling hymn, and grateful homage pay,
For all the mercies of the year.

A number of the young men from here attended the ball held at Keene last week.

Rev. Father McCloskey, of Campbellford, while driving from here to that place met with an accident which necessitated his being confined to the house during the past week. His many friends here all hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. James Coughlan left Monday morning for Gilmour, where he has secured a position with the Rathbun Co. as clerk. Success to you Jim.

The snow which fell seemed to be appreciated by everybody, as sleigh bells could be heard in almost every direction, business seemed to be brisker and everybody in general was on the move.

Mr. R. Walsh shipped a large number of hogs from this station on Monday. Mr. Walsh handles a large number of hogs every year, which makes it a very profitable industry for the farmers of this section.

Rev. R. T. McGuire has been confined through illness to the house during the past week.

Miss Leete, of Port Hope, is the guest of Mrs. C. P. Fisher.

Miss Josie Duncan, if the Homeopathic Hospital, Syracuse, and her mother were the guests of Mrs. D. W. Anderson, last week.

Mr. P. Gillispie, who bought out the business of Mr. Geo. Tough, is now in our midst and has everything in full operation.

Messrs. Jno. Welsh & Co. shipped a large cargo of leather to England on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Clarry were in Toronto on Monday.

Mr. John Welsh left Tuesday for Chicago where he has secured a position with Marshall, Fields & Co., dry goods merchants, as clerk.

Rev. T. B. O'Connell, of Burnley, was the guest of Rev. P. T. McGuire on Thursday.

On Thursday of last week Messrs. Dundass and Flavelle Bros., of Lindsay, shipped a carload of turkeys from this station. Traffic was delayed for a short time owing to the large number of vehicles which blocked the way. The price paid was seven cents live weight, and was indeed highly appreciated by the farmers who did not go home with empty pockets. It is said that all that is now left, in the country are a few geese.

Everybody here will no doubt be pleased to know that Hastings will this year have an open rink. Mr. A. Fisher, has condescended to put one providing he can get patronage, which it is thought, he will have no trouble in securing. Late winters have been very dull here, but this winter the young people can spend many an enjoyable evening. Hockey will no doubt be all the rage, and many an exciting game can be looked forward to.

The Football Club intend giving Warkworth a call on Thanksgiving and, if possible, try to win. The team here is composed of some excellent players who always go in for victory. It is hoped however that they do not beat the little sister village too badly.

Mr. Joe Lonergan, of Warkworth, was in town on Tuesday. He intends leaving for Kansas on Thursday.

Mr. Odell, Public School Inspector, was in town on Thursday, and gave the school here a call. His report on the same was indeed good, for which all unite in congratulating Mr. Halligan and Miss Lancaster. He said the discipline in both rooms was good, the pupils seeing to take such an interest in all that was said. He also said that he was pleased to know that extension work was being taught by Mr. Halligan, but he said he thought that two years should be given to this examination instead of one. Before leaving he distributed the entrance certificates obtained by the pupils at the examinations held here last July, for which they all seemed pleased.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

The Council of the Township of North Monaghan met in the Town Hall on the afternoon of Monday, Nov. 18th, 1901. All the members were present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Accounts were presented as follows:—

A. McDonald, material for culvert, $———; P. Hamilton Co., repairs to road-grader, $4.20; F. L. Scollie, damages to crop, drawing gravel $2.50; Sawyer-Massey Co., repairs to road-grader, $1.85; Judge Weller, costs, Court of Revision on Assessment Roll, $6.00; G. Carton, goods, charity for the Close family, $1.50; Geo. Trotter, half cost of repairs to South Monaghan boundary road, $6.36; Jas. Laing, half cost of repairs to the South Monaghan boundary road, $5.77.

Council then adjourned until the statutory meeting on December 16, at 1.30 p.m.

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Strikers in Egypt.

Cairo, Nov. 27.—A strike of working tailors, which began here yesterday has caused quite a sensation in the city. The tailors demand higher wages. The strikers paraded the streets, to the great astonishment of the native population. Hitherto strikes have been of rare occurrence in Egypt, and it is feared that the example may spread to other industries.

Found Dead.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—William Ranstead, 65 years of age, night watchman for the Bronzen Company, was found dead yesterday morning in the cellar of the office. He was a sufferer from asthma, and it is supposed that a spasm seized him and that death followed.

C. J. Thornton Nominated.

Bowmanville, Nov. 27.—The West Durham Liberal-Conservative convention unanimously selected Charles Jonas Thornton of Kerby, Clarke Township, to contest the riding in the Conservative interest at the ensuing bye-election. Mr. Thornton was the candidate at the election in 1900, but was unseated by the courts for bribery by an agent.

Last night Hon. George E. Foster addressed a full house on public questions. After presenting the claims of the candidate on the electors, he spoke at considerable length on the history of the Liberal-Conservative party and its attitude on public questions.

TORONTO HARBOR.

Hon. Mr. Tarte Says the City Must Do Its Share.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—"You must cooperate with the Government in a general plan for the improvement of Toronto Harbor.

"You must bear your share of the undertaking, as does the City of Montreal.

"I am prepared to make Toronto what it should be, if the city will do its share.

"The Don is a municipal affair; it is not a navigable river.

"The city's undertaking to remove all the sewage it deposits in the harbor is not a satisfactory arrangement, and the Government will not enter upon the improvement of Toronto Harbor upon such terms.

"Cleaning the harbor with dredges is not a satisfactory method, and you have yet to submit to me a satisfactory method of keeping the harbor clean.

"You cannot get the Government or the House of Commons to do anything for Toronto Harbor until you make it a clean harbor."

So replied Hon. Mr. Tarte to representatives of the City Council, Board of Trade and the Harbor Commissioners, who had asked that the harbor be put into condition befitting its importance as a shipping port. Afterwards the Minister of Public Works witnessed the test of the J. Israel Tarte, the largest and most powerful hydraulic dredge ever built.

HAS CANADA FAILED?

Chief Farmer Wilson of Washington Has a Complaint to Make.

Washington, Nov. 27.—At a Cabinet meeting yesterday Secretary Wilson talked to the Cabinet for a short time about what he regarded as the failure of the Canadians to keep an agreement made with the United States as to the bringing of cattle to Canada and this country from Great Britain, Scotland and Ireland.

This agreement, made a number of years ago, provided that an American and a Canadian inspector of cattle should be kept in Great Britain to inspect cattle coming to Canada, destined either for Canada or the United States. This was to guard against getting disease into this country.

The information Secretary Wilson has, is that the Canadians have withdrawn their inspector and permit the inspection to be made by a citizen of Great Britain, who may be competent in his knowledge of cattle, but does not have the same interest that a Canadian would have in the examination of cattle.

MRS. NORMANDEAU

A Lady of Campbellton, N. B., has at Last Effectively Disposed of an Enemy That Persecuted her for Years.

For years, Mrs. Philomene Normandeau, of Campbelltown, N. B., suffered with Dyspepsia. In addition to the tortures consequent on this disease, she was also very much troubled with sick headaches, the result of the derangement of the stomach.

She has found a cure, and is so grateful, that she is anxious for the benefit of others who are suffering as she was, to give the matter the greatest possible publicity. She has, therefore, written the following open letter:

"It is my duty and I consider it a great pleasure for me to testify that I have been cured of a very severe case of Dyspepsia, by the use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"For years I suffered with stomach sickness. My head ached almost continuously. I could eat very little, and had to be very careful.

"I consulted several physicians and used the medicines they prescribed, but instead of getting better, I gradually getting worse.

"I read in one of the newspapers an advertisement which told how a lady who had been suffering from Dyspepsia in much the same way as I was, had been cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

"Although I had but little faith, I decided to make a trial and bought two boxes. I was relieved from the very first, and now can safely say that I am completely cured.

"I can, therefore, highly recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, to all who suffer from this terrible malady, as I am satisfied that what cured my case, will cure anyone."

Science to-day knows but one way to relieve Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sour Stomach, and other Stomach Troubles. That way is Nature's way — Rest.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest all the food and tone up the stomach by giving it a respite from the work of digestion. The small, brown Tablets stimulate the Liver and regulate the Bowels. All in one box, 50c.

500,000 Face Starvation.

Washington, Nov. 27.—John Goodnow, Consul-General at Shanghai, reports to the State Department that there are over a half million of people in the Yangtse Valley who will starve this winter unless they get help from the outside. A committee of foreigners and Chinese has been formed in Shanghai to relieve the conditions of these people. All foreigners in China are subscribing liberally.

I Will Cure You of RHEUMATISM.

No pay until you know it.

After 2,000 experiments, I have learned how to cure Rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage, and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles of Dr. Sheop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month, and if it does what I claim pay your druggist $5.50 for it. If it doesn't, I will pay him myself.

I have no samples. Any medicine that can affect rheumatism with but a few doses, must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs. It is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it, and I take the risk. I have cured tens of thousands of people in this way, and my record shows that 35 out of every 40 who get those six bottles pay, and pay gladly. I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or a letter. Let me send you an order for the medicine. Take it for a month, for it won't harm you anyway. If it cures, pay $5.50. I leave that entirely to you. I will mail you a book that tells how I do it.

Simply state which book you want and name of your dealer, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 67, Racine, Wis.

Book No. 2 on the Heart.
Book No. 3 on the Kidneys.

THE YUKON SCARE.

Laughed Out of Consideration by Mounted Police Officer—A Miner's Shrewd Opinion.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—The Chicago scare story about the Yukon officials being there on the way to Ottawa to solicit troops for the defence of the Canadian gold fields, is laughed at in mounted police and official circles generally. Major Primrose, Inspector of the Northwest Mounted Police, who arrived here from Dawson yesterday, considered the despatch too frivolous for serious discussion.

"There were no respectable American citizens in the Skaguay movement from the first," said he, "and the thing is an old story now anyway."

The officials spoken of in the Chicago story are merely on their way to Ottawa on departmental matters in the usual course."

May Be a Bunco Game.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 27.—An American miner named R. L. Pinny, who reached here from the Klondike, throws new light on the mysterious order of the Midnight Sun, an alleged revolutionary society that the Canadian officials of the Northwest Territory are taking very seriously and are sending elaborate reports to Ottawa. According to Pinny the whole thing was a bunco game, devised by two gamblers.

They were broke when they struck Skaguay last winter after an unsuccessful season in the Klondike. They heard much talk against the Canadian Government, and they devised a scheme of revolution with a secret society. They fixed upon a seal, prepared an elaborate initiation ceremony and charged $15 a head as a membership fee. Many miners, among whom was Pinny, joined as a lark. Many persons were bled for considerable amounts, the chief victim being Shirty Chambers, who ran a packhorse train from Skaguay to White Horse. He was told that the revolutionists would destroy the railroad, and thus throw a fortune into his way. He gave up over $2,000, it is said.

Pinny said the gamblers never meant to start any revolution.

Specialists' Ideas Adopted.

When originating his celebrated Four T's Merrill, the Bramtford Druggist, added to drugs of many generations' usefulness some of the latest drugs used by lung and throat specialists. The result, naturally, is that Four T's is an unexcelled compound and never fails to cure a cough in 24 hours and the worst cold in two days. Large bottles 25c. at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Traffic Still Open.

Colon, Nov. 27. — Four hundred marines from the United States battleship Iowa have been landed and reached Panama safely, traffic across the Isthmus being open. It is reported that Gen. Alban has been wounded in a battle with the revolutionists.

China Seeks Japan's Aid.

London, Nov. 27.—"China has asked Japan," says a despatch from Shanghai to The Daily Express, "to lend one general and fifty officers to drill the Chinese troops, and also to lend experts to reorganize the Chinese financial and police departments."

Prince Kropotkin Ill.

London, Nov. 27.—Prince Peter Alexander Kropotkin, the exiled Russian savant and Anarchist, who visited America in the early part of the present year on a lecturing tour, is seriously ill in London.

A Flat Failure.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 27.—Judging by apparent conditions, the switchmen's strike inaugurated yesterday morning has proven a flat failure. Only one road is seriously affected. About 150 men struck.

Thirteen More Cases.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Thirteen new cases of smallpox were reported in this city yesterday, making 31 in all. Six of these were children in one house, of a mild form, and four in another

J. ASLING MURDERED

Shot Down in Cold Blood by a Desperado at Cartwright, Man.

C.P.R. YARDMAN EFNER KILLED

Cut in Two by a Wheel Passing Over Him Just Above the Hips—George James and Archibald McDonald Probably Fatally Injured in Railway Accidents—Other Accidents Reported.

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—J. Asling was murdered in cold blood at Cartwright Tuesday night at the house of W. Bourns. A stranger, mounted on a horse, intercepted W. Bourns when the latter was near his home, and asked him for money. Bourns declined to give him any, and the man drew a revolver trying to shoot Bourns. The latter ran into his home, closely followed by the stranger. They both got into the sitting room, where Mrs. and Miss Bourns and Mr. Asling were seated. They all arose at the intrusion, but before anyone realized what was the matter the man shot Asling dead. He then ran out and got away.

Huge Bite Caused Death.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—While seated at dinner last night at his boarding house, 121 Davenport road, Joseph Knowles was choked to death by a piece of meat getting lodged in his gullet. Death occurred in about a minute after he had swallowed the meat. He had just commenced eating when he was seen to jump up from his chair and gasp for breath. Dr. R. J. Watson was called, but Knowles had expired before the physician arrived. The piece of meat when recovered was found to weigh an eighth of a pound. Coroner Wilson decided an inquest was unnecessary. Deceased was 35 years of age, unmarried. He was a native of New Jersey, and had been in Toronto about two years.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

C. P. R. Yardman Efner Instantly Killed at London.

London, Ont., Nov. 27.—George W. Efner, a C.P.R. yardman, was instantly killed in the railway yards about 10.30 last night. He was coupling cars, and an engine and six or seven cars was backing down on him. He was walking toward them to fix the coupling, when he slipped and fell on his back across the track. One wheel passed over him just above the hips, cutting him in two. Efner was about 30 years of age and leaves a widow and two children.

Stratford, Nov. 27. — George James, a laborer in the G.T.R. coal sheds, this city, going home from his work Tuesday night, attempted to crawl under a freight train. While he was under the train moved, and before he could get out of the way the wheels passed over his leg, severing it from his body. He was removed to the hospital, where he continues in a precarious condition. Mr. James is a middle-aged man with a family.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 27.—Arch. McDonald was struck by an Algoma Central light engine on the Canadian Pacific track last evening. His left leg was taken off at the hip, his right leg hurt, his hip twisted, his face cut, and he received other bruises and injuries. There is very slight hope that he will live.

Swept Overboard and Drowned.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—Captain Hill of the steamship Belgenland, which reached her docks yesterday from Liverpool, reports that when the steamship was abreast Nantucket Light, Mrs. H. McNeal, wife of Dr. McNeal, of Ann Arbor, Mich., was washed overboard and drowned.

Left Her to Drown.

Port Arthur, Nov. 27.—A story of cowardice and heartlessness comes from Mokoman, on the Canadian Northern Railway. Mrs. Hunter, the wife of a section foreman on the railroad, was almost drowned in front of the eyes of a man she had risked her life to save, and he stood calmly by and saw her go down to what seemed certain death in the icy waters of the Kaministiquia River. She had ferried a picture agent named Taff across the river, and in returning upset the canoe and screamed for help. Taff let her scream. She was rescued half dead.

KILLED WIFE AND LOVER.

Tragedy Characteristically Parisian Enacted in a Square Tuesday.

Paris, Nov. 27.—A tragedy, characteristically Parisian, was committed in the heart of Paris yesterday. At the corner of the Boulevard Les Capucines and the Place De L'Opera, a husband shot his faithless wife and her lover in full view of hundreds of people. The opera square was filled with promenaders at lunch time, when a cab drove across the square, followed by a man running. A policeman, who was regulating traffic, stopped the cab in front of the Cafe De La Paix, enabling the pursuer to overtake it, when the man drew a revolver, thrust it through a window of the vehicle, and fired twice, killing the woman who was inside. Her lover opened the other door and tried to flee, but the husband sprang after him and blew out his brains before the spectators could interfere. Then the husband approached the policeman, handed him the weapon, and surrendered.

Burned to Death.

Griffin's Corners, Nov. 27.—Elgin Griffin met with a terrible death on Friday night at his home in this village. He was carrying a lamp, when it exploded, igniting his clothing. Before assistance arrived he was burned to death. Deceased was 50 years of age. He was well known throughout this section. The deceased was a paralytic, and had been confined to his bed for years. A lamp usually burned upon a shelf above his bed. This lamp exploded and the burning oil set fire to the bed clothing, and the deceased was so terribly burned that death ensued in a short time. After the occurrence Mr. Griffin showed no signs of consciousness.

Shot Himself in the Breast.

Neepawa, Man., Nov. 27.—Frank Bingham, a young man from Harrison, Ont., attempted suicide yesterday morning in the Klondike Hotel. He, with some companions, had been drinking and playing cards. At the conclusion of the game Bingham took a revolver from his trunk and shot himself through the right breast. The bullet was extracted from the back. There is hope of recovery.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure all, nor a Modern Miracle but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the over-worked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give universal satisfaction.

Lives With Each Broken.

London, Nov. 26.—The condition of Joseph Hetherington, who was struck by a falling tree, remains about the same. It is impossible yet to tell whether he will live or die.

Tolstoi Improves.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 26.— The health of Count Tolstoi is improving. His fever and pains have ceased, his appetite has improved, and he is sleeping better.

The Queen Improving.

The Hague, Nov. 26.—Queen Wilhelmina is improving so satisfactorily that Prince Henry will leave Het-Loo to-day on a short visit to Prussia.

Fatal Corn Operation.

Springfield, Ohio, Nov. 26.—Joseph Fischer, the New York music composer, is dead here from an operation for a corn on his toe.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THANKS-GIVING!

In gratitude to the generous people of Peterborough for the lion's share of the patronage bestowed on Gough Bros. during 1901, we intend to express our gratitude in a practical way. For the week preceding Thanksgiving Eve, we propose to UPSET ALL PAST STANDARD OF VALUES. We intend to retail Overcoats, Ulsters, Suits, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, Underwear, Neckwear, and Men's and Boys' Furnishings at prices LESS THAN WHOLESALE—in many cases less than the cost of production. This big double store will be teeming with buyers.

IT'S A CASE THAT WARRANTS UNBRIDLED ENTHUSIASM. We are bound to make it so—we will put it to a point that will do greater honour to this great store. If you don't want to buy come and look on. You can't stay away and be wide-awake. No matter when or where you see a bargain, we have a better one for you. But look sharp!—there'll be a run on the plums, and the ripest fruit is readiest to drop.

MR. WALDEN'S SEND-OFF.

An Enjoyable Affair at George Street Methodist Church Last Night.

Mr. Frank Mason's class held a reunion in the parlor of George street Methodist church last night, a large number being present. The pastor, Rev. J. P. Wilson, presided. The leaders of other classes were among the invited guests.

Mr. F. Mason gave the address of welcome, Mr. Winch responding. Topics were assigned to several speakers—all relating to class meetings. Messrs. D. W. Dumble, G. W. Parnell, Wm. Might and others taking part.

The tea provided by the ladies was most excellent. The music was provided by Mr. Walden, Mrs. McCall, Miss Helen Mason, Miss Clara Belleghem and Mr. Succe. Altogether a very pleasant and profitable evening was spent, and which will no doubt be very helpful to the leaders of the classes. George street has a large number of most devoted class leaders who are doing much towards making the classes profitable and efficient.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation to Mr. Walden, Organist of the church and a member of Mr. Mason's class, of a beautiful Mantel Clock, and the following address;

Peterborough, Nov. 24th, 1901.

To Mr. F. Walden, Organist of George street Methodist church, and a member of Mr. F. Mason's Morning Class;

Dear Sir,—On hearing of your intended departure from our midst, we, the members of Mr. Mason's class, feel that we cannot let this opportunity pass of showing our appreciation of your services, which you have so efficiently and so unselfishly rendered in the church and Sabbath school, and other lines of church work.

As a slight expression of our feelings toward you we would ask you to accept this clock from the members of the class you have attended so faithfully. And as you are about to enter on another field of labour, we pray that the blessing of God may attend you and that wherever you may be situated your services may be as freely and faithfully performed as they were here. We wish you and yours a happy and prosperous journey through life.

Signed on behalf of the class—Messrs. F. Mason, Joseph Succe, Geo. W. Powell, W. Might, Mrs. F. Mason, Mrs. Jos. Succe, Mrs. Eliza Spence.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Hello, Examiner!
Yes!
Angus is speaking.
Yes!
Tell the boys we are preparing the bed for the ice in the rink.

—Only 4 above zero this morning

—There will be service in St. John's church to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

—The anchor ice put the electric light station to considerable trouble last night.

—The Sons of England will hold their election of officers on the evening of December 2nd.

—A special supply of roses, carnations, violets, and chrysanthemums have been placed on deck by Jordan Bros., for the Rugby dance.

—The river was frozen over at the bridge at Hunter street last night, which is considered something extraordinary as the Otonabee generally keeps open until the depth of winter.

The waterworks management complain about the low water in the river caused by the water being held back by the Government dams. It was this fact which caused the anchor ice to clog the intake pipe last night.

Mr. Bennett is spoken of very highly by the press throughout Ontario. Admission, 25c and 15c. 2eod

GENEROUS SPIRIT

Shown by the Employees of Mr. Adam Hall This Morning.

The public will heartily admire the generous and friendly spirit displayed by the employees of Mr. Adam Hall towards one of their fellow employees, Mr. Robert Jones, who suffered severe loss by fire last night. Promptly this morning, the men in Mr. Hall's employ, started a subscription list in circulation for the purpose of giving some practical evidence of their sympathy in his loss. Mr. Adam Hall headed the list by a $50 cheque, and $62 more was subscribed by the other members of the staff. Mr. Jones has received other evidences of sympathy, for which he takes this means of expressing his thanks.

Where to Spend a Profitable Evening on Thanksgiving.

A recital and entertainment under the auspices of the Young Peoples' Union of the Murray street Baptist church, will be held in the church auditorium, on Thanksgiving evening, Thursday, Nov. 28th, at 8 p.m. sharp. Miss Gertrude Trotter, of Belleville, sister of a former pastor of the church, and graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music and School of Elocution, will be the principal entertainer of the evening. As a reader and reciter, she has proved herself capable of giving delightful satisfaction to the most critical audiences. She has a large repertoire of selections, ranging from the humorous and pathetic to the serious and tragic, and reliance can always be made upon her numbers being admirable. A most enjoyable musical programme has been prepared, and a pleasant and profitable evening is assured all those who attend. A silver offering will be taken at the door.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

To-morrow is, or, to suit both classes of sticklers for grammatical accuracy, will be, the day set apart by Government for the observance of National Thanksgiving. While some may question the ethical value of gratitude to order, still we in Canada have such universal cause for gratitude, that fixing a day for its expression, is simply a means of securing community and synchronism of observance. We have in this highly favoured land abundant cause for thankfulness. We have the finest climate in the world, and this year the weather has been at its best. To a genial and sweetly opening spring, has succeeded a long, equable summer, which has so gently glided into a mellow autumn of surpassing loveliness, which has in turn run its race so long and gently, that the rigour of winter, with its peculiar delights, has stolen upon us unawares. We have had an abundant material prosperity, bountiful harvests; and rich rewards for the farmer's toil, have gone hand in hand with a commercial and industrial prosperity unsurpassed in our history. As a people we have been blessed with health; no epidemic disease has stalked through the land. We have been peacefully engaged in the pursuit of happiness, which, in spite of sentimentalists, thrives best in a soil of material prosperity. Peterborough has been highly blessed; commercial and industrial activity have created demands for the labourer to such an extent that good wages mean an abundant larder, and, barring the sad exceptions that always will exist, every home will have a well filled pantry upon which to draw for the Thanksgiving banquet.

THE BEET ROOT SUGAR INDUSTRY.

Means Big Money for the Farmers of Peterborough.

THIS FACT DEMONSTRATED BY FACTS.

In Sugar Value and Purity Peterborough Beets Beat the Province—Big Profits From Their Cultivation—A Sure Market — Everything Favours a Factory in Peterborough—Successful Elsewhere Why Not Here?

Beet Root Sugar. Perhaps there is no subject that so engages the the attention and excites the interest of the farmers of Ontario at the present moment as the beet root sugar industry, and its practical possibilities and the prospects of the establishment of factories. This is not to wondered at, when one considers the importance of the industry to the farmer and realizes that it provides him with a new and profitable crop—a new string to his agricultural bow.

Some History of the Industry.

As to the history of the beet root sugar industry in this province, it can hardly be said to have a history; for it has hardly advanced beyond its experimental stage. But it has a successful history in other countries which warrants the hope and makes it a practical certainty that sugar beets can be successfully grown and manufactured in this province. We are all more or less familiar, with the great success of the industry in Michigan, where it has been a veritable God-send to the farmer, much the same as cheese was to the Ontario farmer years ago when the bottom had dropped out of the profits of grain raising. In that State farms which were under mortgage are now under beet root sugar crops, the mortgage has disappeared and prosperity and hope have taken the place of despondency and hard times.

What Germany has Done and is Doing.

Germany is a notable example of the tremendous possibilities of beet root sugar production. The industry has been long established there and the latest figures show that Germany produces one third of the world's supply of beet sugar, and so strong have beet root sugar interests become in that country that a combine has been formed to control the price of sugar in the markets of the world. Germany now produces sufficient beet root sugar to supply her own population of about fifty-three millions, and to export a surplus to other countries of the world of 1,250,000 tons of sugar, or about one fifth of the world's available supply. Germany has done by the help of a bounty on the manufacture of beet root sugar what Ontario is now beginning to do, and what there is no doubt she can do in proportion to her area of beet root sugar soil.

The Industry in Ontario.

The beet root sugar industry in this province has no history to speak of, and the history of the agitation is very brief. For the past thirteen or fourteen years sugar beets have been grown in Ontario; but last year (1900) on the initiation of the Ontario Government the first practical tests were made. A number of plots were set apart at points in Western Ontario principally, and the results were very encouraging, and this year (1901) the tests were continued with still more satisfactory results. Acting upon the results of the first tests the Government brought in and passed a bill to encourage the sugar beet industry, and as a result of that measure wide spread interest is being taken in the matter and factories are spoken of at different centres in the province, for the promotion of beet root sugar factories.

Will it Pay the Farmer?

The establishment of these factories will depend, in each section, upon the farmers themselves. If they will undertake to raise sufficient beets to supply a factory no doubt factories will be established. The only thing that prevents the farmer—or perhaps the only assurance the farmer wants is that the cultivation of sugar beets will pay him. To this there can be—especially as far as Peterborough in concerned—but one answer—yes, emphatically, and to help promote the growth of beets and the establishment of a factory in Peterborough and to show that sugar beet growing will pay the farmer, is the object of presenting a few plain facts which will, and do, demonstrate that Peterborough is the best situated and the most suitable centre for profitable beet root raising, and, consequently, for a factory of any place in Ontario.

How it Will Pay.

In the first place the tests conducted show by results that the soil in the country surrounding Peterborough is the best adapted for the growing of sugar beets of any part of Ontario, in which tests have been conducted. This year a number of experimental tests were made in thirteen different centres. The results which were published in the Examiner of November 21st, showed that the beets grown in these thirteen places had an average percentage of sugar of 16., while the average of sugar percentage in the beets grown in the Peterborough district under the same test was 17.3 per cent. of sugar. The average of purity in the beets grown in the thirteen places where the experiments were conducted, was 77.9, while the average of purity in the twenty-two samples grown in Peterborough was 90.5, though one grower's beets, (Mr. Thos. Stothart's, Smith,) reached the high grade of purity of 96.2. The average yield in tons per acre in the thirteen places was 17 tons; while the average of the twenty-two Peterborough experiments was 16 tons to the acre. This is the only feature in which the Peterborough score is lower than the average, but this is more than compensated by the larger percentage of sugar in the Peterborough beets, 17.3 as against 16. But, the percentage of sugar being the test by which beets are paid for at the factory, is, therefore, the most important quality.

Where the Profit Comes in.

The price to be paid for beets by factories assisted by the Government is fixed by Act of the Legislature. Every factory receiving the Government bonus shall pay the first year of operation, $4 per ton, without regard to sugar percentage, no matter how high or low that may be. But the second year and the third year also, a factory must pay for all beets grown according to contract, and delivered at the factory, "at the rate of 33 1-3 cents per ton for every pere ent. of sugar such beets contain." that is, beets, of say, 12 1-2 per cent. purity, will bring within a cent of $4 per ton. A ton of Peterborough beets, however, would bring far more than that. The average percentage, as shown by tests, is 17.3. Take the average as 17 per cent. That at the rate of 33 1-3 cents per ton for every one per cent., would make the price of a ton of Peterborough sugar beets delivered at the factory, $5.66. The average production per acre of the Peterborough growers was 16 tons, while one grower, Mr. John Riddell, of South Monaghan, grew 20 tons of 18.2 per cent. sugar. He would therefore get 18.2 x 20 x 33 1-3c., the sum of $121.20 for the beets grown on an acre. At the average per cent., 17.3, the yield of an acre of beets at 16 tons to the acre, would be $92.16.

The Net Profit Realized.

But the cost of production is to be deducted from this to arrive at the net profit. According to the first experiments made under the Government, the average cost per acre was $28.70, and in a series of seven tests made by as many farmers in York County last year, the average cost of growing beets was $36.20. Mr. Riddell says a fair average cost of growing would be $32 per acre, so that the average of these three averages would be $32.20 per acre, perhaps a fair figure upon which to base calculations. At this figure the profit per acre in the case of the Peterborough growers who made tests, would be $92.16, less $32.20, or $60.16, the net profit, clear of everything, of raising a ton of sugar beets, sold at the figures fixed by the Act after the first year. Deducting ten per cent. from this would still leave $54.15, a very handsome profit, and a profit which few or no other crops will yield.

Other Advantages.

In addition to adding a new crop and a most paying one to their farming operations, there are several other minor considerations that should influence the farmers to undertake the growth of sugar beets. The culture of this crop will improve the soil for other crops and give an impetus to the cattle raising industry. An authority states that the correct method is to raise beets on the land for three or four years, and then grain crop it for two or three years. The deeper ploughing and more thorough culture given to beets will, by bringing new plant elements to the surface and clearing the land of weeds, prepare it for the more successful raising of grain crops. This is all the more important to the farmers in the vicinity of Peterborough from the establishment of the Peterborough Cereal Company, whose vast buildings, now in course of construction, will create a large demand and a profitable market for wheat, oats, barley and pease, to the extent of millions of bushels a year. The farmer, by raising beets, will not only have a splendidly paying crop, but will fit his land for producing better grain crops, and for both he will have a certain and good market. Beet root culture will also give an an impetus to cattle raising, as the beets themselves, according to Mr. Thomas Stothart, Smith, are as easily raised as mangolds, and as good feed, while the pulp resulting from the treatment of the beets at a factory, is also excellent feed for stock.

Certainty of a Good Market.

There is no doubt of a fine market for beets, if a factory is established in Peterborough, as will almost certainly be the case if the farmers will undertake to supply the beets. All the conditions are favourable. We can grow beets of the highest percentage of sugar value and purity. We have all the other requirements. We have close to town, on the line of the canal abundance of limestone, of which from 800 to 1000 tons will be required by a factory in a season. We have abundance of good water, another important requisite. We have railway communication in several directions, and the conditions are in every way favourable for the establishment and successful operation of a beet root sugar factory on a large scale. A minor advantage, yet one that many will appreciate is that a factory, which begins operations in the early winter, after beets are harvested and delivered, can give employment to farmers' sons and farm labourers, who are often dispensed with after the busy farming season is over. Then the farmer has the advantage of a sure market for his beets, at a fixed price. After the first year the law requires that the price shall be 33 1-3 cents for every per cent. of sugar the beets contain.

Recapitulation.

To impress the importance and desirability of farmers uniting to establish a beet root sugar factory in Peterborough, we might briefly recapitulate and summarize the advantages they will confer on themselves:

Farmers will be able to raise a highly profitable new crop, as a source of income.

This crop will yield, according to the tests made, a clear profit of, according to the tests, from $40 to $50 an acre at least.

The raising of beets will clean, freshen and improve the soil for other crops, and thus increase the farmer's returns and further improve his profits, as well as furnish a valuable article for feeding stock.

The soil of the district surrounding Peterborough is the best adapted for beet raising, producing beets of the highest percentage of sugar and of purity, as far as recorded, in the province.

Therefore, first-class prices for beets are assured, since after the first year (when the price all round will be four dollars) beets are paid for according to percentage of sugar.

The price is fixed by law and cannot be lowered according to the whims of the managers of a factory.

* * *

The farmer is protected by the law. All forms of contracts between farmers and a factory for the growing and delivering of beets must be submitted to the Minister of Agriculture and approved by him.

A factory established in Peterborough will be sure to succeed, that is, if farmers will supply the beets, all the conditions being favourable.

A splendid fertile and well tilled country to draw upon, capable of producing beets of the highest quality. Good railway and water connections, abundance of pure water and of limestone of the right quality.

* * *

The people of Peterborough are interested and will co-operate with the farmers in establishing, and promoting, the success of, a factory. They feel that the industry will promote the profits of the farmer, and when the farmer is prosperous all classes share the advantage.

Farmers Control the Situation.

In view of all the facts submitted, which represent only a small share of the advantages, it seems that the establishment of a beet sugar factory in Peterborough will mean the establishment of a new and profitable industry in the Peterborough district. It is urged that the farmers who have not already done so will take an interest in this matter, and help it and themselves. Now is the time to take action so that the industry may be at once begun, seed procured and preparations made for the supply of beets for a factory to be erected during the summer and put into operation in the fall. Capitalists are looking for the best centres in which to place factories. Peterborough is an excellent site in all respects, and it only remains for the farmers themselves to undertake the supply of a sufficient quantity of beets—there is no fear of the quality—that has been shown to be the best of any beets raised on the province. Farmers, success now rests with you. Everything in regard to the local establishment of the sugar beet industry, as in most other lines, depends upon your action. If you say so we can have one of the best sugar beet industries on the continent established in Peterborough.

Arthur Bolton Lost at Sea.

Boston, Nov. 26.—On the arrival of the Dominion liner Commonwealth at this port yesterday, Capt. McAuley reported that Arthur Bolton, said to belong to Toronto, Ont., had been missing since last night, and that he is supposed to have been washed overboard by the heavy seas, or to have committed suicide. Bolton, when last seen, was wandering aimlessly about the ship.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—From Mr. E. D. Bolton, a brother of Arthur Bolton, it was learned last night that the young man was on his way home from England after two years spent in Burmah as an engineer. Arthur Bolton was 30 years of age, and until his departure two years ago, resided in this city. The only news received by Mr. E. D. Bolton last night was to the effect that his brother had been washed overboard.

Yukon Mail Service.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—To a reporter yesterday Hon. Mr. Mulock, Postmaster-General, said that he had arranged matters in connection with the Yukon mail service between the United States and Canada. A mutually satisfactory arrangement was reached without any trouble. To the question, "What was the nature of the arrangement?" he said: "The Canadian Government will take charge of the mails for the two countries for the whole route from Skaguay, through the Yukon territory, and to Eagle City, in Alaska, the United States paying its proportion of the cost of the service performed in United States territory."

A Surgeon's Blunder.

Artery Severed While Undergoing an Operation—No Longer Necessary to Use the Knife for Piles.

Saturday's paper contains the account of an accident whereby a young lady lost her life. While undergoing an operation, the surgeon's knife slipped, an artery was severed, and before the surgeon knew the result of his error the patient was in a dying condition.

Every surgical operation is attended with great risk to life as well as being a severe strain on the nervous system and an expensive method of treatment. Doctors formerly recommended an operation as the only cure for piles but that day is past, since Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven its absolute control over every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

Physicians who are considerate of the well being of their patients do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, and only those having a mania for operations claim that cruel method as the proper treatment. By promptly stopping the distressing itching and burning Dr. Chase's Ointment bring's quick and lasting relief.

Rev. S. A. Duprau, Methodist minister, Consecon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states, "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses formed so that it was with great difficulty and considerable pain that I was able to stool. At this very severe crisis I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose.

"Now imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared, and also the external swelling. I feel like a different man to-day and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation and many years of suffering. It is with the greatest pleasure and with a thankful heart that I give this testimonial, knowing that Dr. Chase's Ointment has done so much for me. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has been endorsed by more people, including doctors and professional men than any similar preparation the world has ever known. It is the standard ointment the world over, and positively the only actual cure for piles. 60 cts. a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dangerous Icebergs.

St. John's, N.F., Nov. 26.—Four large icebergs were visible yesterday from this port. They are drifting south into the track of Atlantic shipping. Icebergs have never before been known to pass here so late in the season. The presence is, consequently, all the more dangerous to ocean shipmasters, who do not now expect to find icebergs on the Grand Banks.

Found Dead on Trail.

Grand Forks, B.C., Nov. 26.—Raymond E. Thickness, a young Englishman, was found dead on the Dewdney Lake, by Peter Johnson, a prospector, on Friday morning. Johnson lost no time in notifying the authorities of his discovery, and they in turn summoned Dr. Westwood, a district coroner from Grand Forks. Evidence given led to a verdict of "death from natural causes."

Placed in a Padded Cell.

London, Nov. 26.—Miss Vanderbilt Wackerman of New York, who was taken to St. Giles Infirmary on Nov. 13th as a wandering lunatic, is now in Claybury Asylum, Woodford, Essex. She was removed to the asylum after a desperate attempt to kill a nurse belonging to the infirmary, whom she almost succeeded in throttling. Miss Wackerman is now in a padded cell.

Murder at Cartwright.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 26.—J. Asling was shot dead last night at Cartwright, Man., 148 miles southwest of here by a man supposed to be from St. John, North Dakota. The stranger demanded money from a man named W. Boums and tried to shoot him. He was followed into a house where Asling, Mrs. and Miss Boums were and shot Asling dead.

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase — America's Greatest Physician.

Mr. Balfour Has Influenza.

London, Nov. 26.—In consequence of alarming reports concerning the illness of A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, and Government leader in the House of Commons, his doctors have issued a bulletin to the effect that their patient is suffering from influenza and cannot keep his engagements for this week.

A Montreal Man.

Detroit, Nov. 26.—The remains of the man who was found lying dead at 275 Jefferson avenue, on Tuesday evening last, have been identified as those of Frederick Dumesnil of Montreal. According to the medical testimony, death resulted from hemorrhage. The police are trying to find the deceased's Montreal friends.

Why Catarrhozone Cures Catarrh.

It goes to every affected part and kills the germs that keep up the diseased condition. Catarrhozone never irritates but stimulates the mucous lining of the nose, throat and lungs to normal action and keeps the nasal passages free from offensive discharges. Catarrhozone contains no dangerous drugs or opiates, and is delightfully pleasant and simple to use. Catarrhozone is an absolutely sure cure for any form of catarrh, and sells for one dollar at druggists; small size 25c. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston.

Chinese Indemnity Loan.

Paris, Nov. 26.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday, by a vote of 295 to 249, adopted the vote of 265,000,000 francs for the Chinese indemnity loan, rejecting the smaller sums proposed by the Anti-Clericals. The Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau, during the course of the discussion, declared the Government would make no distinction between those who were entitled to indemnities, but would pursue in the far East France's traditional policy and fulfil all the duties of her protectorate, just as she claimed all her rights.

Yukon Census.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Major Woodside, the Census Commissioner for the Yukon, handed in the returns for Yukon to Mr. Blue yesterday. The Major estimates the population at 21,000. Of these 8,500 are in Dawson, 500 at White Horse, 6,000 at the Creeks, 1,000 Indians, and 300 Eskimos. He has all the returns except three districts, and when these are in the total population will be about 21,000.

Smothered by Hay.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 26.— Mrs. Mederic Breault, wife of a Tecumseh farmer, met with a tragic death yesterday morning. She was thrown from a load of hay, upon which she was riding, by the breaking of an axle. The hay fell upon her, and before she could be rescued her life had been smothered out. She was 59 years old, and leave a large family.

Section Man Killed.

Fort William, Ont., Nov. 26.— A man named Peterson, employed as section man east of White River, was killed while traveling on a handcar between White River and O'Brien yesterday morning. A light engine coming west was met, and the two companions of the unfortunate man jumped from the car and escaped injury.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

KIND-HEARTED QUEEN.

A Characteristic Incident of Her Majesty's Life at Sandringham.

In the village of Dersingham (writes a Sandringham visitor to M. A. P.) there is an old, old lady living in a cottage at the corner who is very proud of many things in her little home. They were given her from time to time by Queen Alexandra. On sunny mornings "Granny" comes out in her white sunbonnet and potters about among her flowers. Then is the best time to talk to her.

"The Queen," she says, with a puzzled look, "don't know who you mean, sir." Suddenly she remembers, and a smile lightens up the old eyes and plays with the wrinkled features. "Is it the Princess, you mean?" she says.

You tell her yes, and then she says suddenly: "Ah! my dear, you don't know the Princess, do you?" and then, speaking softly and smiling to herself, she tells you the following characteristic tale:

"One morning, two winters ago — let me see, it was Tuesday, 'cause I was doin' my bit of ironin' — there came a knock at the door. I didn't take notice. I thought it was Jim, my son-in-law, and he just knocks and walks in. So I went on with my ironin'. Presently there came another knock. So I calls: 'Walk in,' but, because the iron was nice and hot, I didn't stop. And there, my dear, it was the Princess and her daughter, and I'd kept them outside knocking, and it was a bitter morning. I was so flurried that I didn't know what to do. I stood with the heater in my hand, and all I could do was to make my curtsey. But Her Highness didn't seem to mind it a bit. She says: 'Good morning, Granny. We just waited in to see how you were this cold mornin'.' I had got over my flurry by this time, and dusted two chairs for them to sit on, and put my iron on the fire. But the Princess wouldn't have me stir. She turned to her daughter and said: 'You take Granny's iron while she sits down and talks to me.' So the young Princess took the iron and ironed, while I sat down and talked to her mother."

Granny rose, and went to a drawer. She took out a handkerchief with a gay colored border, and brought it across.

"She ironed that, my dear, just as you see it. I put it away and never used it since. Well, the Princess, her mother, and me talked. She told me how she liked the country better than London, where she couldn't walk about or go out very much. Then she asked me about Jim and Sarah, and the baby. I told her the child was troubled with his teeth, and she said she remembered quite well when her own babies were bad with their teeth and the trouble she had with him. She stayed and talked for nearly an hour. I was afraid to ask her to have anything, but she remembered my ginger wine, and asked if she and her daughter might have a glass, because it was warming in the winter time."

Electric Targets at Aldershot.

In musketry training at Aldershot experiments are being made with a new style of targets. Heads are made to appear and disappear at regular intervals, by electricity, along the sky line of a range of hills, representing an enemy taking aim and firing. These constitute targets upon which the rifle shots practice. On a railway, which the enemy is supposed to be guarding, an armored train appears and is subjected to heavy fire. In its rear follows the cavalry patrol, who are also subjected to a heavy rifle fire, completely riddling them, though they effect their object in the destruction of the line as is shown by the electrical explosion of dynamite. The signal cabin to the right of the railway, containing several men, is then riddled, and a farmhouse which concealed a large number of the enemy bombarded. Heads appear at every window, and a soldier presently runs out of the door with a gun. The soldiers continued their advance until arrested by a heavy fire from artillery concealed in a dense clump of trees. The effect of discharging shells is stimulated by the explosion of bombs near the dummy guns. The scheme is carried out by means of electric wires laid beneath the turf and controlled by an engineer, who follows the movements of the troops by means of an arrangement of mirrors suspended over his head, in a butt. In a trial with these targets where the manœuvres had been satisfactorily carried out, the targets were carefully examined, and it was discovered that the firing of the soldiers had been particularly accurate, many of the targets being completely riddled.

Gladstone Wanted a Million.

Liverpool is tardily following the example of Truro, and has decided to erect a cathedral, an admirable site for which has been selected on St. James Mount. A delightfully characteristic story of Mr. Gladstone's zealous churchmanship has been sent to the Executive Committee by his son-in-law, the Dean of Lincoln. Dr. Wickham states that the last time he heard Mr. Gladstone talk at dinner in his old way was at Cannes in February, 1898, when "he amused us by suddenly exclaiming, 'I wish somebody would give me a million of money!' Asked what he would do with it the veteran statesman replied, 'I would spend most of it in building a cathedral and founding a chapter at Liverpool.'"—London Express.

The Australian Flag.

Before the Australian flag was chosen more than 33,000 designs were carefully examined. The competition was originally started by The Australasian Review of Reviews, and as many of the designs were well worth notice the Government took the matter up and offered a reward of £200 for the best suggestion. A board of naval experts was appointed to examine those sent in, and a decision has just been reached.

Women Dread

The disfiguration caused by skin disease, even more than the tormenting irritation which is so commonly associated with it. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery generally results in a complete cure of eczema, pimples, eruptions and other forms of disease which have their cause in an impure condition of the blood. "Golden Medical Discovery" absolutely purges the blood of humors and poisons, and so cures the cutaneous diseases which bad blood breeds and feeds.

There is no alcohol in the "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"I was troubled with eczema from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," writes Mrs. Ella Quick, of Cass City, Tuscola Co., Mich. "Could not walk at times, nor wear my shoes. Thought there was no help for me—at least the doctor said there was none. I went to see friends at Christmas time and there heard of the good that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery had done for them, and was advised to try it at once. For fear that I might neglect it my friends sent to the village and got a bottle and made me promise that I would take it. I had been getting worse all the time. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and ten vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and used the 'All Healing Salve,' which made a complete cure. It was slow, but sure. I was taking the medicine about eight months.

"I would say to all who read this: Try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before wasting time and money."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

THE REPORTER'S FIRST STORY.

Scored a Success Because He Did Not Know When to Drop It.

"When I broke into the newspaper business," said the veteran New York correspondent of a big western daily, "I made a hit on my very first assignment, and, oddly enough, my success was due entirely to my ignorance of my profession.

"I had long had an ambition to be a newspaper man, and when I was offered a position on a morning paper I jumped at the chance. It wasn't much of a position, and for several months I hung around the office waiting for the news assignment which did not come. Now and then I would be sent out to get material for an 'obit.' note on somebody who had died or perhaps would have a chance at a late fire. But it was a red letter day when I got more than ten lines into the paper. Still, I turned up regularly every noon with the reporters and stood around waiting for that assignment.

"One day the city editor called me to his desk and gave me an anonymous postal card the paper had received calling attention to high assessments which had been put upon property in a certain street. He told me to look it up. It was one of those things where the chances for a story were about one in a million, but with that blissful ignorance which characterizes the 'cub reporter' I started for the place.

"Not knowing anything about the methods of reporters, I canvassed that street from beginning to end—it was about two miles long—and, although I met with many rebuffs, I did get some stuff that was really good, although I did not know it at the time. When I came in, I was told to write a column and a half, and by a bit of good luck I put the story together in the proper form.

"The story suggested that great abuses had been perpetrated by certain city officials, and after it was printed the next day two of the old reporters were sent out to follow it up. They came back without anything, and I was ordered out again. By following my method of the previous day I secured enough additional matter for another story, the paper opened a fight on the officials in question, and for several days that was our leading story.

"That was my start. Not many years afterward I became the night city editor of the same paper. It was ignorance—pure, unadulterated ignorance—of reporters' methods that yielded my first story, but I had sense enough to discover very soon after that the same thing would not carry me any farther."

Cleaning Light Fur.

One who says she has tried it recommends naphtha for cleaning light fur. She says: Pour naphtha over the fur, then fluff and pat the article until the soil has been worked out, and when this is done press the naphtha out by drawing the hand firmly over the fur. Then shake and hang in the air to dry. Be careful of fire.

Old Jewelry.

"It is foolish," says an assayer quoted by the Philadelphia Record, "for people to pay for having old jewelry remodeled. In many cases the jeweler keeps the old material and gives new articles in the style desired. In this business we see proofs of such instances every day. One particular case of the kind came under my notice some time ago. A man came from Mexico and brought with him a quantity of silver and a little gold ore. We melted the silver into a bar for him and kept the gold in payment for our labor. He took the bar to a silversmith to have it made into vessels, which he is now, no doubt, showing to his friends as being made from the silver he mined himself; whereas, in fact, that same bar of silver was brought back and sold to me only a few days after I had delivered it to its original owner."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Mold can be kept from bookcases by scattering here and there about them a few drops of oil of lavender.

A piece of narrow webbing such as is used in furniture sewed on the inner side of rugs will prevent the corners from curling.

To prevent soot from gathering in the chimney and range make a brine of common salt and pour it over the coals. It is said this will keep all parts beautifully clean.

A shelf supported by brackets and from which falls a curtain is a good scheme to conceal a radiator. Then the shelf may be embellished by a large brass or copper pot or a few pieces of bric-a-brac.

When marking blankets in cross stitch, begin by tacking a piece of canvas over the place to be marked and then work the initials over it in red wool. When the work is finished, the canvas can easily be drawn out thread by thread.

Papier mache and lacquered articles may be cleaned by rubbing them thoroughly with a paste made of wheat flour and olive oil. Apply with a piece of soft flannel or oil linen rag and rub strongly. Then wipe off and polish by rubbing with an old silk handkerchief.

Grease or gummy dirt stains on carpets may be removed by rubbing them with the following mixture: One bar of good soap to two tablespoonfuls of sal soda and saltpeter and four quarts of boiling water. When cold, add six ounces of aqua ammonia. Bottle and use as required.

A Great Mistake.

The old idea of taking blood thinning compounds in order to purify the blood, is an error, as the system is thus left in a vitiated condition. Merrill's System Tonic not only purifies the blood in a thorough manner, but the iron contained in it again enriches the blood leaving one with a lot of good rich red blood. 50 pleasant to take doses 50c at Ormond & Walsh's pharmacy.

Had Wings, but Couldn't Fly.

At an examination in a village school a class of infants was being questioned on natural history. After several questions, the inspector asked:

"What bird that comes from Africa has wings but can't fly?"

The class was dumfounded.

Thinking to encourage them, the inspector offered a sixpence to the little boy or girl who could tell him. After a few seconds' hesitation a little girl of four years put out her hand.

"Well, my little dear," said the inspector, "what is it?"

"Please, sir, a dead 'un!"—London Tit-Bits.

Rattlesnake and Kingsnake.

The rattlesnake sheds its skin twice a year and at that time it becomes perfectly blind, is helpless and is easily captured. At this stage it is assisted by a nurse or pilot, who guards and protects it. This guard is the young kingsnake. The kingsnake, however, is the first enemy the rattlesnake has and can easily kill it in combat. I have seen rattlesnakes fleeing from the old kingsnake to the young kingsnake for protection.

HOCKEY CLUB'S ANNUAL MEETING.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner was Re-elected President.

THE REPORTS SUBMITTED.

A Most Capable Set of Officers Elected to Conduct the Club's Affairs During the Season.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockay Club was held last evening in the rink parlours, with an exceedingly large and enthusiastic attendance.

The President, Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, occupied the chair, and made his annual report as appended:

A careful retrospect of the history of hockey in Peterborough during the last nine years warrants me in stating, without fear of contradiction, that the past season has been in every way the most successful in the history of Peterborough's premier sporting organization.

The supporters of the red and white were afforded the privilege of seeing the three best teams, in their respective series, in Ontario—the Wellingtons, senior champions; the St. George's, intermediate champions; and the Peterborough Colts, junior champions of the O. H. A.

The executive likewise can look back with pleasure to a very successful year. An expenditure of more than $1,300, the largest in the history of the club, has been met, a complimentary banquet and a presentation were given to the junior champions, and they, at the close of the season, enjoyed, I believe, the confidence and goodwill of the playing members, the hockey public and all others with whom they had dealings.

The players, too, can point with pride to the reward of their prowess on the ice, the Junior Championship of the O. H. A. This has been won three times by our club in the years 1894, 1895 and 1901, and we were the runners up in 1896, and 1899. That is a record for any club to be proud of. All honour to the Peterborough Colts! They worked hard, played good clean hockey and whether at home on their own soup plate—as defeated clubs are wont to style our rink—or on the more pretentious platters of more fortunate towns, they were invincible when fighting on equal terms, seven against seven.

The Intermediates need not be discouraged at their failure to land a championship. It was only after three most spirited contests and after generously waiving a default, that they finally succumbed to Port Hope, which club, under very adverse circumstances, was only beaten out in the final game for the Intermediate Championship of Ontario.

Whilst I devoted considerable time to hockey matters last winter, my duties were rendered pleasant and comparatively light by the hearty co-operation and valuable assistance given me by the other officers. Mr. McPherson, aided by his assistant, proved himself an energetic and eminently successful sec.-treas., to which fact the players, the rink manager, outside clubs and the secretary of the O.H.A. can bear testimony. Mr. F. D. Kerr rendered invaluable help in connection with the troublesome protest which we had to defend and he also spent considerable time in looking after the certificates which the juniors have to obtain. Dr. Scott, J. McCabe and Captains Glover and Kavanah were an excellent Team Committee and performed their work to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. Mr. McCabe was likewise of great help in his capacity of manager when the teams were playing away from home; whilst King Dillon, as trainer, had his boys in the pink of condition.

I would also bear testimony to the valuable services rendered to the club by Mr. Buchanan, our representative on the O.H.A. Executive. Being one of the most influential members of that committee, he was successful in every instance in seeing that we got everything that was justly coming to us.

In speaking of the O.H.A. I might say that they desire every encouragement in their difficult endeavours to stamp out everything savoring of professionalism in Canada's great winter sport. They have elevated hockey during the last few years to a much higher plane. If for nothing else, we should be thankful to them, for the severe shaking up that they gave London—the home of crooked sports—by debarring from further participation in amateur sports, the officers of that club who engineered one of the most contemptible frauds ever exposed in the annals of amateur sport in Ontario.

Will you allow me to make a couple of suggestions? Last season the Executive strongly advised against putting a team in the senior series. The club rejected their advice. What was the outcome? We had a senior team. They had a short and inglorious career, being overwhelmingly defeated on their own ice in the first game, and were under the necessity of dropping out of the series and defaulting the return game, which was not altogether sportsmanlike, but under the circumstances, unavoidable. Would it not be well to leave the entering of teams in the different series to the incoming Executive? They will be disinterested parties, and more likely to come to an unbiased and correct decision.

I would also advise that in all the series we may enter that in the first round home and home games be played with each of the clubs in the district. A healthy rivalry between the clubs in our interest will add interest to the sport, make our expenses lighter, and afford more matches than we had last year in the Intermediate series. It is very discouraging to a club to be out of the running by losing the first two games, as Lindsay was last year. They should have had a series of games with Peterborough, Port Hope, Belleville and Cobourg.

I would like to impress upon your minds the wisdom of devoting considerable attention this year to the Junior Colts. Hockey players come and go, and it becomes necessary from time to time to get recruits to fill up the ranks. What a list of good players we have lost from the time of "Monty," the father of hockey in Peterborough to the time of Captain Cavanah! Whilst our chief strength this year will in all likehood be centred on the intermediates, we must not lose sight of the fact that we will have vacancies to fill next year and the year after, so let us not lose sight of the Junior Colts.

There is another point to which I must direct your attention. It has been customary for some of the players to purchase hockey supplies without an order from the Secretary, and charge them up to the account of the Hockey club. The attention of the players was called to this at the commencement of last season. We were, therefore, surprised at the end of the season when settling up our accounts to find that this had been done again. This is not a business-like way of doing business, nor a fair way to treat the Executive. The Secretary will supply orders for all the supplies you may need, and I would suggest that he procure an order book, and be authorized to pay no accounts unless the orders accompany them.

A word or two about the rink. There has been a great objection raised by some of our defeated opponents to the size of our rink, in that it is too narrow. Whilst this is without doubt a handicap to other teams, they lose sight of the fact that it is no less a handicap to our own team when they are playing away from home on a larger rink. We were led to believe by the rink authorities that the rink would be enlarged for this season's play, but such, I am sorry to say, has not been done. Whilst there is no danger of our rink being debarred, as there are several rinks in the O.H.A. inferior in many respects, yet it takes away to a certain extent the honours of winning a Championship, if our opponents believe that we have an unfair advantage by reason of our rink being too small.

Before I close I would like to make a prophecy. There will be at least one first-class rink in Peterborough next season, or I lose my guess.

In retiring from the Presidency, to which you have been so good as to elect me a third time, I wish to thank you for the confidence which you have reposed in me, and I wish you every success in the future. Fight your battles fairly, take your victories modestly, and your defeats gracefully, and, win or lose, your time and efforts will not have been spent in vain.

The report was adopted, after which the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. A. W. McPherson submitted a statement showing the receipts to be $1376.26, and the expenditure amounting to a sum of 15c off that amount.

Both reports were received, and the President appointed Messrs. Jas. McCabe and Andrew Scott as auditors, to examine the financial statement.

A communication from the Newmarket Club, soliciting the support of Peterborough for their candidate for the executive, Mr. Simpson, was received and left in the hands of the Executive Committee.

The election of officers was the next order of business, resulting as follows:

Patrons and Patronesses — Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mrs. Stratton, Mr. C. B. McAllister and Mrs. McAllister. Mr. G. W. Hatton and Mrs. Hatton.

Hon. Pres.—Dr. Bradd.

Pres.—Mr. H. R. H. Kenner.

1st Vice-Pres.—Dr. Scott.

2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. T. F. Matthews.

Sec.-Treas.—Mr. A. W. McPherson.

Chaplain—Rev. W. L. Armitage.

Executive Committee—The officers, captains of the teams, and Messrs. James McCabe, Harry Rush, F. D. Kerr, A. H. Stratton and E. Wasson.

Team Committee — Mr. Jas. McCabe, Dr. Scott and the Captain of the team concerned.

Representatives to the annual meeting of the O.H.A.—Messrs. F. D. Kerr and A. W. McPherson.

Auditors — Messrs. R. F. McWilliams and R. P. Watt.

On motion it was decided that the club support Mr. W. A. Buchanan for office in the O.H.A. Mr. Buchanan was also tendered a vote of thanks for his services to the club as its representative on the O.H.A. Executive during the past year. Votes of thanks were also passed to the retiring Executive and also to Mr. Angus McIntosh and his assistants.

Mr. Dickson Davidson addressed the meeting in connection with the matter of the enlargement of the hockey rink. He stated that the directors of the Skating and Curling Rink Co. had taken the matter of enlarging the rink into their consideration to such an extent that several contractors had been consulted in the matter, as well as some well known engineers, but the opinion of all of the experts went to show that any alteration of the present rink was an impossibility on account of the manner of its construction. The only solution of the difficulty, therefore, lay in the erection of an entirely new rink, which undertaking could not be considered at the present advanced stage of the season.

A suggestion by Mr. George Lynch to the effect that the rink be opened as soon as possible for training purposes, was referred to the Executive.

Mr. M. Tooley earned the thanks of those in attendance by his kindly forethought in providing a box of cigars for their delectation.

The Board of Trade Met Last Night.

CLOSER TRADE RELATIONS.

Two Important Matters That Came up for Discussion—Resolution Passed by Members.

The meeting of the Board of Trade which was held last night, was not very largely attended. However, there were reasons for this, as at the hour the meeting was called for the electric lights in the town council chamber, in which the meeting was to have been held, went out, as did many other lights in town, and the chamber was consequently in darkness. A number came, saw no light, and went away again, thinking, no doubt, that there was no meeting. But there was a meeting, nevertheless, and whilst there were only a dozen members present, the questions up for discussion were of great importance, and they received that consideration their importance demanded.

After waiting in vain in the Council Chamber for light, an adjournment took place to the Police Court room, and Police Magistrate Dumble, chairman of the Board of Trade, occupied his regular easy chair, but not in his usual capacity. There were also in attendance, His Worship Mayor Denne, and Messrs. Robt. Fair, Dawson Kennedy, McF. Wilson, Wm. Rudkins, W. G. Morrow, T. A. S. Hay, E. B. Edwards, Benj. Shortly, Wm. Collins, R. H. Leary and T. Q. Quartermaine.

THE BUSINESS.

There were two questions to be considered—they were the matter of closer trade relations between Great Britain, and the Colonies, and the matter of the establishment of a sugar beet factory.

The chairman announced that he had received a circular from the Secretary of the Dominion Board of Trade, Ottawa, asking if the Peterborough Board of Trade would be willing to send a representative to a general meeting of the Boards of Trade throughout the empire, to be held in London, England, in the early part of January, 1902.

Lt.-Colonel Edwards asked if they had not better take up the sugar beet question first? He did not think that the meeting was large and representative enough to discuss such a question as the matter of closer trade relations with Great Great Britain and her Colonies.

At the suggestion of the chairman the matter was allowed to stand over for a future meeting of the Board to deal with.

His Worship Mayor Denne explained what had already transpired concerning the efforts of the town to obtain a sugar beet factory, and announced that as a result a general meeting of the Town Council, the County Council, the Village Council of Ashburnham, and the Board of Trade, had been called for Tuesday, December 3rd. The Mayor went into detail as to the proposals that had been made by various capitalists who desired to locate in Peterborough. He repeated the conditions upon which a sugar beet company would locate in Peterborough, all of which have appeared in the columns of the Examiner already. The capacity of the factory, and the amount of coal and other commodities used in a year in operating the factory, were cited, as well as the quantity of beets that would require to be grown by the farmers of the county. His Worship stated that the results of the analysis of the beets and the limestone had been published in the local papers, and copies of the same had been sent to the largest sugar beet factories in the United States in order to keep them thinking about the matter.

The chairman gave a careful review of the progress of the industry, which showed him to have studied the matter very considerably, explaining that the sugar beet factory in Peterborough would benefit not only Peterborough county but it would benefit the counties of Durham, Northumberland and Victoria. However, it would not be an easy matter to get these counties to give a bonus. Again it would be hard to get the town to grant a bonus for it would be situated in the suburbs of the town, and would be operated only a portion of the year. He explained many other difficulties that had to be faced, and he also said that the report of a high officer of the United States Government, who was asked to report on the matter of sugar beets, has reported that the industry should not be bonused in any way. The Ontario Government is giving half a cent a pound for the first three years, but he did not think that the town of Peterborough could give a bonus of fifty thousand dollars. He merely threw out these apparent obstructive questions that they might be plainly dealt with. Mr. Dumble also read a number of extracts of various kinds regarding the different branches of the industry.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy coincided with the remarks the chairman had made as to the matter of a bonus. He thought that if we guaranteed the capitalists good beets it was all that should be asked for. He felt that the great question at the present time is to get a sufficient number of farmers to grow the beets in a satisfactory manner. The farmers of this district have not made as big a speciality of growing roots as the farmers in certain other parts of the province, and it was for this reason he thought that Berlin was having a sugar beet factory established in that community.

He did not believe in a bonus, as before stated but the farmers should guarantee the capitalists that they can grow the right article. Most of the work can now be done by machinery so that the labour will not be as great as might be expected. The land must be prepared the fall before, and cannot be too well attended to. We have better land for the growing of beets than Germany has and it is only owing to their persistant cultivation of the soil that they now have 400 sugar factories in that country. In conclusion Mr. Kennedy said that all things being considered Peterborough stood first in the facilities for having a sugar beet factory in the province excepting that the farmers have not had very much experience in growing the sugar beets.

After considerable discussion, upon motion of Mr. Robert Fair, seconded by Mr. W. G. Morrow, the following motion was carried:—That in view of the recent success of the sugar beets grown in this vicinity, this Board approve of the efforts of the Mayor in calling a public meeting on Dec. 3rd for the purpose of obtaining the necessary information regarding the establishment of the sugar beet industry in Peterborough, and this Board pledges its support to the Mayor in his efforts.

The meeting then adjourned.

CAUSE OF THE WRECK

Engineer Strong of the Continental Limited Blamed.

A DISPUTED CASUALTY LIST.

Only One Name Appears From Canada—The Train Officials Put the Number of Dead at 90. But the Newspaper Reporters, Who Have Been Continually on the Spot, Say 100.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 29.—Two passenger trains on the Wabash Railroad, one going west, the other east, met in a frightful collision while going at almost full speed, one mile east of Seneca, Mich., a village 11 miles west of Adrian, shortly after 7 o'clock Wednesday night. Both trains were wrecked in the dreadful impact, entailing a tremendous loss of life, estimated from 80 to 100. The list of injured will probably reach 125. Flames added to the horror of the wreck.

The westbound train was known as No. 13, and a regular, which, besides its regular coaches, had several coaches filled with immigrants going west from New York. The eastbound train was known as No. 4, the Continental Limited. It was a vestibuled train, consisting of a baggage car, combination coach and sleeper.

Misread Orders.

The cause of the wreck was a misreading of orders by Engineer Strong of the Continental Limited. The orders it is claimed, read "pass at Seneca," but Strong understood it to read Sand Creek. The conductor of the train did not know that the engineer had misunderstood the order and supposed that his train was going on a siding. Finding that the train was running rapidly, the conductor put on the air brakes himself, but it was too late. The two trains crashed together and cars on the westbound train were crumpled up in a heap of ruins.

Engineer Strong stated in positive terms that his order directed him to pass the West Sound and No. 13 (the latter closely followed from Detroit), at Sand Creek. Said Strong: "I saw the headlight of the westbound four or five miles before the collision occurred, but I supposed the train was sidetracked at Sand Creek waiting for us to pass. The glare of the powerful electric headlight made it impossible to see the exact location of the other train. My fireman and I both jumped from the right hand gangway."

Strong and the fireman were both hurled 30 feet, but although scratched, cut and terribly jarred, were not seriously injured. The immigrants and other passengers on the westbound were crushed between the splintered cars.

Relief Train Despatched.

The spot where the wreck occurred was in the open country, with but one farmhouse near by and facilities for aiding the injured were extremely inadequate. As soon as the news of the disaster reached Superintendent Burns, here, a relief train was despatched to the scene with a score or more of surgeons on board. Farmers from nearby and those who escaped from the wreck alive made heroic efforts to rescue the less fortunate. The condition of the wreck was such that in the darkness it was impossible to render immediate aid.

Immediately after the collision six of the cars of the westbound train, crowded with immigrants, burst into flames. The unfortunate inmates fought madly in their attempt to crawl out of doors and windows, thus hindering each other so that the bulk of them were unable to escape. There was absolutely no means at hand to fight the fire, and the agonized shrieks of the poor unfortunates was appalling.

Considerable light was shown on the cause of the disaster by the orders which the conductor of No. 13 showed as his authority for passing Sand Creek. The order, which was delivered to the train at Holloway, read as follows:

Order No. 82, trains No. 13 and 3. "No. 4, engine 609, will meet No. 13 at Seneca and No. 3, engine 623, Sand Creek. Engines No. 86 and 151 will double head No. 13."

It is understood that the engineer and conductor of No. 4 received a similar order at Montpelier, O., but if so these orders were disregarded. If it develops that the orders issued to both trains were to the same end, it is considered that the responsibility for the disaster rests wholly with the engineer and conductor of the eastbound Continental Limited.

When night fell over the scene of Wednesday evening's awful calamity, those who had been investigating the disaster had found nothing to alter the estimate of about 80 lives lost as a result of the collision. Supt. George M. Burns of the division on which the wreck occurred insists that the estimates are too high. "I do not consider," said he, "that the total death list will exceed 90."

However, in support of the larger estimate, it is pointed out that there are now 14 passengers known to be dead. The bodies of eight of these have been recovered, and it is considered that the fragments of the other bodies now at the morgue at Adrians will account for many more than the 12 dead necessary to make up Supt. Burns' estimate of 20.

Can Not Estimate.

Supt. Burns said last night that he was unable to tell the exact number of Italian immigrants aboard the immigrant train, but he thought there were no more than 50. Passengers of the train, and a number of those who were early on the scene, dispute this, and say the number was nearer 80. Supt. Burns has received no report as yet from Ticket Collector Eames of the immigrant train, who probably knows nearer than anyone else the number of Italians in the cars.

Inquiry Begun.

Coroner Hamilton of Adrian yesterday afternoon empanelled a jury and will begin an inquiry into the disaster to-day. Following are the members and their occupations: E. F. Cleveland, J. E. Morden, A. W. Carri, A. W. Allderich, J. Kirk and John Davis. All the jurors are prominent in the business affairs of the little city of Adrian.

Ontario Woman Killed.

Among the dead are Vida Decas and her child of Tupperville, Ont. She was a sister-in-law of Domenco Posterno.

The Free Press to-day will say that the loss of life was in round numbers 100, and the statements made by the Italian immigrants bear out this claim. These immigrants say that there were about 125 of their nationality on the immigrant train, and that only about 25 of them escaped.

While there are only ten of them known to be dead, it is asserted that the other 90 were completely incinerated, and that with the removal of the wreckage the bodies crumbled to dust, which was scattered by the wind which swept across the country.

YET 70 COMMANDOES

But the British Are Hemming Them Into Narrow Areas.

KITCHENER REPORTS CAPTURES

The Vaulting Boer Ambition Stated by a Man Named Sandberg—Autonomy of Their Lost Provinces Will Not Do—The British Must Go Clear Out of South Africa.

London, Nov. 29.—The correspondent of The Times at Pretoria says the Boers are being gradually confined in narrower areas, and are consequently less able to avoid the British troops.

There are still 70 recognized commandoes and bands in the field, the number of men in each ranging from 50 to 400. Twenty-six of these forces are in the Transvaal, 31 in the Orange River Colony, and 13 in Cape Colony.

Scouts all over the country inform the burghers of the movements of the British columns, and the Boers are generally able to move off before the British troops reach them.

The separate commandoes in the Southeast Transvaal are near enough together to concentrate at 24 hours' notice and to equal in numbers the British columns.

The only course open to the British, says the correspondent, is to "hustle" the Boers, and gradually extend the cleared areas. The work is slow, but it is sure, and there is no justification for the impatience shown at home in regard to the progress of the campaign.

The correspondent urges the need of more men. He says that at present the "striking arm" of the British forces numbers 45,000.

Joubert Captured.

London, Nov. 29.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria dated the 27th, reports that Gen. Knox has captured 36 members of Buys' commando who escaped after the recent fight. The prisoners include Commandant Joubert, who is wounded.

What the Boers Require.

London, Nov. 29.—The Times yesterday quotes an interview in a Nantes newspaper with a man named Sandberg, who is described as an aide-de-camp of the Boer Commandant-General, Louis Botha. Sandberg has been lecturing on the continent to collect Boer funds.

Sandberg declared in the interview that the ultimate victory of the Boers was certain. Asked what peace terms the Boers would accept, he said they would agree to one condition only—that the British quit South Africa. He added:

"Their recognition of our autonomy would be insufficient. We must be masters of the Cape as well as of the Transvaal."

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

What is Going on in the Village to the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Finlay, of Rapid City, Manitoba, spent Sunday visiting relatives here.

Mr. W. R. Cameron, of the Union Bank, here, spent Sunday in Peterborough, the guest of Mrs. G. B. Cameron.

Mr. Robt. Harrison, of Peterborough, is in town.

Mr. Gall, representative of the Imperial Life Assurance Co., is in town this week rustling up business.

Mr. J. L. Squire shipped a car load of turkeys to Manchester, Eng., on Monday.

The C.P.R. have put in a new split switch with a spring frog in their yard here.

The mill pond has been frozen over and the small boys are out in full force enjoying the skating.

Messrs. Buck and Walsh shipped a load of hogs from here to-day.

The Norwood Hockey Club was reorganized on Wednesday evening last at the McGregor House. Quite a number of the old players were present and they intend to boom hockey here this winter, and capture the Trent Valley League Cup. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—W A F Campbell.
President—W R Cameron.
Vice-Pres.—W A Eaton.
Sec.-Treas.—John Anderson.
Captain—C P Pearce.
Executive Committee—Pres., Sec.-Treas., Captain and Messrs. J Miller, Russel Pearce.

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

Many Items of Interest From the Eastern Railway Town.

The Citizens' Ball on Friday night was well attended and an enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. M. McNicol has moved into Flynn's hotel and taken charge of the business.

Mr. T. Smith has removed his livery to the west end of the village.

The English Church will have a fowl supper in the basement of the town hall on Thanksgiving Day, afterwards a recital of humorous classical and dramatic selections by Mr. H. N. Shaw, of the College of Music, Toronto, assisted by local talent.

On Monday, while Mrs. Wm. Dineen, who has been in poor health for some time, and Miss Mary Dineen, were taking advantage of the newly fallen snow to have a cutter ride, the spirited young horse which they were driving, became frightened by striking his legs against the cutter, owing to being hitched too short, and attempted to run away. Miss Mary, who was handling the reins, showed wonderful skill and presence of mind in keeping the horse under partial control until assistance arrived, thereby averting what might have been a serious accident.

Ben and Wm. Waymark, left on Saturday for Muskoka to work in the lumber camps.

Mr. D. L. Somerville of Bethany, has been engaged as principal of the Havelock school.

Thompson & Son shipped another carload of potatoes on Saturday.

Mr. S. May, who resides about a mile out of the village, fell while coming down stairs and broke three of her ribs on Friday last.

BRIDGENORTH.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Good sleighing at Chemong.

Kelly's mill is closed down.

Chemong lake is frozen over.

G. H. Brown is getting the toboggan slide in shape.

Wm. Nicholls is training his trotting horse for the winter races.

Dr. Morgan drove in to Peterborough last Thursday evening on business.

Mrs. S. Morrison has quite recovered, and is able to be around again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jobe drove into town on Wednesday evening to attend St. Luke's tea, in Ashburnham.

The Misses Northey, who conduct a dress making establishment in the village, spent last week in Selwyn.

Mrs. Hartshorn has returned home from Toronto.

Capt. and Mrs. W. H. White spent Sunday in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hartshorne are still occupying their summer cottage.

Mr. N. G. Bell and family spent Sunday in visiting friends in Selwyn.

Fred Jopling and Ernie Telford drove in to Peterborough on Thursday night to take in Marks Bros.' show.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Blewett passed through the village on Monday morning on their way to the Bethel tea.

Warden Fitzgerald has been in Ottawa during the past week. No doubt he will ask Mayor Morris how it feels to be out of a job.

Mr. Everet Mann, son of Mr. J. H. Mann, who has been ailing for some time, and was not recovering as fast as his friends would like to see, was removed to the Nicholls Hospital on Monday.

Mrs. Dr. Morgan, while out for a skate on Saturday afternoon, unfortunately received a fall, which inflicted an ugly bruise on her left temple.

Carpenters are at work erecting a porch in front of the public school.

The repairs at the parsonage are completed and it is greatly improved in appearance.

Word reached here on Friday that the steamer Sunbeam with two scow loads of wood in tow, was frozen in at the Narrows in Stony Lake.

Mr. Kelly has a couple of carpenters at work making some repairs to a few of his dwellings. Including some of the improvements is a large kitchen, which has been erected adjoining the terrace at present occupied by Mr. John Coones.

Smythe Kelly left on Monday at noon with the second contingent for the lumber camp at the Blue Mountains. Judging from the amount of provisions and the number of men which have been conveyed back during the past two weeks, Smythe no doubt intends to make things hum in the woods this winter.

The residents of Bridgenorth were awakened from their peaceful slumbers on Friday night, at about 9 p.m., by a 'bus load of young people who were making the night hideous by their war whoops, but on making enquiry it was ascertained the party was composed of some of the young people of George street Methodist church, who were on their way out to spend the evening at Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Taylor's.

LAKEFIELD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mrs. James Craig, who has been in the Nicholls Hospital under treatment, for the past couple of weeks is improving, and the doctors have decided that an operation shall not be necessary as was first feared.

The Ladies' Institute gave a social on Monday evening for the purpose of increasing their membership. A most enjoyable evening was spent with music and impromptu speeches by the ladies. The secretary reports quite a large addition to the membership.

The Lakefield Portland Cement Co. have purchased a much larger steam engine to haul marl from Buckley's Lake to the plant here. It arrived here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lenton, of Orono, are visiting in the village, the guests of Mrs. E. A. Tanner.

Mrs. Silas Finlay arrived home from the west Wednesday.

Mr. Finlay while in North Dakota was out hunting in the Pembina Mountains with Mr. George Cunningham. Mr. Cunningham's gun was accidently discharged, the contents lodging in Mr. Finlay's leg. It was some time before a doctor could be procured and when he arrived it was found necessary to amputate the limb below the knee. Mr. Finlay has the sympathy of the entire community in his most unfortunate accident.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Robert Gilroy, of Nassau street, on Wednesday evening when his daughter, Miss Minnie Gilroy, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Gilbert Gordon, of the village, in the presence of the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Rev. Mr. Bridgeman performed the ceremony. Miss Mary Gordon acted as bride's maid, and Mr. John Blewett supported the groom. The number of valuable presents received by the bride testifies to the high esteem in which the young couple are held by the residents of the village.

CHANDOS ITEMS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The merry sleighbells are already heralding the approach of winter.

Wood bees, followed by social gatherings in the evening, are the order of the day.

During the hunting season many of our local shots secured their limit of deer.

Mr. John Monogue has already cleared the ground for his new saw mill on Loon Lake.

Miss Annie Nobbins of Peterborough, is the guest of Mr. Jas. Scott.

Miss Katie Scott of Peterborough, is spending a few weeks under the parental roof.

Mr. Thos. Mahoney was the guest of Mr. Fred Hobbins, Sunday.

A couple of our young men were out without their rubbers the other evening, and as a result found a resting place in the bottom of a dry ditch.

Mr. Thomas Trotter was the guest of Mr. Edward Gooley on Sunday.

Mr. Maurice O'Brien paid a flying visit to friends in Coe Hill last week.

Many of the farmers are busy driving their cattle to the lumber camps, where they have sold them.

CEMENTING BONDS OF UNITY.

Thanksgiving Dinner Under Auspices of American Society in London.

London, Nov. 29.—Three hundred persons assembled last evening for the Thanksgiving dinner given under the auspices of the American Society in London. John Morgan Richards was in the chair.

Conan Doyle, the novelist, produced, perhaps, the greatest effect of the evening, by declaring the pendulum of the British world had now shifted to somewhere between New York and Chicago.

"There is no use in disguising this important fact," continued Dr. Doyle. "Yet if the English-speaking races should be compelled to meet a common foe, the world would soon see how quickly these same English-speaking people would close up their ranks and march shoulder to shoulder for the advancement of civilization."

When Anthony Hope, the novelist, spoke, he said the only thing which remained to be done to bind the nations more closely together was for someone to find a common denominator for English and American jokes.

Admiral Sir Edmund Robert Fremantle referred to the friendly relations existing between the navies of Great Britain and the United States.

Major-General Sir John Charles Ardagh, Director of Military Intelligence in the War Office, paid high tribute to Newton Crane, counsel for the American claimants before the South African Compensation Committee, for the cordial way in which Mr. Crane had met the members of the committee in their work.

MISS STONE REPORTED DEAD.

Emanates From Turkish Source and Is Discredited.

Constantinople, Nov. 28.—The Turkish authorities at Salonica hear that Miss Ellen M. Stone, the raptured American missionary, and Madame Tsilka, her companion, are both dead, and that their remains were buried at the village of Alldere, in the District of Dubnitza.

Madame Tsilka is reported to have died after child birth, and Miss Stone is said to have succumbed to grief and hardship. The brigands are alleged to have dispersed after the deaths of their captives.

The report is discredited at the United States legation, and at the United States Consulate.

Alive Nov. 24.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 29.—A telegram received from a private agent at Dubnitza says that Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilka were alive Nov. 24.

Character in Medicine.

Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase — America's Greatest Physician.

French Chinese Loan.

Paris, Nov. 29.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday adopted the Chinese loan, after rejecting two paragraphs of the final article, which the commission had inserted against the wish of the Government. They would have excluded religious congregations from the benefits of the loan, and they also provided that indemnities be distributed to private claimants only, as China paid the instalments.

Discrepancy Over $40,000.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 29.—It is believed in official circles that the alleged discrepancy in the accounts of former City Treasurer Stuart B. Young, who committed suicide last night, will amount to between $40,000 and $50,000. Young was assistant postmaster in this city during the administration of President Cleveland.

Will Get a Divorce.

Berlin, Nov. 29.—The Vossiche Zeitung says it learns upon reliable authority that the Crown Prince and Princess of Roumania have mutually agreed upon a divorce, and that the Crown Prince intends to renounce his succession to the throne.

Switchman's Strike Fails.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 29.— The switchmen's strike gave evidence yesterday of rapid disintegration, and by to-morrow morning the officials of the different railroads, with terminals in Pittsburg, declare that traffic will be resumed as usual.

WEST HURON.

Hon. J. T. Garrow and Mr. Joseph Beck Nominated at Goderich.

Goderich, Nov. 29.—The nomination in West Huron for the Legislature was held in the Court House here Wednesday afternoon, when Hon. J. T. Garrow was selected as the Reform candidate and Joseph Beck as Conservative. The attendance was large and the meeting orderly throughout.

After the usual formalities of nomination were completed, the meeting opened for speaking, Mr. William Proudfoot being chosen as chairman. Mr. Garrow was the first speaker, and he occupied the allotted time, dealing with many of the issues before the people.

Mr. Beck spoke for 15 minutes, mostly of local issues, and dwelt upon the past elections, claiming that he had not been fairly dealt with.

Mr. Garrow replied and the meeting closed.

ATTACKED BY NATIVES.

French Recruiting Vessels Meet Hot Reception in New Hebrides.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 28.—From the New Hebrides news was received that the boats of the French recruiting vessel Marie Henry were attacked by the natives, who were incensed because of the misconduct of a former recruiting vessel which had shanghaied a number of natives. Securing reinforcements, the French landed, burned a number of huts and canoes, but the natives fled.

The schooner Julia was also attacked at Pentecost Island. The crew of the vessel returned the fire, and, driving back the natives, landed and burned some huts, including that of the teacher of the mission, who was seen at the head of the natives.

The sailors of H.M.S. Wallaroo were lost in the bush of Epi Island, and were four days without food when found by some natives and taken to the missionary.

The auxiliary schooner Mosatta, a trading vessel, built at San Francisco, was wrecked at New Britain.

ITALIAN POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

Government Sure of a Majority in Chamber Now About to Meet.

London, Nov. 29.—The Rome correspondent of The Times says that now, on the eve of the opening of the Chamber, the Cabinet is certain of a majority, notwithstanding the the probable defection of the Republican group.

The epidemic of labor strikes seems to have spent itself, says the correspondent. Signor Giolitti, the Minister of the Interior, has, during his present term of office, been singularly favored by fortune. Whatever his methods may be nobody can complain of his nine months' record. Signor Giolitti and the Socialists are respectively the engineer and the steam of the political engine, but Premier Zanardelli and the King apply the brakes. It was Signor Zanardelli who inspired the new royal decrees defining the powers of the Cabinet and the Prime Minister's rights as Supreme Moderator.

The important incidents of the session, says the correspondent, will be the statement of the Minister of Finance and the debate on the bill for the gradual abolition of the municipal duties on food-stuffs. The former will be satisfactory, showing a surplus of $10,000,000 for the financial year, and a prospective surplus as large.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure all, nor a Modern Miracle but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the over-worked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give universal satisfaction.

Revising the Creed.

Washington, Nov. 29.—A section of the committee of 20 appointed to revise the creed of the Presbyterian Church met here yesterday and began the preliminary work. The session worked several hours on the preparation of a new statement of the doctrine of the church, but there was no discussion or action reached. The session will meet again to-day.

TO SURRENDER COLON

An End to the Colombian Disturbances Arranged For.

HEAVY CASUALTIES IN BATTLE.

Liberals Drove the Government Troops Back to Frijoles—Over 100 of the Government Men Killed or Wounded—A Pile of Corpses Block a Train at Buena Vista.

Colon, Nov. 29.— The conference yesterday between Liberal and Conservative representatives and the officers commanding the foreign warships here, was held on board the United States gunboat Marietta in the harbor. The commanding officers of the Marietta, the British cruiser Tribune and the French cruiser Suchet, and Lieut.-Commander McCrea of the Machias, and Capt. Perry of the Iowa, were present, as were Generals Alban and Jeffries, representing the Government of Colombia, and Senor De La Rosa, secretary to Gen. Domingo Diaz, who represented the Liberal party of Colombia.

It can be said upon the best authority that the Liberals will surrender Colon to-day to the Government authorities. United States marines guarded Colon last night.

A FIERCE BATTLE.

The Government Troops Lose Heavily at Buena Vista.

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 28.— In a fierce battle yesterday the Government forces were defeated. The Government troops, 300 strong, under Gen. Alban, on reappearing at Buena Vista yesterday afternoon, opened fire on the Liberal forces, under Col. Barrera. The latter were not entrenched, but, having the choice of ground, occupied the top of a small hill at Buena Vista. The fighting, which was of the most savage nature, lasted until 5.30 p.m., without stopping, when the Government forces, owing to the great loss they had sustained, were compelled to give way and retreated toward Frijoles. Over a hundred men were killed or wounded, their bodies lying all along the railroad.

A train on reaching Buena Vista was unable to pass, owing to the pile of corpses blocking its passage.

About 20 wounded men were taken to Panama on the evening train.

The Liberal loss was again insignificant. It is said to be less than a dozen men.

LAID UP.

A Strong Man on His Back Through Kidney Trouble.

A Toronto Contractor who was Never Without Pain for Years, and who had Many Times to Quit Work—Dodd's Kidney Pills Made him Well.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 27th. (Special.) At No. 86 Lippincott street, in this city, resides Mr. W. J. Keane. Mr. Keane is a contractor, and is one of the best known men in his line of business in Toronto.

Like many other successful men, Mr. Keane has suffered during his busy life a great deal, from Kidney Disorders. For years he suffered great pain. He was forced at times to quit his work altogether and go to bed. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills, and is well. This is what he says about it:—

"It gives me great pleasure to write in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and the good they have done me. I am never without them.

"I have been a great sufferer with pains in my back, in the region of my kidneys. I was very sick, and at times could not attend to my work at all.

"I used several medicines, but nothing I ever tried seemed to help me in the least, until a friend of mine advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I immediately found relief, and was able to resume my work.

"I used altogether seven boxes before being completely cured. Since then I have never been sick a day. I have never had the slightest indication of a return of the trouble."

It is hard to understand how anyone will continue to suffer from Lame Back or any other symptom of Kidney Trouble after so many frank and full statements by men well known in all walks of life, that Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured them.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure. They never fail. They cannot fail. Years of trial have absolutely proven that there is no case of Kidney Complaint, Lame Back, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia, Bladder or Urinary Troubles, that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only medicine that ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy.

Thousands of Canadians have tried, and proved, and testified.

FEAR TWENTY-FIVE ARE LOST.

Schooner Lilydale is Missing From St. John's Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 29.—As a result of Wednesday's gale, the schooner Marianthus is ashore, and will be a total loss. Her crew were saved. The schooner Duke was driven aground. She lost part of her keel, but was refloated. The schooner Active foundered, but her crew reached shore, after great trouble.

The schooner Lilydale is missing, and as she carries nineteen passengers, besides her crew of six men, great anxiety is felt concerning her.

Gen. Hutton Appointed.

London, Nov. 29.—Gen. E. T. H. Hutton, who commanded the first brigade of mounted infantry in South Africa, has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the forces of the Australian Commonwealth.

Gen. Hutton was born in 1848, and he is an aide-de-camp to the King. He has served in the Zulu war, the Boer war and the Egyptian war. He commanded the military forces of New South Wales from 1893 to 1896, was president of the military conferences in Australia in 1896, was Assistant Adjutant-General for Ireland from 1896 to 1898, and was General in command of the Dominion militia from 1898 to 1900.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS...

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $120 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THE SCOTTISH MERRYMAKING.

It Proved to be a Great Success Yesterday.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME.

Many Graceful Little Dancers Brighten the Evening's Pleasure—A Very Large Attendance.

The Scottish Merry Making drew an immense audience to the opera house, last evening, and the Celtic savour of the entire programme more than delighted the many sons and daughters of Auld Scotia who were in attendance.

Mr. G. M. Roger occupied the chair and introduced Hon. Senator Kerr, of Cobourg, who was slated to deliver the anniversary address. The speech was a brief one but was redundant of the bright wit, which has earned for the Senator the name which he enjoys as one of Canada's premier post-prandial speakers. His tribute to the Scotch race was very neatly put. It was well, he said, for Christianity, well for civilization and well for freedom that Scotland has existed. The piety and noble qualities of the patron saint, St. Andrew, were given fitting reference and St. Patrick was not forgotten at the same time. Sir Walter Scott and Robbie Burns also received the speaker's attention and some choice gems were given from their works. The Senator closed with a fluent and patriotic peroration in the course of which he won every Scotchman's heart by the declaration that the Scotch were the only race which had never been conquered.

Major Beaton, of the Highlander's, Toronto, gave several selections on the pipes which were hugely enjoyed. He also played for the Scottish dancing which was put on during the evening. To Prof. Sheets a great deal of the credit is due for the success of the programme, as the greatest interest was taken in the dancing of the little girls and boys from his classes. Amongst those who participated were Misses Kathleen Wallis, Mattie Robertson, Gertrude McClellan, Alberta Gooding, Gladys Roy, Lenore Sanderson, Genevieve Sanderson, Jessie Spence and Messrs. Edward and Arthur Wood. The little ones gave ten numbers in all, and were overwhelmed with applause for their very clever and graceful performance. Miss Alberta Gooding received no less than three beautiful bouquets of roses, as she executed a pretty Scotch step dance and a skirt dance in which her posing was very effective. Miss Jessie Spence's numbers were also charmingly given.

Madame Palmira Bonvini, who very kindly consented to assist in the programme, contributed several very delightful numbers including "Robin Adair," "Kathleen Mavourneen" and "Within a Mile O' Edinboro Town." She received a very handsome bouquet during the evening.

Prof. McKay is without doubt the best Scottish impersonator before the Canadian public to-day. His selections, last night, were given with a quaintness, which is particularly his own and the audience was more than delighted with his work. Scottish humour or Scottish pathos was given with equal readiness and as the result of his visit to Peterborough Prof. McKay has won many additional admirers.

A matinee was also given in the afternoon.

The committee which was in charge of the affair was composed of Dr. Carmichael, Ald. G. M. Roger, Chas. Cameron, R. M. Glover, W. H. Robertson and W. Menzies. Each and every member worked hard for the success of the concert and is deserving of the greatest praise for the manner in which the affair was conducted.

CHARLOTTE STREET DINNER.

The Ladies as Usual Catered Most Satisfactorily to the Wants of Those Attending.

The Thanksgiving dinner given by the Ladies Aid Society in Charlotte street church last evening was as usual, largely attended.

The ladies began to serve dinner shortly after 5 o'clock and continued steadily until eight. There were all kinds of provisions in plenty, and the large gathering was served in splendid fashion.

After all had been served a short programme was given in the body of the church, presided over by the pastor, Rev. D. O. Crossley. Those taking part in the programme were,—Miss Dobbin and Mr. Henderson, who gave an instrumental duet on banjo and guitar, and responded to an encore. Miss F. Hall, a vocal solo. Mr. Kilgour an address. Mr. Crossley a song, and Miss Minnie Cuncannon a song and an encore.

The pastor expressed the thanks of the Ladies Aid Society to all who had taken part in the Programme, and for the large patronage of the public.

FORESTERS' CONCERT.

22nd Annual Entertainment of Court Peterborough was a Success.

The twenty-second annual concert of Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, took place last night in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, and was as successful as on previous occasions.

The programme was an excellent combination of talent, whilst the hop that followed the entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed.

The chair was occupied by Mr. Walter Hooper, District Deputy, and the following programme was rendered:

Part I.

Instrumental Solo, Miss D. Comstock
Vocal Solo, ... Mrs. S. A. McCall
Humorous Song,—"The Flying Machine"— ..... Harry M. Bennett
Recitation, ... Freddie Hooper
Vocal Solo, ... Mr. Walter Stocker
Reading, ... Mr. C. N. Brown
Vocal Solo ..... Miss Maud Curtis
Comic Song,—"I'm Going to be Married,"— ..... Harry M. Bennett

Part II.

Reading, ... Mr. Walter Hooper
Vocal Solo, ... Mrs. S. A. McCall
Comic Song,—"Looking For a Job,"— Harry M. Bennett
Recitation, ... Freddie Hooper
Vocal Solo, ... Mr. T. Cunningham
Vocal Solo, ... Miss K. Hooper
Comic Song,—"The Irish on Parade,"— Harry M. Bennett

Special mention should be made of the ability of Mr. Harry Bennett, and as an entertainer he certainly proved himself to be one of the best in his line that has ever visited Peterborough.

Trout Reserves.

Baltimore, Northumberland county, can boast of one of the finest trout preserves in Canada. By the skilful management of Mr. A. Chapman nine ponds have already been constructed, containing some three hundred thousand fish, which are fed twice a day with ground liver. The flume of the largest pond which is to be used for fishing purposes is just being built. The water will be raised this fall but none of the fish transferred to it until the spring.

Rev. Mr. Murphy is known as a most fluent speaker and a man of deep spirituality. Further notice will be given next week.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

BASKET BALL.

Yesterday was an open day at the Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium and many were those who took advantage of taking exercise by indulging in basket ball, wrestling, bar work, etc. In the evening a special event was on the tapis, when the noted Brownies battled with a picked Intermediate team. Those who witnessed the match say no faster match has taken place this year. The first half was exceedingly fast. The work of Miller and Hall for the Brownies, and Parker and Johnston for the Intermediates, was especially good. The public will have the pleasure of seeing the return match on the night of the Gym. exhibition, Tuesday, Dec. 10th. Saturday night there will be a basket ball match among local men, all who have been chosen in the league, and new members desiring to play are asked to be present to choose captains, who will draft the league schedule.

ONLY BLUFFING.

The London Advertiser says: "If the London team is successful in securing enough money to pay Peterborough, they can insist on Peterborough giving them a game, and this they most certainly purpose doing, even if they are compelled to go to Peterborough to play. They desire to demonstrate even more fully their superiority over the carpet committee room champions of the province."

CANOEING.

Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards has received an invitation to attend a complimentary dinner which is being tendered to the Executive of the American Canoe Association at Woodland Park Hotel. The invitation which is in the form of a menu card is very neatly gotten up. It contains the flags of the seventeen clubs whose presidents have had the honour of holding the office of commodore of the Association. The Peterborough Canoe Club flag is amongst them, Lieut.-Col. Edwards being commodore in 1883.

PETERBOROUGHS ARE CHAMPIONS.

Quebec Defeated in Montreal Yesterday.

THE SCORE WAS 16 TO 9.

Now Intermediate Champions of the Canadian Rugby Union—A Splendid Game on the M.A.A.A. Grounds Great Joy in Peterborough.

The Peterborough Rugby Club, for the second time in three years, have won the Intermediate Championship of the Canadian Rugby Union, this honour having again come to them yesterday afternoon on the M.A.A.A. grounds, Montreal, by defeating the Quebec team, the Intermediate Champions of the Quebec Union, by the score of 16 to 9. The result was hailed with much joy, not only by the Peterborough team, and the little contingent that cheered them on to victory, but by the townspeople in general when the news was flashed across the wires to the home of the champions.

The Peterborough team went down to Montreal determined to win. They had continued in condition for a long time, without having a home match to keep themselves enthused, or to enthuse the public that have, from a financial standpoint, supported them most liberally. The boys were seen off at midnight on Wednesday by a number of their supporters, who wished them success in the Canadian metropolis.

The entire party at once took sleepers, and were conveyed to Montreal in all possible travelling luxury. Here they put up at the Queen's, and during the morning they were called upon by many ex-Peterborough citizens, now residents of Montreal.

The game was advertised for 2 o'clock sharp, so the team had an early dinner and proceeded to the M. A.A.A. grounds, where they were to stake their own honour and the honour of the town, in football circles, at least. The day was cold, and the climatic conditions were more favourable to skating, snowshoeing and tobogganing, all of which were in evidence, than they were for playing Rugby. The M.A.A.A. grounds resembled a skating rink rather than a Rugby campus. The snow was banked up four and five feet deep along the four sides of the space on which the teams were to do battle, whilst here and there could be seen patches of ice and packed snow, that might have been suitable for a preliminary hockey match. The touchline judges and some of the other officials performed their duties almost hidden in fur garments, while coon coats were the conventional style of dress among gentlemen, and, in fact, the ladies, on the grand stand, and on the club house balcony.

To the left of the grand stand stood a confident band of backers of the team from the Ancient Capital. They rooted and yelled at various stages of the game, when they thought their services were of the most need, nor did they forget to indulge in the customary cross-firing of opinions with the supporters of their opponents, who occupied a similar position on the right. The latter contingent was augmented by a deputation of McGill students, who did not hesitate in telling the Peterborough people, the Quebec people, and the spectators also, that their sympathies were with the team from the west.

It was only a few minutes to 2 o'clock, when Referee McKenzie assembled the two opposing forces in a large dressing room of the Athletic Club house, and addressed them as to what he wanted, and what he wanted not. The penalties for wilful breach of the rules, would be imposed, and under no circumstances would he listen to anyone save Capt. Burnham and Capt. Tofield. His remarks were loudly cheered, and the red and white costumed athletes from Peterborough, and the black and blue costumed athletes from historic old Quebec stepped into the arena.

As to weight, the two teams were about evenly matched, if anything, the Quebec team had slightly the advantage in this regard. The game was played in the most gentlemanly manner, and the referee's duties in this connection were extremely light. Quebec, of course, having the wind with them, had slightly the best of the game during the first half. They played a hard game, but lacked in their judgment, which told with deadly effect, and when at half time the score was only 9—8 in their favour, the Peterborough team knew that their chances were good. Whilst the Quebec scrimmage was the strongest portion of their team, their back divisions could not compare with Peterborough's. The Peterborough team never lost its head for a moment throughout the afternoon. Scott, at back, McDonald, Capt. Burnham, and MacPherson, at half, and Bell, at quarter, made up a combination such as has not been possessed by the locals in some time, if, in fact, ever. Capt. Burnham's excellent judgment, and his handling of his men, was a matter of frequent complimentary references from the expert critics in the balcony of the club house. Crowley's following up was admitted to have been as good as any such work seen in Montreal this year, while the magnificent running of MacPherson astonished the Quebec men, the Montreal men, and even his own Peterborough men. When Mac got the ball there were cries from the stand to "go it, Mac," and he did. With head down and determination expressed in his face, more than once he plunged through the lines of his opponents, kicked in critical moments, and tackled unsparingly. His, as well as Scott's and Burnham's training in association football were at several times the salvation of the Peterborough team, and on one occasion in particular what would evidently have been a try for the Quebec men, was thus prevented.

THE TWO TEAMS.

The teams lined up as follows:

Quebec.	Position.	Peterborough.
	Back.
W. Pugh		Scott
	Halves.
Farrell		MacPherson
Tofield, Capt		Burnham
Stocking		McDonald
	Quarter.
McWilliams		Bell
	Scrimmage.
Gordon		Revell
Pope		Noble
Lindsay		Dainard
	Wings.
McGreevy		Dillon
Rattray		Picard
Power		Meagher
McGillivray		Rickey
Scott		Graham
Stuart		Smith
T. Pugh		Crowley

Referee, Phil MacKenzie; umpire, W. Christie.

Quebec won the toss and elected to play with the wind, which was blowing out of the west. It was not very long before Peterborough got over the line for a try. Revell followed up very fast, blocked Stocking's kick, dribbled the ball over the line, and Bell secured; Scott took the try, but failed to convert.

Peterborough, 4; Quebec, 0.

The ball being taken back to centre it was kicked off, and Burnham secured it and made a splendid run. He was finally tackled and a few minutes later Quebec was awarded a free kick for offside play. Peterborough made nothing of the kick, and the ball was dribbled down to their ten yard line. There was some scrimmage work now and then Quebec was awarded another free kick. The ball crossed the line, but it was punted out, and McPherson got it on the return and made a gain of thirty yards. This gain was followed up by some brilliant work by the Peterborough team, Burnham figuring prominently. Then Quebec suddenly woke up and got down to business. The ball was passed out of scrimmage at midfield, and by a combination run round the end from right to left, the ball being frequently passed, it was finally got across for a try, which Stocking converted. Peterborough, 4; Quebec, 6.

A few more minutes of good play on Quebec's part, found the ball back of the goal line once more, and a rouge resulted, making the score: Peterborough, 4; Quebec, 7.

A few minutes after this, Power, one of the wing men of the Quebec team, was tackled by Picard. He was badly knocked out, and had to be carried to the dressing room. He recovered shortly and was able to play again. Shortly after play was resumed Peterborough worked the ball down to Quebec's line. MacPherson received it out of the scrimmage and made a long kick over Quebec's line. The kick was well followed up, and Revell fell on it for a try, which Burnham failed to convert. Peterborough, 8; Quebec, 7.

At this juncture of the game, Farrell, Quebec's star half back, went wrong in one of his pedal extremities, and had to retire, Genest taking Farrell's place. Peterborough was awarded a free kick on a pickout from scrimmage. The ball was sent away across the line by Burnham, but Quebec's full back, by a daring run and kick, saved any further scoring. The ball was now worked down to the Peterborough line by Quebec, and Tofield finally kicked behind the dead line, evening up the score. Peterborough, 8; Quebec, 8.

Kicking off from the quarter line Tofield once more sent the ball behind the goal line and Peterborough was forced to rouge. Quebec, 9; Peterborough, 8.

Only two minutes more remained in this half, but nothing save a scrimmage occurred in this time.

THE SECOND HALF.

In the beginning of the second half the Peterboroughs made a strong play. The wings seemed to awake to the necessity that they had to do something, and some heavy massed play on the part of the Peterborough team followed. Peterborough had an opportunity and lost it, but MacPherson had the credit of making the best football run seen in Montreal this season. He sent the ball across the line and followed up forcing the Quebec man to rouge. Peterborough 9; Quebec 9.

Offside play marked the next bunch of play and was perfectly satisfactory to the spectators, if not the officials. There were some of the few spectators present, who rather liked the off side game; possibly they knew the rules and with good credit to their taste, may it be said that they appreciated everything that happened, applauded at points and gained much merit. On this offside play Peterborough was finally awarded a free kick, and the ball was sent across Quebec's line where it was rouged, giving Peterborough the advantage of one point. Peterborough 10; Quebec 9.

Unfortunately for Quebec here was a point where the decision of victory would have surely counted. Even juniors would have done better had they ever been permitted to stand on the 25 line. And now they worked from centre, kicked nowhere and got nothing. Peterborough won the game by equal merit and the faculty of keeping their heads together. Graham and Noble finally worked the ball across for a touch down which was converted by Scott making the score—Peterborough 16; Quebec 9.

One minute was left to play and whilst the Quebec men endeavoured to break through the Peterborough lines they failed and when the whistle blew, the Peterborough's were champions by a score of 16 to 9.

A wild yell went up from the victorious team's supporters in the grand stand. The boys were showered with congratulations, and the good news telegraphed home.

AT THE QUEEN'S.

There was a happy crowd at the Queen's Hotel after the game. When the Peterborough men returned from their dressing rooms, they were further congratulated by a great many of their former townsmen and by Montreal Rugby enthusiasts. A number of Ex-Peterboroughites dined with the boys. The supper took the form of a banquet, the proprietor of the Queen's doing all in his power to make the Peterborough men and their friends feel at home. The tables were arranged in one long row, with President McWilliams at the head. To his right sat Captain Burnham feeling proud and happy. Seated around either side were Messrs. R. B. Rogers, F. C. Frances, H. R. H. Kenner, Dr. Bradd, H. LeBrun, J. A. Corry, R. G. Laverdure, A. C. B. Ponsette, Ed. Skill, Clarence Bell, Geo. Revell, Wm. Crowley, J. Picard, W. Dainard, Dr. Scott, J. MacDonnell, W. Robinson, W. B. Rickey, A. W. MacPherson, Art. Noble, W. Meagher, Ed. Dillon, J. Tiller, Fred Smith, R. N. Bell, Thos. Kelly and E. S Clarry.

The boys talked enthusiastically over their success and many kind words were said of them by the guests at the table. They were urged to keep together another year and land the same championship they captured in 1899 and 1901.

The team left Montreal at 10 o'clock last night and arrived here at 5 o'clock this morning. They will receive the congratulations of their host of friends at the assembly tonight.

A DEADLY EXPLOSION

Twenty-Six Men Killed Outright --Twenty-Four Badly Injured.

MANY VICTIMS ROASTED ALIVE.

Penberthy Injector Plant Blown Up—Cause Has Not Yet Been Ascertained—Search for the Bodies of the Killed Continued Tuesday Night—Hospitals Are Besieged—Loss $150,000.

Detroit, Nov. 27.—Twenty-six men are dead, five of them unidentified and so terribly burned and blackened that identification is almost impossible and 24 other men are lying in the various hospitals of the city suffering from terrible cuts and burns and other injuries, all results of the explosion of one of the boilers in the Penberthy Injector Company's plant, at the corner of Abbott street and Brooklyn avenue, at 9.30 o'clock yesterday. Following are the dead:

A. E. Hoffman, A. E. Miller, Jos. Coffey, Steven Chrisph, Jacob Keobet, Robert Creer, Richard Ryan, Louis Henning, Eugene Bertram, Charles Marvin, George Schoocer, William Mann, Edward Burch, Douglas Dickinson, Patrick Malloy, R. Mulkee, Joseph Koseck, Charles Lydy, Chris. Waldman, John Schwalbe, Peter Doll and five unidentified bodies.

In addition to those more seriously injured, a dozen or more of employes who suffered comparatively slight injuries, were taken directly to their homes. Twenty-five men and boys have not as yet been located, either at their homes or at the hospitals. The 10 unidentified bodies account for 10 of these, and the officers of the company say they feel positive that the major portion of the remaining 15 were by last night at their homes.

Last night a great force of men was searching the ruins by electric light, and the work will not be stopped until every foot of the debris has been examined.

The Penberthy Injector Company's plant occupied half a square at the corner of Abbott street and Brooklyn avenue. It was composed of two brick buildings, separated by a 16-foot alley. The rear building, in which the boiler was located, and was completely destroyed, was three storeys high. The boiler was located at the northwest corner of the building, on the first floor. It was in this building that most of the manufacturing was done. The first floor was utilized as the engine and boiler room and a room for testing the output of the plant. The finishing and brass manufacturing department was located on the second floor and the third floor was devoted to the foundry.

It is impossible to tell how many men were at work in the various departments of the rear building when the explosion occurred, but the officers insist that the number was not over 35. The awful crash came without the slightest warning. The floors and roof of the rear building bulged upwards and then crashed down, a mass of debris.

Windows in houses for a block around were broken by the concussion, and flying bricks filled the neighboring yards. Flames broke out from the ruins almost immediately, and the horror of the fire was added to the suffering ones imprisoned.

The floors and roof had fallen at an angle, and formed a sort of huge cover, under which the fire burned fiercely. Not until the firemen had chopped through this did their streams begin to have an appreciable effect on the flames. The suffering of those who were buried beneath were later testified to by their charred and blackened bodies.

Gradually the rescuers worked their way downward through the pile. By this time there were no cries nor groans to aid them for the flames had destroyed those unfortunates who were not killed by the explosion or the fall. But the work of rescue continued with unabated haste. Stretcher bearers stood beside the delvers and bore away the burned and blackened bodies. A vacant house, adjoining the factory was converted into a temporary morgue. In several cases the charred corpses were so hot when recovered that they could scarcely be handled.

The hospitals were besieged by relatives and friends of the injured men.

The property loss, accordigg to Zecretary G. Childs, is about $180,000. The firm carried $70,000 fire and some boiler insurance, but how much of the latter Secretary Childs could not state.

Subscriptions for the relief of the sufferers have been started.

Got Lame Back?

No need of that now. That sort of pain can be knocked out in short order, for Polson's Nervilime, which is five times stronger than any other, penetrates at once through the tissues, reaches the source of suffering, drives it out and thus gives relief almost instantly. Not magic, but strength that gives Polson's Nervilime this power, you will think it magic however if you try it, pain goes so quickly. Sold by dealers everywhere, in large 25 cent bottles.

Englishman No Traitor.

Manila, Nov. 27.—Paterson, an Englishman, the secretary of Sixto Lopez, Aguinaldo's agent, who was smuggled ashore by Fiske Warren of Boston, Mass., was taken before the collector of the port, W. Morgan Shuster, when he called at the custom house for his baggage. The collector demanded that he take the oath of allegiance, and, as Paterson refused to do so, he will be deported.

strengthen the kidneys and bladder, then all trouble is at an end.

Mrs. E. Kidner, a London, Ont., mother, living at 489 Gray St., says:

"My little daughter, six years old, has had weak kidneys since birth. Last February I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Strong's drug store. Since taking them she has had no more kidney trouble of any kind. I gladly make this statement because of the benefit my child has received from this medicine."

THE PREMIER AT WELLAND.

He Delivered a Stimulating and Comprehensive Address.

Welland, Nov. 27.—At a crowded and enthusiastic meeting of Liberals from all parts of this county yesterday afternoon Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, delivered a stimulating and comprehensive address, setting forth the record and policy of his Government, and appealing for a fair opportunity to bring to fruition its great plans for the building up of the Province. The meeting was held in the Opera House, immediately after the close of a thoroughly unanimous convention, at which Mr. J. F. Gross, M.P.P., was again chosen to lead the Liberals in the fight.

A NATION OF WORKERS

With Good Health for Capital the Great Majority of Canadians Rely on Brain and Muscle for a Livelihood—With Ill-Health All is Lost.

Canada is a nation of workers. The few who have acquired positions of wealth and leisure, have done so through hard work, and the vast majority find it necessary to toil day after day, and year after year, to support themselves and those depending on them. Their capital is good health. So long as this lasts, they are happy and contented; but, alas! too many are robbed of this capital, and find themselves unable to keep up the struggle. With no earnings coming in, their small savings are soon exhausted, and want, as well as disease, stares them in the face.

Disease is humanity's most deadly foe. Silently, gradually, it steals upon one, until at last it closes its fangs on its victim and secretly robs him of energy, ambition and strength. In this age of keen competition, strenuous work, and ceaseless struggle, it is the nervous system that most readily feels the strain. Nights of sleeplessness, days of tired, languid feelings, depression, discouragement, and despondency, neuralgic pains, shattered nerves, weakness and irregularities of the bodily organs. These are some of the warnings of the approach of such serious and fatal diseases as nervous prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity.

Maintaining good health, is, to the majority of people the most vital question in the world, and nature affords no more efficient strengthener for the system and restorative for the nerves than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Naturally, gradually, and certainly, it forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, creates new, healthy, nerve cells, and puts into the system the snap, energy and vitality that defy the disease.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unlike any treatment you ever used. It does not act as a stimulant to whip up the tired nerves into exhausting action, nor, on the other hand, does it deaden and destroy the feeble nerve tissues, but by filling the shrivelled arteries with rich, red, life-sustaining blood, it repairs the waste and revitalizes and restores the body to health and strength. As a permanent cure for nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, irritability, and the weakness and irregularities which accompany an exhausted nervous system, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is unapproached; 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A handsome and useful Christmas present for your mother or grandmother, is a copy of Dr. Chase's last and complete Receipt Book. Illustrated folder free.

Why Catarrhozone Cures Catarrh.

It goes to every affected part and kills the germs that keep up the diseased condition. Catarrhozone never irritates but stimulates the mucous lining of the nose, throat and lungs to normal action and keeps the nasal passages free from offensive discharges. Catarrhozone contains no dangerous drugs or opiates, and is delightfully pleasant and simple to use. Catarrhozone is an absolutely sure cure for any form of catarrh, and sells for one dollar at druggists; small size 25c. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston.

BACKACHE.

One of the Most Puzzling of Disorders to Account For.

Pain in the back is one of the commonest of the ills afflicting humanity, and at the same time it is often one of the most difficult to relieve and the most puzzling to trace to its origin. It is a symptom of many acute diseases, such as spinal meningitis, smallpox, malaria, influenza, and so forth, but in such cases it is of short duration, and its cause is usually evident.

The backache of gallstone, renal colic or simple stomach ache is also an acute affair and disappears rapidly when the gallstone or kidney stone is passed or the flatulence relieved.

It is different, however, with the chronic form, which so often defies all the skill and ingenuity of the physician and exhausts the patience of the sufferer with its persistence and wearying, boring, wrenching pain.

The conditions which may produce this chronic backache are so numerous that a mere catalogue of them would fill the space allotted to this article, and we can refer only to the most frequent of them.

The pain may be due to disease in the spine itself, in the spinal cord, in the back muscles or in the abdominal cavity. Pott's disease of the spine (hunchback) and cancer of the vertebræ are the most usual affections of the spine causing backache.

Any affection of the spinal cord may find its expression in backache, but the one most commonly responsible is perlocomotor ataxia. When of muscular origin, pain in the back is known as lumbago, a disease which is generally regarded as rheumatic affection of the back muscles.

The discovery of the source of the pain in these local affections of the bone, muscle or nervous tissue is usually not difficult, but the problem is more intricate when the pain is merely a reflex of some internal disorder. Often the physician must interrogate each internal organ in turn before he can locate the starting point of his patient's suffering.

It is always well for the sufferer from a persistent backache to consult a physician.—Youth's Companion.

Doubtful Compliments.

The colonel who, taking his leave at a garden party, inquires, "Have I had the pleasure of saying goodby to you, Miss Mary?" the hostess sweetly assuring a distinguished pianist who has risen abruptly from the instrument with a sarcastic protest lest he should disturb the conversation that he does not do so at all; the young man who, on being told that a possible rival had taken the lady who is speaking in to dinner the previous evening, declares that "that's all he's fit for?"—these are decided instances of this class of bad compliment; while for a well meant but lukewarm one poor Newman Noggs' reply to the collector's query respecting the Kenwigs' new baby, that it wasn't a very nasty one, may be cited.—All the Year Round.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

THIRD CONTINGENT

Mr. Chamberlain's Message Accepting Canada's Offer.

THE CONDITIONS ATTACHED.

Canada's Plan for Mobilizing the Force —No Time to Be Lost in Giving Effect to the Imperial Authorities—Statement by Col. Borden After Meeting of Cabinet—Offers Pouring In.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—The official acceptance by the Imperial authorities of Canada's offer to enroll 600 mounted men for service in South Africa has been received by the Government. The despatch reads as follows:

Chamberlain's Message.

The document, furnished to the press from Government House, read as follows:

"To Lord Minto, Ottawa: Referring to your telegram of Nov. 21, Imperial Government gratefully accepts offer of corps consisting of 600 men to be raised on the following lines: (1) Men to be able to ride and shoot; (2) the Imperial Yoemanry rates of pay to be accepted, viz., cavalry rates to date of embarkation and Yoemanry rates, subsequently; (3) Canadian Government to provide horses, saddlary, uniforms, boots, etc., on repayment. Imperial Government to provide arms; (4) officers to be nominated by Canadian Government and their names submitted to Commander-in-Chief for approval of Secretary of State for War; (5) medical conditions to be as for Imperial Yoemanry; (6) Preference to be given to men who have had previous service in South Africa and to single men, married men and widowers, with children, to be accepted, provided that they understand that no separation allowance will be issued. Telegraph as soon as possible whether scheme, as outlined above, meets with approval of your Ministers (Signed) Chamberlain."

Before the Cabinet.

The despatch was laid before the Cabinet yesterday afternoon, and the Colonial Secretary will doubtless be assured that it meets with the approval of the Canadian Government. No time will be lost in giving effect to the wishes of the Imperial authorities. Lieut.-Col. Evans, who is to be recommended as commanding officer of the force, has been telegraphed for, and will probably arrive here on Friday. He will most likely have charge of the arrangements for recruiting, and a temporary staff consisting of an adjutant and other officers will be appointed to assist him. Recruiting stations will probably be opened at Victoria and Nelson, B.C., Calgary, Regina, Winnipeg, London, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, Halifax and Charlottetown. In the main the same method will be followed as when the constabulary were recruited. The Minister of Militia considers that the force can be enrolled, equipped and ready to start by about the first week in January.

Col. Borden's Statement.

Col. Borden said last night it was not true that a tentative arrangement had been entered into with the Elder-Dempster Company for a transport. The Colonial Secretary's despatch, he pointed out, makes no mention of transportation, and therefore no arrangement for a vessel can be entered into until it is known whether the Militia Department has power to deal with the matter. It seems to be taken for granted that the troops will concentrate at Ottawa, and that Halifax will be the port of embarkation. There is a strong desire throughout Canada to volunteer for service in South Africa. The Minister of Militia is not aware how many men are willing to serve in the ranks, but states that he has applications for double the number of commissions that will be available.

Col. Evans to Command.

Lieut.-Colonel Evans, who is to command the force, will leave Winnipeg to-day and arrive here on Friday.

Contract for the clothing and saddlery will be given out at once.

It is understood the period of enlistment will be for one year or till the close of the war.

The rates of pay for privates in the Canadian Rangers will be 28 cents per day, from date of enlistment to date of embarkation at Halifax; $1.20 per day after that date.

Nurses and Medical Men.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—All the Canadian nursing sisters who went to South Africa, with the exception of three, have again volunteered to serve. Of the three referred to, Miss Horne is sick at home, Miss Russell is with an invalid in Egypt, and Miss Richards is already attached to the Army Medical Corps in South Africa. The nurses who have volunteered are Misses Hurcomb, Pope, Affleck, Macdonald and Forbes. Many offers from medical men have also been received. Surgeon-Colonel Fisher, who was with the Royal Canadians, wants to go out again. He has, however, been recommended for service with the Imperial forces in England in order to qualify for the Army Medical Corps in this country, and it is doubtful whether his application will be acceded to. Dr. Ross of Kingston is also very anxious to go on active service.

Colonel Evans Leaves To-Day.

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Col. Evans, C.B., commander of the mounted rifle corps, leaves for Ottawa to-day to undertake the formation of Canada's third contingent for South Africa.

He says that there are hundreds of young men in the West anxious to join the regiment.

Eager to Go.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Offers to serve in the force to be raised for service in South Africa continue to flow in upon the Militia Department.

With respect to Col. Sam Hughes' offer to take command of the force, the authorities highly appreciate that gallant officer's action, but think it is a case of where a cavalryman should be sent.

Many militia men are applying to Ottawa to be enrolled in the force. Those desirous of going to South Africa should make application either to their commanding officer or the D.O.C. of the district.

Mrs. Bonine's Confession.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The fact was brought out yesterday in the trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine for the killing of James Seymour Ayres, jr., that she had made a private confession of her part in the tragedy on the evening after the homicide, several days before she took the police officials into her confidence. This recital was made to Mr. George B. Gardner, an attorney. Mr. Gardner was on the witness stand yesterday, and told his story for the first time. He said that Mrs. Bonine had sought him out and asked his advice as to whether she should make a public statement, that he had suggested to her that she should delay her confession until the theory which was first entertained should be fully exploited. Mrs. Bonine had told him that Ayres tried to assault her, and in the struggle that ensued he was shot with his own revolver.

Encouraging News.

The Hague, Nov. 27.—An official bulletin just issued says Queen Wilhelmina has recovered from her recent illness, and will be able to go out in a few days.

Second Charge Fails.

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—The second charge against ex-Mayor W. D. Morris, of buying liquor after hours, was dismissed in the Police Court Saturday morning, for lack of evidence. Morris was called as a witness against the proprietor of the Russell, but he refused to give evidence that would incriminate himself, and the case was dismissed.

A Dowieite Sentenced.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 27. — Eugene Brooks, elder of Dowie's Christian Catholic Church in Zion, was yesterday found guilty and sentenced to three months without hard labor for aiding and abetting John Rogers, who was recently found guilty of manslaughter for not providing his infant children with medical attendance when they were suffering from diphtheria from which they died.

Gilbert Parker Coming.

London, Nov. 27.—The White Star Line steamer Oceanic, which is to sail from Liverpool Wednesday next for New York, will have among her passengers Gilbert Parker, M.P., the novelist and dramatist, and Mrs. Parker and Horace Plunkett, who was recently defeated by Col. Arthur Lynch in the parliamentary contest in Galway.

Long Strike Ended.

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 25.—La Resistancia Union officially declared the cigarmakers' strike off Saturday afternoon. There were no more funds for carrying on the strike. This ends the long trouble which started last July between the cigarmakers and manufacturers. The latter have not yielded a single point.

HEART DISEASE

is a symptom of Kidney Disease. A well-known doctor has said, "I never yet made a post-mortem examination in a case of death from Heart Disease without finding the kidneys were at fault." "Played Out"

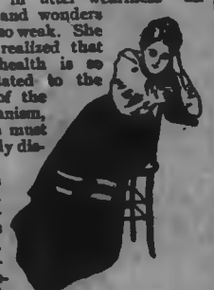
Is one of the curious expressions used for worked out. Many a woman drops into a chair, in utter weariness "all played out," and wonders why she feels so weak. She has not yet realized that the general health is so intimately related to the local health of the womanly organism, that weakness must follow womanly diseases.



Restoration of the general health invariably follows the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

There is no substitute for "Favorite Prescription," for there is nothing "just as good" for womanly ills.

"I wish to advise the suffering women of this great land, of the good I have received from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Mary Shappell, of Columbus Grove, Putnam Co., Ohio. "For four years I had been a sufferer from female troubles, and at times was unable to do even the housework for three in the family. I had such pains that I suffered almost death dozens of times, but after taking five bottles of your medicines I can truthfully say that my health was greatly improved. I have a good appetite and am gaining in flesh right along. This spring is the first time in five years that I have done my house cleaning all by myself and without the least fatigue whatever. I hope all suffering women may find relief as I have done.

"My gain in weight has been just ten pounds, and I am still gaining."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only, or for cloth-bound book, send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE CEMETERY AT MALACCA.

Where Penang Malays Sleep Well "After Life's Fitful Fever."

The Makam is that vast native cemetery in which it is the desire of every Penang Malay to find his last resting place. It covers many acres of ground, and the little nesan, or headstones, rise everywhere through the rank growths that cover the fruitful soil. A few trees stand here and there—trees with thick, fat leaves, soft and flabby to the touch, of the kind called "spoons" by the Malays because their shape is not unlike that of a flat rice ladle.

Occasionally the grave of a rajah, a noble or a man of wealth is marked by a headstone upon which some pious words of Arabic invocation have been rudely carved, some others are squared roughly, but for the most part the graves have no other ornament than a round piece of water worn granite protruding only a few inches above the surface of the ground or a rudely carved wooden peg leaning crazily to one side. Two or three of the graves have tumble down erections built over them by the piety of the surviving relatives of him who lies beneath. Their devotion, however, has not been equal to the task of keeping their work in repair, and the decaying uprights and crosspieces have the appearance of a pile of spelicans.

Traces may be noted in other parts of the cemetery of spasmodic attempts to fence in some of the graves, but these have long been abandoned as Utopian. On one rajah's grave may be seen a huge iron four posted bedstead which oriental wisdom, doubtless after long and anxious discussion, has at length devoted to what its owner conceived was the end for which it was originally fashioned. Rude huts rise here and there among the graves, with the grasses and creepers clinging about their knees, and these are built by the desire of the dead who have left money behind them for the purpose to accommodate the priests and holy men who come to chant verses of the Koran during the quiet nighttime that the souls of the departed may rest in peace.

All the graves, from those of the kings who ruled the land to those of the peasants who tilled the soil, are nameless, and thus when a man has laid beneath the sod for a year or two even those of his kindred who held him most dear are unable to say with certainty where their brother lies buried.

A Great Mistake.

The old idea of taking blood thinning compounds in order to purify the blood, is an error, as the system is thus left in a vitiated condition. Merrill's System Tonic not only purifies the blood in a thorough manner, but the iron contained in it again enriches the blood leaving one with a lot of good rich red blood. 50 pleasant to take doses 50c at Ormond & Walsh's pharmacy.

The Classes.

"The inhabitants of the city," remarked the able person who learnedly discusses sociologic and other profound questions, "are divided into two classes—those who own their houses and those who pay rent, and"—

"Excuse me," interrupted the real estate agent, who doesn't know a thing about sociology and doesn't want to, "what about those who would rather move than pay rent?"—Detroit Free Press.

Forcing the Fight.

She—You must take supper with us to-night, and then you can ask my father for my hand.

He—Do you think it will be a good time?

She—Excellent. The girl is away, and I shall cook the supper. He won't risk having me stay around to try it again.

If you let a pup stay around your house three or four days, you will keep him whether you want him or not. A pup has a mighty insinuating way.

BADLY FROZEN.

A Barnardo Home Girl Has a Terrible Experience in Colborne.

On Sunday evening, Nov. 17th, Florence Kennedy, a Barnado Home girl, from the Peterborough Home, and who was a domestic in the family of Dr. Mallory, of Colborne, disappeared rather mysteriously. She is 12 years of age and according to a post card sent out by Constable Smith, of the village, who endeavoured to obtain information as to her whereabouts, the girl was not very bright. She had no coat or hat on at the time she disappeared, but otherwise she was comfortably clothed. After a search of several days the unfortunate girl was found under a barn on Dr. Mallory's premises where she had been since Sunday evening. She was almost frozen to death, and it is very doubtful if she will recover from her terrible experience.

She was brought to town on Monday night and is now being cared for in the Nicholls Hospital. Her limbs are in a badly frost bitten condition.

No reason can be assigned for the girls strange action.

THE GRAVENHURST FREE HOSPITAL FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

Editor of the Examiner;

Dear Sir,—The main building of the Gravenhurst Free Hospital for Consumptives is nearly completed, and only a small amount of money has been received for furnishings. By the rate appeals are coming in we must increase the number of beds without delay. Certainly this free hospital is the country's most pressing need. Nearly every mail brings distressing requests for help from clergymen, mission workers, and from the consumptive poor. A poor widow wants to be cured for the sake of her little boy; a labourer's wife pleads for her young daughter, her boy, and her two-year old baby; a father with a large family of little children wants to be cured for his family's sake; a mechanic and his wife are today consumptives, and unless help comes soon six children will be orphans and homeless; a young heroic girl, struggling to earn a living for her mother and herself, is now a consumptive and destitute; a young man giving his life to support an invalid mother and sister finds himself a victim of this terrible scourge. We are dependent absolutely upon the generosity of benevolent people to provide for these sufferers. We ask the substantial assistance of your readers in this hour of need.

Yours sincerely,
WALTER JAMES BROWN.

WEDDING IN BELMONT.

Mr. Alex. Hall, son of Mr. Richard Hall, of Apsley, late of Seymour township, was united in marriage on Wednesday, Nov. 20th, to Miss Minnie Cassan, of Belmont township.

The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock in the evening by Rev. J. C. Bell, of Havelock, at the residence of the parents of the bride. Miss Cassan was attended by her sister, and Mr. Archie Hall, brother of the groom, was best man. The nuptials were observed in the presence of guests numbering between fifty and sixty. Presents, numerous, pretty and valuable were made to the bride.

The young couple came from Toronto to have the knot tied, and after a months' visit among friends they expect to return to the city.

VERY SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL EVENING

Held by Local Union Federation of Labour

IN SONS OF ENGLAND HALL

On Wednesday Night—The Programme was a Very Interesting One—Short Addresses.

The social evening which was held in the Sons of England Hall on Wednesday evening by the Peterborough Branch of the Federation of Labour was a very successful affair, and was attended by between three and four hundred members of the Order.

It was about eight o'clock when the wage-earners began to assemble, and they at once made themselves at home. The dining room was laid out in a most suitable manner; a number of tables were laden with an abundance of eatables and the men all partook of an excellent repast. The men enjoyed a smoke of a fine line of cigars, the gift of Mr. Michael Tooley, who, as is well known, always remembers his friends. An hour or more was spent in social intercourse. The men hob-nobbed with each other, and conversed freely concerning matters of local and universal importance. It was an exceptionally fine sight, indeed, to see about three hundred or more of the back bone of the town seated around the room, each one having the red badge of the Order on his coat.

Mr. Wm. Henry presided.

It was about 9.30 o'clock when the chairman called the meeting to order, and announced the first number on the programme, which was a recitation by Major Miller, entitled, "The Crutch in the Corner," and which was given in the Major's well-known dramatic style.

The next item on the programme was a song by Rev. J. C. Davidson, who rendered his well-known parody on "Just before the Battle."

MR. McCLELLAN.

Mr. J. H. McClellan was cordially received, and while he disclaimed any intention of making a speech, still he could not but congratulate the Federation of Labour upon the success of their Thanksgiving festival. They had many reasons to be thankful, not only from a local but a Dominion point of view. The town was in a prosperous condition; they had no strikes, nor were there any two men in any one city dictating to the men of the country, as two capitalists in New York were doing to the people of the United States. Continuing, Mr. McClellan made an onslaught upon Andrew Carnegie, who was now paying out large sums of money for free libraries, but it would have been more to his credit had he paid his employees better wages during the time he was making his great fortune. The speaker said he was now out of politics, and felt in better spirits to-night than he did a year ago. The chairman intimated to him that the politicians were going to catch it to-night — as a matter of fact they deserved all they would get. But whose fault is it? It is the fault of the labourers who will not stick together. By their ballots they can elect almost any man they choose to and he predicted that in the near future the representative of West Peterborough in parliament would be the nominee of the labour party.

At this juncture Thomas J. Cole was called upon for a song. He rendered an old time Irish selection and was costumed in an outfit appropriate to the occasion.

Brother Dwyer then gave a violin solo which was heartily encored. He was accompanied by R. E. Williams on the piano. While this was going on Ned. Hickey proceeded to the platform in front and tore off a step dance that surprised not a few of those in attendance.

Bro. James gave a sword dance followed by a song by the same gentleman. There were loud calls for a speech from Bro. MacNamara, who responded amid great applause. He was glad to know that Peterborough lodge had been so prosperous. A year ago the labourer was running after the politician but from this out it would be the politician running after the labourer. He made a stirring address in which he claimed that the labourers were the corner stone of the country, and if they stood together they could get anything they may demand that is at all in reason.

Mr. Charles Edmison followed with a baritone solo entitled "Home, Sweet Home." A song by Bro. Wilkinson came next entitled "Billy Johnston's Ball."

SOME BUSINESS.

Major Miller then introduced a matter of business. In view of the near approach of the municipal elections, and he therefor moved that the Mayor be petitioned to call a public mass meeting in order that all questions of municipal matters could be discussed.

The motion was seconded by Mr. R. F. McGregor, who reviewed the rapid growth of the Peterborough Union since its inception, it now having a membership of 500. He advocated not voting Grit or Tory any longer, but let the politicians come and make overtures to them. The reason he supported Mr. McClellan in the last campaign was that he had offered to retire should the labour party bring out a candidate.

The chairman before putting the motion through stated that there was a great need for reforms in the municipal matters of the town, as the municipal affairs of the town had been run very loose during the past summer. Should Mayor Denne refuse to call the meeting he would take it upon himself to do so, and he hoped that he would be backed up by the labour men of the town.

In response to this there were loud shouts of "We will."

The motion was carried amid the wildest enthusiasm. The entire assemblage was then photographed by Mr. Fred Roy.

The next meeting of the Union will be held a week from this Friday evening.

THE COMMITTEE.

The committee which had charge of the affair was composed of Mr. Wm. Taylor, chairman, and Messrs. Jerry McCarthy, Wm. Henry, J. Raper and Rev. J. C. Davidson. The thanks of these present were tendered to the committee for the excellent manner in which they performed their duties.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The snow bylaw is being observed—in spots.

—Isaac Covert was given 6 months Wednesday at the police court for vagrancy.

—An outbreak of diphtheria has occured in the Township of Seymour, which has assumed a rather serious aspect, and it may become more serious unless well guarded steps are taken to check its spread to other localities. Two deaths have already resulted from its visitation in two families, and ten or twelve children in several families have been ill with the disease.

MILITARY MATTERS.

The class of instruction of the 57th Regiment, which was held on Tuesday, was well attended, and whilst the night was intensely cold, a good evening's work was accomplished. No. 4 Company was well represented, and claims to form the largest per centage of the class of any other company in the Regiment. There were 31 members present.

No. 4 Company intend putting on the first, and they also claim that they will put on the finest company supper of the season. A meeting to arrange for the same has been called for Tuesday evening next at 10 o'clock, at the Crown Hotel. The event will likely take place on the evening of Dec. 11th.

St. Andrew's Church.

Both services on Sunday were conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter. The morning subject was "Repentance"—Acts 3, 37, and the evening service "Regeneration," Phil. 2, 3. The praise service, under the leadership of Prof. Davies, was most spirited and inspiring. At the morning service Miss Bellegham sang very sweetly H. P. Barley's Hymn "I Go To Him." In the evening the choir rendered in a most stirring manner a Choral March, and after the sermon the pastor requested Miss Bellegham to sing Walter C. Smith's "One Thing I Of The Lord Desire," which was done in a very sympathetic and earnest voice. Next Sunday, December 1st, special Evangelistic Services will commence. The pastor will be assisted by Evangelist C. W. Walden, who has been labouring most successfully in Nova Scotia. The services will be continued for two weeks.

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

The Ariadne Investigation.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 29.—Sensational evidence is being produced at Wellington, New Zealand, in connection with the loss of the steam yacht Ariadne. George Mumford, T. C. Kerry and A. Freke are under arrest, charged with casting the vessel away, having wrecked the vessel to defraud the underwriters. Mumford was paid $2,000 by Kerry to wreck the vessel, which was insured for $50,000. The vessel was valued at $25,000.

Purchaser of Battle Abbey.

London, Nov. 29.— The mystery surrounding the sale of Battle Abbey at public auction has been solved by the announcement that Sir Augustus Frederick Webster, Bart., is the purchaser. The new owner is a descendent of Sir Thomas Webster, who bought the Abbey from Viscount Montague in 1719, and whose family retained possession of it for 103 years.

U. S. Transport Wrecked.

Manila, Nov. 29.— The United States transport Wright has been wrecked in the Straits of Darman. She will probably turn out to be a total loss. The Wright struck on an unchartered rock at the entrance of San Jacinto and sank in 15 feet of water. To raise her it will require wrecking machinery which is not available here.

OTTAWA MAN SHOT

Mr. J. W. McRae Killed While Cleaning a Revolver.

THOMAS SILLS SHOT BY HIS SON

Discharge Blew Off All the Upper Part of the Father's Head and Face—He Was Killed So Instantaneously That Articles in His Hand Were Retained—Other Accidents.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—W. J. McRae, a prominent business man of this city, accidently shot and killed himself yesterday morning. The tragedy occurred about 9.30 o'clock, and caused a profound sensation. Mr. McRae was seated in his office on Queen street, along with his son Jack, a number of clerks being at adjoining desks, when the son produced a Mauser revolver, which he intended carrying with him on a visit to a certain mining property in Renfrew County. The father offered to clean the revolver, which was loaded, and had several cartridges in the magazine. These the father extracted and laid on the table in front of him. One cartridge was, however, left in the revolver, a fact which he did not seem to have been aware. Mr. McRae then carried the revolver off with him to the washroom, saying that he would run a piece of rag through the weapon. When Mr. McRae entered the washroom at the end of the office he left the door partly opened. It is supposed that he was looking down the barrel, with his hand upon the trigger, when the weapon was accidentally discharged. The bullet struck the unfortunate man under the chin, and, passing upwards through the brain, came out at the top, a little to the rear of the crown. E. Bronskill, one of the junior clerks, heard the report, and rushed to the washroom, where he saw Mr. McRae's body huddled up behind the door. He gave the alarm, and the bookkeeper, H. H. Williams, and Jack McRae hurriedly ran to the spot. A message for medical aid was promptly telephoned and soon Drs. Shillington and Echlin were on the scene. Mr. McRae was, however, dead before they arrived. He was still breathing when discovered, but expired within a minute or two afterwards.

The late Mr. McRae was a man of remarkable business energy, and was identified with many commercial enterprises. Mr. McRae was about 52 years of age, and leaves a widow and three sons and two daughters with whom great sympathy is felt.

Killed by His Son.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 30.—Thomas Sills of Ellisboro, Assa., north of Wolseley, was accidentally shot by his 16-year-old son. The lever of the gun, which is used to open the breech, wouldn't work, so he cocked the gun, not knowing there was a cartridge within. With the gun over his knee, he tried to force down the lever, when the hammer fell, and the discharge blew off all the upper part of the father's head and face, killing him instantly, the book remaining in one hand of the corpse and the pipe in the other, after death. Deceased was only three feet from the muzzle of the gun. The coroner's verdict was "Death by accident."

Brock's Traveler Fell Dead.

Edmonton, N.W.T., Nov. 30.—Bert Devaney of Winnipeg, western traveler for W. R. Brock Co., Toronto, fell dead at Wetaskwin, yesterday afternoon. He formerly kept a store at the corner of Spadina avenue and Queen street, Toronto.

THIRD CONTINGENT

Arrangements for Organizing the New South Africa Force.

THE ORDERS FOR RECRUITING

Col. Evans, the Commander, Arrives at Ottawa—The Conditions of Pay and of Service With the Corps—The Recruiting Stations Named in Militia Orders—Force Will Concentrate at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—Colonel T. D. B. Evans, who is to command the force of Canadian yeomanry to be recruited for service in South Africa, arrived here from Winnipeg at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was met at the station by his father, Mr. Samuel Evans, and Major J. Lyons Biggar of the Militia Department. The Colonel greeted his father affectionately, but had to excuse himself almost immediately, as his presence was urgently required at the Militia Department. He accordingly drove there without delay, and was closeted for some time with Major-General O'Grady-Haly. Later on in the afternoon Hon. F. W. Borden came over from Council and a conference took place in his room, at which there were present in addition to the Minister, General O'Grady-Haly Colonel Pinault and Colonel Evans. The arrangements for organizing the force were discussed in detail and agreed upon. Subsequently a militia order setting forth in detail the recruiting stations, the quota to be enrolled at each place, the conditions of enlistment and rates of pay was issued by the department as follows:

Militia Orders.

The orders read: "His Majesty's Government, having signified their pleasure to accept the offer of Canada to raise a corps of mounted troops for service in South Africa, a regiment, to be known as the 'Canadian Yeomanry,' and clothed, armed and equipped as the Imperial Yeomanry of His Majesty's regular army, will be organized, under the command of Colonel T.D. B. Evans, C.B., commanding Canadian Mounted Rifles, as hereunder:

"Battalion staff—1 Lieutenant colonel, 1 major (second in command), 1 adjutant, 1 quartermaster, 1 medical officer, 1 veterinary officer, 1 acting sergeant-major, 1 quartermaster-sergeant, 1 sergeant cook and 10 privates, being clerks, 2 orderlies to medical officer and 12 batmen.

"Four companies, each consisting of 1 captain, 4 subalterns, 1 colour-sergeant, 5 sergeants, 1 farrier-sergeant, 4 shoeingsmiths, 1 saddler, 2 buglers, 6 corporals (including paid lance-sergeants, at the rate of 1 for each 2 companies), and 118 privates (including 4 paid lance-corporals for each company), total 141 per company, with a total complement of 595 horses.

"The term of service will be twelve months, or until the termination of the present war in South Africa."

The conditions of pay will be as follows: Up to and including the day prior to embarkation for South Africa, ordinary cavalry rates of pay and allowances will be drawn, except separation allowance. From the date of embarkation the rates of pay will be on the following scale per day, which will be inclusive of good conduct pay: Regimental sergeant-major $2.19, quartermaster-sergeant $2.06, farrier sergeant $2.06, farrier staff-sergeant $2.06, company sergeant-major $1.94, company quartermaster-sergeant $1.94, sergeant $1.70, corporal (as paid lance-sergeant) $1.58, corporal (as paid lance-corporal) $1.46, private $1.21.

Non-commissioned officers, not above the rank of sergeant, acting as farrier-sergeant, and privates, acting as buglers, saddlers, shoeingsmiths, will be granted extra duty pay, at 24 cents per hour.

Men must be between 20 and 40 years of age, not under 5 feet 5 inches in height, not weigh more than 185 pounds, and have a chest measurement of not less than 34 inches, be medically fit and be able to ride and shoot. Preference will be given to men who have had previous service in South Africa, and to be single men. Married men and be accepted, but no separation allowance will be granted them.

Recruiting will take place in British Columbia Dec. 9 to 11, and the following quota will be enrolled:

Victoria 10 men, Revelstoke 10, Rossland 10, Nelson 10 and Fort Steele 10 men each, Vancouver 20 men.

Northwest Territories: Calgary and Regina 15 men each, Pincher Creek, MacLeod, Moosomin 10 men each; Edmonton, Lethbridge, Maple Creek, and Prince Albert 5 men each.

Manitoba: Winnipeg, 20 men; Virden, Brandon, Portage la Prairie 10 men each.

Ontario (recruiting 9th to 11th inclusive): London 30 men, Guelph 10, Hamilton 20, Toronto 55, Kingston 30, Peterboro 12, Ottawa 12. Colonel Otter will be recruiting officer at Toronto, and the medical officer will be the officer in medical charge of Stanley Barracks.

Quebec: Montreal 35, Quebec 35, St. Johns 20 men.

New Brunswick: Fredericton 5, St. John 20 men.

Nova Scotia: Halifax 28 men.

P. E. Island 12.

Recruiting officers are to wire to Ottawa the number of men enlisted, not exceeding the quota, but, if more men offer, the commanding officer at Ottawa is to be notified by wire. They may be enlisted if they are required. Recruits will be forwarded to Ottawa, the place of concentration, daily, in charge of an acting N.C.O., in the proportion of one sergeant to 20 men, and one corporal to 10 men. Transportation and subsistence to Ottawa will be provided.

Gold Law Inquiry.

Pretoria, Nov. 29.—A commission, of which Sir Richard Solomon, K. C., is chairman, has been appointed to investigate the working of the gold law and suggest amendments. The present tendency of the law is to play too much into the hands of the capitalists at the expense and power of individuals. The ordinary man discovering and producing gold has no opportunity to prove its value, and is generally compelled to sell at the price a corporation chooses to offer.

Mrs. Steyn Is Ill.

London, Nov. 30.—The Brussels Petit Bleu announces that Mrs. Steyn, wife of the ex-President, has been expelled from South Africa, and is embarking for Europe with her five children. She is in bad health.

THE DEATHS EIGHTY

Latest Estimates Given the Wabash Disaster.

HOW THAT FIGURE IS ARRIVED AT

The Customs Officer at Detroit, Mr. Thomas Moran Quoted—He Says There Were 100 Italians at Least in the Two Cars—Official Advice Sent Into Superintendent Burns.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 30.—In an interview last evening with Thomas Moran, deputy customs collector at this port, he practically verifies the estimate that at least 80 lives were lost in Wednesday night's collision and awful holocaust on the Wabash Railroad near Seneca. The two immigrant cars, in which the greatest loss of life occurred, and in which so many of the victims were roasted to death, were part of the immigrant train which crossed the Detroit River from Canada on the ferry boat Great Western Wednesday afternoon, and Deputy Moran inspected the baggage of its passengers. He says there were at the very least calculation 100 Italians in the two cars. In addition to these there were 10 more in the smoking car, which was ahead of the two immigrant cars.

Official advices to Superintendent Burns of this division of the Wabash say that of the Italians in the wreck 20 escaped unhurt, and were taken to St. Louis, 15 are in the company's hospital at Peru, Ind., there are six others in Peru, and two are near Adrian, injured. Substracting these 43 from the 110 immigrants, Deputy Moran says were aboard the train, leaves a loss among the Italians alone of 67. In addition, eight other bodies were recovered and identified, which makes a total of 75 dead.

When seen last night Superintendent of the Wabash Railroad insisted that the death loss in the wreck near Seneca Wednesday night was being estimated very much too high. He said: "As near as I can estimate now there are 23 dead. We have eight identified bodies, and we believe that the fragments found represent 14 other bodies."

The Inquest at Adrian.

Adrian, Mich., Nov. 30.—Just before the coroner's inquest on the Wabash Railroad wreck adjourned late yesterday, Conductor Trowl of the ill-fated immigrant train, testified as to the number of persons who were on that train. According to his statement there were 190 passengers on board. Conductor Trowl was the last of the witnesses in the city, and at the conclusion of his testimony the inquest was adjourned until Tuesday next.

ANNUAL FOWL SUPPER

Of the Wesley Methodist Church—It was Held on Thanksgiving.

The annual fowl supper of the Wesley Methodist Church was held on Thanksgiving Day, and was a most glorious success. The event had been eagerly anticipated by the friends and workers in the vicinity. The weather was all that could be desired. The snow was well packed, and the sleighing grand. Madame Moon shone out in her splendor, and gave beautiful light. The crowd was the largest, and the supper and entertainment the best in the history of the church. The ladies sustained their enviable reputation as experts in the culinary art. The tables in the Orange Hall were laden with goose, duck, turkey, chicken, beef, sandwiches, cakes, pies, etc., and a better feast could not well be imagined. At 8 o'clock the chair was taken by the pastor, Rev. R. A. Delve, who discharged his duties in a most efficient manner. Rev. C. L. Thompson, of Ashburnham, Rev. E. W. Tink, of Bobcaygeon, and Rev. S. A. Dickinson, of Hall's Bridge, addressed the meeting. The first named speaker held the audience in rapt attention for 45 minutes in a masterly talk which will not soon be forgotten. The North Smith Brass Band rendered excellent numbers and never played better. The Chemong Indian choir and Wesley choir sang splendidly, as also did Miss L. Nicholls, and the Misses Wright, of Bobcaygeon. Miss Laura Northey gave a fine exhibition of club swinging, and Mr. J. Perry recited well. Everybody seemed thoroughly pleased with both supper and entertainment, and will look forward to the next Thanksgiving Tea with keenest pleasure. The proceeds reached the amount of $62. Hon. J. H. Stratton sent a cheque for ten dollars towards church funds, which announcement was warmly applauded.

IRRITABLE WOMEN

Should be Pitied — Not Blamed — Men Don't Understand How They Suffer When They Cry, "Oh, Don't Speak to Me."

All manner of extravagant expressions are possible when a woman's nerves are overwrought.

The spasm at the top of the wind pipe or bronchial tubes, "ball rising in the throat," violent beating of the heart, laughing and crying by turns, muscular spasms (throwing the arms about), frightened by the most insignificant occurrences — are all symptoms of a hysterical condition and serious derangement of the female organs.

Any female complaint may produce hysterics, which must be regarded as a symptom only. The cause, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which acts at once upon the organ afflicted and the nerve centres, dispelling effectually all those distressing symptoms.

Mrs. Lewis Says: "I Feel Like a New Person, Physically and Mentally."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For years I had ovarian trouble and suffered everything from nervousness, severe headache, and pain in back and abdomen. I had consulted different physicians, but decided to try your medicine, and I soon found it was giving me much relief. I continued its use and now am feeling like a new person, physically and mentally, and am glad to add one more testimonial to the value of your remedy."—MRS. M. H. LEWIS, 3103 Valentine Ave., Tremont, New York, N.Y.

Writing to Mrs. Pinkham is the quickest and surest way to get the right advice about all female troubles. Her address is Lynn, Mass. She advises women free. Following is an instance:

Mrs. Haven's First Letter to Mrs. Pinkham.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I would like your advice in regard to my troubles. I suffer every month at time of menstruation, and flow so much, and for so long that I become very weak, also get very dizzy. I am troubled with a discharge before and after menses, have pains in ovaries so bad sometimes that I can hardly get around, have sore feeling in lower part of bowels, pain in back, bearing-down feeling, a desire to pass urine frequently, with pains in passing it; have leucorrhœa, headache, fainting spells, and sometimes have hysteria. My blood is not in good condition. Hoping to hear from you, I am, MRS. EMMA HAVEN, 2508 South Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa." (June 9, 1899.)

Mrs. Haven's Second Letter.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for what you have done for me. I suffered for four years with womb troubles. Every month I flowed very badly. I got so bad that I could hardly do my work. Was obliged to sit or lie down most of the time. I doctored for a long time, but obtained no relief. I began using your remedies—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier, Sanative Wash and Liver Pills—and now feel like a new woman."—MRS. EMMA HAVEN, 2508 South Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa. (Feb. 1, 1900.)

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, Mass., which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Daily Examiner.

SATURDAY, NOV. 30, 1901.

"WHITNEY IS EXTREME."

The Examiner has pointed out that Mr. Whitney is extreme in his language in dealing with public questions, and that this characteristic deprives his utterances of the credibility and weight that might otherwise attach to them. The London News, an independent paper, but which has recently shown considerable inclination towards advancing the political interests represented by Mr. Whitney, under the heading, "Whitney is Extreme," thus speaks:

"The most ardent supporter of Mr. J. P. Whitney, the Conservative leader, must admit that in most of his speeches he is a bit extreme at times; that in the heat of action he does make some statements which go just a trifle too far, and which are not entirely consistent with facts. In Ridgetown he described this fair province as being dragged down beneath the depths of New York City, the disgrace of which had been the shame of the civilized world. It seems unfortunate for us all that a responsible man, as Mr. Whitney is, should make use of such extreme language. As a matter of fact this is not true. New York has been the most corrupt city in a most corrupt land. It is the worst governed city in the United States. Make a careful examination and a strict honest comparison, and you will find that the administration in the very best State in the Union is corrup and vile compared with the administration in Ontario; further, that in all Canada, in all America, there is no other State, city or province, where public affairs are as clean as in our own province. There is a long cry between the corrupt government in New York City and affairs in the Province of Ontario. Mr. Whitney is extreme."

A REFERENDUM SUGGESTED.

(The Globe)

The Westminster this week contains a thoughtful article on the temperance situation. It recognises that the decision of the Judicial Committee has created a new situation, and one which must be seriously considered. Politicans, it says, must shift for themselves, but the people have their own interest and duty. It goes on to contend that the matter must be dealt with thoroughly and seriously, and with a well-conceived plan. "The pledges of Sir Oliver Mowat, and the lifelong record of Premier Ross as a total abstainer and acknowledged temperance man, have given Ontario prohibitionists ground for expecting the enactment of a measure as strongly prohibitory as the constitution allows. But it must be certain that there is a strong public sentiment behind any measure that may be enacted." It may be said that plebiscites have already pronounced in favour of prohibition. That point The Westminster meets in this way:—

"The plebiscite of a few years ago was upon the abstract question of prohibition. It did not call out a satisfactory expression of public opinion, because the question was academic in its form, and seemed to many of no practical value. If ever the referendum is justifiable it would seem to be in such a case as is now before the Ontario Legislature. Were the Government to introduce a competent and carefully-drawn prohibitory measure, which, after full consideration in the Legislature, would become law only after having been referred to the country, and approved by such a vote of the electors as would place its enforcement beyond peradventure, so far as public opinion is concerned, the present doubt would be taken away. At the present moment we see no other course which is not thick-set with perils to temperance and to public morals. The referendum may be new in Canadian politics, but Presbyterians are quite familiar with it in their ecclesiastical procedure, for all important legislation, touching 'government, discipline, doctrine or worship,' passed by the General Assembly, becomes law only after having been approved by the church through remit to all the Presbyteries 'in terms of the barrier act.' Such a course in dealing with prohibition in Ontario would safeguard the interests of temperance, as it would secure an expression of opinion on the legislation which it is proposed to enforce. Unless the vote were very much more decisive than the plebiscite was, temperance education, not legislation, would be seen to be the first duty of temperance reformers."

We give The Westminster's view as a contribution to the discussion. Whether or not we approve of the idea of a referendum, we must all agree with The Westminster that it is time to banish bunkum from the discussion on prohibition and to take the matter up in an honest, serious and business-like way.

CANADA'S PROGRESS IN A SCORE OF YEARS.

Marvellous Material and Other Improvements.

Mr. S. T. Drummond, of Kingston, has compiled some interesting figures to illustrate the great growth of Canada:

"May I supplement your editorial in Saturday's issue on the enlarging trade of the country by a number of facts which still further illustrate the great expansion which Canada is at present undergoing. The increase in population during the past twenty years has only been about 24 per cent. but the increase in the business of the country appears by the following figures to have ranged in some directions to even 200 and 300 per cent.:

Exports and imports:
1880..... $139,094,807
1901..... 286,903,157

Letters and postcards carried by the post office:
1880..... 18,609,000
1900..... 205,420,000

Chartered bank deposits, (Canadian only):
1880..... $ 85,393,814
1901..... 324,876,973

Bank advances to merchants:
1880..... $103,164,115
1901..... 324,354,407

Tons of freight carried by railways:
1880..... 9,251,830
1900..... 35,946,183

Earnings of railways, gross:
1880..... $23,561,447
1900..... 70,740,276

Mileage of railways:
1880..... 6,853
1900..... 17,657

Life insurance policies held:
1880..... $ 91,273,126
1900..... 431,962,423

Total deposits in the chartered banks post office, savings banks, and loan companies:
1901..... $480,000,000

Canadian railways last year hauled three times the amount of flour, six times the lumber, and ten times the manufactured goods that they did in 1880.

Canada's aggregate exports and imports were for the past year, ending June last, $73 per head of population, whilst those of the United States were under $29. In part explanation, it may be said that the people of the United States are enormous consumers of their own foodstuffs, and are at the same time a manufacturing nation, largely, as it were, self-contained.

The Canadian exports have during the past seven years exceeded the imports in every year except 1899, and the aggregate excess in these seven years has been about $53,000,000. In examining the details of these exports, we find that nearly the whole is comprised of the natural products of the country. Since 1880 the agricultural exports have increased only 25 per cent. but in fish the export trade has about doubled, whilst in manufactured goods it is two and a half times, in animals it is three times, and in mining products it is nine times as great.

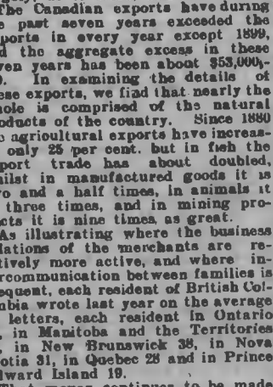
As illustrating where the business relations of the merchants are relatively more active, and where intercommunication between families is frequent, each resident of British Columbia wrote last year on the average 56 letters, each resident in Ontario 53, in Manitoba and the Territories 45, in New Brunswick 38, in Nova Scotia 31, in Quebec 28 and in Prince Edward Island 19.

That money continues to be made in Canada is shown by the increase of nearly $64,000,000, or about 25 per cent., in the chartered bank deposits in the two years and two months ending October, 1901.

Twenty-five years ago, even Ontario municipalities found it sometimes difficult to float their debentures bearing 6 per cent., and for many years the chief outlet was in Scotland and England; now the same municipalities float their loans on a 4 per cent. basis, or under that, and their bonds are eagerly absorbed within this country. Further, we are now financing our own industrial undertakings among our own people, instead of, as formerly, looking to Great Britain and the United States for the capital required. With the increasing establishment of great industrial works, our ambitious and pushing young men who have hitherto gone to the United States in search of outlets for their energy will now find these outlets in increasing numbers at home.

It may be said that accompanying these figures should be such explanations as that the railway returns include United States traffic, that the exports embrace some western States products, and that bank deposits may cover some deposits loaned by the banks, and again deposited by the borrower, but whatever force such explanations may have, the fact still remains that the figures furnish ample evidence of greatly increased business and wealth in Canada.

And we appear to be living longer. The returns for 1901 are not yet published, but the number who in Canada lived to the age of sixty years and upwards was, in proportion to the total population, in 1851, 1 in 27.07; in 1861, 1 in 22.2; in 1871, 1 in 19.8; in 1881, 1 in 15.8; in 1891, 1 in 14.25. The result has no doubt in part been brought about by the diminished immigration of recent years, and by so many of our young men and women going to the United States, but it also suggests better sanitation in the cities and towns, better knowledge in coping with disease, more careful living, and fewer of the hardships which the pioneers had to endure, and is a further tribute to the healthfulness of the climate.



Cured of Itching Piles.

Edward Dunellen, Wilkesbarre, Pa.: "For seven years I was scarcely ever free from the terrible torture of itching piles. I tried all sorts of remedies. Was told a surgical operation might save. One 50 cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure cured me completely." All druggists sell it. It never fails to quickly cure piles in any form. Free book by mail on piles, causes and cure. A Strong Man on His Back Through Kidney Trouble.

A Toronto Contractor who was Never Without Pain for Years, and who had Many Times to Quit Work—Dodd's Kidney Pills Made him Well.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 27th. (Special.) At No. 86 Lippincott street, in this city, resides Mr. W. J. Keane. Mr. Keane is a contractor, and is one of the best known men in his line of business in Toronto.

Like many other successful men, Mr. Keane has suffered during his busy life a great deal, from Kidney Disorders. For years he suffered great pain. He was forced at times to quit his work altogether and go to bed. He used Dodd's Kidney Pills, and is well. This is what he says about it:—

"It gives me great pleasure to write in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and the good they have done me. I am never without them.

"I have been a great sufferer with pains in my back, in the region of my kidneys. I was very sick, and at times could not attend to my work at all.

"I used several medicines, but nothing I ever tried seemed to help me in the least, until a friend of mine advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I immediately found relief, and was able to resume my work.

"I used altogether seven boxes before being completely cured. Since then I have never been sick a day. I have never had the slightest indication of a return of the trouble."

It is hard to understand how anyone will continue to suffer from Lame Back or any other symptom of Kidney Trouble after so many frank and full statements by men well known in all walks of life, that Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured them.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure. They never fail. They cannot fail. Years of trial have absolutely proven that there is no case of Kidney Complaint, Lame Back, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Gout, Neuralgia, Bladder or Urinary Troubles, that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only medicine that ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy.

Thousands of Canadians have tried, and proved, and testified.

TELEGRAPHING THROUGH THE EARTH.

The greatest interest has been awakened in England by the results of the experiments of the Armstrong and Orling system for the wireless transmission of electrical energy. The Marconi system works through the air. The English inventors work through the ground.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, who was present at an experiment, says that he went to a small wooden house, where a spike bearing the telephoning apparatus was driven into the ground. In a field 400 yards away was a similar apparatus, unconnected. He pressed the button four times and there were sounded four taps as an answer. He pressed the button seven times and seven taps were sounded. Through the same apparatus he heard the human voice, but the apparatus certainly was not working well, the ground being sodden with rain, but after a preliminary and unintelligible muttering and buzzing, came the words, repeated again and again. "Is it all right?" Mr. Armstrong has a plan for varying the pitch or tone in which the radiations are sent. There are forty thousand pitches or tones. Different tones pass harmlessly by one another. Thus the chance of one tone meeting or nullifying another tone are forty thousand to one.

Other experiments gave wireless control of torpedoes from land five hundred yards away. A development of this invention might render obsolete the finest fortifications, and the new submarines, needing no crew, could be converted into torpedoes.

Again, Mr. Armstrong presses a button in the house, and an unconnected lamp two miles and a half away, instantly lights. When he presses the button again the light is extinguished. Unlike Tesla's experiments, Armstrong's feats are accomplished with very low voltage.

CRIME IN TWO COUNTRIES.

That was a striking contrast which Rev. J. Kinsey Smith, of Louisville, drew between the criminal results under United States law and the laws of Great Britain. He pointed out that in Louisville alone, a city with a population of 200,000, there were more murders than in London, with its 7,000,000 people, and that Kentucky, with its 2,000,000 population, has more murders annually than Great Britain, with its population of 40,000,000. There were in Louisville, he said, 145 "regularly registered murders," and but 23 convictions. In no case was the death penalty enforced, the average punishment for the whole number being two years in prison. This statement explains the whole matter. If the taking of human life is less seriously regarded by a people than the theft of a horse, and if a murderer has a far better chance to get clear without any punishment at all than to be convicted of the crime, how can criminal tendencies be effectively combatted? If the same lax views with regard to crime and its punishment were entertained in Great Britain as prevail in the neighbouring republic, the record of crime would be just as large and discreditable.

It is the pride of British laws such as we live under, that they are invariably enforced by the strongest public sentiment, and that they are made a terror to evil-doers.

Our neighbours should once in a while profit by our example, in the enforcement of law, for it is a good one.—London Advertiser.

FORESTRY.

The report of the second annual meeting of the Canadian Forestry Association has been issued in the form of a neat attractive pamphlet of 60 pages. The little brochure is well illustrated from photographs, and contains many thoughtful and suggestive articles on tree planting and on kindred subjects.

Foreatry is a subject which, up to the present time has not obtruded itself to any great extent on the minds of Canadians. We have been too confident of our timber wealth. The case is different in Germany and some European countries where forestry has become an established industry. A century and a half ago square miles of forest could be purchased for the price of a single oak standing on the ground to-day. Germany's example might at least sound a note of warning. In Canada the lumbering industry tends to deplete the forests, but the greatest destructive agency has been forest fires. This destructive agency seems to have a much more disastrous effect where there has been a partial clearing, and the sun has dried the debris to be found where lumbermen have been at work.

In especially the older and more settled portions of this province, wooded land is becoming scarce. What were a short time ago forests of excellent timber are now greatly diminished in size, and in the average bush on a hundred acre farm there is no timber suitable to provide beams and sills for a barn. Not only has the clearing up of the land called for large quantities of lumber from other parts of our country, but there has also been an appreciable climatic effect. The air in winter lacks the moisture that it once contained, and, as a general rule, the snowfall has been less, a result that effects to a greater or less extent the fall wheat crop from year to year. The tendency, however, is to continue to clear the land of trees, and in the rich agricultural districts of the province it is almost an absurdity to advocate the planting or preservation of forest trees. In this commercial age, everything, apparently, proceeds according to the principle, "Does it pay?" and it is difficult to rescue even a stately maple if it happens to stand in a field where the shade weakens the growing crop. Taking into consideration the fact that cleared land provides better pasture and that the land now occupied by bush, if cleared and under cultivation, would produce hard cash more than requisite to supply coal for fuel, the alternative is that the forest must go.

There is, however, something unselfish, and in a large sense commendable in the attitude of those who advocate the planting and preservation of forest trees. He who plants a tree plants for futurity. He can hope to derive very little himself, except the satisfaction that he has left a legacy for generations yet unborn.

GRIP

If you will read this notice each week, and be guided by its precepts, you will keep free from sickness, because the advice pertains to the prevention and treatment of Grip and Colds. Twenty per cent., one person in five, die of pulmonary disease: and Colds are the seat of nearly all sickness; something else may develop, but a Cold is usually at the bottom of the malady.

The use of "77" checks a Cold at the start, and "breaks up" Colds that "hang on."

MIRROR, SCALES, ETC.

There was a man. And his mirror said "sallow skin." And the scales said "losing weight." And his friends did wag their heads as he passed by. But being a prudent man he forthwith swallowed daily certain pleasant doses of Scott's Emulsion.

Then his mirror said "ruddy face." And the scales sunk beneath his weight. And his friends looked upon him with amaze.

MINERS DROPPED 700 FEET.

The Cage Fell and Eight Men Will Probably Die.

Connellsville, Pa., Nov. 30.—At the Lambert mines, near Masontown, eight men, after dropping a distance of 700 feet down a mine shaft, were all brought to the surface living, but with three dying and the others probably fatally hurt. Just as they got aboard the cage the cable brokee cable parted and the cage dropped. A few seconds later the miners at the top heard the sound of a crash and splintering wood.

The cage on the opposite side was immediately loaded with a rescue party, who, on arriving at the bottom, found the men lying unconscious on the floor of the cage, with crushed chests, broken arms and legs. One man's skull was fractured.

WHAT CAUSES DEAFNESS.

The Principal Cause is Curable but Generally Overlooked.

Many things may cause deafness, and very often it is difficult to trace a cause. Some people inherit deafness. Acute diseases, like scarlet fever, sometimes cause deafness. But by far the most common cause of loss of hearing is catarrh of the head and throat.

A prominent specialist on ear troubles gives as his opinion that nine out of ten cases of deafness is traced to throat trouble; this is probably over-stated, but it is certainly true that more than half of all cases of poor hearing are caused by catarrh.

The catarrhal secretion in the nose and throat finds its way into the Eustachian tube and by clogging it up it very soon affects the hearing, and the hardening of the secretion makes the loss of hearing permanent, unless the catarrh which caused the trouble is cured.

Those who are hard of hearing may think this a little far-fetched, but any one at all observant must have noticed how w hard cold in the head will affect the hearing and that catarrh, if long neglected will certainly impair the sense of hearing and ultimately cause deafness.

If the nose and throat are kept clear and free from the unhealthy secretions of catarrh, the hearing will at once greatly improve and anyone suffering from deafness and catarrh can satisfy themselves on this point by using a fifty-cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new catarrh cure, which in the past year has won the approval of thousands of catarrh sufferers, as well as physicians, because it is in convenient form to use, contains no cocaine or opiate, and is as safe and pleasant for children as for their elders.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a wholesome combination of Blood Root, Guaiacol, Eucalyptol and similar antiseptics, and they cure catarrh and catarrhal deafness by action upon the blood and mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

As one physician aptly expresses it, "You do not have to draw upon the imagination to discover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvement and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken."

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but fifty cents for full sized packages, and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders, will appreciate to the full the merit of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

Khedive Going to the Soudan.

Cairo, Nov. 30.—Abbas Hilmi, the Khedive, left here yesterday to pay his first visit to the Soudan since the pacification of that province by the British. He will be received by Sir Frederick Wingate, the Sirdar, who has made elaborate preparations for exhibiting to the Egyptian ruler the progress made under British supervision. The whole province, once devastated by the dervishes, is now prosperous.

The Minister of Militia has decided to recommend the maintenance of the third special service battalion at Halifax for another year, dating from June 30 next.

Homer Harris of Palmerston was on Friday charged at Guelph with attempting to buy a quantity of "green goods." A fine of $120 was imposed by the magistrate.

At 2 o'clock this (Saturday) morning the residence and bakeshop of T. H. Hook, at Markham, was totally destroyed by fire. The loss is about $800 on the building and $500 on the contents.

James Campbell, formerly editor of The Whitby Chronicle, and at one time on the staff of The Toronto Evening Telegram, died suddenly at Sanburn, N.Y., on Wednesday. He leaves a widow and six children.

Lord Minto is going to attend the Ontario Provincial Winter Fair to be held in Guelph Dec. 8 to 14. His Excellency will also be present at the meeting of the Experimental Union at the Agricultural College during the fair.

Miss Marie Corelli, lecturing at Edinburgh Thursday night on "Imagination," read an extract from a book on the Egyptian pyramids, published in 1672, which described the use of wireless telegraphy by one Saurid, a high priest of Memphis.

The list of the victims of the Penberthy Injector Works boiler explosion at Detroit, will probably remain at thirty, two more bodies having been recovered. All the injured in the hospitals are reported as making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Surgeon Lieut.-Col. Robert MacLaren of the R.C.R.I., of Fredericton, N.B., died of heart failure Friday night after a short illness. He was 47 years of age, and leaves a widow and one son. He was appointed to the position seven years ago.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has received this cablegram from Mr. Conner, secretary to the High Commissioner, in London: "Lord Strathcona has had a heavy cold. Doctors say making satisfactory progress and much better to-day. Expects to be about again in a few days."

The time of transit of winter mails between Seattle, Washington, and Nome, Alaska, is cut from sixty and sixty-five days each way to twenty-four days with corresponding expedition for intermediate points, by a contract which has just been made by Assistant Postmaster-General Shallenberger.

END OF REVOLUTION.

Colombia Rebels Hand Over Their Arms to General Alban.

Colon, Nov. 30.—The terms of surrender agreed upon at Thursday's conference held on board the United States gunboat Marietta, between the government of Colombia and Senor de la Rosa, who represents the Liberal party, are briefly as follows: Senor de la Rosa agreed to surrender the Liberal soldiers now at Colon with their arms to Captain Perry at noon yesterday; Captain Perry in his turn agreed to hand over these men and their arms later in the day to Gen. Alban, who in his turn guaranteed life and liberty to all men recently in arms against the Conservative Government of Colombia. The surrender of arms was to be bona fide in every respect.

At half past 11 yesterday morning a large number of marines and blue jackets from the Iowa, the Marietta and the Machias landed at Colon and proceeded to the barracks. Here the arms belonging to the Liberal soldiers were taken over by the Americans in the presence of Captain Perry, the commanders of the warships above mentioned, the American, British and French consuls at Colon and a large concourse of people, who sympathized with the Liberals in their surrender.

Washington Notified.

Washington, Nov. 30.—A step towards war between Colombia and Venezuela has been taken. The State Department has received confirmation of the notification from the Colombian Government to Venezuela that it has terminated diplomatic relations.

PROF. KOCH'S THEORY.

Report of Tuberculosis Conference Will Be Sent Health Associations.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—A meeting was held yesterday in the Governor-General's office of the Executive Committee of the Tuberculosis Association of Canada. Lord Minto, the honorary president, was in the chair, and among others present were Sir James Grant, president; J. M. Courtney, treasurer; Hon. Sydney Fisher, Prof. J. W. Robertson, A. W. Fleck, secretary-treasurer of the Canada Atlantic Railway; G. F. Perley and Capt. Bell, A.D.C., acting secretary.

So soon as the conference of medical scientists, called by King Edward, has reported upon Prof. Koch's new theory that tuberculosis is not communicable to mankind from animals, copies of the report will be sent out to the several health associations in Canada by the committee. There will be monthly meetings of the committee hereafter.

A TILSONBURG BUTCHER.

Pins His Faith to Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

Mr. C. H. Parker, Tilsonburg, Ont., the well known butcher of that town, has been using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets for a backache and kidney trouble that had been bothering him. When asked to give his opinion of these Tablets he made this statement:—

"During a recent, sudden, and sharp attack of backache and kidney trouble, due to cold caught in the shop, I was induced to try Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. I got a bottle and after I had used half of them the pain was gone. This I think is rapid enough results for anyone. I think they are a mighty good medicine."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are the newest and most effective remedy for backache, lame or weak back, Bright's disease, diabetesm dropsy, puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, gravel, rheumatism, specks floating before the eyes, kidney weakness of children and old people and all urinary troubles. Price 50 cents a box at all druggists or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Liver at the Bottom.

The liver is usually at the bottom of a great many diseases. It is the liver which abstracts the bile. It is the bile, which enters chemically into the composition of the digestive ferments, and also acts as a cathartic. Merrill's System Tonic makes a strong, healthy, active liver, hence it is a positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation and Nervous Troubles. 50 pleasant-to-take doses, 50 cents, sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

The Russian Climate.

The Russians count upon their climate as one means of defense, as it was when Napoleon invaded Russia. Their troops are accordingly trained in winter maneuvers, including loading a battery, with its war transport and material complete, upon sleighs, moving it for some distance over a difficult, snow covered country and bringing it into action again.

Railway Accident at Ingersoll.

Ingersoll, Nov. 30.—As the result of a collision at the G.T.R. crossing leading to William Ross' coal yard yesterday, Alex. Grant's mill wagon is smashed into kindling wood, and Ed. Iles, the driver, had a narrow escape from instant death. Mr. Iles was driving over the crossing, and just as the horses reached the track the yard engine, which was doing some shunting in that part of the yard, came along. The driver and horses were caught by the cowcatcher and carried along the track about twenty-five feet. The dray was dragged along between the cars and Mr. Ross' coal shed. The wagon was smashed to pieces and a portion torn out of the side of the building.

U.S. Will Deport Consumptives.

New York, Nov. 30.—United States Judge Edward B. Thomas yesterday decided in favor of the ruling of the Treasury Department at Washington in the case of Thomas Boden. The Department held that Boden, who is believed to be a consumptive, had no right, under the immigration laws, to enter this country. Boden will be deported one week from today. The man formerly lived in Philadelphia. Before going to Ireland he had lived in the United States more than four years.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .
WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN
THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $120 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

THANKS-GIVING!

In gratitude to the generous people of Peterborough for the lion's share of the patronage bestowed on Gough Bros. during 1901, we intend to express our gratitude in a practical way. For the week preceding Thanksgiving Eve, we propose to UPSET ALL PAST STANDARD OF VALUES. We intend to retail Overcoats, Ulsters, Suits, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, Underwear, Neckwear, and Men's and Boys' Furnishings at prices LESS THAN WHOLESALE—in many cases less than the cost of production. This big double store will be teeming with buyers.

IT'S A CASE THAT WARRANTS UNBRIDLED ENTHUSIASM. We are bound to make it so—we will put it to a point that will do greater honour to this great store. If you don't want to buy come and look on. You can't stay away and be wide-awake. No matter when or where you see a bargain, we have a better one for you. But look sharp!—there'll be a run on the plums, and the ripest fruit is readiest to drop.

HUNDREDS OF TURKEYS WILL BE BOUGHT WITH THE MONEY SAVED AT GOUGHS' THANKSGIVING SALE

AMPUTATION NECESSARY.

Mr. Evy Mann had one of his Limbs Taken off at Nicholls Hospital.

Mr. Evy Mann, son of Mr. John H. Mann, of Bridgenorth, was taken to the Nicholls Hospital lately suffering from an ailment in one of his legs about the knee. It was found that the amputation of the limb was necessary, and the operation was performed quite successfully on Wednesday of this week. Mr. Mann bore up bravely during his unfortunate experience, and his many friends while regretting sincerely the loss of his limb will join in the hope that no further complications may set in.

It is thought that it will be necessary to amputate the limbs of Florence Kenney, the Barnardo girl, who was so severely frost-bitten by lying out under a barn at Dr. Mallory's, Colborne, quite recently. She is confined to the Nicholls Hospital.

RECRUITING STATION.

Peterborough has Been Made one for the Canadian Yeomanry.

The orders for the recruiting of the Canadian Yeomanry have been issued. Peterborough has been made one of the recruiting stations, and 12 men may be enlisted from here. Col. F. L. Lessard, R.C.D., will be the recruiting officer, and Major Young, of the Dragoons, will be the medical examiner.

The following are the conditions of service:

"Twelve months or until the termination of the present war in South Africa. Pay — Cavalry rates from date of enlistment until date of embarkation, and Imperial Yeomanry rates from and inclusive of date of embarkation. Age — Not under 20 years nor over 40. Standard — Not under 5 feet 5 inches in height, not to weigh more than 185 pounds, and to have a chest measurement of not less than 34 inches. Medical requirements — To be medically fit, according to Imperial Yeomanry conditions. Qualifications — To be able to ride and shoot. Preference will be given to men who have had previous service in South Africa, and to single men. Married men and widowers with children will be accepted, conditional on no computation allowance being issued.

EVANGELIST WALDEN

Will Conduct a Series of Meetings in St. Andrew's Church.

The services in St. Andrew's church to-morrow will be the beginning of a two weeks series of evangelistic meetings.

The pastor will preach in the morning from the subject, "God's Unspeakable Gift," and in the evening Evangelist C. W. Walden will preach. Mr. Walden has laboured most successfully in Nova Scotia up to the present time. While in town he will be the guest of his cousin, Mr. Frank A. Walden.

The services will be continued each night, commencing with song service, at 7.45. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

TO RE-ORGANIZE.

The Peterborough Section of the Royal Chorus to Meet Again.

The Peterborough public will be pleased to know that the local section of the Royal chorus is to be re-organized on a permanent basis and a meeting of all the members as well as all lovers of music is called for Tuesday evening of next week at 8 p.m. Mr. Mulligan would like the members of the Royal chorus to bring their chorus music with them and a brief rehearsal will take place. The efforts of Mr. Mulligan to keep this excellent band of singers together will be highly appreciated by all those who had the pleasure of hearing the concert in the market hall a week or two ago.

No Lawyers There.

"There is one editor in Heaven," says an Indiana weekly, "though how he got there, the Lord only knows, but it is supposed that he rode in on the blind baggage, or got a pass. When they found him they tried to turn him out, but he refused to go. They hunted all over Heaven for a lawyer to serve him with a writ of ejectment, but they could not find one, so the editor held the fort and is there to this day. Happy land! Happy editor! No libel suits there."

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Non-Jury Sittings Open on Monday

Before the Honourable Chief Justice Meredith—The Cases up for Hearing.

The non-jury sittings of the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough, will open at one p.m. on Monday before the Honourable Mr. Justice Meredith, Chief Justice of the High Court of Justice.

There are four cases set down for hearing, three of which were left over from the Fall Assizes. These are Humphries vs. Aggett, Poussette vs. Dickson Co., Starr vs. Dickson Co.

The only other case that will come up is Deyell vs. Wilson.

The plaintiff is William Deyell, and the defendant is Thos. H. Wilson, both of whom are farmers residing in the Township of Emily, County of Victoria. The plaintiff asks that the specific performance of a certain agreement alleged to have been entered into by the plaintiff, wherein the plaintiff agreed to sell and the defendant agreed to purchase the following lands and premises, viz.: the north half of lot No. 15 in the 4th concession of the township of Emily, in the County of Emily, for the sum of $4000, payable in the manner set forth in the said agreement, to which the plaintiff at the trial craves leave to refer. The plaintiff claims that he has always been willing and actually has performed all conditions and all terms of the said agreement, but the defendant neglects to do so. He asks also that the defendant be orderd to pay the purchase money as per agreement, and if he cannot specifically perform the said agreement, then the plaintiff claims $2,000 and costs of the action.

The statement of defence sets up that he falsely represented to the defendant that the said lands were clean and free from weeds and in good state of cultivation—Paragraph 4 says:—"Th plaintiff made the false representation hereinto before mentioned, well knowing this to be false, and fradulently, with the intention of inducing, and did thereby induce, the defendant to enter into the said agreement, which he, the defendant, would not have done but for such false and fradulent representations, and the defendant was deceived thereby. The defendant asks that the said agreement be re-cinded, that he be awarded damages for such false fradulent representations and the costs of the action.

Roger & Bennett for plaintiff; A. R. Anderson, (Lindsay) for defendant.

MR. GIBSON'S NEW STORE.

He Opened out With an Entire New Stock This Morning.

Mr. Alex. Gibson this morning opened out in his handsome new quarters, at No. 388 George street. For some weeks workmen have been engaged in fitting up Mr. Gibson's new store in the most stylish manner, and today for luxuriant appearance, costly fittings, and quality of workmanship by those who have been remodelling the store, no finer business house can be found in the town.

The front of Mr. Gibson's jewelry store at once attracts attention by the style of the windows, they being of an exceptionally pretty style, having Luxfer Prism Lights at the top. The door is of beautiful bevel plate glass, and altogether the appearance from the street is costly, but it is only in keeping with the interior of the premises and the stock carried.

The fixtures of the store are of magogany, whilst the elegant show cases and beautiful large mirrors show off the stock to good advantage.

The premises are large and well-lighted, and are consistent with Mr. Gibson's enterprising spirit.

Mr. Gibson's stock is of course every particle new and of the very latest style in every line.

LATE MRS. THOMAS ELLIOTT.

Her Interment Took Place in the Norwood Cemetery on Thursday.

In the death of Margaret Smith, wife of Thomas Elliott, Dummer Road, another of the early pioneer residents of this district has gone to her eternal reward. Deceased was a daughter of the late Christopher Smith, a tailor by trade, who moved to Norwood from the Township of Percy in 1842, and who carried on business there for many years and will be remembered by the older residents of the town. Mrs. Elliott had been an invalid for many years and during the past seven months had been confined to her room through illness. She was a member of the Methodist church and a good Christian woman, and a kind and loving wife and mother.

Her husband and six children survive her. The children are: Mrs. Edward Levis and Mrs. John Cuthbertson, of Alton, Ill., Mrs. Wm. Hubble, of Dummer, Mrs. J. R. McKelvie and Mrs. Wm Taylor, of Norwood, and Robert Elliott, of Peterborough.

The funeral which took place on Thursday last to the Norwood cemetery was largely attended. Rev. R. Taylor, pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. J. McKee McLennan, rector of Christ's church, officiated.

The bearers were Messrs. Harry, John and George Elliott, Albert Wigmore, Ridley Wood and Albert Deck, nephews of deceased.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING

Which Took Place in Omemee on Thanksgiving Day.

An event which has been anticipated in Omemee for some time, occurred on Thanksgiving day, when the wedding was solemnized as between Miss Daisy Stevenson, daughter of Mr. Thos. Stevenson, J. P., reeve of the village of Omemee, and Dr. D. C. Smith, of Stouffville. The ceremony was performed in Christ church, which was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers for the occasion.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M. A., Rector of St. Luke's, officiated, assisted by Rev. J. H. Teney, Rector, of Christ church.

The bride, who was attired in a charming gown of white silk organdie, wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. She was attended as bridesmaid by Miss Annie Stevenson, her sister, who wore a becoming costume of pink silk organdie and carried pink roses.

Miss Helen Stevenson, of Toronto, was maid of honour.

The groom was supported by Mr. Byrne of Stouffville.

Miss Edith Curry presided at the organ and rendered the wedding march.

The groom's gift to the bride consisted of a handsome pearl crescent, whilst pearl pendants were given to the bridesmaid and maid of honour.

After the tising of the nuptial knot the wedding party and a large company of guests, partook of a most elaborate wedding supper, served at the residence of the bride's father.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith left on the six o'clock train for a honeymoon to Toronto and the west, before taking up residence in Stouffville.

VICTORIA ROAD WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Miss Maude Taylor and Mr. J. D. McPhail.

A quiet home wedding took place on Wednesday evening, Nov. 20th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Taylor, Victoria Road, when their daughter, Maud J., was united in marriage to Mr. J. D. McPhail, of St. Catharines. The wedding was quiet, only the most intimate friends of the contracting parties being present.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white organdie, and was supported by her sister, Miss Minnie Taylor, who was also gowned in white organdie. The groom was ably supported by Mr. J. Doads, of Cobconk.

The party afterwards partook of a very sumptuous dinner, and spent the evening in games and other amusements.

The presents were numerous and well chosen, showing the high esteem in which the bride and groom were held.

The happy couple left next morning for a trip to Detroit.

Large Consignment of Ale.

Perhaps the largest consignment of Copland's ale and porter received in Peterborough by any one dealer, arrived this week for Messrs. Henry & Co., the enterprising wine and liquor merchants. The shipment amounted to about four hundred cases of this favourite beverage. The commodious cellar of the firm was tested to its full extent for shelving room, but it was all stored away in a proper temperature ready for the extra demands of the season.

Your Sunday Reading.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

The Montreal Witness speaks as follows of Thursday's game, naturally being somewhat prejudiced in favour of Quebec:

"In the cleanest and most gentlemanly game of football played in Montreal this season the Peterborough team, champions of the Ontario Union, defeated the Quebec fifteen, leaders in the Quebec league, for the intermediate championship of Canada. It was a great match, but the general opinion prevails that the honours of the day should have gone to the Ancient Capital. They simply lost the championship because they played the game at times without using good judgment at the proper moment. On the other hand the Ontario men kept their heads and put into practice every little tactic and movement that they knew would serve them in achieving their ambition. It is rather unfortunate that the Quebecers should lose the honour, but they are themselves to blame. At the very instant when victory was theirs a stupid play directed on the part of Tofield lost them all hope of gaining the day.

"It is hardly necessary to go into full details as to the relative merits of both teams, but a short comparison is admissable. There is no doubt but that Quebec had the advantage if the teams are to be compared from goal to goal. The only division where the Peterborough men had the benefit was on the back division, and in that they won the championship. It was perfect in every detail. Especially is this true of MacPherson, the brilliant halfback, whose kicking and catching have not been equalled on local grounds this season. He is a star, and his work was undoubtedly the feature of the match. Time and again he saved the line. While Quebec had a good back division it could not be compared with that of the western men. In the scrimmage the Ancient Capital players had the advantage, while on the wing lines the Quebec champions were undoubtedly the faster. In the first half Quebec, with the wind in their favour made attempts to run with the ball instead of kicking which was decidedly to their advantage, on the other hand the Peterborough men kicked the ball at every opportunity; especially is this true during the second half of play.

"The score of sixteen points to nine in favour of the Ontario champions about indicates the play. The conduct of the men on the field was splendid and the game was undoubtedly an ideal one both from a player's and spectator's point of view. The weather was not favourable to football, as there was a stinging wind blowing throughout the afternoon, and the ground was as hard as a rock. The officials were Messrs. Philip Mackenzie, and W. Christmas, as referee and umpire respectively, and their work was highly satisfactory in every respect."

Mr. J. M. MacLeod, of Brantford, formerly Physical Director, of the Y.M.C.A. here, and ex-Manager of the Rugby Club, has telegraphed his congratulations to the local men.

The London Rugby men have written wanting to know what inducements the Peterborough Club will offer for a game here.

"By defeating Quebec at Montreal yesterday, Peterborough won the Intermediate Championship of Canada, a feat they may well be proud of. Shake Peterborough! You have the hearty congratulations of all Port Hopers."—Port Hope Guide.

THE RUGBYISTS' ANNUAL DANCE

Was Held in Opera House Last Night.

WAS SUCCESSFUL AS USUAL.

It was Very Largely Attended—The Decorations Were Beautiful—The List of Invited Guests.

The third annual dance of the Peterborough Rugby Club took place in the Opera House last night, and proved to be as in former years, one of the most successful social events of the year.

The Rugby Dance is generally the first of the season, and it is always eagerly looked forward to by the people of the town. Owing to the lateness of the Rugby season this assembly did not take place as early in the season as on former occasions, but it came at a very appropriate time, inasmuch as the boys had arrived home the same morning from Montreal fresh with the laurels of victory upon them. They were accordingly heartily congratulated upon having won the Intermediate championship of the Canadian Rugby Union.

The feature of this year's dance was the excellent manner in which the arrangements were carried out, and nothing whatever was left undone by the patronesses and the dance committee to make the affair the most successful in the history of the Rugby Team. The dance hall perhaps was never before decorated so beautifully. The walls were almost hidden beneath the great quantities of bunting, flags and other decorative designs. The red and white, the colours of the club, were particularly in evidence. The stage was transformed into handsome little home-like quarters, whilst at the front stood the trophy of the O.R.F.U., which the locals quite recently won.

The dining room to the east of the main hall was arranged in a very charming manner and the provisions for catering to the 250 or more people in attendance were most excellent. The decorations in the dining room were quite up to those of the main hall and the various small tables were decorated very becomingly in the club colours.

The patronesses of the dance were Mrs. J. Burnham, Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton, Mrs. G. W. Hatton, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. T. A. S. Hay, Mrs. John Crane, Mrs. Robert Hall, and Mrs. D. J. Lundy.

The affair was run under the management of the Executive of the club. The following were the dance committee: Messrs. R.F. McWilliams, chairman; Dr. Andrew Scott, Hon. secretary; A. W. MacPherson, H. R. H. Kenner, Hal. Burnham, H. Rush and E. S. Clarry. The patronesses worked indefatiguably in their efforts to make the event a success and they truly did. The dance committee, too, spared no time and pains that the annual dance might eclipse in every particular all former affairs of the kind. The music was furnished by the Misses Hurley and the floor was in excellent condition throughout.

The set of honour was made up of the members of the dance committee, the patronesses, and several extra patronesses of the club. The partners were as follows:—Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton and Mr. Hal. Burnham, Mrs. D. J. Lundy and Dr. Scott, Mrs. W. H. Hill and Mr. C. B. McAllister, Mrs. C. B. McAllister and Mr. E. S. Clarry, Mrs. John Crane and Mr. Harry Rush, Mrs. T. A. S. Hay and Mr. W. H. NOTES.

The lady members of the supper committee consisting of Mrs. Lundy, Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Robert Hall and Miss Burnham, are being warmly congratulated by all on the excellent manner in which the arrangements for supper were carried out. Everything appeared to run in clock work order. The entire assemblage were catered to without the slightest confusion.

The work of the decoration committee, consisting of Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Stratton and Mrs. Hall, assisted by Mrs. Complin, was none the less appreciated and the beautiful manner in which the hall was attired in its gay looking decorations was freely commented upon.

To Mr. Geo. Graham, proprietor of the Oriental, the thanks of the committee are particularly due for the numerous articles which he loaned for the occasion, and for his kindness in placing at the pleasure of the committee his very excellent dining room staff, all of whom were most painstaking in their duties.

Amongst others who assisted by loaning articles were Messrs. A. Blade, F. Mason and Jordan Bros., florists; and Messrs. J. D. Craig, R. A. Dutton, A. Comstock, Adam Hall, G. Hutchinson, T. Hooper, China Hall and Richard Hall & Sons.

The boys very much appreciated the assistance given them during the day by Mr. W. Nelson.

Messrs. H. Long and W. McCallum were also very kind towards the committee and loaned useful articles, as well as Messrs. Moon & Conroy, of the National Hotel.

Mr. Chas. Stanley with his usual generosity furnished one of his pianos.

Mr. R. H. Bradburn, the manager of the opera house, did his utmost to have everything in apple pie order.

The assembly broke up at about 3 o'clock.

amongst the ladies who assisted in various ways were Mrs. Complin, Miss Calcutt and the Misses Burnham, all of whom were untiring in their efforts.

Dr. Scott the Hon. Secretary of the dance, is deserving of every credit for the very efficient manner in which he discharged the duties pertaining to his position. He has worked indefatiguably in his efforts to make the dance a success which it truly was.

MALATESTA AT HOME

SQUALID ROOM IN LONDON REFUGE OF THE ANARCHIST KING.

Arch Plotter Against Organized Society Mends Broken Down Bicycles and Studies Philosophy Over a Wineshop—His Career as a "Red."

When Dr. Conan Doyle gave us through the medium of Sherlock Holmes that crafty, soft spoken, pleasant faced scoundrel Professor Moriarty, it is not impossible that he drew his picture from life. There sits today in a squalid room in that part of London known as Islington the incarnation of Moriarty in the person of the dreaded Malatesta, arch anarchist, about whom so much has been written, but about whom so little is really known. Now more than ever is a knowledge of Malatesta important to Americans on account of the whisperings that he could tell much if he would about the murder of President McKinley.

The Scotland Yard officials consider Errico Malatesta to be the real leader of the anarchists of England if not of the world. He is known to be in close touch with the anarchistic movements throughout Europe and America and as a consequence is watched day and night. But clever as the Scotland Yard men are they can never identify him with any crime of the "reds," and with a serene confidence he works at his trade of plumber while the "shadows" pursue him in vain. If he lived in France or Italy, he would be quickly locked up on the theory that he was safer behind bars, but in England it is another matter. In England the law requires facts, and facts are the one thing about Malatesta particularly hard to obtain.

There seems to be no doubt that he is an Italian nobleman. He was intended by his father to be a scientist and was given a splendid education at Milan university, but he was arrested as the leader of a revolutionary movement even before he was a graduate. Only by the influence of his family was he kept out of jail. After that he was disowned by his parents, and he promptly plunged into all sorts of plots against the government of Italy.

By 1893 he had become recognized as a daring anarchist. There were some unusually violent riots in King Humbert's domain that year, and as one result Malatesta was clapped into jail. After his release he honored America with his presence, picking his intimates from such congenial spirits as Johann Most and Emma Goldman. Four years ago he went to London and has remained there ever since save for occasional mysterious trips to the continent, which, singularly enough, have been followed by attempts on the lives of rulers.

As already mentioned, he is a living Professor Moriarty. He differs from Moriarty in that he is a young man. He looks to be fifty years old, but cannot be much more than thirty-five. He has a heavily lined face, piercing black eyes and jet black hair and beard. Outwardly he is one of the most quiet, mild and inoffensive of men. His voice is soft and pleasant. He is extremely reticent, presumably because he believes that a "real" anarchist is one who acts instead of talks.

This singular man lives at 112 High street. Where his domicile is located the street narrows down into a dismal, dirty little lane, with unpleasant looking shops and slatternly houses on either side. Malatesta does not find it necessary to pose as a householder. He lodges over a little wineshop kept by a man named Defendi, also declared to be a revolutionary exile from Italy. Whether he is or no his son, a boy of seventeen, has been informally adopted by Malatesta and is the anarchist king's closest companion.

A 12 by 14 foot room is Malatesta's castle. It is at the rear of the second floor. A bed, a bookcase, a table and some cheap chairs that have seen much service are the only furniture. It is the bookcase alone that reveals the tenancy of a man out of the common run at Islington. It contains something like a hundred books, and, besides the works of Bakunine, the apostle of anarchy, and other revolutionary books in French, German, Italian and Russian, there are volumes by Huxley, Herbert Spencer, Matthew Arnold, John Stuart Mill and Carlyle.

It is rather a difficult thing to say how Malatesta lives. Those who ought to know assert that he does not get a penny of salary from anarchists. He certainly cannot earn much at his trade, for all the odd jobs of mending bicycles, plumbing and so forth he gets are from foreigners who know him or are in the confidence of his friends. The neighbors will have nothing to do with him, and he will have nothing to do with strangers. It is said that he has inherited some money. This explanation of his source of revenue is probably the correct one.

However he lives, the fact remains that he does live, considered by friends and foes alike a menace to society. "What might have been" is sadly true in his case. If Malatesta had only cultivated his genius, which is no mean one, instead of spending his time promoting anarchy, there is more than a remote possibility that today he would be as honored and respected as his fellow countryman, Marconi, instead of being, as he is, hunted and watched by the keenest eyes of all Scotland Yard, the personification of Conan Doyle's "King of the Under World."

Its Foreign Name.

A social club in Pennsylvania named Deutsch-Amerikanischer-Volksfest Verein applied for a charter of incorporation, but was refused on the ground that the name was in a foreign language. On appeal to the supreme court, however, the charter was granted, the court holding that there is no requirement under the statute that the title of the corporation shall be English.

Specialists' Ideas Adopted.

The result, naturally, is that Four T's is an unexcelled compound and never fails to cure a cough in 24 hours and the worst cold in two days. Large bottles 25c. at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

LIFE A BURDEN.

The Condition of Mr. Gardiner, Smith's Falls.

He Spent Miserable Days and Sleepless Nights—Hands, Feet and Limbs Stiff and Swollen.

From the Record, Smith's Falls, Ont.

"There is wonderful talk about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, why don't you try them?"

These words were addressed to Mr. Andrew Gardiner of Smith's Falls, by a friend, when he was in the depths of despondency regarding his physical condition. For three years he had suffered so much that life had become a burden to him and oftentimes he says he almost wished that he might die. Then he spent miserable days and sleepless nights, now he is enjoying health. Then his feet, hands and limbs were stiff and swollen, and he was tormented with a constant creeping, stinging sensation in his body, which gave him no rest day or night; now he is as supple as ever he was, with the stiffness, the swelling and the creeping sensation gone. He attributes it all to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. Gardiner is a man of about 65 years, an old and highly respected resident of Smith's Falls. Having heard a good deal of talk about the improvement effected in his health by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the Record sent a reporter to ascertain the exact truth, and Mr. Gardiner told him substantially what is related above. He said that he tried a number of doctors—as good doctors as there were in the country—but got no relief. He was given to understand that the trouble was caused by bad circulation of the blood, but nothing did him any good. He could not wear boots, his feet were so swollen, and when he tried to walk his legs felt like sticks. Finally he was induced to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. He took six boxes, he said, but did not see that he was much better. He determined to quit taking them but was persuaded to continue them a little while longer. When he had taken ten boxes he was greatly improved and when he had taken twelve boxes he was so well that he did not need any more. It is several months since he has taken them and he has had no return of the trouble. When the reporter saw him he was wearing his ordinary boots and he said he could get into and out of a buggy as well any man of his age in the country.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the friend of the weak and ailing. They surpass all other medicines in their tonic, strengthening qualities, and make weak and dependent people bright, active and healthy. These pills are sold by dealers in medicines, or can be had postpaid at 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Norwegian Hotel Fire Escapes.

Nor do Norwegian hotels themselves console you. Built of wood, their chief merit lies in the fire escape, which is to be found in the chief room upon every landing. At Vismes I spent a happy night answering the questions of nervous travelers who came from hour to hour to see if the fire escape in my room was working properly. Angry assurances were powerless to convince timid if ancient ladies. Did I really think the rope would work? Was there any danger? Had I tried the contrivance myself? Excellent souls! As if the printed notice were not enough!

Ah, that printed notice! I have a copy of it by me as I write. It is the complete instruction in English to the traveler threatened by fire in a wooden hotel in Norway. Let me give it you as I found it:

"Fire escape to throw out the window.

"The plaited snotter shall be found in every room.

"To increase the hurry let down the body one by one until all shall be left.

"N. B.—The cord shall put out the ground from the shoulder thereunder."—London Mail.

Florists' Lives Are Short.

"It is commonly supposed that the men who work in the mines or those whose occupations necessitate the breathing of poisonous fumes and gases are the shortest lived," said a prominent physician. "This is a mistake, and it will surprise many to learn that the highest death rate is found among a class who breathe in the sweetest odors—florists.

"The reason is a simple one. The florist lives at once in the torrid and the frigid zone. From a greenhouse atmosphere of nearly 100 degrees in the winter months he must step out into one that is nearly always below freezing point and often below zero. In summer he has change to encounter, too, as in the spring and fall. By force of habit he grows careless and often works without his coat in the hot, artificial atmosphere, and this increases the dangers to which he is exposed. Lungs and throat and stomach diseases, as well as rheumatism, find in the florist the least resistance."

The Change in the Tenderfoot.

"This is a remarkably healthy climate, they say," said the easterner.

"You're right thar," said Arizona Al. "F'r instance, not long ago a tenderfoot with a weak chest an' a pale face dropped into the Miners' Delight, called me a liar an' o' course I had to clean up. 'Bout two months after a big sunburst cowboy stopped me on the street, wiped the earth up with me an' slammed me up in a tree to recuperate. Same feller. Best climate in the world, pard."

Got Lame Back?

No need of that now. That sort of pain can be knocked out in short order, for Polson's Nerviline, which is five times stronger than any other, penetrates at once through the tissues, reaches the source of suffering, drives it out and thus gives relief almost instantly. Not magic, but strength that gives Polson's Nerviline this power, you will think it magic however if you try it, pain goes so quickly. Sold by dealers everywhere, in large 25 cent bottles.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

Result of Becoming Interested in Reading a Newspaper.

The prospect of a dinner will generally keep a hungry man awake. But the victim of absentmindedness seems at times unable to distinguish between what to eat and what to leave. This was the case with the man who went into a London restaurant, called for a newspaper, and only when roused from his reading by a waiter ordered coffee and a ham sandwich. The waiter executed the order and deposited with the homely fare a large pasteboard check. The absentminded one went on reading his paper.

Some quarter of an hour after the waiter returned. "Anything more, sir?" he said. "Yes," snapped the man; "get me a fresh sandwich; the one you brought me was dry as a bone." The waiter looked down and gasped. "Lor'!" he exclaimed, "here's the sandwich I brought! You've eaten the check!"

The Kidneys and Uric Acid.

Serious, Painful Ailments Which Arise From Neglected Kidney Derangements — Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a Thoroughly Effective Cure.

Uric acid is the name given by medical men for the poisonous matter which the kidneys filter from the blood. When the kidneys are weak, inactive or diseased they fail to perform their functions as filters, and the uric acid poison remains in the blood to find lodgment in the weaker organs, and produce the most painful and fatal results.

The symptoms of kidney disease, such as backache, frequent and painful urination, deposits in the urine, pains in the sides and limbs, and headaches, are so familiar that it seems unnecessary for anyone to be ignorant of the approach of this dreaded malady. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are ever at hand as a thoroughly effective remedy, as they are for sale by nearly every dealer who pretends to keep any family medicines.

Not only the kidneys themselves become diseased, but the uric acid forms crystals in the joints and muscles, causing the most extreme pain, and what is known as rheumatism, a disease which can never be cured until the kidneys are made healthful and vigourous.

Another form of kidney disease is dropsy and heart failure. In such cases the uric acid turns the blood to water, and causes dropsical swellings, which, when in the region of the heart, produce heart failure.

In view of the frightful risks which you run in neglecting kidney derangements, and the undoubted efficiency of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a cure for weak, inactive, diseased kidneys, it remains as a duty for you to apply the remedy and be cured. You can be certain of beneficial results, for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have stood the test of time, and proven their right to first place as a kidney medicine.

In every town, village and township of Canada there are people who can testify to the extraordinary merits of this great remedy. Ask your friends and neighbours about it, or, better still, try it for yourself, and join the ranks of Dr. Chase's admirers. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

Invincible Terry No More.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 29.—Knocked out in the second round, of which 1 minute and 44 seconds had elapsed, was the referee's verdict of the fistic battle yesterday afternoon between Young Corbett of Denver, Col., and Terry McGovern of Brooklyn, who has held the featherweight championship since he won it from George Dixon 18 months ago.

Outwitted and outpointed with a fighter just the same as himself, McGovern had to lower his colors at the Nutmeg A. C., to Young Corbett, within seven minutes from the start of the fight.

A Chilling Reception.

William Clyde Fitch, whose play, "The Last of the Dandies," has just met with a cold and flat reception upon its opening night in London, is the author of at least a dozen dramas, almost all of which have been received with substantial approval by the public of his own country. Mr. Fitch was born in New York City, and is 34 years old. His friendly critics consider that the best in him as a playwright is yet to be brought out, although some of his work is unquestionably of a highly meritorious character. Some of his original plays attracting favorable literary criticism are "Beau Brummel," "Frederic Lemaitre," "Pamela's Prodigy," "His Grace de Grammont," "The Cowboy and the Lady" and "Barbary Freitchie." Mr. Fitch's best work seems to have been that done when he was withdrawn from present-day life and has set himself reconstructing the characters of men who lived in other times. In this he has disclosed a warmth of imagination said to be altogether charming.

The public look for and demand true and honest dispensing when prescriptions are taken to the drug store. Our dispensing department is conducted on such perfected plans that errors are impossible. Strict attention to business, pure drugs and medicines, and low prices, have won for us a position second to none in the drug trade.

The Kind That Cures.

If you are suffering from headache, indigestion, heart trouble, liver complaint, kidney disease or ills resulting from impure blood, we strongly advise you to use Paine's Celery Compound. It is the greatest banisher of disease, the only medicine that can bring you health and new life. Try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound if you feel weak or rundown; it is a marvellous strengthener. King Pleases the Germans.

London, Nov. 29.—The Berlin correspondent of The Times says the full military honors paid to the body of Count Von Hatzfeldt-Wildenburg, German Ambassador at the Court of St. James, when it was conveyed from the London Embassy to the railway station, have made the best kind of impression in Germany. It is recognized that the Ambassador was held in high esteem by the British court and public, but it is also felt that British sympathy is largely intended for Emperor William and for Germany.

Why Catarrhozone Cures Catarrh.

It goes to every affected part and kills the germs that keep up the diseased condition. Catarrhozone never irritates but stimulates the mucous lining of the nose, throat and lungs to normal action and keeps the nasal passages free from offensive discharges. Catarrhozone contains no dangerous drugs or opiates, and is delightfully pleasant and simple to use. Catarrhozone is an absolutely sure cure for any form of catarrh, and sells for one dollar at druggists; small size 25c. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston.

Net Worth Subsidy.

London, Nov. 29.—Lord Brassey, speaking at the London Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon on the needs of the navy said that Great Britain had not received an adequate return from a naval point of view for the amount spent in ship subsidies. In spite of the £573,000 ($3,865,000) paid to four companies since 1887, not one of the vessels thus available was fit for anything except scouting. He urged that hereafter the Government insist that all reserve cruisers be designed with the view of carrying a protective belt when called on for war service.

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

THREE MONTHS AND NO SLEEP

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred this would mean the lunatic asylum for the patient, but South American Nervine was the "stitch in time."

Mrs. White, of Casserton, was dangerously ill from nervous trouble; had not slept a night for three months; so low, friends had given up hope of recovery. She began using South American Nervine and from the night she took the first dose slept soundly. She put on flesh rapidly and in a short while every symptom of her trouble had left her, and although it is five years ago, she has never had a sign of a return. 50

CHARACTER TRAITS.

Mr. T. Arnold Haultain, Secretary to Prof. Goldwin Smith, Discusses Effect of Canada's Climate on Our Natives.

It would be interesting to discover how far climatic conditions have influenced national character in Canada. But that would be a discovery difficult to make. In primitive times this factor in the formation of temperament, involving as it did that also of diet, was, I suppose, paramount; to-day, as facility of travel and spread of international intercourse increases, it fades. Above all, the influx of new blood tends to counteract its influence.

To find its true effect here we must go to the North American Indian. What are his physical and climatic surroundings? Long and sombre winters, during which the patient earth awaits a bounding spring; then a spring leaping into torrid summer, a summer followed by a blazing, gorgeous autumn, when again the patient earth lapses into its long and silent sleep. Illimitable wastes of prairie and forest; all but shoreless inland seas; still and quiet pools; roaring or rippling brooks flowing through dark, lugubrious woods. The solitude and silence of snow-shrouded lands; a sudden bursting into gleeful life; fiery aestival months; a full and lavish fruitage. What are the effects of these upon the aborigines?

We find them patient, hardy, enduring, to the last degree; taciturn, superstitious, intractable, dogged, treacherous, implacable. The whole earth is not harder to spiocess and disclose to view than is the red man's heart. But hidden in that cold-seeming heart is fire. His loves and hates, his recklessness, his fearlessness, his unsettledness, his sudden exacerbations of anger, his scorn of consequence, are not more typical of his clime when the sun mounts high than are of the winter solstice his motives dark and cold. He is sombre. For centuries he has roamed vast solitudes alone. No stranger visited him. He held no converse with the outer world. The alien, even the member of the neighboring tribe, was to him a foe.

He is sedate. With no settled occupation, nothing by him has to be done against a particular hour. He counts his time by moons, wandering in leisurely manner from hunting ground to hunting ground. The deer of his forests, the fish of his lakes — these are his only quest. He is savage. Now feeding to his full on flesh or fish, now half starved on a diminishing store of pemmican; like his clime, he alternates from the extreme of lethargy to the extreme of energy. No one to nature has lived closer than he. The hardihood of winter has entered into his frame; the peace of lake and forest and pool has depicted itself on his face; the enduring vigor of huge and changeless expanses has written itself on his soul. He is as distinctly a product of the land as is its deep-toned, hardy pine or its flaming sweet-sapped maple.

He is a veritable child of nature still, undeveloped, undevelopable. He garners no grain, he husbands no resources. His habits, after a century's contact with civilization, are what they were in pristine times. The white man comes, sees how perfectly suited to his lakes is his frail canoe, and immediately sets about to make him a dainty craft, as far removed from his rude prototype as a trim yacht from a Yarmouth trawler. The red man still hollows out a hollow log, or, like Hiawatha, begs the birch tree for its bark. A child of that nature which gave him birth, and from whose naked breasts he still sucks his simple livelihood, he will never grow up. Nowhere perhaps to-day is seen so clearly the influence of climate upon temperament, for nowhere perhaps has climate been less trammelled in its action.

The climate of Canada has not yet appreciably affected its incursive Anglo-Saxon hosts, save perhaps, in one particular. This, namely, one of the first differences one notices when crossing from the eastern to the western moiety of the Atlantic is in the air. The warm, moisture-laden atmosphere of the British Isles gives way to a clarity and rarity truly marvelous on first observance. The very outline of ocean's rim evinces it. In fact, few things are more distinctively characteristic of the two great halves of the Anglo-Saxon race which inhabit its opposing shores than that symbolized by the appearance of the Atlantic horizon—on the hither or British side, softened, mellow, blending into sky and cloud, quiet, subdued, self-restrained; on the thither or American side, definite, distinct, defiantly overt, so self-revealed that it presents a keen and clearly cut serrated edge to the wondering skies.

This air seems to affect the nerves as it does the sea. It has tremendous tonic properties. It strings up, makes keen, alert, "smart." It is very dry. Life as well as coal burns quickly in it: an English hearth merely smoulders in comparison with one Canadian, which, especially in winter, grows quite hot. Naturally, this air affects the system. The Canadian is supereminently quick-witted. He thinks fast, very fast. It is his boast, too, that he can "put his hand to anything." And so, indeed, he can. But with his quick-wittedness goes a self-consciousness and a restlessness which he shares in common with his brethern to the south.

But other formative influences come in here, the which to trace would lead us too far astray. There is, of necessity, also, the crudeness and rawness inseparable from a colony; there is the lack of standards, both of taste and manners, perhaps also of morals, if we pried into business and politics; there is the youthfulness of a still growing people.—T. Arnold Haultain, in the Nineteenth Century.

THE CREATION OF EVE.

Little Agnes' Idea as to the Bone Connected With That Event.

Little Agnes had been a regular attendant at the Sunday school last winter. The other day the school opened again after the vacation, and the teacher decided to have a general review of all the ground covered by the primary department. She stated, very properly, at the beginning:

"Children," said she, "after Adam was created, how was Eve brought into the world?"

A half dozen hands went into the air.

"Willie Smith may answer," said the teacher.

"Made outen a bone frum Adam."

"Now, children, that is correct. And from what bone was woman created?"

There was an awful silence in the classroom. Finally little Agnes' hand went up like a shot.

"You may answer, Agnes."

Her decision came quickly.

"The jawbone," said she.

Hit by the Recoil.

Lawyer (examining a used pickpocket, testifying in his own behalf)—You deny this special charge and yet admit that you have committed similar offenses. Perhaps you'll be good enough to tell the court just how long you've been in this business?

Pickpocket (nonchalantly)—Oh, not more than two or three months!

Lawyer—Only two or three months, eh? How do you expect the court to believe that statement in view of the fact that it has had police testimony to the effect that you are an expert?

Pickpocket (smilingly)—Oh, well, you must remember that I had the benefit of a three years' previous practice in your profession.

An Unpleasant Explanation.

"I met Slopay this morning. He was hurrying toward the railway station with his gripsack in his hand. Slopay is a good fellow. He owes me fifty, but I have never pressed him for it. And, say, the instant he laid eyes on me this morning he said, 'I'll hand you that little amount the very day I get back.' Decent of him, wasn't it?"

"Yes; but I guess you didn't read your morning paper carefully. It says that Slopay starts today for a three years' stay abroad."

It Naturally Annoyed Her.

"But why do you wish a divorce, madam?" asked the lawyer. "You admit that your husband provides for you properly and is not at all cruel."

"Cruel!" she exclaimed. "I'd like to see him try to be cruel!"

"Then what cause for complaint have you?"

"Why, he is getting so deaf that I am deprived of the pleasure of scolding him."—Chicago Post.

Money in Sight.

Hattie—I wish I knew some way to make lots of money.

Uncle George—Easiest thing in the world, Hattie. Go upon the stage, and when you retire, after twenty-five or thirty years, you can write your reminiscences for the next half century and get good money for them. I don't know why. I only know you would.—Boston Transcript.

His Mistake.

"What curious mistakes men make sometimes! I've just been reading, for instance, that Columbus imagined that he had discovered the Indies."

"Ah, I made a worse mistake than that! When I married my wife, I thought I'd discovered paradise!"

Candid.

Miss Alma—When did you become acquainted with your wife, doctor?

Doctor—After the wedding.—Heitere Welt.

Helpful Suggestion.

Borus — Naggus, I'm writing a story I would like a name for. It's somewhat on the plan of "Ships That Pass in the Night," but I want the title to be as different from that as possible.

Naggus — How would "Elevators That Pass in the Daytime" do?

How Strong Are You?

The dial of the punching machine won't answer that question. Strength depends on nutrition. When the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the body fails to receive its full supply of nourishment and hence grows weak. That is why so man is stronger than his stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition. The food eaten is then perfectly digested and assimilated and the body is made strong by the only possible way—by nutrition.

"I was troubled with indigestion for about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliaetta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets stimulate the liver.

Unpractical Man.

Cooke—It's surprising how unpractical some men are.

Brooke—Why, how's that?

Cooke—Well, there's Professor Linguist, for example. He spent the best part of his life acquiring fluency in nine or ten different languages and then went and married a wife who never gives him a chance to get a word in edgeways.

In Danger.

"Hello! Where are you going with the gun?" inquired Gasaway.

"Gunning. Where'd you suppose?" replied Brightly.

"Huh! You couldn't hit a barn door."

"Perhaps not, but I could hit a darn bore, and I might be tempted to do it any moment."

Different.

"My dear children, don't you know it's wicked to play ball on the Sabbath?"

"Who's er playing ball? We's going ter golf, we is."

A Despairing Effort.

"Look here," said the prime minister, "don't you think you are carrying matters with a rather high hand?"

A Great Mistake.

The old idea of taking blood thinning compounds in order to purify the blood, is an error, as the system is thus left in a vitiated condition. Merrill's System Tonic not only purifies the blood in a thorough manner, but the iron contained in it again enriches the blood leaving one with a lot of good rich red blood. 50 pleasant to take doses 50c at Ormond & Walsh's pharmacy.

Change to Change a Quarter.

"How much does it take to change a quarter?" asked the bartender. "Twenty-five cents, eh? Not on your life. It takes seventy cents to do the trick. How many ways do you suppose a quarter dollar can be changed? Just exactly eleven. A fellow of limited means may like the jingle of coin in his clothes. In that event you can give him twenty-five pennies or twenty pennies and one nickel. He may like to have a little sprinkling of silver in his clothes, and you can accommodate him with fifteen pennies and a dime or ten pennies, a dime and a nickel.

"If he prefers to have change handy for a beer and a car fare, why, fifteen pennies and two nickels will fix him up, and if he wants a cigar in addition, besides having a little stock of cash in his jeans, give him ten pennies and three nickels. That makes six ways. Now, then, a fellow with a quarter can trade it off for five pennies and two dimes, five pennies and four nickels, two dimes and one nickel, one dime and three nickels or five nickels, just as he prefers. And to accommodate him in any way that he might select you have to possess twenty-five pennies, two dimes and five nickels—seventy cents in all."

Discovery of Coal in Wales.

During the reign of Henry VIII. many attempts were made to discover coal in north Wales, and a Shrewsbury man, named Richard Gardner, was the only person who succeeded. The old records read: "He attemptyd and put into proofe to fynde out coles about the town (Shrewsbury) in soondry placys, and in one place especiall callyd Ematine Haye, hard by the sayd towne, he found by his great dyligence and troball great store of see cole, the which is lyke to come much commoditie bothe to the riche and poore, that he is not only worthy of commendacon and mayntenance, but also to be had in remembrance for ever."

A Curious Eating Custom.

The Dyaks divide in pairs when the hour arrives for taking food, the father and mother at one platter, two sisters at one and still two brothers at another. When the family is not equally divided as to sex, a brother and sister may eat together, but this must always be the youngest and oldest of the family.

Her Pet Name.

"Ah!" he sighed after she had blushingly whispered "Yes" in his bosom. "My own Mehitabel! Oh, that name's so formal! Surely your friends use some shorter one, some pet name!"

"Well," she murmured, "the girls at boarding school used to call me Pickles."

A Great Increasing Army,

composed of men and women that spend heart and soul in the vain effort to overcome a lack of vigour in the body. To replace inertia by vigour, to make good, red blood that will build up the system, to have strong nerves, you must eat more, digest more, assimilate more. How can it be done? By using Ferrozone. It invigorates, strengthens, possesses magical health giving powers. Get Ferrozone to-day and make yourself strong and well. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

No Time to Save.

Here is a drought story told by a traveling man:

I was driving across the country to a little town in western Kansas the other day when I met a farmer hauling a wagon load of water.

"Where did you get that water?" said I.

"Up the road about seven miles," he replied.

"And you haul water seven miles for your family and stock?"

"Yep."

"Why in the name of sense don't you dig a well?"

"Because it's jest as far one way as the other, stranger."

A bad cold

Indicates a congestion of the membranes—not only of the head, throat and lungs, but of the body. If there's a weak spot it attacks there—just as a prize fighter goes for the solar plexus of his adversary.

A bad cold caused an affection of Matthew Clarks' lungs. He tells how Powley's Liquified Ozone cured him and relieved the chest pains:

"I had a severb cold in my head and pain in my chest, for which I tried several remedies, but could get no relief. I was at your warehouse delivering goods, and complained of my condition. I procured a bottle of Ozone from you, and I am pleased to state I am now entirely free from both pain in the chest and cold in the head.

"A number of my friends are using Ozone, and they think it is the best remedy they ever tried. (Signed)

"MATTHEW CLARK, 148 Peter St., Toronto."

This is the time of year when you have to be most careful of the affections of the throat and lungs. You may neglect a cold, and it will develop into consumption. Take it in time with Ozone; make the tissues healthy, feed the blood with oxygen, and you will have none of the ills so common and so fatal at this season. The next time you have a cold take Ozone two or three times in hot water before retiring; it will cure your cold like magic. You can prevent or cure bronchitis, pneumonia, lung trouble and consumption by its use.

An Interesting Account of a Local Volunteer's Experience on the 2nd. Canadian Contingent—The Impressions he Gained.

(Lt. Robert Johnston, 40th Regiment)

CHAPTER XII.

The busy people were by no means all confined to the docks. Away up town at the Armouries was an industrious little band of workers, making preparations for another farewell reception. On this occasion we were the distinguished guests of the Elder-Dempster Company. These gentlemen have won for themselves an enviable reputation among the boys for hospitality, generosity and attentiveness. The interests of the passengers are identical with those of the company, and nobody need ever want for comfort nor fear for safety when travelling by this justly famous line. The reception followed the long established order of things in general undertaken by the Company, and was a decided success in every particular. The decorations, which formed such an important feature at the farewell tendered by the citizens of Halifax to the Contingent previous to the departure of the D and E Batteries, still remained undisturbed. They were certainly artistic and elaborate, which may be inferred from the fact that it required two thousand, five hundred flags and three thousand yards of bunting to successfully carry out the designer's well-considered plans.

At the ceiling, directly in front of the grand gallery, was a well-defined Union Jack, represented by many incandescent electric lights of proper colour, clustered about a portrait of Her Most Gracious Majesty, the late Queen Victoria. A number of distinguished gentlemen present gave vent to their exuberant feelings of loyalty in short, animated addresses, in which they extolled the virtues of the Contingent, admired our pluck, etc., concluding their flattering remarks by telling us we were the cream of the land, and the flower of the population. Such statements were indeed pleasing to the ear of the jingoist, and greatly tickled that of egotistical Tommy, but one honest thought of those who remained at home would completely explode the whole thing. It seems to me Canada sent John Bull what was in reality nothing more than an honest sample of our Militia, assuring him if it stood the crucial test and if necessity ever demanded it, he could rely on the support of ten or twenty thousand of just as good quality, ready to rally round the flag at the first blast of the trumpet or the roll of the drum. I have often thought if we were the cream of the land, what must the skimmed milk be. Whether we were worthy of such flattery or not, the citizens of Canada treated us with the consideration and respect due to people of such distinction, and our farewell ovations of Wednesday, the 21st day of February would convince even the most skeptical that we carried with us the confidence and good-will of all loyal Canadians. On Tuesday morning we rose rather earlier than usual, and had breakfast at 6 a.m. The morning was clear, and as balmy as spring. At 7 a.m. we began loading our horses on the transport Milwaukee. The task was not to say an easy one, but everybody was so enthusiastic that it was soon hurried to completion.

While at the docks awaiting my turn to advance up the gangway to the vessel, I had the chance of being addressed personally by my troop leader. As stated before in another part of this narrative, we had a number of invalided equines, which were to be kept separate from the remainder on board, as well as on land to prevent contagion. While the work of embarking was going on, for some reason or other there was a complete cessation, whereupon an officer approached and ordered us to form circles and exercise the horses. It was an order from a superior, and must be acted upon immediately—if not sooner. I delayed a little in doing so, and was quickly greeted with a volley of oaths fired in quick time, as a cautionary prelude to the executive command "move on." To obey, I knew would lead to certain disaster, for I was the last of my troop with horses in good health waiting to go forward when the order came, however, "'twas not for me to reason why—'twas but to do," and remembering that a man of my rank was not supposed to know anything, I accordingly fell into the ring, as directed, and waited further developments. I hadn't long to wait. While consoling myself with the thought "Ignorance is bliss," my troop leader suddenly appeared on the scene, and seeing I had decamped, made a careful survey of the precincts with an eye as fierce as an eagle's. Finally, he recognized me in the ring, and approaching with veneur in his optic, accosted me in a very unbecoming manner, demanding "Why the h—l don't you stay with your troop?" I considered it nothing more than the part of a gentlemen to answer a question when it was in my power to do so, and proceeded to explain—but dear me! I was shut up that quick I hardly knew how it was done. My superior would, of course, consider me a poor soldier for thus answering back, and I considered him just as miserable a sample of a gentleman as I was of a soldier, for denying me the right of doing so. No explanation was wanted, and none dare be offered, but if he should chance to read this chapter the truth will dawn upon him. "Ye cannot serve two masters" does not apply to the army, for there a private soldier, a modified slave, must serve masters innumerable, each of whom professes to know all that's worth knowing, and must have his wishes promptly carried out, and irrespective of those of others.

Before I proceed further I feel it my duty to devote a little more time and space to our officers, lest some of my readers should draw a misleading inference from the remarks of a preceding chapter. Some may harbour the idea that our staff was composed of mean fellows. This is not true. They were men of principle, high social standing, strong intellects, and were efficient soldiers. They were equal to the task before them, and perhaps no corps won more V.C.'s and D.S.O.'s than the Second Canadian Contingent. As civilians they were no doubt popular, but it must be said as officers they were the converse, and we are justified in asking the reason why. To my mind this disrespect was directly due to the rigidly enforced discipline intended to govern a regular army. Everybody with good common sense knows a volunteer corps is as distinct from a regular corps as day is from night, and rules and regulations that can be enforced in the one without resentment or comment, are utterly impractical in the other. Our officers were mainly volunteers themselves, and should have understood how to deal with a corps like the Contingent, but they were guided by cast-iron rules, the tenacious adherence to which completely extinguished the martial flame that previously burned within our breats. The Contingent was composed of men drawn from all vocations of life, and in it, as in every other aggregation of people, we find about as many different dispositions and temperments as there are individuals. It is therefore impossible for anybody to please the individual, and no matter who our officers were, if they followed the same precedent, they would certainly reap the same result—disaster. In the majority of cases their actions were governed by regulations, but in one or two instances I fear they were not justified by any law, in acting as they did. While on shipboard they and the officers of the vessel had a banquet one night in the saloon, as we neared the end of our voyage. The starboard side of the vessel adjacent to the saloon was reserved for their use during the trip, and we were granted the port-side. In going to the stables from our sleeping quaters, we must pass this saloon, the grelter part of which lay between decks. The banquet didn't begin till 8 o'clock, but the time when stable piquette, watches and guards were relieved. On the night in question, a number of us were ordered to stables to consign a dead horse to the deep, and when the duty was performed, we started back to our quaters, but lo! when we reached the officer's quarters our way was barred by a guard, and for a time we were puzzled to know what it meant. The band was there, and things assumed an air of jollity. The hatchway was open, but nothing could be seen below as you passed, unless you drew near for that purpose, and nobody would have murmured if they had placed their guard beside the hatchway to keep away the curious individuals who were likely to collect in that vicinity, and have left the deck unobstructed. Here we were in a strange dilemma, unable to go to our quarters for a guard in the way, and it was contrary to orders to be in the stables unless on duty, so we were obliged to stand on deck from 9 p.m. to 12 p.m. The piquet coming off duty had not as yet partook of supper and you can imagine how much love they cherished for their superiors who thus interfered with their rights. Was it any wonder we were wrathy? This unwise action coupled with the enforcing of an exasperating regulation broke the camel's back, and from this time forward we virtually had no love for the staff. We almost hated them, and I have heard scores of men say on the decks of the Milwaukee that if they lived to get home they would never put on a uniform again. The other regulation referred to was the one which demands that a private must have a non-commissioned officer—a sergeant, if possible,—escort him into an officer's presence when he desires to speak to him, remain there during the interview, and then trot him back to his place in the ranks, or to his quarters. Our officers would mingle with us day after day for months and never speak unless to find fault, nor we daren't address them. There was a dearth of sympathy, practically none between them and us. If I am denied the privilege of addressing my officer in camp without having a sergeant introduce me, I believe, to be soldierly, the rule should be valid on the field, and if I saw him bleeding to death with a severed artery, I wouldn't go near him without his pet sergeant, and I'd pass a hundred coporals in my endeavour to find him. I have no legal authority for entering his presence nor alleviating his sufferings, unless it be done strictly in accordance with the prescribed and inflexible rules of the army. This was and is my theory and I always governed myself accordingly.

PETERBOROUGH'S SNOW BYLAW.

It Will be Strictly Enforced This Winter.

THE DUTY OF CITIZENS

Who Should Acquaint Themselves With the Provisions of the By-law at Once.

Now that snowfalls may be expected any day, it is well that the public should be made aware of its position regarding the clearing of the sidewalks. This year the town officials intend being more determined than ever regarding the enforcement of the snow bylaw, the provisions of which are as follows:—

1. Every person owning or occupying premises adjoining any of the streets of the Town of Peterborough to which this refers, shall remove and clear away or cause to be removed and cleared away from the sidewalks adjoining such premises, all snow, ice, dirt or other obstructions from time to time, as when the same shall form or accumulate thereon and shall constantly keep such sidewalks in front of and adjoining their premises free and clear of all snow, ice, dirt or other obstructions.

2. Every person owning or occupying premises adjoining any such street to which this bylaw refers, shall remove or cause to be removed from the roofs of the premises owned or occupied by them, all snow, and ice from time to time as and when the same shall form or accumulate thereon and shall constantly keep such roofs free and clear of all snow and ice.

3. It shall be the duty of the Town Engineer to cause to be removed and cleared away, all snow and ice and other obstructions from said sidewalks adjoining vacant property or the property of persons, who, for 24 hours, neglect to clean the same, at the expense of the owner or occupant; in case of his default, and in case of non-payment of the expense of such removal, such expense shall be charged as a special assessment against such premises in like manner as other municipal rates. And it shall be the duty of the Town Engineer to return to the Town Clerk, the amount of such expense chargeable against the respective properties and it shall be the duty of the Clerk to enter such expense as returned by the Town Engineer on his collector's roll for collection, along with other municipal rates chargeable against such premises or the owner or occupant thereof.

4. In respect of snow or ice which shall accumulate upon any such sidewalk during the night, it shall be deemed a sufficient compliance with this bylaw if the person answerable for the removal of the same, under paragraph one hereof, shall cause such snow and ice to be removed from the sidewalk before the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon.

5. The preceding paragraphs of this bylaw shall refer to and be operative with respect to the following streets and parts of streets of the Town of Peterborough:

On all the streets and parts of streets lying within the area of district, bounded on the south by King street and on the west by the western limit of the several lots known as lot No. 8, west of George street, on the east side by the eastern limit of the several lots known as lot No. 4, east of Water street, and on the north by McDonel street and also on George street and the west side of Water street from the south side of McDonel to the south side of Dublin street.

6. No person shall discharge or allow to be discharged from any roof or position of any building owned or occupied by him, any snow or ice or water upon the dry sidewalk in the Town of Peterborough.

7. It shall be the duty of the police officers of the town to prosecute all persons violating any of the provisions or paragraphs one, two or six of this bylaw.

8. Any person guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of paragraphs one, two or six of this bylaw, shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine of not more than $20 and costs to be levied, in default of payment, by distress and sale of the offenders' goods, and in default of sufficient distress, the offender shall be liable to be imprisoned in the county jail of the County of Peterborough for any term not exceeding 21 days, unless such fine and costs and the costs of the committal are sooner paid.

BABY'S HEALTH.

The Teething Period Dangerous to Little Ones and Very Trying to Mothers.

What mother does not look forward with dread to the time when baby shall be teething? At that time baby is restless, feverish and irritable, and frequently there is stomach. The poor little sufferer is fighting one of his first battles in this old world of pain, and if not aided in his fight may be overcome. Every wise mother helps the little sufferer as much as she can, and the mothers who have been most successful in this respect have found that Baby's Own Tablets give just such assistance as the little one needs. Mrs. W. J. Wright, Brockville, says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets quite frequently, and am much pleased with them. I find them especially satisfactory during baby's first year. I have used them in teething, in vomiting, in colic, in indigestion, and in the disorders of the stomach and bowels usually accompanied by restlessness and fever. The action of the Tablets has always been all that could be desired."

Baby's Own Tablets are a sweet, pleasant little lozenge that all children will take readily. They can be crushed or dissolved in water and administered with safety to even the youngest infant. Guaranteed to contain no opiate or any of the poisonous stuffs that make the so-called soothing medicines dangerous to little ones. If you do not find Baby's Own Tablets at your druggist's send 25 cents to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and a box will be sent you by mail postpaid.

THE BULLER SUNDAY PARADE

Buller's Portrait the Chief—A Plaster Cast of the General Comes to Grief—War Office Saluted With Cries of "Shame"—General Assault Fails—Boers Repulsed With Severe Loss.

London, Dec. 2. — Buller's Sunday," yesterday, passed without serious incident. The Government had taken every precaution to prevent disturbances. This included the reading at these parades last week of a special order in the military regulations, which forbids officers or soldiers from "taking part in meetings, demonstrations or processions for party or political purposes." A large body of police, many of whom were mounted, were stationed along the line of the procession's march, and notably in front of the War Office.

The trades unions and workmen's societies, with bands and banners, assembled along the embankment during the afternoon. There were thousands of spectators. The procession was late in starting. It was headed by a huge banner, on which was a portrait of General Buller. At Charing Cross several mounted policemen rode up to the head of the procession and attempted to seize a plaster bust of General Buller. The man carrying the bust dashed it to the ground. This incident caused much indignation, but the leaders were able to curb and restrain the paraders, some of whom wished to attack the policemen.

Opposite the War Office there was considerable groaning and cries of "Shame" from the men in the procession, but otherwise the proceedings were without incident.

When Hyde Park was reached it was almost dark. Here speeches from several platforms, representing England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Devonshire and the colonies were made. The confusion was so great as to render the words of the speakers almost inaudible, but, amid a roar of cheers, a resolution of sympathy for General Buller was passed and adopted with great enthusiasm and a wild waving of handkerchiefs and hats.

Features of the demonstrations were the passing of collection boxes for a workingmen's memorial to General Buller and the large sale of buttonhole portraits and favors of the general.

It is estimated that 50,000 people were present at the demonstration in Hyde Park. This makes the biggest thing of its kind which has occurred for many years.

General Buller was cheered tremendously at the Devonian dinner Saturday night, and his admirers assured him of their unstinted admiration for his brilliant services to the British Empire and their unshaken confidence in him as a skillful and gallant officer. General Buller, in reply, excused himself on the ground that he was precluded from entering into any discussion of the subject of the Colenso heliogram.

The dinner passed off without any actual anti-Government demonstration. Long before the hour fixed for the reception, the great courtyard of the hotel was crowded with Bullerites. The arrival of General and Lady Buller was the signal for enthusiastic cheering. The most dramatic scene was in the banquet hall, when General Buller, as the presiding officer, proposed the health of the King, by whose order the general had been retired from the army. A remarkable demonstration ensued. For several minutes there were deafening cheers, the waving of handkerchiefs and singing. It is doubtful if London has ever seen a more hearty or more unequivocal response to the toast of the King.

Blockhouses Check Boers.

London, Dec. 2.—A despatch from Pretoria says that the Boers, on the night of Nov. 26, made a general attempt to break the blockhouse cordon along the railway west of Middleburg, but were repulsed with, it is thought, considerable loss. An armored train turned back the main body of 200 of the enemy, and the garrisons of the blockhouses checked the attacking party at other points.

CANADA'S PATRIOTIC FUND.

Shall the Canadian Yeomanry, the Third Contingent, Participate in Its Distribution?—A Meeting on Tuesday to Consider the Question—Marchand, a Canadian, Killed in Action Nov. 20.

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—Word is expected to-day from the Imperial authorities in regard to the arrangements for the transportation of the Canadian Yeomanry to South Africa. It is expected that the Militia Department will be instructed to engage a transport, as in the case of the Canadian division of the South Africa Constabulary.

Yeomanry and Patriotic Fund.

The Executive Committee of the Patriotic Fund Association meets on Tuesday next to consider whether the Canadian Yeomanry, who are about to be despatched to South Africa, shall de admitted to the benefit fund. There has been expended, up to date, $220,000, and a balance of some $150,000 remains. Relief still continues to be granted at the rate of one beneficiary a day. The number of those who received grants in October was 25. Grants are made only after the strictest inquiry.

Canadian Killed in Action.

His Excellency, the Governor-General, has been notified of the death of another Canadian in active service in South Africa. J. Marchand was killed in action at Villiersdorp, on Nov. 20. He was serving with the second battalion, Cape Colony Railway Regiment, and hailed from Three Rivers, Quebec.

Boer Recruits From Canada.

Montreal, Dec. 2.—Mr. A. McNicholl, of Toronto, who has taken many horses to South Africa, arrived here yesterday from Durban. He says the Boers recruit their forces from men who go over in the ships from Canada and the American ports. He took over 100 and only 10 came back.

WEST HURON.

Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. M. G. Cameron Speak at Dungannon.

Dungannon, Dec. 2.—A public meeting in the interests of Hon. J. T. Garrow was held here on Friday night. The attendance was fair. The speakers of the evening was Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mr. M. G. Cameron of Goderich. Mr. Stratton was listened to attentively for upwards of two hours. The Opposition candidate was not represented at the meeting. Both speakers ably discussed the various questions and upheld the interest of the Government, and the candidate, Hon. J. T. Garrow.

Fenian Luby Dead.

New York, Dec. 2.—Thomas Clarke Luby is dead of paralysis at the home of his son James in Jersey City. Mr. Luby, who was born in Dublin in 1822, and was a Trinity College man, became a leader in the Fenian movement. In 1864 he became managing editor of The Irish People in Dublin. The paper was seized by the Government, and Mr. Luby served five years of a 20-year term for treason. He was pardoned in 1879 on condition that he remain out of the country for the succeeding 15 years.

Say Aguinaldo Is Treacherous.

Leavenworth, Kas., Dec. 2.—A letter received here says that General Chaffee has recommended that Aguinaldo be brought to this country. It is stated that he has been detected in carrying on treasonable correspondence and in trying to stir up strife. Aguinaldo is a close captive, but advices received here say Chaffee believes the leader's presence in the islands is responsible for the insurgents' recent activity.

Will Return to Work.

Susquehanna, Pa., Dec. 2.—After ten months' duration, the labor contention between the Erie Railway Co. and its striking boiler makers, employed at the shops of the company at Susquehanna and Meadville, Pa., and Hornellsville, N.Y., was Saturday afternoon amicably settled, and the men will return to work this morning. It is understood that there were concessions on both sides.

Scandal in High Life.

London, Dec. 2.—A sensational divorce suit which excites society was decided Saturday, when the Honorable Sibyl Burnaby, daughter of Lord Delamere, was granted a dissolution of her marriage with Mr. Algernon Burnaby, on grounds of his desertion and living with Lady Sophie Scott, wife of Sir Samuel Scott and daughter of Lord Cadogan, Viceroy of Ireland.

Army Reserve Organization.

Stockholm, Dec. 2. — The Swedish general staff has completed plans for the organization of an army reserve. It has divided the country into 155 districts, each furnishing one battalion consisting of four companies and containing a depot for Mauser rifles. Peace exercises will be confined to shooting. The newly organized army, including the reserves, will number 400,000.

SMALL CLERICAL STIPENDS.

Much interest was taken at the recent Church Congress at Brighton in the question of clerical stipends and their influence upon the supply of preachers. Although the Established Church has its endowments the incomes of clergymen are small, and are becoming smaller still. This condition is the result of the increasing claims upon the revenues and the decreasing receipts from land. With a largely augmented population there are more clergymen; and with smaller collections from the endowments there is less money for their support. While the Church is said to be endowed, it is only endowed in part. There are numbers of parishes formed to meet the needs of the newer sections in which the voluntary system prevails precisely as it does in this country.

One of the speakers at the congress declared that the beneficed clergymen now drew very little support from their parishes. There are 7000 of them whose income is not more than $900 a year; there are 1500 with $500 a year, and 300 with $250 a year. The diocese of Peterborough has 61 livings, each worth less than $225 a year. In the non-endowed parishes the clergy are of course worse off than in the endowed. These parishes are very poor, and as one of the bishops said, the preacher starves by the Gospel, instead of living by it. with the likelihood of a living in the church so dark, it is not possible to draw to it men of the highest intellectual gifts. To be sure many talented graduates do sacrifice themselves; but the young man, fresh from College thinks twice before taking up the clerical burden, and often the prospect of an unending struggle with poverty drives him to another profession. It stands to reason that if the Church cannot secure for itself the best talent the nation produces, its influence for good must be less potent than it ought to be. Those who are expected to direct the minds of the people, unless equal to their congregations in intellectual power, are bound to fail in their mission. The remedy, in the opinion of the congress, lies with the laity. If the laymen want a powerful clergy they ought to make it worth the while of the young man of talent to enter the church, and to spend his life in its work. The problem, as it presents itself in England, is also with us in Canada, and not in one church either. It is expected that the clergyman shall be a model man in the community. He must live in fair style, not below the average of his neighbours who are moderately well off. He must so dress his family that each member may be on an equal footing with everybody else. He must lead in charitable work and contribute to all sorts of societies, whether for the poor at home or for the heathen abroad. He must relieve distress wherever he finds it. In the current discussions he must be well up, and that his sermons may be equal to all occasions he must stock his library with the best and latest works. How many people stop to think that it costs him anything to live? The clerical stipends in this province, with a few exceptions, are ridiculously small. If the new crop of preachers is inferior in talent to the present staff the fault will rest with the laity, whose economy persuades the young man of ability to devote himself to some other calling.

It would be untrue to say that men do not look into the future and calculate their chances in the fields of effort that are open to them. Every prudent man does this, and he is right. That those who are willing to give themselves up to religious work will consent to the sacrifice when they know that they are to experience privations, while others who are moderately well-to-do refuse to recognise their services, is not to be expected. Thus instead of having the highest type of leadership obtainable we shall have the poorest, a condition that will be not only a loss to church effort, but a calamity to the country.—Mail and Empire.

The Barnardo boys have come in for a good deal of perhaps unthinking criticism on the part of certain people, who ought to be interested in learning that a paragraph in the Canadian Gazette contains the information that the "Barnardo boys in Manitoba and the Territories have started the prepaid system. Although having arrived in Canada penniless, they have made homes for themselves, and are now, out of their hardly earned wages sending the passage money to bring relatives out of poverty into plenty." They must be somewhat better than their critics.

NOTES ON FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The Powers have practically withdrawn from China, but the interest in China has not subsided. Every intelligent man, who longs for the betterment of the world, must continue to fix his attention upon a country that contains one-quarter of the world's population.

The latest and most encouraging news is that the Empress is quietly enacting the very laws she so violently suppressed a few months ago. The report is that there is to be in every Provincial Capital a college of Western education. The reformers before the outbreak, were advocating this very thing. They wanted the old heathen temples converted into schools, and colleges established, in which China could be so educated as to be able to stand beside civilized nations. The proposal startled and aroused conservative opposition, and hence the fearful havoc of last year. China has been taught by affliction. Now it seems the schools are to be established by Imperial decree.

Who are to be the teachers in these schools? China cannot for some years furnish them herself. The missionaries will be asked, indeed, have already been asked, to take charge of China's education. But the missionaries cannot turn aside from their own work. What remains but that they should ask the Home Church to send out more men? And they will. Probably never before has such an opportunity and responsibility come to the church. If we can supply Christian teachers who can take the control and give a Christian complexion to the education of China for some years, who can estimate the results?

The missionaries who were driven out of China have nearly all returned and have been kindly received by the Chinese. The native Christians rallied about them, as might be expected. These native Christians have gone through the furnace and by the discipline of affliction will be better and more consecrated men and more efficient workers amongst their own people. In that respect the Mission will be more prosperous because of what has happened.

From Central India word comes that rains have again failed. Only 16 inches of rain fell instead of the 90 inches usual in that province. As a result the crop has not been sown, and there will be no crop in March. There is fear of both bread and water famine. It may be appeals will again come for help and no doubt Canadians out of a bountiful harvest, will respond as generously as they did last year.

Even so dreadful a famine has been over-ruled to the conversion of many souls. Many thousands of children gathered during the last famine are under Christian instruction. They are also taught industrial arts by which they can support themselves. We have in this office at the present time specimens of beautiful rugs of oriental patterns woven by these children. They find a large market in England for such work.

All things are working towards the world's up-lift and evangelization.

Figures of Production and Consumption in Canada.

The Several Provinces Compared—Ontario Makes More Whiskey Than all the Rest of Canada—Quebec Smokers Head the List.

The excise returns for the Fiscal Year, ended June 30th, afford an idea as to the nature of Canada's drink bill and the extent to which alcohol and spirituous liquors are indulged in by the population. The returns denote that beer is the popular beverage among drinkers, the consumption per head amounting to 4.737 gallons, as against .765 gallons of spirits, and .1 gallons of wine. Last year the consumption per head was beer, 4.364 gallons; spirits, .701 gallons, and wines, .085 gallons.

The consumption per head of tobacco was 2.404 lbs., as against 2.3 lbs. for the previous year. Although there is less spirits than beer drunk per head of the population, it yields a far larger revenue. The revenue per head last year from spirits was $1.593, compared with $0.196 for beer, $0.048 for wine, and $0.875 for tobacco. Taking the last 33 years the average per capita consumption of spirits has been .983 gallons; of beer, 3.078 gallons; of wine. 124 gallons; and of tobacco, 2.25 lbs. The average duty paid during the same period has been on spirits, $1.132; on beer, $0.132; on wine, $0.062, and on tobacco, $0.496.

Ontario is the greatest consumer of ardent spirits of all the provinces. Quebec comes next, British Columbia is third, and Manitoba is fourth; next in order come New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Northwest Territories, and Prince Edward Island.

HEARTBURN.

Many Sufferers From This Affection Fail to see Their Real Danger Till They are Completely Laid up With Chronic Indigestion.

Heartburn is Indigestion. The food instead of being properly digested and assimulated, ferments, and lies in a sour, rotting mass in the stomach.

The consequences are always unpleasant, and a great menace to all good health.

If not corrected, Heartburn culminates in Dyspepsia or Chronic Indigestion.

It is simply a warning which should be properly heeded. Something should be done at once to correct the disordered condition of the stomach and digestive organs.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are especially designed to cure all such weaknesses. They digest the food, allowing rest and recuperation to the stomach. They correct at once all derangements. They stimulate and strengthen the action of the liver and bowels. They tone up the system, and obliterate every trace of Heartburn, Flatulency, Gas on the Stomach, Sour Stomach, or other symptoms of wrong digestive action.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more than relieve. They cure. Cure permanently and forever all Stomach Troubles.

They are 50c. a box, and are sold by all druggists.

Sufferers with Heartburn should lose no time in procuring a box of this remedy. It will cure, and by its prompt use, you may yet avert the pains of Chronic Dyspepsia. However, if you have waited too long, and have already entered the final stages, don't despair. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure you, but of course it is easier and cheaper to prevent than to cure.

EXPORT OF BACON.

The growth of the export trade in bacon from Canada has been one of the features of the commercial development of the past few years. In 1900 the total value of the pork, bacon and hams exported from Canada amounted to $645,900. At the close of the fiscal year ending June, 1901, the export trade in these same commodities has grown to the value of $11,239,590. A large portion of the increase has been from the Province of Ontario. As yet the business is one of only small dimensions in the Province of Quebec, although there does not appear to be any good reason why Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, as well as Ontario, should not have a large industry in the raising and fattening of hogs suitable for bacon for the English market. The packing houses in the Province of Quebec from which an export trade is done, cannot obtain nearly a sufficient supply of hogs to fill their orders or to keep their works running at their full capacity. The Laing Packing and Provision Company, with headquarters at Montreal, have written to the Department of Agriculture, lately saying that when they get their new packing house in Montreal completed they will require some 5000 hogs per week to keep the works running. As much as 7 1-4 cents per pound live weight has been paid for hogs during periods this year, so it will be seen that the prices are remunerative. It is necessary that the hogs for that trade should be bred suitably, and reared and fed in an economical way on such feeds as will yield the best beat qualities of bacon and hams. Hogs weighing from 160 to 200 pounds live weight when fit for market, bring the highest prices, and these are also the sort which bring the most profit to the farmer from raising and fattening them. With a view to giving farmers in the various districts in the Province of Quebec particular and helpful information in this business, the Minister of Agriculture has given orders to start a campaign of education by holding a series of meetings in the Province of Quebec during the coming winter. Mr. F. W. Hodson, live stock commissioner, has in hand the matter of arranging for a number of speakers who have been most successful in attending such meetings in the Province of Ontario.

Do You See It?

Look carefully at this little picture. There's a great deal to it. There's a lamp, that makes the heat. Right over it is the vaporizer that holds the Vapo-Cresolene. This Cresolene is a wonderful medicine. It kills most kinds of disease germs, and is a most remarkable healing agent. You simply breathe in the vapor of it, that's all; it goes all through your bronchial tubes, curing asthma, croup, coughs, catarrh, whooping-cough. 11

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

FERRY BOATS COLLIDE.

Three People Killed or Drowned and Twenty More Injured.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 2.—During the heaviest fog which occurred here for years, the ferry boats San Rafael and Sausalito, plying between this city and Sausalito, in Marin County, collided off Alcatraz Island at 6.50 o'clock Saturday evening. The former vessel was sunk. It is believed by many that fully 50 persons, mostly women and children, perished.

Three Known Missing.

Later—The number of lives lost in Saturday night's collision on the bay between the ferry boats San Rafael and Sausalito is still a matter of conjecture, and probably will never be accurately determined. So far as known, late reports say only three persons are actually known to be missing. They are W. G. Crandall, secretary of a syrup refining warehouse in this city and resident of Sausalito; George Treadway, a passenger on the San Rafael, and the three-year-old son of Mrs. Weller of Ross Valley. The officers of the sunken vessel strongly maintain that nearly all were saved. About 20 people were injured.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure all, nor a Modern Miracle but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the over-worked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give universal satisfaction.

Funeral of D. M. Decker.

Whitby, Dec. 2.—The funeral of the late Daniel Meritt Decker, governor of the county jail, took place here yesterday, and was largely attended by friends from various parts of the county. The deceased was a man of the highest integrity, and no county official was held in greater respect. He leaves a widow, two sons and a daughter.

Florence Nightingale Well.

London, Dec. 2.—The report cabled to the United States that Florence Nightingale was near death was unfounded. Florence Nightingale is well.

ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE

A Forecast of the New President's Document to Congress.

THE LATE PRESIDENT M'KINLEY

After the Reading of President Roosevelt's First Message on Tuesday a Committee Will Be Appointed by Both Houses to Act Jointly in Taking Action Re. Death of the Late President.

Washington, Dec. 2.—One of the first measures of national interest which will be introduced in the Senate at the session which begins to-day will be a resolution looking to public action concerning the death of President McKinley. This will be presented on Tuesday by either Senator Foraker or Senator Hanna, probably the former, and after its introduction the Senate will adjourn immediately as a mark of respect to the memory of the dead President. The annual message of President Roosevelt will not be received until Tuesday, and on this account the session to-day will be exceedingly brief. It is not expected that anything will be done beyond the announcement of the death of Senator Kyle, following which the Senate, in accord with custom, will adjourn for the day.

Death of McKinley.

On Tuesday the President's message will be read, and, after its reading, the announcement of the death of President McKinley will follow at once, whereupon, under the precedent established when Presidents Lincoln and Garfield died,

LATE PRESIDENT M'KINLEY.

resolutions providing for the appointment of a committee to act with a similar committee of the House of Representatives to take appropriate action relative to the matter, and then calling for immediate adjournment for the day will be adopted. Heretofore committees have been appointed to arrange the details of public exercises, and it is understood that plan will be pursued in this instance, and that later in the session some public man of distinction will be invited to deliver an eulogy in the Capitol.

Roosevelt's First Message.

Here are some of the most interesting points in the forthcoming message of President Roosevelt:

Anarchy—A vigorous plea to Congress to pass laws that will meet this great and growing danger.

Trusts—The President is in favor of greater publicity. Overcapitalization, dishonest representations and disregard to the common law are condemned, and the President denounces many of the methods used by promoters of trusts. It is a warning of stringent laws to come if these abuses are not discontinued.

Reciprocity—He advocates the principle of reciprocal trade relations, but makes no special recommendations. He advocates a reduction of sugar duties from Cuba in return for the admission of commodities from the United States at lower rates of duties than now charged. The arrangement is to go into effect when the new Cuban Government is established.

Tariff—Mr. Roosevelt is in favor of letting the tariff rest without revision for the present.

Foreign relations—Our relations with other powers are stated to be friendly, and the President lays great stress on the purpose of his administration to continue them. He shows himself to be a firm believer in the Monroe Doctrine and points to its adherence by foreign powers. He speaks strongly in favor of the ratification of the pending treaty with Great Britain.

Nicaragua Canal— The President hopes to see action taken that will start the work on lines laid down by the Canal Commission.

Ship Subsidy—The President is impressed with the desirability of building up the merchant marine, but does not mention the word subsidy and leaves the matter to Congress.

Chinese Exclusion—The re-enactment of the Chinese Exclusion law is advocated, and early action is urged, because the act expires in May.

Navy—Larger appropriations for the navy are asked, and it is pointed out that the enlarged responsibilities of the nation makes greater speed in expanding the navy imperative.

Internal Movements—For the first time appropriations for irrigation and the reclamation of desert lands are suggested. Appropriations, limited to necessities, are bespoken for the improvement of the rivers and harbors.

THE PRESIDENT YELLED

As He Went Over the Football Fence at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—Theodore Roosevelt, the President of the United States, leaped a fence on Saturday, while 25,000 persons cheered until they couldn't see straight.

It wasn't much of a fence—a boy could have cleared it—but it was the motive back of the act that made the hit with the crowd.

The two great branches of the National Government, the army and navy, were battling for supremacy on the football field of old Penn. The army finally won by a score of 11 to 5 by the prowess of a young man named Daly, and when the young man, who is the chief of both of these great arms of the Government, found the fence an obstruction to his better view of the contest he leaped it.

The spectacle of a President of the United States, silk hat in hand, leaping a fence and cheering like mad is not seen every fine afternoon, and Philadelphia is making the most of it.

A half-dozen Philadelphia police captains and nearly half a thousand Philadelphia policemen had massed themselves around the President and his party. Secret service men by the dozen were all over the place. Everybody had done everything that it was up to him to do except one young man in the Annapolis team. This young man had been attending strictly to business, when suddenly the ball was shot into his hands, and his fellows opened up a hole in the army line big enough for the cruiser Brooklyn to make her famous loot in. Through this hole the young man darted, and made what everybody allowed was a star play. It was too much for President Roosevelt.

He was no longer the dignified guider of a great nation's fortunes. He was a robust, exuberant boy again, and, with a yell that was distinguishable above all the pandemonium there, he sprang from his seat, leaped the little fence in front of him and was on the side lines. The action caught the crowd, and was the most striking incident of the game.

SAID ROOSEVELT SHOULD BE SHOT.

A Man Arrested in Philadelphia for Uttering Anarchistic Sentiments.

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—Late Saturday night the police admitted having arrested a man during that afternoon for uttering Anarchistic sentiments concerning President Roosevelt. The prisoner gave his name as William H. Miller. He is said to have made the statement that President Roosevelt "Should be shot down as McKinley was." A revolver is said to have been found in his possession. Miller says he is a Swede.

A Great Increasing Army.

composed of men and women that spend heart and soul in the vain effort to overcome a lack of vigour in the body. To replace inertia by vigour, to make good, red blood that will build up the system, to have strong nerves, you must eat more, digest more, assimilate more. How can it be done? By using Ferrozone. It invigorates, strengthens, possesses magical health giving powers. Get Ferrozone to-day and make yourself strong and well. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Will Reach Pekin Jan. 10.

Pekin, Nov. 29.—A telegram received here to-day from Kaifengfu states that the Empress Dowager, the Emperor and the Imperial court will leave for Pekin, as arranged, on Dec. 3, but expect to make numerous stops en route. The Imperial authorities have notified the Pekin officials that the court will enter the capital Jan. 10.

The British, German and French private claims, as well as those of other nations, have been passed by their various governments, but Americans, who suffered losses during the late insurrection, complain bitterly that, although their claims were sent to Washington a year ago, no word has been received concerning their adjustment.

Home Rule Delayed.

London, Nov. 30.—Sir Edward Grey, M.P., speaking at Glasgow Thursday night, declared that the country had been greatly shaken by what had happened during the South African war, and that it was only honest to tell the Irish members of Parliament he believed it was impossible to repeat the Home Rule experiment of 1892. Sir Edward expressed his conviction that no Liberal Government, dependent on the Irish vote, could do what the Irish people demanded.

Miles of Country submerged.

London, Nov. 30.—A remarkable tidal wave, accompanied by strong winds, has done much damage along the eastern coast of England, from Norfolk to Kent. Rivers have overflowed their banks, dams and sea walls have been invaded, and miles of country have been submerged.

The Liver at the Bottom.

The liver is usually at the bottom of a great many diseases. It is the liver which abstracts the bile. It is the bile, which enters chemically into the composition of the digestive ferments, and also acts as a cathartic. Merrill's System Tonic makes a strong, healthy, active liver, hence it is a positive cure for Dyspepsia, Constipation and Nervous Troubles. 50 pleasant-to-take doses, 50 cents, sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

The King's Colonials.

London, Nov. 29.—King Edward has consented that the regiment of colonials which, with the permission of Mr. Brodrick, the Secretary of State for War, Col. Wallace is raising in commemoration of the colonial troops who fought with the British regulars in South Africa, and which is to be named the Fourth City of London Imperial Yeomanry shall bear the additional title of the King's Colonials.

Greatest Show Ever Held.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Thirty-six exhibitors, with more than 2,000 animals, have just added their quota to the list of exhibits for the International Live Stock Association show, which is to be held at the Union Stock Yards next week. More than 10,000 animals will be on exhibition, and the money value of these prize animals is approximately $3,000,000. It will be the greatest show of the kind ever held.

How Poor Turkey Is.

Athens, Nov. 30.—The Turkish transport Ismyr, from Kiel, where she embarked the sailors of the warship Fuad, now under repair in that port, has arrived at the Piraeus. The poverty that reigns on board the ship is so great that the crew has been, and is being, fed on bread and olives only. From Genoa to the Piraeus the voyage was made under sail there being no coal on board.

A Great Mistake.

The old idea of taking blood thinning compounds in order to purify the blood, is an error, as the system is thus left in a vitiated condition. Merrill's System Tonic not only purifies the blood in a thorough manner, but the iron contained in it again enriches the blood leaving one with a lot of good rich red blood. So pleasant to take doses 50c at Ormond & Walsh's pharmacy.

Obituary.

Mrs. Rebecca Hartley, relict of the late Henry Hartley, died at the Protestant Home, where she has resided for the past year, at the age of 84 years. She leaves three sons and one daughter. The sons are Wm., and Chas., of town, and David of Toronto, and the daughter is Margaret, of town.

Took a Fall.

Yesterday Master Frank Gibson, son of Mr. John Gibson, was taking in the sights at the Cordage Co's buildings. When walking across the joists he missed his footing and fell to the flat below. While there were no bones broken young Gibson received a bad shaking up, and internal injuries are feared. At the present time he is doing nicely.

Called off.

Manager R. H. Bradburn, of the opera house, this morning received notice from the "Brace of Partridge Company" now in Montreal, stating that Mr. Reeve-Smith the star of the company was taken suddenly ill and taken to the hospital and the engagement for Wednesday night here has been cancelled. A date will be secured later.

TO-MORROW'S MEETING

When the Matter of Sugar Beets and Beet Sugar Will be Discussed.

The members of the various bodies concerned are asked to bear in mind the joint meeting which will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, of the County Council, the Town Council, the Ashburnham Council, the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, and the Peterborough Board of Trade, for the purpose of discussing the establishment of a sugar beet industry in Peterborough. A representative of a beet sugar company will be present and will give information as to the inducements that his firm would require. As the sugar beet industry is a subject of much importance it is earnestly hoped that there will be a representative meeting.

EVANGELIST C. W. WALDEN.

He Will Conduct a Series of Meetings.

The Service Last Evening in St. Andrew's Church—A Very Earnest and Impressive Speaker.

Evangelist Walden, who comes to Peterborough very highly recommended, opened a series of meetings at St. Andrew's church yesterday, when he delivered the sermon at the evening service. Judging him by his discourse, Mr. Walden is not of the sensational type of evangelists which raves and rants and eventually rouses a considerable amount of antagonism in the various centres visited. His strength as a special pleader appears to be in his power of reasoning and in the strong, clear, vivid deductions he draws from the texts of scripture which he selects for purposes of illustration. He is a fluent orator and has a very pleasing form of address. His earnest words last evening held the close interest of a very large congregation to a degree which must have proven eminently satisfactory to the speaker, as well as to those who were instrumental in bringing him to Peterborough.

Preluding his sermon, Mr. Walden addressed a few words to the congregation regarding his work, stating that he came amongst them knowing only "Jesus Christ and Him Crucified." He asked those who were professed Christians to support him in his work and give him their co-operation. Nothing could be accomplished unless all worked as one.

The text was taken from Matthew 7th chapter, 16th verse. "Ye shall know them by their fruits." All, the speaker claimed, were walking in one of two ways, and all were serving one of two masters, although in the present day it would almost seem that a third class existed. Many are apparently professed Christians and would appear to be within the pale of discipline and yet they gave no evidence of being disciples—they are doing no active work for the Master.

The scriptures speak of the good fruit and of the evil fruit. There are only two kinds of trees mentioned; that bearing good fruit and that bearing corrupt fruit. So all mankind can be compared with one of these two trees and every one of them bears either of the two kinds of fruit.

Man in his natural state, explained the speaker, is as a corrupt tree bearing evil fruit. No matter what profession is made unless we come to the feet of Jesus Christ we remain as the corrupt tree.

Repentance to salvation is necessary. Repentance is not enough. Judas was repentant. The true fruit bearer brought souls to Christ. "He who is not with Me is against Me." There is a marked difference between "profession" and "possession."

Services will be conducted by Evangelist Walden for the next two weeks in connection with St. Andrew's church.

PERSONALS.

Mr. W. Ferguson has returned from a trip to Lindsay.

Mrs. Jas. McCreary is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Graham, Lindsay.

Miss Jessie Fairweather's condition is still considered very critical.

The many friends of Mr. David Knox will regret to learn that his condition is quite serious.

Miss Mary Goldsmith has returned to Belleville after a very pleasant month's visit with Miss Ada McBain.

Mr. J. G. Whiten, of McMaster University, assisted Rev. J. Bastow at the morning service in the Murray street Baptist church yesterday.

Miss Fannie Dixon has returned to Chicago, after spending a month or so in town with friends. Mrs. Jas. H. Dixon left on Friday for Chicago.

Lindsay Post: "Mrs. John Mclan, of Peterborough, was in town for a few days this week, the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. Campbell, Victoria ave."

Mr. J. L. Travers, one of the most popular grip men on the road, is now identified with H. M. Dinning & Co., of coffee fame. He is in town for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morgan, Brown street, Ashburnham, accompanied by Miss Susan Shields, of Ban Bridge, Ireland, are visiting friends in Hastings and Trenton.

Miss Carpenter, of Collingwood, who is attending Toronto University, was in town for a few days, the guest of Mrs. Dr. Eastwood, Brock street. She returned to Toronto to-day. Miss Carpenter is a sister of Mr. Carpenter, of the T.V.C. engineering staff, who is at present confined in the Nicholls Hospital with typhoid fever.

The marriage of Miss Jessie Dickson, of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, to Mr. Pope, of the Ontario Bank is arranged to take place on Monday, the 9th of December, at 4.15 in the afternoon. The bride and bridegroom leave immediately afterwards for New York, whence they will sail for Europe by the Oceanic.

TWO BROKEN ARMS.

Mrs. Bateson and Mrs. Jory Fell Fell on the Pavement Last Week.

Mrs. Wm. Bateson, of Baliheboro, was in town on Saturday and had the misfortune to break her arm. Mrs. Bateson was coming down George street and when about in front of E. F. Mason & Co's grocery, she slipped and fell with the above mentioned unfortunate result. Dr. Greer attended Mrs. Bateson and set the broken arm.

Mrs. Joseph Jory, who lives at No. 142 Murray street, had the misfortune to fall on the pavement on Thanksgiving Day and break her arm.

FOUND IN THE ICE.

Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald Found a Deer in White Lake.

On Friday last Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald was paying a visit to his wood camps in the vicinity of White Lake. When coming down the lake just near the mouth of the river, Mr. Fitzgerald and two residents of the back country found a deer frozen in the ice. The poor animal had evidently been crossing the lake at this point and went through. It failed to get on the surface again and died, no doubt, from exhaustion. The deer was chopped out of its position and taken to the shanties.

GOLF.

It is told of a Boston woman that she put all her furs and woollens away last spring with what she thought were moth balls. She took them out the other day and they were in perfect condition. The woman was fond of her housewifely skill.

The son of the family, poking around the house for something, found a number of golf balls that he had been looking for all summer.

"Where have these been?" he asked his mother.

"In the trunks and boxes in the storeroom, of course," said his mother. "Do you think I use moth balls for ornaments?"

The son, being a model young man, said no more. "I hadn't the heart to disillusion her," he told his father. But the father is not a model, and that's why her friends are laughing over one good wife's keeping away moths by Christian Science methods.

DIED IN MICHIGAN.

Demise of Mrs. J. J. McKnight, Sister of Mr. Thos. C. Irwin of This Town.

The following obituary appears in the Brown City, Michigan, Daily Banner, of the 29th November:—

"Mrs. John J. McKnight, who has suffered for nearly two years, passed peacefully away as one entering a peaceful sleep, at her home on 68 Main street Saturday, Nov. 23, at 3.30 p.m., and in her death her children lose a kind, devoted, Christian mother, the husband a loving, honoured companion and the village and community, a true friend, a kind and obliging neighbour and an exemplary christian character, worthy the emulation of all.

"She was a lady extremely devoted to her home and family, ever willing to sacrifice her own comfort and pleasure to make those comfortable and happy about her. She was kind to everybody and it is doubtful if she had a single enemy in the whole circle of her acquaintances.

The funeral was held from the M. E. church Tuesday last at 2 p.m., and was largely attended, Rev. D. L. Schultz officiated, assisted by Rev. J. W. Turner. The remains were interred in Brown City cemetery.

"Deceased was born in Cavanville, Ont., her maiden name being Elizabeth Irwin, and at the time of her death was 55 years, 9 months and 25 day old. She was united in marriage to John J. McKnight 31 years ago. Four children were born to them as follows:—Robert J., Thomas O., William and Jennie, the three last named being single and at home. Jennie, the youngest, being 21 years of age. Deceased with her husband came to Michigan in 1851, locating at White Hall and later at Blain, St. Clair county, coming to Brown City in 1887 where for the past fourteen years she has by her kind and foregoing spirit, her many acts of kindness and love to those about her, her ever willing heart and helping hand in the homes of the afflicted in the village, endeared herself to her friends as few others have done.

"Besides a husband and the children above named, she leaves to mourn, three brothers and one sister as follows:—Thos. C. Irwin, of Peterborough. Robert, of Millbrook. John of Chatham and Mrs. Samuel Row of Port Hope. Ont., the first named being present at the funeral. The deceased became a christian when a young woman and joined the M. E. church at Millbrook, Ont., and remained a member of that church till death.

"The family have the most sincere sympathy of the whole village in this their hour of sorest affliction."

Card of Thanks.

The committe of the "Clachan Spiore," or Scottish Merry-Making, held on Thanksgiving Day, desire to express their sincere thanks to the patrons of the event, who attended in such large numbers, as well as for their hearty appreciation of the entertainment.

In view of such encouragement, it is the wish of the committee to make the "Clachan Spiore" an anual event—except when any of the Scottish Societies decide to celebrate St. Andrew's Day in a more formal manner—and thus afford an opportunity to the ladies and young people, as well as gentlemen, to participate in the pleasures of this anniversary occasion.

MR. OSBORNE ON TEMPERANCE

In Murray Street Baptist Church Last Night.

An Interesting Address From the Text "By Their Fruits ye Shall Know Them.—Earnest Appeal Made.

Mr. W. J. Osborne, of Bloomfield, Prince Edward County, an organiser for the Royal Templars of Temperance, is in town for a short time in the interests of his Order, and last night delivered a very earnest address in Murray street Baptist church on the "Evil of Intemperance." Mr. Osborne is an able speaker and has a ready grasp of the temperance situation of the country. His remarks last night were attentively listened to and were of much interest.

Rev. J. Bastow, in introducing the speaker, said that Mr. Osborne had done a great deal of work in the cause of temperance, and he felt that his address on this occasion would be of value to all. Rev. Mr. Bastow also remarked that Canada to-day stood first in the matter of temperance and he had reason to hope that it would continue to improve.

Mr. Osborne said that he had been sent out by the Royal Templars of Temperance to speak on the matter of temperance and his address to-night was the first in the present campaign. He took for his text, St. Matthew, 7 chapter, 20th verse. "Wherefore by their Fruits ye shall know them."

In the course of his remarks the speaker went on to show that this was a practical age, when questions were being examined from a practical point of view. It is a well-known fact that no society or State can be higher in moral stantard or otherwise than the average of the people who go to make up that society or Nation. The individual is the unit of the State.

Continuing with his discourse the speaker took for reference, the Evangelical church of the present day. What, he asked, are its fruits? If we apply the test to the church we will find that we cannot very well do without it as it keeps alive in the world a knowledge of God. Take away the church and we would soon go back to heathendom and insecurity of life and property. Churches and church influence makes the land what it is to-day, and judged by its fruits it has a right to stand and should not be hewn down. The same may be said of the schools of our country, as the members of the various professions and those engaged in various lines of business can testify.

The manufacturing industries of our country might be examined, and the test applied to them, and the result would invariably be that they are necessary. What about the liquor traffic of the country? Go to the palatial saloon, and ask the man behind the bar if his customers have been improved financially, morally, or physically during the past five years. The answer will be that they have not. Is his customer better fit for society? He is not. The forty millions of money spent each year on liquor in Canada might just as well be thrown into the fire. The money is drunk. There is no value for it; you cannot replace it. The speaker pointed to the downfall of ancient empires, which was brought about by the use of strong drink by the people. The same thing will happen to our own country, unless we take immediate steps to stamp it out.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. Robt. A Robertson and Miss Mary Armstrong.

On the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 27th, a quiet and pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. S. Hunter, Cavan, when Miss Mary Armstrong, daughter of Mr. David Armstrong, Millbrook, was united in marriage to Robert A. Robertson.

To the strains of a wedding march played by Miss Hamill, the bride entered the room, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The groom was assisted by Mr. A. Laing, and the bride was supported by her sister, Miss Annie Armstrong. The bride was becomingly attired in castor ladies' cloth, with chiffon and applique trimming. The bridesmaid was dressed in brown ladies' cloth, with pink trimming. The bride carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, and the bridesmaid one of pink.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. Johnston, of Millbrook, the assembled guests partook of a tempting wedding dejeuner, and shortly afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Robertson left for their future home in Springville.

The handsome presents received testified to the high esteem in which the bride was held. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson unite in wishing them a happy and prosperous life.

SEARCHING FOR OIL.

PERSEVERANCE OF THE MAN WHO SET TO WORK TO FIND IT.

Edward L. Drake and His First Well in Pennsylvania—Reduced at One Time by His Experiments to Absolute Poverty.

Edward L. Drake was a man of one idea, but he managed to use it to such advantage that he added $2,000,000,000 to the industrial wealth of the United States. He was the man who drilled the first oil well in Pennsylvania. A handsome tomb in Woodlawn cemetery in Titusville is the final resting place of the remains of Colonel Drake.

The actual story of the first oil well has never, in my opinion, been told.

Fragments of the truth have been given, with additions of more or less romantic error, and there have been many stories published which have been entirely false. I have endeavored in this article to relate only facts which can be vouched for, and in the task of digging them up I am indebted to J. A. Mather and M. N. Allen of Titusville for much valuable assistance.

One bright spring morning in the year 1857 a tall, dark bearded man wearing the uniform of a railway conductor appeared at the office of Eveleth & Bissell at New Haven and purchased 500 shares of stock in a newly organized company having for its object the gathering and sale of oil in western Pennsylvania. Along the banks of Oil creek crude petroleum had been found, and the excitement was still high when the New Haven capitalists organized their company.

Rock oil, or coal oil, as it is sometimes erroneously called, was obtained from natural springs or from broad trenches dug in oil bearing soil. These trenches were from four to six feet deep and were allowed to fill with oil and water that oozed from the soil. The oil, being lighter than the water, rose to the top and was absorbed in woolen blankets especially made for the purpose, a practice borrowed from the Indians, who had long used petroleum as a liniment. Another process was known as "dipping." The oil and water were dipped from trenches into tubs, and when gravity had separated the two liquids the oil was skimmed off or else the water was drawn by means of a vent in the bottom of the tub.

Mr. Drake believed that if he could pierce the rock stratum that lay below the soil of the company's land oil would gush forth. He was firmly convinced that a subterranean lake of oil existed beneath the rockbed.

His conviction was based on study. Geological formations had ever proved fascinating to him, and he had spent much of his spare time when a farmer's helper in pursuing this line of inquiry. He was lacking in scientific training only.

Convincing the officers of the new oil company that there was "something" in his plan of boring for oil, he went to the district supplied with $1,000 for experiments.

He ordered a steam engine and after much difficulty secured the services of an experienced salt well driller. The arrival of the engine was long delayed, and after waiting for several weeks the driller, believing that the colonel was a sear of visions, refused to have anything to do with the enterprise. Thus the summer were away without any new developments. The company lost faith in Drake and his idea and refused to advance any more money.

Titusville people had begun to believe that Drake was a monomaniac. He seemed to live on his one idea. Boys in the street jeered him and men tapped their foreheads with their fingers as he passed.

Early in the winter his money gave out, and credit was refused him at the village shops. He faced absolute poverty and barely supported his family by doing odd jobs. He kept a strong heart, however, and his faith in the final outcome of his project remained unshaken.

Early in the spring of 1859 he succeeded in convincing two friends, R. D. Fletcher and Peter Wilson of Titusville, of the soundness of his idea, and they provided him with sufficient capital to renew his experiment.

He secured the services of William Smith and his two sons of Tarentum, who were practical salt well drillers. They brought with them a complete outfit of tools.

The soil along the banks of Oil creek was porous and water soaked, and as fast as the hole was made the soil crumbled, and the well filled with mud. No progress could be made. Although work was at a standstill for a number of days, Drake's ingenuity soon showed itself, and after many costly experiments he finally hit upon a plan to overcome the difficulty. He secured cast iron pipes six inches in diameter and endeavored to drive them into the ground. The pipes, being too light, were soon shattered by blows from a battering ram which he devised. There was another vexatious delay, and finally a thicker piping was secured in lengths of ten feet. These were readily driven into the soft earth, one pipe on top of another, until they came in contact with the rock. Drake had solved the problem.

On Thursday, Aug. 25, the drill began to pound through solid rock, and on the following Saturday it found its way into a crevice in the stratum, and the tools were withdrawn. Indications on the bit showed the presence of oil, but the well was not a "gusher," as Drake expected. Though disappointed, he waited a couple of hours for the well to flow. It was only sixty-nine feet deep. He intended to drill deeper. Smith lived in a shanty not far from the well, and early Sunday morning he went on an errand to the toolhouse, near the derrick, when he beheld a sight that brought joy to his heart. The long sought for amber fluid was bubbling over the piping of the well, saturating the floor of the derrick and soaking into the ground. Crude petroleum was worth over a dollar a gallon at that time, and Smith was wild over the waste.—John McDraw, Jr., in Success.

are the most reliable remedy for any form of kidney complaint. They drive away pains and aches, make women healthy and happy—able to enjoy life to the fullest.

Mrs. C. H. Gillespie, 204 Britain Street, St. John, N.B., says:

"I had severe kidney trouble for which I doctored with a number of the best physicians in St. John, but received little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use. Before taking them I could not stoop to tie my shoes, and at times suffered such torture that I could not turn over in bed without assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills have rescued me from this terrible condition, and removed every pain and ache."

DEATH OF LORD AYLMER.

An Aged and Public-spirited Citizen of Richmond, Que.

Richmond, Que., Dec. 2.—The Rt. Hon. Adolphus Low Aylmer, seventh Baron of Balrath, died here Friday in his eighty-eighth year. The funeral takes place at 1 o'clock to-day.

Lord Aylmer was the second son of the late Capt. John Athalmer Aylmer, R.N., and was born in 1814. He came to Canada with his father, during the Governorship of the fifth Lord Aylmer, and served in the militia during the rebellion of 1837, later becoming Lieut. Col. of the 54th Richmond Batt., from which he retired, retaining rank, in 1894. He was a public-spirited citizen and always took a deep interest in agriculture.

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—Hon. Matthew Aylmer, Adjutant-General, Saturday morning received a telegraphic message acquainting him of the death of his father, Lord Aylmer. The Adjutant, being the eldest son of the deceased, assumes the title. The new Lord Aylmer has started for home to attend his father's funeral.

WHAT ARE PILES.

Ask Scores of People Who Endure the Wretched Itching, Burning Sensations of Piles and do not Know the Nature of Their Disease or the Remedy to Apply.

Piles or hemorrhoids, as they are sometimes called, are small tumors which form in and about the orifice of the rectum. They are caused by an enlarged and inflamed condition of the veins, which are very numerous in this part of the body. Internal piles are situated along the veins which carry blood from the intestines to the liver; external piles, on the veins which surround the rectum.

Piles are of frequent occurrence among people who have a predisposition to rheumatism or gout. Such persons are subject to constipation and to obstruction in the passage of blood from the intestines, the most common form of piles. Congestion of the rectum, bladder and uterine organs, ovarian tumors and nearly all diseases of the liver are followed by piles, and they are very liable to appear during pregnancy and immediately after childbirth.

In bleeding piles the hemorrhage is sometimes so profuse as to cause death, but protruding piles are probably more dreaded because it is believed that nothing short of a surgical operation will cure them. As a rule every form of piles becomes at times acutely inflamed and extremely painful. The itching and burning usually increases at night, and the misery which many people endure is beyond description.

The magical power which Dr. Chase's Ointment has over each and every kind of piles gives it mastery over this disease, even in its chronic form and it is not unusual to hear of it curing where cruel, expensive and dangerous operations have failed.

There is no guesswork about Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles. It has been tried in the crucible of time, and gradually won its way into favor with the medical profession, as well as with the public in general. It has a wonderful soothing and healing effect, and whenever applied to burning, itching, inflamed skin, it affords almost instant relief, cooling the fires of disease and healing the raw ulcerous skin.

As your friends and neighbours about Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is recognized by a surprisingly large number of people as the only actual cure for piles. It will not fail you. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or by mail postpaid on receipt of price, by Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

"A handsome and useful Christmas present for your mother or grandmother is a copy of Dr. Chase's last and complete Receipt Book. Illustrated folder free."

THE NEGRO'S ADORATION.

His Love For a Steamboat Outdoes His Regard For a Mule.

"The negro's relation to the steamboat is peculiar," said an old steamboat man recently, "and my experience of twenty-five years or more on the Mississippi has convinced me that the negro has a much deeper love for the steamboat than he has for anything else on earth, except something that will satisfy his physical craving. The negro's devotion to the steamboat is really pathetic. There is a popular but erroneous belief that there is a strong affinity existing between the negro and the mule. The negro likes the mule, of course, and he can generally get more out of the mule than the white man, and I sometimes believe the mule looks upon the white man as being responsible for his place in nature and the many unhappy burdens he is forced to bear. But, getting back to the negro and the steamboat, the black man seems to have almost deified the boat.

"Go down on the levee or go to any steamboat landing along the rivers of the south and watch the negro when the boat arrives. From the very time the whistle sounds until the bell clangs to pull in the lines he is an abject but happy worshiper of the boat. The negro who has absolutely nothing to do with the boat, who has not even the remotest connection with the vessel, will delight in doing things to help the boat along and to see that she maintains her reputation for fleetness and reliability on the river. They do these things without any hope of reward. They do it just for the satisfaction of doing it. They do it out of pure love for the boat. If the boat happens to be a good speeder, she becomes the idol of the negroes along the river and in the territory where she runs, and really the roustera take more pride in the fleetness of the boat than the owners and would probably fight quicker if any man should be indiscreet enough to cast some slight aspersion upon the boat's good name.

"I have seen negroes at the way landings who actually took great pleasure in handling the ropes used in holding the boat to the landing, and they would work like Trojans when it came to hauling the line out, or hauling it in, as we say on the river. And there is another curious fact about the negro and the steamboat. The negro who works on a steamboat believes he is better socially than his less fortunate brothers who are forced to toil along other lines. There is a sort of black steamboat aristocracy, with the black man in the highest position in the service as a leader of the clan. Man, in his ingenuity, may go on devising steam engines that thunder across the land and huge and wonderful electric motors and automobiles and bicycles and all that sort of thing, but the steamboat that floats up and down the river is the thing for the black man."

Why Catarrhozone Cures Catarrh.

It goes to every affected part and kills the germs that keep up the diseased condition. Catarrhozone never irritates but stimulates the mucous lining of the nose, throat and lungs to normal action and keeps the nasal passages free from offensive discharges. Catarrhozone contains no dangerous drugs or opiates, and is delightfully pleasant and simple to use. Catarrhozone is an absolutely sure cure for any form of catarrh, and sells for one dollar at druggists; small size 25c. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston.

The Mistake of the Polar Bear.

Nordenskjold found that the white bears generally went through a long performance of stalking his sailors, clearly on the mistaken conclusion that they were seals. As the men were clothed partly in sealskin, it was a very natural mistake. But the interest of the story lies in the generalisation made by the bear. The bear said:

"There are two or three seals, one standing up on its flippers in a very unusual way. I will therefore stalk them unseen as long as I can and when they see me pretend to be doing something else."

So the men, with their guns and lances, who wanted to shoot the bear had the pleasure of seeing him carefully crawling behind rocks and ice hummocks, making long detours this way and that and every now and then clambering up a rock and peeping cautiously over to see if the seals had gone. On the open snow the bear would saunter off in another direction and then, falling flat, push himself along on his belly, with his great front paws covering his black muzzle, the only thing not matching the snow about him. Just as the bear thought he had got his "seal" the latter fired and shot him, a victim of false analogy. —Spectator.

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Reason For Growling.

"Why not?"

"Well, de last time I searched in de dark I ate a lot of dog biscuits an got de hydrophobia from bearin myself bark."

A Good Breakfast.

A good breakfast is the physical basis of a day's work, says The Medical Brief. The American breakfast, regarded with so much horror on the European continent, has contributed largely to make the nation what it is today. It enabled our forefathers to do an amount of work which it appalls foreigners to contemplate.

A Long Way Off.

An interesting calculation has been made by a French geologist to the effect that, taking into consideration the wear and tear on the solid land by ocean washing, rivers, wind and weather and leaving out of the calculation volcanic action, the world will in 4,500,000 years be completely under water and no dry land exist at all.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $180 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

A DOMESTIC COMEDY.

THE VARIED RESULTS OF REARRANGING THE FURNITURE.

Mrs. Blank's Mania For Changing the Appearance of the Rooms Brought Trouble to the Male Contingent and Sorrow to Herself.

"Do you change the position of the furniture when you clean a room?" inquired housewife No. 1 of a friend in the course of a heart to heart talk.

"Do I? Why, yes, indeed! I don't feel as if the room is cleaned unless I change the furniture a little bit. Do you?"

"Well, I usually change the ornaments around and so forth, but in the spring and fall I like to change everything in a room—completely alter the whole appearance of it. Then I fancy the things are all new, and they seem to look prettier somehow. But, do you know, my husband doesn't like it at all!"

"Neither does mine! Isn't that singular? Men are so peculiar!"

"Yes, indeed they are!"

So many housekeepers share the views of these two that a story with a moral will not be out of place.

It was the other night only that Mr. Blank went unsuspiciously up stairs to bed at an unusually early hour, leaving his wife reading in the sitting room. He had a headache and carried a goblet of water in his right hand. Fearlessly advancing into the dark bedroom Mr. Blank suddenly felt both legs violently cut from under him. He clutched wildly at the air and said several things of an exclamatory nature, but there was nothing to save him. He went down.

"Good gracious, Henry!" ejaculated Mrs. Blank, hurrying to the scene of disaster. "What is the matter? Where are you? Why don't you light the gas?" Suiting the action to the word, she beheld her husband sprawling across the bed; the glass he had carried had discharged its contents across the pillows and shivered on the floor.

Mr. Blank did the talking for the next ten minutes. He said that of all the blankety blank folly of which the mind could conceive this of changing furniture around was the worst. He said it was a pretty thing for a man to walk into his own room and have to fall over things in the dark. He said he wouldn't stand it; the furniture must be replaced where it formerly stood.

"I won't do anything of the kind," replied Mrs. Blank. "It looks very much nicer where it is. Why don't you feel where you are going when you get into a dark room?"

"S'pose you'd like me to crawl in on all fours!" snarled Mr. Blank. "I couldn't feel where the bed was unless I happened to touch the footboard. I thought I could walk clear over to the bureau. I tell you it's a confounded crank you have on this subject. Some day you'll precipitate a serious accident."

"If any one precipitates, it'll be you, I should think," retorted Mrs. Blank icily. And the furniture remained where it was.

It was the next evening that Master Blank undertook to carry a pile of schoolbooks from the dining room to the sitting room. He had a bottle of ink in his hand, and he thought he knew exactly where the center table was. In the course of his peregrinations in search of it, however, he came into violent collision with the glass door of the bookcase, which he broke. There were also inky traces discernible on the carpet when Mrs. Blank came in. This time there was some balm for her feelings. She could spank Master Blank and did it with the best will in the world.

Her own downfall was not long in coming, however, although for a few days only minor inconveniences were met with, such as the abrasion of ankles against chair rockers and slight bruises received by means of sudden contact with unforeseen obstacles. Last evening Mrs. Blank undertook to transfer the cage of her pet parrot from the window where it spends the day to the snug corner where it passes the night. She did not trouble to light the gas, and by some unaccountable mental lapse she had forgotten the precise point at which a tabouret, on which stood a jardiniere, was stationed. She charged into the tabouret with considerable force, was overbalanced by the weight of the cage in her arms and took a header with a resounding crash. The parrot shrieked, and, unable to distinguish friend from foe, inflicted a severe bite on her mistress' finger. Mr. Blank came in hurriedly, picked up his wife and assisted in making an inventory of sundry contusions. Then they lifted the parrot cage, badly bent, and the jardiniere with a piece chipped out of it and the tabouret somewhat scratched, and then Mr. Blank observed quietly:

"I have just one thing to ask you, Mrs. Blank. Was I right?"

"No, you were not!" retorted Mrs. Blank savagely. "Serious accident? What's serious about this, I should like to know? For goodness' sake, Henry, don't stand there trying to look like a martyr! If you must have the furniture moved back, I'll move it!" And she did.

Preoccupation.

"Why do you speak so slightingly of that eminent scientist?"

"I didn't mean to speak slightingly of him," answered the young man with the striped shirt front, "but it does seem peculiar to me that a man who knows just when the next comet will arrive and just how far it is to the moon should be so utterly ignorant when it comes to a question of when it's time for dinner or what train to take to get to the nearest town."—Boston Traveler.

How Strong Are You?

The dial of the punching machine won't answer that question. Strength depends on nutrition. When the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the body fails to receive its full supply of nourishment and hence grows weak. That is why no man is stronger than his stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition. The food eaten is then perfectly digested and assimilated and the body is made strong in the only possible way—by nutrition.

"I was troubled with indigestion for about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Juliaetta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW.

More than a thousand years ago—
Shadows of time, how the days go by—
There was a man I used to know—
May seem strange, but you'll see it's so
After I tell you the reason why—
Worked in a brickyard, same as you
And all of us have to do;
Mixed in the trouble and worry and strife,
The mirth and the other things of life;
Stirred in the hopes and the pains and fears,
Kneaded the mud with his sweat and his tears;
Humanest man that ever you saw.
"Poor brick!" said the man, "but I have no straw!"

Up to his knees in the miry pit,
A pygmy's way, but a giant's grit;
His back was a chain of throbbing aches,
Lifting the mold with its earthen cakes;
Elbows rusty as hinges of steel,
Knees so lame he could hardly kneel;
Mud so stiff it would clog a plow
And couldn't be stirred with a wheel nohow;
Nights as short as the days were long;
Nothing seemed right, but everything wrong.
"Best I can do," said the man; "but, pshaw,
You can't make brick when you have no straw."

Taskmasters pitiless lashed the man.
"Can't!" sobbed Weakness, but Courage cried, "Can!"
"Don't!" said Despair, but Duty cried, "Do!"
"All right," said the man, "I'll worry her through!
Can't do much, and I reckon you'll see
Brick won't be just what they ought to be;
Ain't nigh so good as I know I could make
If I just had straw; but you'll have to take
The best I can do for the work's own sake."

He finished his tale of brick and then Went home to rest, and the sons of men
Looked on his perfect work and saw
He'd have spoiled the brick had he put in straw
—Robert J. Burdette.

Queen Victoria's Direct Heirs.

Queen Victoria had seventy-four direct heirs, and when the revenues of her estate are distributed among them no one will receive a very large amount, although she was a very rich woman. She had nine children, of whom six survive; forty grandchildren, of whom thirty-one survive; and thirty-seven great-grandchildren, all of whom survive, making eighty-six in all, of whom seventy-four survive. Of the great-grandchildren twenty-two are boys and fifteen are girls. Six are grandchildren of the present King, eighteen are grandchildren of the late Empress Frederick, eleven are grandchildren of the late Princess Alice, and six grandchildren of the late Duke of Saxe-Coburg. This would appear to make a total of forty-one, but several are grandchildren of two of the late Queen's children. Eight of them are direct heirs to the different thrones of Europe, and there are enough remaining to rule the rest of the kingdoms of the world. Several of them will no doubt reach thrones.

The civil list also contains an allowance of $100,000 for the Duke of Cornwall and $30,000 for each of his sisters, the Duchess of Fife, the Princess Charles of Denmark and the Princess Victoria. The Duke receives about $310,000 a year from the revenues of Cornwall, which makes his income $410,000. His wife has an allowance of $50,000. The allowances to the King's brothers and sisters are as follows: Duke of Connaught, $125,000; Empress Frederick, $40,000; Princess Christian, $30,000; Princess Louise, $30,000; Princess Beatrice, $30,000; Duchess of Albany, $30,000; Duchess of Coburg, $30,000.

Parliament made grants in lump sums as wedding gifts to the Queen's children and grandchildren when they were married, of which the total will probably reach $1,000,000.

A Monster Tusk.

The largest ivory tusk ever known is now in the British Museum. It measures 10 feet 2½ inches on the outside curve, has a circumference at the solid end of 24½ inches and weighs 226½ pounds. The museum bought it for $1,750.

GREYHOUNDS.

They Are the Fleetest of All Four-Footed Animals.

Comparatively few people realize of what remarkable speed dogs are capable. Some remarkable statistics in regard to this have been gathered by M. Dusolier, a French scientist.

After pointing out the marvelous endurance shown by little fox terriers who follow their masters patiently for hours while the latter are riding on bicycles or in carriages, he says that even greater endurance is shown by certain wild animals that are akin to dogs.

Thus the wolf can run between 50 and 60 miles in one night, and an arctic fox can do quite as well, if not better.

Nansen met one of these foxes on the ice at a point more than 70 miles northwest of the Sannikow territory, which is 480 miles from the Asiatic coast. Eskimo and Siberian dogs can travel 45 miles on the ice in five hours, and there is one case on record in which a team of Eskimo dogs traveled 6½ miles in 28 minutes.

According to M. Dusolier, the speed of the shepherd dogs and those used in hunting ranges from 10 to 15 yards a second. English setters and pointers hunt at the rate of 18 to 19 miles an hour, and they can maintain this speed for at least two hours.

Foxhounds are extraordinarily swift, as is proved by the fact that a dog of this breed once beat a thoroughbred horse, covering four miles in 6½ minutes, which was at the rate of nearly 18 yards a second.

Greyhounds are the swiftest of all four footed creatures, and their speed may be regarded as equal to that of carrier pigeons. English greyhounds, which are carefully selected and which are used for coursing, are able to cover at full gallop a space between 18 and 23 yards every second.

How great an achievement this is may be judged from the fact that a thoroughbred horse rarely if ever exceeds 19 yards. Moreover, it is said that a hare at its greatest speed never goes faster than at the rate of 18 yards.

These interesting statistics are exciting much comment among sportsmen and other lovers of dogs, and the opinion is unanimous that M. Dusolier has fully proved the right of the greyhound to rank as the swiftest of the quadrupeds. Express engines only surpass them.—London Mail.

Character in Medicine.

There is character in Dr. Chase's Ointment—just such character as has made Dr. Chase esteemed and admired the world over. Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood the test of time remains to-day the only actual cure for Piles and itching Skin Disease. It is the standard Ointment of the world. You can rely on it just as you rely on Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, because you know that it is backed by the sterling character of Dr. Chase — America's Greatest Physician.

Aluminum.

Aluminium is at the present time the cheapest metal in the market, with the exception of iron, zinc and lead. The metal is now extensively used in place of copper, brass, tin and in some cases even iron, especially when the reduction of dead weight is a question of great importance. Aluminium is also beginning to be used very largely for electrical conductors, as it gives nearly the same conductance as copper, weighs only half as much and costs less.

The progress made in the use of aluminium in the past few years justifies the most sanguine expectations. Twenty years ago the total output in the world did not exceed four or five tons and its price was $30,000 per ton; ten years ago its price was reduced to about $10,000 per ton and the output increased to about 30 tons per annum. Now the price is $650 to $700 per ton, and the output during the last 12 months is reckoned at 5,000 tons.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

THE LATE MR. BROWN.

Demise of a Former Otonabee Councillor—39 Years of Age.

Otonabee Township lost one of its leading residents yesterday in the demise of Mr. John H. Brown, which occurred after an illness of about a year. The deceased about twelve months ago was stricken with paralysis, but it was a complication of diseases that ultimately caused his demise.

The late Mr. Brown was born in the Township of Asphodel about 39 years ago, being the son of Mr. Jas. Brown, formerly of that township, but now of Grey County, Ontario. At a very early age the deceased moved to Otonabee, and has resided there ever since. For some time he carried on the business of a grain merchant at Indian River. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Sarah, daughter of Mr. James Carter, of Norwood. She predeceased him about 16 years, leaving two children, a son and a daughter. Mr. Brown's second wife, who still survives him, was Miss Ellen Clemes, of Warsaw, by whom he had two children. He also leaves besides his parents, three brothers; they are Messrs. Norman, of Algoma; Robert, of Grey County, and A. Brown, real estate agent, town. He also leaves three married sisters.

The late Mr. Brown was a well-known resident of the township, and was a member of the township council in 1899. He was a prominent member of the Methodist church, and of the Independent Order of Foresters.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday, December 3rd, at 2 p.m., to Cameron's cemetery.

SPRINGVILLE.

Mr. Spafford, the American cartoonist, was brought to Fraserville for an entertainment on Monday evening last and drew a large crowd of people. One of the characteristics of his entertainment is the cartoon drawing and rapid sketching which was so cleverly done as to border on the marvellous. He also played a number of instruments and recited and told stories and gave a very interesting entertainment. A nice sum of money was netted for the organ fund of the church.

LIFE WORTH LIVING.

Why not have the free use of your arms and legs. Drive out the rheumatism and feel that life is worth living. Wm. Lee, gardener, No. 783 Princess street, Kingston, Ont., suffered for years with rheumatism in the shoulders and arms. Three bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure made a new man of him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment, 50 cents, at druggists or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Additional swell automatic chair, making four altogether. Your pick of four artists to shave you or trim your hair, without any useless waiting. The latest toilet preparations for face and scalp, electric hair brushes, hot towels for everyone. These are a few of the luxuries that make up a combination that can't be beat anywhere in city or town. Shop recently enlarged and refurnished. Everything up-to-date, right or day.

CHARLEY LEGROS.

CHURCH CHIMES.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

The Charlotte street church was not nearly large enough to accommodate the people who desired to hear the song sermon last evening. Rev. Mr. Cressley had for his subject "True Manliness, or the elements of a noble Christian," which he divided into four parts. 1st, The inspiration to a noble character. 2nd, The bases of a noble character. 3rd, The evidences of a noble character and 4th, The finals of a noble character. After speaking on each of these divisions, a sacred song adapted to the special point under discussion was sung by a choir of twenty-five gentlemen. The different numbers were as follows: Sing on Joyful Pilgrims. Hallelujah for the Cross. On to Victory, and We Shall Stand on the Heights by and by." The singing was excellent, and the service throughout was one of much pleasure and profit to all.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

The morning anthem in All Saint's church was "Deus Misereatur" by Mammat. In the evening Mr. J. Firth, of Toronto, sang "Beyond the Gates of Paradise," very acceptably.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

Large congregations were present at St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, yesterday at both services. In the morning the Rector preached from Psalm xxv, 15, "Mine eyes are ever toward the Lord." He said that the whole Christian life to be complete, consisted of three looks towards Christ:

1. Looking to Jesus for salvation; Numbers xxi, 9, and St. John iii, 14-15.

2. Looking at Jesus at the right hand of the Throne of God, for sanctification, to get power and victory over sin, and lay aside every weight; Heb. xii, 1-2.

3. Looking for Jesus in His second advent for glorification; I Phil, iii, 20.

In speaking at some length of the nearness of the second advent, as judged by the signs of the times, Mr. Langfeldt said that one sign indicating the approach of the second coming was the lamentable condition of the Christian church. The Apostle, stating what the church would be like in the last days, says, "Men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, truce breakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof." In other words, the professing Christians of the present day are serving their own desires in reality, and God in sentimentality. The state of the church is awful; every honest man can see it.

Mr. Kennedy from Toronto, sang during the offertory, "A Dream of Paradise," in excellent voice.

The Men's Guild of St. Luke's will meet on Tuesday evening in the vestry, when the election of officers will take place.

A CHICAGO YARN.

A Monumental Lie or Shocking Youthful Depravity.

The following from Chicago, is a terrible lie, or a more terrible instance of youthful depravity. If there is even a little truth in it, what suggestion of the home and home influence is there when such a thing is possible?

Chicago, Nov. 27. — A smoker of cigars at two years of age, a connoisseur of tobacco at four — this is the remarkable record of Russell J. Henry, the little son of Joe Henry, proprietor of the buffet at 112 Dearborn street. The boy has just entered a kindergarten school, but he knows more about the brands of Havana, than he does about his A. B. C's., or the making of paper "pretties."

Little Russell sat on a rocking horse yesterday at his home, at 3637 State street, puffing a big black cigar and discoursing upon the merits of various tobaccos.

"I like strong cigars best," he said, "because they taste sweeter, and then you don't need so many of them. You don't get much out of a mild Havana. They burn up too quick. Porto Rican cigars are good, though.

"I like a pipe now and then for a change, too. I've got a lot of pipes Most of them I bought with my pennies. Some of them were given to me. I don't care for cigarettes. I don't see why anybody wants to smoke them."

Russell is a bright faced boy with light hair and clear brown eyes. His cheeks are rosy, and he is the picture of health, in spite of his early indulgence in tobacco. There are no marks of precocity about him that would attract anyone's attention. In fact, with the exception of his remarkable appetite for tobacco, he seems a most ordinary child.

His parents have humoured him by allowing him to smoke, and have had no fear of the consequences. They believe he will lose his liking for tobacco before any evil consequences result. The father consulted a physician once, and was told that there was little danger of the child hurting himself.

"We are unable to explain the boy's liking for tobacco," said the senior Henry yesterday. "I have never been a heavy smoker myself, and do not see how the youngster could have inherited his taste for tobacco. Before he was able to talk or walk he would always reach out his little hand when he saw a cigar. One day, when he was 2 years old, his uncle gave him one, and, when the little fellow went to puffing away like a smoker, some one lighted the cigar. Russell took a mouthful of smoke, held it a second, and then blew it out, laughing all over. Then he took another puff. I never saw a child so well pleased. He had discovered a new pleasure that seemed to beat anything he had ever known before.

"From that day on the boy was a smoker. He would sit in his cradle and puff a cigar with the utmost delight, and it never made him sick. He was just a born smoker. The doctors said that since he had the craving it was probably just as well to let him smoke."

A FEW FACTS

Concerning the Development of the Kawartha Lakes Trade.

As an indication of the development of the Balsam Lake end of the Kawartha Lakes, the report of Mr. William McIntosh, lockmaster at Rosedale, is most encouraging. The number of lockages were steamers, 550, small boats 67, scows 29, and rafts 237, making a total of 892, as against 526 in 1901. The total number of passengers this year was 2590. This is nearly three quarters of an increase, a very gratifying result. It is quite on the cards for this year's figures to be doubled next season.

At Buckhorn the lockmaster is as mad as a wet hen with the increase of traffic. For years his chief occupation was telling bear yarns to canoeists, who at rare intervals came along to be portaged over. Now he is kept so busy with the pesky locks that he has no time to do a bit of fishing, or shooting, or gardening, or even to help Tom Eastwood to run the village.

At the Lakefield end, Mr. P. P. Young, of Young's Point lock, reports the biggest season's work on record, and a large increase of passengers.

The Kawartha Lakes are all right. The flood tide has set in, and every local interest should be prepared. It is no chance, no speculation now, but a certain thing. Don't wait for the traffic to come and pass away, but be prepared to catch and retain all that comes. Now is the time to form plans for next season. Action is being taken for advertising next year, and if one of the many aims is realized, every railway in America that can send traffic will next season be advertising the "Kawartha Lakes.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

NOVEMBER WEATHER NOTES.

The rainfall during November was again light, amounting to only 1 inch and 56-100. There was about 6 inches of snow altogether. Since July, which had a rainfall of 5 inches and 16-100, each month has shown a deficiency in that respect of at least 50 per cent., consequently many wells which usually contain an abundance of water, have gone dry.

The highest temperature was on the 1st, 50 deg.; the lowest on the 27th, 4 deg. The average temperature of the month was 27.1 deg., several degrees lower than usual. The first sleighing was on the 25th.

Baby's cold may be cured in a night by using Vapo-Cresolene, which has been extensively in use for twenty-four years. All druggists.

North Bruce Election Appeal.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—The particulars in the North Bruce election appeal against the return of James Halliday to the Dominion House were filed at Osgoode Hall on Saturday. Mr. Halliday's majority was seventeen, and his opponent was Mr. J. C. Campbell. It is the intention of the Conservatives, if the decision of the trial judges is against Mr. Halliday, to take the case to the Supreme Court. The hearing is set down for Dec. 10, at Wiarton, before the Chancellor, Sir Jogn Boyd, and Mr. Justice MacMahon. The particulars contain a large number of charges of bribery through agents.

Death Blow to Liberals.

Colon, Dec. 2.—The recapture of Colon is admitted to be almost a death blow to the Liberal cause in this department. There is no doubt that guerilla warfare will be resumed in the mountains, but stronger forces and better organization are considered essential requisites for the Liberals if they intend to resume the struggle seriously. Both Panama and Colon are quiet.

Will Not Seek Re-election.

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—Hon. Wm. Harty was in the city Saturday. He states he had definitely decided not to seek re-election to the Provincial Legislature, the conduct of the locomotive works at Kingston requiring all his attention. The Kingston works have orders for engines up to Dec. 29, 1902.

Blessed Irish Everywhere.

Rome, Dec. 2.—The Pope, at a special audience granted to Dr. William Murphy, the rector of the Irish College, and a deputation of students, extolled the fidelity of Catholic Ireland and of Irishmen all over the world to the Holy See. The Pontiff closed the audience by bestowing the apostolic benediction on all Irishmen in the Old Country and in the New World.

SHARP FIGHT NEAR HEILBRON

Thirteen Boer Commandoes, With a Total Force of 1,500 Men, Are Now Raiding Western Cape Colony—Other Commandoes in Other Districts—Confidential Pourparlers in Interest of Peace.

Pretoria, Dec. 3.—Col. Byng and Col. Wilson, while returning to Heilbron with 15,000 cattle, captured during the combined operations, had considerable trouble with the enemy, which culminated last Thursday at Rhauwkrantz in a determined attempt by the enemy to recover the captured cattle. Kitchener's Scouts brought their bayonets into use freely, and, after four hours' stiff fighting, the enemy retired, leaving five killed and fifteen wounded. Ex-President Steyn and Christian Dewet are said to have been spectators of the fight. Col. Wilson had his horse shot under him.

Boer Raiders of Cape Colony.

London, Dec. 3.—The correspondent of The Times at Pretoria says there are 13 Boer commandoes, with a total force of 1,500 men, in the western districts of Cape Colony, where the configuration of the country, the scarcity of water, and the distance from the railways make the capture of the burghers difficult.

There are several commandoes in Calvinia district, two in South Sutherland, three in Northeast Piquetberg, and one in Clanwilliam. Gen. French is operating with eight columns in the south and east of these districts, but there is nothing to prevent the Boers escaping north, where they cannot be followed indefinitely.

Once the line from Beaufort West to Clanwilliam is secured with blockhouses, says the correspondent, the fugitive commandoes can be dealt with in detail at leisure. The distance from Beaufort West to Clanwilliam, 250 miles, gives a small idea of the difficulties of this task.

Boers to Sue for Peace.

London, Dec. 3.—The News Wiener Tageblatt, quoted by the Vienna correspondent of The Times, says that, according to private intelligence received by it from The Hague, the opening of confidential pourparlers, with a view to the conclusion of peace, is seriously expected in Boer circles.

Boers to Ask Armistice.

London, Dec. 3.—A despatch to The Morning Post from Brussels says it is rumored there that negotiations are about to be opened between the belligerents in South Africa for either peace or armistice.

It appears to be certain that the Boers are tired of the war, and the latest news from South Africa received by Mr. Kruger is said to show an increasing want of ammunition, arms and provisions on the part of the burghers.

It is not impossible, according to The Post's correspondent, that negotiations will be seriously entered upon before the end of the year.

Corps of Boers.

Pretoria, Dec. 3.—The organization of burghers' corps under the name of National Scouts is making progress. The two corps under Colliers and Andries Cronje have done good service; a third is now being raised, and Commandant Muller has offered to form a fourth.

Kitchener as Santa Claus.

Pretoria, Dec. 3.—Lord Kitchener has ordered that each soldier in the field shall receive at Christmas a plum pudding, a pint of beer, and a quarter of a pound of tobacco. These are to be provided from surplus funds of the field force canteens, and will cost nearly £20,000.

More Bushmen Wanted.

Sydney, Dec. 3.—The commander of the last contingent of New South Wales Bushmen in South Africa has telegraphed to the State Government that more men are urgently required. The matter has been referred to the Federal Government, which has refused to send further drafts unless officially requested by the Imperial authorities. The Government will, however, allow individuals to volunteer. Two New South Wales squatters, Messrs. Horsefall and Dangar, have offered £1,500 towards the preliminary expenses of the contingent.

Wants to Fight the Boers.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—Lt.-Col. Thompson, M.P. for Haldimand, is among those who have made application for a place in the third Canadian contingent soon to be recruited.

OUR WAR CONNECTION.

Canada Has Benefited by $10 000,000 in Trade With South Africa.

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—When the account is finally made up, it will be found that Canada has already benefited commercially by the war in South Africa, to the tune of about ten millions of dollars. The Department of Agriculture has been acting as agent for the War Office in the purchase of supplies for the British Army in the field, has just received a further order for 16,800 tons of hay, which will be shipped in February. This will make a total of 169,120 tons of hay sent to South Africa since the war broke out. The total amount expended in Canada by the Imperial War Office, through the Department of Agriculture, in the purchase of hay, oats, jams, meats, flour, etc., with outlay for transportation added, has been about $7,000,000. Besides, there is a sum of about a million and a half to two millions expended through the Militia Department in the purchase of military equipments, and a further sum laid out in the purchase of horses.

FOR SOUTH AFRICA.

Local Applications for Positions on the Canadian Yeomanry.

There are twelve men to be enlisted at Peterborough for the Canadian Yeomanry that will leave in the course of a few weeks for South Africa. Col. F. L. Lessard, R.C.D., will be here next week to enlist the men, but already quite a number of applications have been made to the Medical Examiner, Surgeon-Major Young, of the 3rd Dragoons. The men who have applied so far are all likely looking fellows, and in some cases are members of the Dragoons or the 57th Regiment. Any one desiring to join the Canadian Yeomanry, would do well to communicate with Major Young. Such application would of course be informal, but might facilitate the officers in their work. Due notice of Col. Lessard's visit to Peterborough will be given.

It is reported that Lieut. Percy Roberts Price, who has already seen service in South Africa, has sent in his application to the Militia Department as well as Lieut. R. G. Johnston of the 46th Regiment, who was also in South Africa before.

MR. ROSS AT WINGHAM

The Premier's Eloquent Speech to Electors of West Huron.

CLOSING UP OF THE CAMPAIGN

A Bright Record—Achievements of Liberal Government in Ontario—The Prohibition Question—Must See the Judgment Before Pronouncing Upon It—The Country's Interests Will Be Considered.

Wingham, Dec. 3.—The Liberals of West Huron last night heard a speech by Hon. Geo. W. Ross that roused them to enthusiasm, that sent them forth more than ever determined to re-elect Hon. J. T. Garrow. The Premier, although he had traveled since early morning, was in splendid form, witty, logical and eloquent, a speaker of whom the Province may well boast. The Town Hall, a large auditorium, was crowded, and from the beginning until the close of the meeting the keenest interest and the quickest response to the eloquence of the speaker were shown. It is true that a few young men in the back of the hall indulged in a little hissing, evidently organised, during the opening speeches, but they did it poorly and without meaning. They ceased when the Premier rose, and listened as attentively as did the stalwarts on the front benches. Mr. Garrow was unable to be present, as he had a meeting in another part of the riding. The campaign, which will close on Wednesday, is a spirited one, but the opinion here is that Mr. Garrow's election is assured.

Hon. G. W. Ross, after Dr. Macdonald, M.P., and Mr. A. Hislop, M.P.P., had spoken, was given a warm welcome. He began with a jocular reference to the length of the reign of the Government, and then he passed on to review the work done by the Administration. Mr. Whitney's opposition, the school book question, the development of Ontario, were at some length considered, and the petty, carping criticisms of the opposition and its press were shown up in their true light. He appealed to them not to permit their attention to be diverted from the great principles of government by these.

Reference to Prohibition.

In conclusion Mr. Ross made the following reference to prohibition: "Some gentleman has asked me a question about prohibition. That can be very easily answered at this stage. You know that the act of the Manitoba Legislature went before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and we had a telegraphic message that the act was maintained. The decision of the Privy Council has been cabled for, and when we see the full purport of that decision the Government will decide what course to take. We cannot go upon a telegraphic report, which I suppose is probably correct, in the main, but there are hints, I see in the papers, that that report does not indicate the true facts. So it is too early—I speak personally, in the most interested sense—for us to announce just what we are going to do, at all events until we have had the full text of the decision. Had I the text of the decision I would be able, perhaps, to state what we would do. You may rest assured of this, that the Government of Ontario will, in all its legislation, bear in mind the interests of the whole people of this Province, no matter what moral principle is involved, no matter how that interest may be best served."

After passing a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Ross, the meeting adjourned with tremendous cheers for the King, the Premier, and loudest of all for Hon. J. T. Garrow, the Liberal candidate.

Mr. Stratton at Clinton.

Clinton, Dec. 3.—The occasion of the visit of Hon. J. R. Stratton, the Provincial Secretary, was sufficient to draw a crowd of the electors of West Huron to the Town Hall last evening, when Provincial issues were discussed. Mr. James Scott, barrister, occupied the chair, and introduced the member for East Lambton, Mr. H. J. Pettypiece, who upheld the policy of the Government. He was followed by Mr. Stratton in a rousing speech. Mr. Stratton discussed the issues of the day at some length. Being a member of the Cabinet, he was familiar with the figures connected with the departments, and showed that every cent had been rightly spent, and the Government had a surplus to the good. He also dealt with the policy of the Government in connection with new Ontario, the educational system and the plans to build up Ontario. The meeting closed with cheers for the Liberal candidate, the Ross and Laurier Governments and the King.

DEMAND PROHIBITION.

Dominion Alliance Workers Address the Government—Large Gathering of the Ontario Branch—Resolution Passed.

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 3.—The Executive Committee of the Dominion Alliance met yesterday in the office of Mr. F. S. Spence, Confederation Life Building, but so large a number attended that a larger room had to be obtained, and even that was filled to the doors with enthusiastic workers from the various cities of Ontario, who came to discuss the best means of furthering the cause of prohibition.

Dr. J. J. Maclaren was in the chair. After considerable discussion and the introduction of many amendments, the following resolution, moved by Mr. Spence, was finally adopted:

"Whereas Sir Oliver Mowat, when Premier of Ontario, promised improved legislation on the line of prohibition, instead of license for the liquor traffic, and whereas a liquor prohibition act passed by the Manitoba Legislature has since been submitted to the Privy Council on an appeal from the Court of King's Bench of Manitoba, and said act has been declared by the highest court as constitutional and within the power of the province, and whereas this decision, as far as reported, clearly and fully established the provincial jurisdiction over the traffic in intoxicating liquors to the extent of a large and substantial measure of prohibition; therefore, resolved that, as an executive body of temperance workers, we humbly express gratitude for the advanced position secured to us by the recent decision, namely, the constitutional power of the provinces of the Dominion of Canada to enact and enforce such legislation as prohibits all provincial transactions in liquor for beverage purposes, and that we authorize a deputation to wait on the Provincial Government to remind the Government of the Premier's assurance given to a similar deputation, when the Manitoba case was sub judice; to express our views as to the great importance of the re-decision given, as settling the question of provincial jurisdiction; to repeat the request for effective and enforced prohibition to the full measure of provincial power, and that such legislation be introduced at next session, and to ask the Government for an early intimation of the plans and methods by which such prohibition is to be secured and established in our province."

THE NEWSPAPER COMBINE.

Mr. Justice Taschereau's Report Thereon Is in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—The Minister of Finance has received the report of Mr. Justice Taschereau of Montreal on the investigation into the alleged newspaper combine. Mr. Fielding is out of town at present, and it is not known when the report will be made public.

A royal salute was fired from Nepean Point at mid-day yesterday in honor of the 57th birthday of Queen Alexandria.

Mr. W. D. HEARTBURN.

Many Sufferers From This Affection Fail to see Their Real Danger Till They are Completely Laid up With Chronic Indigestion.

Heartburn is Indigestion. The food instead of being properly digested and assimulated, ferments, and lies in a sour, rotting mass in the stomach.

The consequences are always unpleasant, and a great menace to all good health.

If not corrected, Heartburn culminates in Dyspepsia or Chronic indigestion.

It is simply a warning which should be properly heeded. Something should be done at once to correct the disordered condition of the stomach and digestive organs.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are especially designed to cure all such weaknesses. They digest the food, allowing rest and recuperation to the stomach. They correct at once all derangements. They stimulate and strengthen the action of the liver and bowels. They tone up the system, and obliterate every trace of Heartburn, Flatulency, Gas on the Stomach, Sour Stomach, or other symptoms of wrong digestive action.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more than relieve. They cure. Cure permanently and forever all Stomach Troubles.

They are 50c. a box, and are sold by all druggists.

Sufferers with Heartburn should lose no time in procuring a box of this remedy. It will cure, and by its prompt use, you may yet avert the pains of Chronic Dyspepsia. However, if you have waited too long, and have already entered the final stages, don't despair. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure you, but of course it is easier and cheaper to prevent than to cure.

BRIGANDS HAVE KILLED CAPTIVES

Confirmation Received of the Reported Murder of Miss Stone.

New York, Dec. 3.—Rev. Henry C. Haskell, representative of the American Board of Foreign Missions of Boston at Samakov, Bulgaria, has sent the following despatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, to The World concerning rumors of the death of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missing missionary:

"We hope that the dreadful news is untrue, but there is reason to make us fear otherwise. We have some confirmation of the grave news, and we are sending men to learn the facts."

Burned to Death.

Brantford, Dec. 3.—William Roantree, two-year-old son of Charles Roantree, West Brantford, was so badly burned yesterday morning that he passed away shortly after the accident. The little fellow was playing around the house, and Mrs. Roantree was in an adjoining room when the screams of the little fellow attracted her attention. She put the blaze out quickly as possible, but the child was so badly burned that he died soon afterwards. How the child's clothes caught fire is a mystery.

Died in Dentist's Chair.

Brockville, Dec. 3.—Henry Soper of Brockville, died suddenly yesterday under peculiar circumstances. Mr. Soper, who was 62 years of age, and very feeble, visited a dentist's office to have a tooth treated. The exertion of climbing the stairs to the office proved too much for the old gentleman, and a few moments after seating himself in the dentist's chair he expired. The coroner was called in, but did not deem an inquest necessary, as death was due to natural causes.

Speaker's Sore Throat.

Public speakers and singers know how useless and sickening are cough mixtures, sprays, lozenges, etc., etc., for irritable and sore throat, and state that the most satisfactory remedy is Catarrhozone, the advantage of which is that it acts quickly and is convenient to use in public places. Catarrhozone relieves congestion, allays inflammation, and is a protection to the membrane. As a safeguard against colds and catarrh it has no equal. Rev. Dr. McKay, of Goderich, says, "Catarrhozone is an excellent remedy for throat irritation, arising from colds." Physicians, ministers and singers recommend Catarrhozone; druggists sell it for $1. Small size, 25c. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Railroad Men's Backache.

Men who work on the railroad whether in the capacity of engineers, firemen, machinists or trackmen, find that the heavy work they do and the exposure to change of weather and temperature very hard on their back and kidneys.

There are few railroadmen who do not complain of kidney trouble in some form.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have proved themselves the greatest benefactors of all classes of railroad men. They give ease to the aching, sore back, clear up the urine, relieve the scalding and burning, and impart new life and vitality to the urinary organs.

PLASTERS NO GOOD.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, living on Albert Street, Sarnia, Ont., has confidence in Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Her son George, employed as a machinist on the Grand Trunk R.R., has been cured of lumbago by using them. Mrs. Wilson said: "Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that I brought my son from Geary's drug store has cured him of that constant pain and lameness in the back that caused him the greatest misery. He had tried plasters and other remedies, but nothing gave him the permanent relief obtained from these Tablets. The whole difficulty has quite disappeared and with it the accompanying weariness and lack of energy. He has no headaches nor kidney trouble, but is enjoying perfect health. I can honestly recommend these Tablets to anyone having any trouble with their backs."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a Box, at all druggists or by mail, THE DR. ZINA PITCHER CO., Toronto, Ont.

PROPOSITION MUST BE DEFINED.

Provincial Autonomy for Territories Not Fully Worked Out.

Winnipeg, Dec. 3.—Premier Haultain of the Northwest Territories has arrived in the city from Ottawa, where, in company with Mr. A. L. Sifton, Minister of Public Works, he has been interviewing the Federal Government in regard to provincial automony for the Territories.

Mr. Haultain, speaking to a reporter, said that the members of the Government, while showing considerable interest in the proposition, desired that the matter be put in writing with all the provisions. Until this has been prepared for Parliament in such a shape that it can come up at the next session, Mr. Haultain did not care to discuss the matter.

WHAT CAUSES DEAFNESS.

The Principal Cause is Curable but Generally Overlooked.

Many things may cause deafness, and very often it is difficult to trace a cause. Some people inherit deafness. Acute diseases, like scarlet fever, sometimes cause deafness. But by far the most common cause of loss of hearing is catarrh of the head and throat.

A prominent specialist on ear troubles gives as his opinion that nine out of ten cases of deafness is traced to throat trouble; this is probably over-stated, but it is certainly true that more than half of all cases of poor hearing are caused by catarrh.

The catarrhal secretion in the nose and throat finds its way into the Eustachian tube and by clogging it up it very soon affects the hearing, and the hardening of the secretion makes the loss of hearing permanent, unless the catarrh which caused the trouble is cured.

Those who are hard of hearing may think this a little far-fetched, but any one at all observant must have noticed how a hard cold in the head will affect the hearing and that catarrh, if long neglected will certainly impair the sense of hearing and ultimately cause deafness.

If the nose and throat are kept clear and free from the unhealthy secretions of catarrh, the hearing will at once greatly improve and anyone suffering from deafness and catarrh can satisfy themselves on this point by using a fifty-cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new catarrh cure, which in the past year has won the approval of thousands of catarrh sufferers, as well as physicians, because it is in convenient form to use, contains no cocaine or opiate, and is as safe and pleasant for children as for their elders.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a wholesome combination of Blood Root, Guaiacol, Eucalyptol and similar antiseptics, and they cure catarrh and catarrhal deafness by action upon the blood and mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

As one physician aptly expresses it, "You do not have to draw upon the imagination to discover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvement and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken."

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but fifty cents for full sized packages, and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders, will appreciate to the full the merit of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

KING TO VISIT IRELAND.

His Majesty Plans to Go to Dublin Early Next Spring.

Dublin, Dec. 3.—It is now almost certain that Lord Dudley will succeed Lord Cadogan as Viceroy of Ireland. This will be a very popular appointment and puts an end to the rumors that the Duke of Marlborough, who married an American heiress, would receive this post.

It is said that the King has asked Lord Cadogan to stay in Dublin until after his visit with the Queen in April next.

As far as can be made out at present the following are the arrangements made: The King and Queen, with their suite, will be the guests of Lord and Lady Cadogan at Dublin Castle for three days. Afterwards Their Majesties will go on a visit to Lord and Lady Londonderry, at Mount Stewart; then to Baron's Court, as the guests of the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn; probably then to Lismore Castle, to stay with the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire; then back to the Viceregal Lodge at Dublin for two days.

The Scotten Barns Burned.

Windsor, Dec. 3.—A mass of ruins is the only vestiage left of the immense barns and cattle sheds of the Scotten estate, the richest property in Essex County, situated at Ojibwa, below Sandwich. Fire broke out early Lunday morning and completely destroyed eight buildings, with almost all their contents, the total loss being about $50,000. O. E. Fleming of Windsor, solicitor for the late Mr. Scotten, gives out the following list which was destroyed: Eight buildings, 139 sheep, 7,000 bushels of corn, 3,000 bushels of oats, 100 tons of hay, 100 tons of fodder, 300 bushels of rye, besides the hay-lifting devices and grain-cleaning machines in the barns and granaries.

The Crown Wins the Case.

Ottawa, Dec. 3.—In the Exchequer Court yesterday in the case of the Gilbert Dredging and Blasting Co. v. the King, the action was dismissed. The suppliants claimed $82,350 in connection with their contract for enlarging the Cornwall Canal.

In the case of Poupore v. the King for extra work on the Rapide Plant Canal, items of $140,000 and $37,000 were referred to certain engineers to report on the quantity of cubic feet.

German Tariff Bill Debate.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—Count Von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, in introducing the greatest parliamentary struggle that Germany has ever faced, yesterday counselled the members of the Reichstag to moderation of language, declaring that the eyes of the world were upon them. Although this was Germany's affair, said Count Von Buelow, it was necessary to maintain a resolute front to the other nations of the world.

Col. Prior Unseated.

Victoria, B.C., Dec. 3.—At the election trials here yesterday, Col. Prior was unseated, but the case against Thomas Earle, M.P., was unsuccessful. Victoria City is represented by two members. The result of the trial will necessitate a bye-election. Col. Prior will likely be the Conservative candidate again.

Monster Petition.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—The signatures to the Socialist petition against the Tariff Bill number nearly five million and a half. Much doubt is expressed regarding the outcome of this proposed tariff legislation.

Strike May Be Averted.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—It is likely that the threatened strike of the Piano Workers' Union will be averted and a satisfactory settlement reached between employers and employes.

Chinese Troops Beaten

Shanghai, Dec. 3.—The Government troops have been badly defeated in Northeast Chi Li by Boxers, whose depredations are causing a great deal of trouble.

The edict of the Dowager-Empress, deposing the heir apparent, Pu Chun, says that the son of such a man as Prince Tuan has no right to aspire to be heir apparent.

The ground for the disposition of Pu Chun was that his father, Prince Tuan, was the author of the Boxer troubles.

Three Girls Drowned.

Halifax, Dec. 3.—Three little girls, daughters of Mrs. William Lafford, were drowned in a pond at St. Peter's, C.B., on Sunday afternoon. The children's ages were 7, 9 and 11 years, respectively. They were sliding on the pond when the ice gave way and they were thrown into the water. The bodies were recovered by their brother in four feet of water.

U. S. Will Buy the Islands.

Copenhagen, Dec. 3.—A full agreement has been reached between Denmark and the United States for the sale of the Danish West Indies. The treaty will probably be signed this week at Washington. The price fixed is between four and five million dollars.

Impaled on a Ramrod.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—A private despatch received here from the Cameroons, West Africa, says that a merchant named Wittenberg has been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary there for impaling a negro on a ramrod.

Twenty-Five Killed.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 3.—In a railroad collision near Kharbin, 18 Chinese and seven Russians were killed. Two of the latter were frozen to death.

Four T's Makes Good Singers.

Many people when singing get husky and this spoils the voice. Four T's is par excellence a lung and throat tonic and cures chronic congestion of the bronchial tubes, making the voice clear as a bell. An ordinary cough is cured by a few doses of this marvellous medicine. Sold in 25c. bottles at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Dec. 2.—There were about 800 head of butchers' cattle, 30 calves and 800 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The wet weather helped to make a dull market even more dull, and the ruinously low prices of last Thursday for common stock prevailed to-day. A few of the best cattle were sold at about 4c per lb. Medium beasts brought from 3c to 3½c per lb., and the canners paid from 1½c to 2c per lb. for lean cows and small bulls. A carload of common dry cows, which were held over from Thursday's market, were sold to-day at 2c per lb. Calves sold at from $3 to $8 each. The butchers paid from 2½c to 3c per lb. for sheep, and from 3¼c to 3½c per lb. for lambs. Fat hogs are a shade lower in price, and sold at from 5½c to a little over 6c per lb., weighed off the cars.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS...

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

MACKINTOSH
AND....
RAINPROOF COATS

The recent suspension of an American Mackintosh Co. on account of the amalgamation of rubber manufacturers has placed within our reach a large line of these reliable and guaranteed water-proof garments — all of this season's styles—and we decided to give the public the benefit.

This stock must be disposed of as quickly as possible, and on this account the cost of these goods is not considered. You can get here for $2.00 what costs $5.00 elsewhere. Macintosh Co.'s Goods are the best and you can always depend on them to stand the storm.

IN BOOK FORM.

Lieut. Johnston has Decided to Publish His Account of the South African Trip.

Lieut. Robert G. Johnston, who has for some weeks past been publishing in the Examiner a series of letters on his personal experiences while in South Africa with the 2nd Canadian Contingent, has decided to publish his story in book form. Lieut. Johnston's letters have proved very interesting so far and there is reason to believe that they will continue so until the end of the series. In his story the writer is just at Halifax, so that there is considerable to be related yet. It has been at the solicitation of his friends that Lieut. Johnston has decided to publish his writings which should be favourably received.

POLICE COURT.

Several Cases That Came up Before Magistrate Dumble This Morning.

A rather deplorable case came up at the police court this morning, when William Leahy of Otonabee, was charged with assaulting his wife.

There was no evidence taken, as the lawyers and the magistrate endeavoured to have the matter amicably settled, and have the defendant promise that he would live peacefully with his wife, who along with a daughter, a bright, intelligent looking girl, was in court.

The case was enlarged for one week.

A case that is occupying the attention of the court all day is that of a charge against W. Duncan of town, who is charged with stealing a sum of money from Wm. Badge, the proprietor of a second hand store on Simcoe street. The theft is alleged to have taken place last July. A great number of witnesses have been examined, and altogether the case has proved most interesting.

R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, for complainant; W. A. Stratton, K.C., for accused.

Royal Arcanum.

A special meeting of the Royal Arcanum will be held this (Tuesday evening) at 8 o'clock sharp in the Forester's hall, Simcoe street, for the purpose of outlining plans for social evenings during the winter months. Mr. H. Brown, of Hamilton, grand organiser for Ontario, will be present.

Bazaar and Charity Fair.

A Grand Bazaar under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of St. Peter's Cathedral, and for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital, will be held in Bradburn's Opera House, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 19th, 20th and 21st. A very efficient committee of ladies have the affair in charge this year and as on former occasions, a most enticing stock of useful, fancy and ornamental articles will be offered for sale which will afford the public an excellent opportunity for procuring articles of both merit and worth suitable for holiday gifts. The ladies in charge would ask those about to make Christmas presents to wait until they see the articles shown at the Bazaar, as they feel confident they will be able to please them in every respect. Further particulars will be given later on. 2d1w

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Winifred Judd to Mr. Matthew Dick at Niagara Falls.

A Niagara Falls exchange contains the following account of the marriage of Miss Winifred Judd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Judd, No. 201 Rubidge street, town:

"At 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the parsonage of St. Mary's church, occurred the wedding of Miss Winifred Judd and Mr. Matthew Dick. The Rev. Father Wright was the officiating clergyman. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Deirue, of Sixth street. The bride wore a going away gown of castor broadcloth, and a large picture hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Dick are well known in this city, and are very popular with a large circle of friends. They left immediately for Chicago."

EVANGELIST WALDEN.

He Held a Very Interesting Meeting in St. Andrew's Church Last Night.

A most interesting meeting was held last evening in St. Andrew's church lecture room, when Evangelist Walden addressed the congregation on the value of Supreme faith in God and His word in such meetings as those upon which they were now starting.

He took as the basis of his remarks the incident in the life of the Apostles Peter and John as narrated in Acts 3, where they were the means of great blessing to the man at "the beautiful gate of the temple." He strongly urged the Christians to greater faith in prayer and directed them how best to make their lives tell for good.

By illustrations from his experience in other towns he made real and very practical how difficulties are overcome, and expressed the hope that nothing but a genuine work of grace according to God's own mind and way might be the result of these special services.

The meeting to-night will begin at 7.45 with song service, and an address specially applicable to young men will be given.

SMITH WAS IN TOWN.

Had a Holiday From His Duties at the Central Prison.

Robert Smith, the young man who in September last pleaded guilty to stealing a quantity of copper wire from the Canadian General Electric Company, and who was sentenced to a term in the Central Prison, to-day paid a flying visit back to his old town. His appearance in Peterborough came as a surprise to those who saw him, and must have been quite a holiday jaunt for the young criminal. It was when the case of King vs. Duncan was on at the police court this morning that young Smith put in his appearance. The Crown sprung a little surprise on the court room at about a quarter to 12 by producing Smith. He had been sent for to Toronto to give evidence against Duncan and had come down in charge of an officer, on the 11.27 C.P.R. Smith was neatly dressed in a blue coat and trousers, a light coloored vest, a clean collar and a bright red tie. He walked immediately into the box and kissed the book. While his worship was engaged in writing down a few preliminaries, Smith looked around about the court room and smiled at certain individuals as he recognized them. His cross examination was very severe but Smith maintained his old time smile throughout. He returned at 4.45. During his stay in town his father was sent for and had an interview with him.

THE TOWN NEEDS MORE ALDERMEN.

Its Population has Grown and Eleven are Required.

LAST EVENING'S MEETING.

The New Thoroughfare Along the River Front Will be Known as Quaker Street — Snow-Ploughing Contracts Awarded.

The Town Council met in regular monthly session last evening, with His Worship the Mayor, presiding, and the following members present: Aldermen Best, Corkery, Batten, Rush, Clinkscale, Roger, Shortly and Edgcumbe.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and referred as follows:

From Joseph Geselin, asking to have errors in assessment corrected.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From the Central Milling Co., through Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, asking that George street north of the C. P. R. track, be drained in order that their new premises be not flooded.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor, in reference to the passage of a bylaw in reference to the closing of Mill street.—Received.

From Charles F. Guy, asking permission to conduct a stand at the corner of George and Hunter streets.—Referred to the License Committee.

From John Carlisle, petitioning for a sidewalk in front of his new terrace on Stewart street.—Referred to the Board of Works with power to act.

From R. M. Glover, Secretary of the Canadian Cordage Co., asking that the proper steps be taken to have the bylaw confirmed by the Legislature granting ten years exemption from taxation to the Company.—Referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

From A. Allison, Jas. L. McCreary and S. H. Mitchell asking remission of dog tax.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From the Peterborough Light and Power Co., stating that a two inch gas main had been torn up by the contractors on Mill street, and asking for damages.—Referred to the Town Solicitor to report to the Legal Committee.

From the Town Solicitor, re case of the town vs. English.—Received.

From the Town Solicitor as follows:

"I have examined the plan filed in the Registry Office by the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, for the sub-division of the southern reserve south of Townsend street. I find that the existing town streets running north and south from George street to Stewart street inclusive, were extended southward into the reserve, and the lots laid out upon them in accordance with the uniform plan of survey of town lots according to the original survey, the lots being numbered westward from George street in the same way. Among the streets Bethune street is continued southward, showing the line of the Grand Trunk Railway upon it. Although the name Bethune street is not written upon the plan indicating this street, I think it is quite clear that it was laid out as a street from Townsend street southward to Lake street, and that the land upon which the proposed siding is to be erected is a part of Bethune street.

"This is confirmed by Bylaw No. 101, passed by the Town Council on June 22nd, 1858, under which permission is given to the Port Hope, Beaverton and Lindsay Ry. Co., to construct their railway along and across the town streets as therein named, 'including the whole of Bethune street and its continuation south of Townsend street and across and along and over the unoccupied lands of the town upon the south side of the town.'

"The land south of Townsend street was originally purchased by the town from the Government and it was not till the passing of the act of 1861 that it was first vested in the Commissioners of the Town Trust. Prior to that time it appears to have been held by the Town Corporation directly, although the patent thereof does not appear to have been issued until 1863. But it is evident that at the time of the passing of the bylaw of 1858, and while this property south of Townsend street was still under the direct control of the Council, the construction of Bethune street south of Townsend street had been determined upon by the Council, if not actually carried out.

On the whole, therefore, I am of opinion (although there may be some ground for the opposite contention) that the land upon which it is proposed to construct a siding for the Cordage Company is in fact a part of Bethune street."

Referred to the Board of Works.

From Stratton & Hall, solicitors for Matthew Munro, asking permission to remove an elm tree on Donegal street, which obstructs access to his property.—Received.

From Mrs. E. Baker, asking remission of a portion of her taxes.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From E. B. Edwards, enclosing bylaw giving the Cordage Company permission to construct a siding on Bethune street.—Received.

From J. H. Fraser, stating that he had discovered natural gas escaping from crevices in the rock, and inquiring as to a franchise if a test was made.—Referred to the Manufacturers Committee.

From the Town Commissioners, stating that the Canadian General Electric Co. had been notified of the cancellation of the sale of the Townsend street lots to the Company, and also requesting that the gravel taken from the town lots be used in filling adjacent lots rather than be sold.—Referred to the Property Committee.

From J. W. Bennet, asking that the houses on Park street be renumbered, and that additional names of streets be placed on the corners.—Referred to the Property Committee with instructions to act at once.

From the Ashburnham Council, asking that a date be set for a joint meeting to decide on terms for fire protection for the village.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

THE BOARD OF WORKS.

through its chairman, Ald. Best, reported as appended:

1. Your Board received a letter from Messrs. Poussette & McWilliams, on behalf of Mr. P. McNamara, in regard to the proposed Cordage Company's siding and referred it to the Town Solicitor for his opinion.

2. Your Committee advertised anew for tenders for a nine inch sewer on Perry street from George to Aylmer streets, and on Rubidge street from Dublin to Edinburgh streets, and received two tenders, as follows:

J. E. Hayes, Perry street, per ft	$1 63
Rubidge street, per ft	1 37
Private connections	20 00
R. Sheehy, Perry street, per ft	$1 40
Rubidge street, per ft	1 22
Private connections	15 00

We recommend that Mr. Sheehy's tender be accepted on his furnishing approved sureties.

3. We authorized the Chairman of the Board and the Town Engineer to appoint an inspector for the sewer construction on Perry and Rubidge streets at $3 per day, to be paid on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

4. We received tenders for the snow-ploughing, and a bylaw authorizing the contracts will be submitted to you.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

H. BEST, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

SOME BYLAWS.

The bylaw authorizing the closing of Mill street, and the opening of another street in lieu thereof, along the river, received two readings, and was allowed to stand. The new street will be known as Quaker street in honour of the new company.

Bylaw No. 760 authorizing the construction of sewers on portions of Perry and Rubidge streets was passed, Mr. Richard Sheehy being awarded the contract.

The bylaw providing for the Municipal elections was passed. The following polling places being designated:

1. M. H. Halpin's store—D. R. O., A. Williams.
2. L. Spry's store — D.R.O., Jos. Lundy.
3. Town Council Chamber—D.R.O., Chas. Cameron.
4. Green Bros.' store—D.R.O., Mendell Green.
5. Metherall's shop — D.R.O., Jos. Metherall.
6. McColl's shop — D.R.O., John Irwin.
7. Wm. Lee's shop — D.R.O., Geo. W. Powell.

In reference to a query by Ald. Shortly the Mayor stated that he believed that eleven aldermen would be required next year instead of nine on account of the increase of population. The Town Solicitor will be asked for his opinion.

The bylaw awarding the snow ploughing contracts for the winter of 1901-1902 was passed, resulting as follows:

Western district—Henry Edmison, $72.00.

Northern district—Zimri Blodgett, $109.00.

Southern district — Wm. Breckenridge, $67.50.

On motion of Ald. Rush and Roger, a resolution was passed giving the consent of the council to the extention of the time for the completion of the Cereal Co's building until Oct. 1902, and extending to the new company which is taking over the operations, the same priviliges in regard to exemptions, etc., which was given the American Cereal Co., which is assuming a new name.

Moved by Ald. Roger and Clinkscale that the Board of Works be authorized to advertise for tenders for a supply of stone for crushing for street purposes during the ensuing year.—Carried.

The reporters of the papers received their annual grant, after which the council adjourned until Wednesday evening.

Wear Lech's Real Furs

Wearing REAL FURS is something like wearing real Diamonds. The tendency, so far as our sales go, is to wear better Furs, which is real economy.

LECH'S REAL FINE FURS are not dear. Neither are those next to the finest kinds. Anybody can afford to wear the Furs we are making, both from a standpoint of quality and price.

With cold weather ready to sweep down on us any day, it is wise to have an early choice of our full stock.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Revitalize the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Drains, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Gleet, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. Everything confidential. Consultation Free. Books Free. Question Blank Free for Home Treatment.

SHOT THE WIDOW IN THE NOSE.

Serious Charge Against Young Pugh, a Rejected Lover.

Orillia, Dec. 3.—Frank Pugh was committed to stand his trial yesterday by Police Magistrate Booth of Orillia for shooting with malicious intent to wound or do bodily harm.

He had been a constant suitor for the hand of a widow near Ardtrae, but had received no encouragement. Sunday the widow, Mrs. Margaret Reid, returned home from church, accompanied by a neighbor. Coming to her cottage she noticed the door was broken in. She requested the neighbor to wait until she found out what was the matter.

She entered the house and found Pugh there. He again made a proposal of marriage, which she refused. He drew a revolver and said, it is alleged, "If you don't marry me, you won't marry anybody else." He then fired. The bullet passed through the fleshy part of her nose, inflicting a bad flesh wound.

Hearing the shot fired, the neighbor entered the house and held the man prisoner until Mrs. Reid could get the township constable, who lived a short distance away.

Pugh was brought to Orillia and, upon testimony of Mrs. Reid and her neighbor, was committed for trial.

The doctor attending Mrs. Reid says that had the bullet been fired half an inch either way there would have been a fatal result.

Killed on the Track.

Simcoe, Dec. 2.—Saturday afternoon Mrs. John Maher, about 40 years of age, sometimes known as Mrs. Cronk, was killed by G.T.R. train No. 47, north bound. Mrs. Maher lives near Nixon. The walking being bad on the road, she took the track, and had got about a mile and a quarter on her way when the train approached her. The engineer seeing her blew his whistle. On hearing the signal the woman stepped off the track and on again as the train neared, and she was struck and instantly killed. The remains were brought to the station here. The case is being investigated.

What Will Lynch Do?

London, Dec. 2.—Galway is getting impatient to know what Colonel Lynch proposes to do. The feeling among the Nationalists is that the new member should be allowed a reasonable time to make up his mind, but if he is not prepared to take the risks of the situation he should not inflict disfranchisement on Galway by retaining his seat. His enemies declare that his object in going to the Transvaal with instructions from Dr. Leyds was not so much to fight for the Boers as to gain information and reputation for a lecturing tour in America.

Murder Near Halifax.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 2.—A shocking tragedy occurred in the woods between Spencer's Island and Advocate Harbor on Saturday afternoon, when James Spicer murdered John Spicer. The men had a dispute over some land affairs, and John made at James with an axe, the latter placed his gun to his shoulder and shot John dead. There were no witnesses to the tragedy. Both men have large families. The murderer has not yet been arrested.

Anti-British League in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 2.—The Novoe Vremya announces the formation of a Russian league of persons desiring to show their hatred of Great Britain. They are pledged to discriminate against British goods. Pastor Gillott of the Dutch Church is the moving spirit. Hitherto, however, only 57 persons have joined. The league is not likely to attain serious dimensions.

Fatal Fall From a Rig.

Winnipeg, Dec. 2.—Saturday night Miss Adelaide Tait, aged 29, was returning home from the theatre when she fell from the rig in which she was riding and was crushed beneath the wheels, death resulting last evening. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. Robert Tait, a pioneer farmer of the Red River Valley district.

Thinks He Has the Murderer.

Hartney, Man., Dec. 2.—Constable W. H. Bradley of this town has placed under arrest and is closely guarding a man whom he is quite convinced is the individual accused of the bloodshirsty murder of J. Asling, which took place near Cartwright on Monday. The suspect gives his name as Louis Salic.

Dillon Counsels Force.

London, Dec. 2.—John Dillon, M. P., addressing the Irish League demonstration at Loughrea yesterday, counseled the evicted tenants to take back their farms by storm, and that they should fight and suffer if necessary. He said the League funds would be given to assist those who showed a soldier's spirit.

Five Fire Victims at Altoona.

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 2.—Shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning five persons, a mother and her four children, were burned to death at Gwyn Station on the Wopsononock Railroad, three miles north of this city. The husband escaped with severe injuries.

At Least 68.

Detroit, Dec. 2.—The Tribune yesterday printed an exhaustive argument to show that at least 68 people lost their lives in the Wabash wreck near Seneca, Mich., on Wednesday night.

Salvation Adjutant Langtry Dead.

Winnipeg, Dec. 2.—Adjutant Langtry of the Salvation Army Rescue Home is dead. He did a great charitable work here.

GOUDIE CAPTURED.

Missing Liverpool Bank Bookkeeper Had £300 When Arrested.

London, Dec. 3.—Thomas Paterson Goudie, the bookkeeper of the Bank of Liverpool, who disappeared at the time of the discovery that the bank had been robbed of about £170,000 ($850,000), was captured yesterday morning at Bootle (near Liverpool), where he had been in hiding. Goudie had £300 in his pocket when arrested. He will be brought to London for trial, with the other men taken into custody in connection with the robbery, two of whom, Dick Burge, the pugilist, and F. T. Kelly, the bookmaker of Bradford, were remanded yesterday morning after a partial hearing of the evidence against them.

WHAT ARE PILES.

Ask Scores of People Who Endure the Wretched Itching, Burning Sensations of Piles and do not Know the Nature of Their Disease or the Remedy to Apply.

Piles or hemorrhoids, as they are sometimes called, are small tumors which form in and about the orifice of the rectum. They are caused by an enlarged and inflamed condition of the veins, which are very numerous in this part of the body. Internal piles are situated along the veins which carry blood from the intestines to the liver; external piles, on the veins which surround the rectum.

Piles are of frequent occurrence among people who have a predisposition to rheumatism or gout. Such persons are subject to constipation and to obstruction in the passage of blood from the intestines, the most common form of piles. Congestion of the rectum, bladder and uterine organs, ovarian tumors and nearly all diseases of the liver are followed by piles, and they are very liable to appear during pregnancy and immediately after childbirth.

In bleeding piles the hemorrhage is sometimes so profuse as to cause death, but protruding piles are probably more dreaded because it is believed that nothing short of a surgical operation will cure them. As a rule every form of piles becomes at times acutely inflamed and extremely painful. The itching and burning usually increases at night, and the misery which many people endure is beyond description.

The magical power which Dr. Chase's Ointment has over each and every kind of piles gives it mastery over this disease, even in its chronic form and it is not unusual to hear of it curing where cruel, expensive and dangerous operations have failed.

There is no guesswork about Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles. It has been tried in the crucible of time, and gradually won its way into favor with the medical profession, as well as with the public in general. It has a wonderful soothing and healing effect, and whenever applied to burning, itching, inflamed skin, it affords almost instant relief, cooling the fires of disease and healing the raw ulcerous skin.

As your friends and neighbours about Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is recognized by a surprisingly large number of people as the only actual cure for piles. It will not fail you. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or by mail postpaid on receipt of price, by Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. 3

"A handsome and useful Christmas present for your mother or grandmother is a copy of Dr. Chase's last and complete Receipt Book. Illustrated folder free."

Dub to Suicide.

Windsor, Dec. 2.—Boer Commandant Kiko, lecturing in Detroit Saturday night, declared the heavy mortality among British officers was due to suicide.

Royal Journey Postponed.

Pekin, Dec. 2.—Prince Ching has formed the Ministers of the foreign powers that, owing to the fatigue of the Dowager Empress, resulting from her travels, the last stage of the Imperial court's journey has been postponed for one week.

The settlement of claims between the local officials and the missionaries not included in the general indemnity has been arranged. Payments on these claims amount to 5,000,000 taels.

Pill Manufacturers Enraged.

The makers of all the various pills on the market are greatly troubled over the new medicine, Merrill's System Tonic. It is doing away with their business. System Tonic is not only a positive cure for Habitual Constipation, but a blood purifier and builder as well as a tonic for every organ in the body. One 50c. bottle cures to stay cured. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

JOHNNY ON THE OSTRICH.

He Relates Some New Facts About the Bird.

The ostrich is the largest of the feathered species. He is proud and stately, but not graceful. Ostriches are raised on farms and can be seen for 15 cents, which must be paid to the man at the entrance to the farm, who will then permit you to enter. There is much ignorance prevailing about the ostrich. This makes it necessary for a man to stand up in front of the farm and use loud and forcible language to get people to step inside and see these interesting birds. The ostrich has a large appetite. He will devour corn, nails, watches, turnips or any similar article that is placed before him. He is not good to eat unless you are very hungry. Ostrich feathers do not look as nice when you see them growing on the ostrich as when they are neatly placed on a hat. When an ostrich is pursued in his native jungle, he sticks his head down in the sand. This makes him look like sparse and stunted vegetation, and he escapes. I know a whole lot of other things about ostriches, but I am tired of writing. JOHNNY.
—Chicago Tribune.

Two Million Victims.

It is estimated that one-third the population of Canada are victims to the pill habit. This should not be so as Merrill's System Tonic tones the liver, restores the natural muscular powers to the bowels and permanently cures habitual Constipation. The result is that dyspepsia, impure blood and nerve troubles disappear. One 50 cent bottle cures. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

A Model Janitor.

Lady—Where is the agent for these flats?

Man at Door—I can rent the flats, mum.

"Are the rents reasonable?"

"Yes, mum."

"What sort of a janitor have you?"

"A very good one, mum."

"Is he polite and attentive?"

"Yes, mum."

"Honest?"

"Yes, mum."

"Doesn't he ever steal from the market baskets of the tenants?"

"Never, mum."

"He's a good Christian man, is he?"

"Yes, mum. A politer, more attentive, honester or more Christian man never lived, mum."

"I'm delighted to hear that. Where is he now?"

"I'm him, mum."—New York Tribune.

Good Cause For Depression.

"Why does Gabbington go around with such a dejected air lately? For two or three months after his marriage you would have thought he owned the earth. He seemed all puffed up. Now he skulks around like a fellow that didn't more than half believe he had a right to remain on earth. I never saw such a change. Do you know what's gone wrong?"

"Yes. His wife got mad one day and told him she married him because his name is Kenneth, that having been the name of her brave young lover who fell in the Philippines."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Pain in the Joints

may be muscular or rheumatic. The joints are hard to get at, and it requires a powerful, penetrating medicine to reach the affected parts. Polson's Nerviline exactly meets the requirements, for it both powerful and penetrating. The pain is expelled as if by magic, for one drop of Nerviline equals in strength five drops of other medicine. You won't often call the doctor if Nerviline is in the house. Price 25c.

A Nice Man.

"Supposing," said Mr. Sirius Barker during a pleasure trip on an excursion boat, "that I were to fall overboard, what would you do?"

"Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Barker, with a gasp, "I'd cry my eyes out."

"I knew it. That's just like a woman. Always looking for a way to make matters worse. Can't you see that crying wouldn't do the slightest good and that it would only make the water that much deeper?"—Washington Star.

Conditions Favored.

"Kissing goes by favor," he remarked dreamily, as if the quotation had occurred to him casually, without any relationship to the time and its surroundings.

"Oh, I don't know," she replied, with seeming equal unconsciousness of the import of her remark. "I guess it sometimes happens that when conditions favor kissing don't go by."

And it didn't.—Richmond Dispatch.

Misplaced Confidence.

Smith—I've got a good joke on Short.

Jones—Is that so?

Smith—Yes. He asked me to exchange checks with him for a few days. I did so, and his check turned out to be no good.

Jones—Why, according to that, the joke is on you.

Smith—Oh, no, it isn't. You see, my check was also worthless.—Chicago News.

DON'T GIVE IN.

If you have tried various so-called remedies and obtained no relief, don't say that there is no cure for rheumatism. The trouble is, you have not taken the right medicine. What Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure has accomplished for thousands of sufferers it can do for you. Mr. S. O. Taylor, Charlesotte, Ont., suffered with rheumatism in the back (lumbago) for four years; five bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure completely cured him. He has been free from pain ever since. As a blood purifier it has no equal. This preparation is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. Price 50 cents at all druggists or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

MEN OF DISCRETION.

THE HEAD WAITERS IN NEW YORK'S FASHIONABLE RESORTS.

Difficulties of the Calling and the Wise Judgment That Must Be Exercised—Duties They Perform and the Big Incomes They Command.

Every restaurant and hotel proprietor realizes the value of a head waiter who has not only a large acquaintance, but is able to keep his old friends and make new ones. He knows how much such a man does toward attracting custom to his place, and he is aware of the extent to which persons who are going to dine at a restaurant alone or with friends will be influenced by the knowledge that they will find in this restaurant or that some man who knows what they want and will look after their needs and wishes with the interest that comes from past acquaintance and a knowledge that a reward for his interest is certainly forthcoming. It is not alone in his treatment of the old patron that the head waiter is invaluable to his employer. The functionary of that kind who is polite and efficient in other ways soon learns how to make friends for the restaurant, and persons who have once become accustomed to his ministrations and like them will return to the restaurant for the sake of having his particular attention.

The duties of the head waiter in a small hotel or one that has a permanent clientele are not nearly so responsible as those in places which have a constantly changing public. It is in the latter that the capacities of the head waiter are put to the greatest test, and as their number is limited there are always men enough to meet the demand. Generally the waiters in these places hold their employment for a long time.

The duties of the head waiter, who is anxious to make friends for himself and his place of employment, may be as manifold almost as he cares to make them. They do not end with a polite greeting and the selection of a table. They rarely begin there. The head waiter in case the party to be served is in the nature of a dinner party has probably been consulted in advance as to the selection of a table if indeed he has not had the entire ordering of the dinner. If the guests happen to know the head waiter well, there is usually no more for him to do than call him up on the telephone, tell him the number of his guests and the hour they are expected to arrive. The rest he will leave altogether to the head waiter, possibly telling him to be sure and have some certain dish on the table, or to limit the price to a certain figure or possibly the extent of the meal, as the party may be on the way to the theater and not care to linger over the dinner. But, as a whole, he puts the ordering of the dinner into the hands of the head waiter that he has confidence in and whom he also knows to be familiar with his tastes. It will be seen how responsible the position of such a man is and how important to the success of a restaurant or hotel an efficient head waiter is.

There are less extensive operations to promote the comfort of his patrons that are expected from the head waiter. Thus if the guest enters the dining room for breakfast with no appetite it is the duty of the head waiter to suggest that a cool melon or sliced oranges on ice may put him in a frame of mind to enjoy his piece of crisply fried sole and his coffee. One head waiter in the men's restaurant of a Fifth avenue hotel has made his particular reputation by his sympathetic suggestions at breakfast, and he has a regular following that travel in the direction of that hotel when they are feeling that without his advice breakfast might be impossible. He has especially pleased his patrons in this way, but there is not a head waiter in New York hotels who does not know the value of making his guests feel comfortable at breakfast time.

The duties of the head waiter in the different city restaurants are varied in a measure by the rules of the house, although he is always the one person in charge of the rest of the waiters. In one or two of the city restaurants all of the orders are taken by the head waiter and served by the waiters stationed at the table. But that is rare. In the majority of places the head waiter takes the orders only of those persons who are his regular customers and confines his attention to strangers, to seeing that they are seated and have a waiter to look after them and are not neglected during the meal. But it is to the regular patron that he will devote himself most, as it is only from the regular guests that the compensations of the head waiters come. The casual patron of a restaurant never thinks of tipping a head waiter unless he has looked after a large dinner for him. The rewards of the head waiter come from his own clientele, and he is therefore most solicitous of them. His rewards are so much larger than when they come from the tips of the waiters that he can afford to receive them at less frequent intervals.

The head waiter who is known to certain patrons of a restaurant who do not give dinners there, but are more or less regular diners or come to breakfast and are looked after by him, is not likely to benefit from his fees to the extent of more than $10, given at intervals of every six months and in one case at Christmas, when the head waiter is the functionary in the dining room that is most liberally rewarded. It is the number of his clients that makes his compensation in the end so large and enables him to earn an income that would in the case of any employee be high compensation. The best known head waiter in this city is said to receive annually about $9,000, although less than half of that amount comes from the establishment that employs him. The rest is made up from his fees. It rarely if ever happens in this city that a head waiter shares with those under him the tip given by a guest who orders a dinner. If, for the sake of illustration, a guest orders a dinner for six persons that comes to $100, he will probably give to the head waiter $15 or $20 as his fee. Possibly he may think that a certain share of that is going to the waiters who served the meal, but unless he particularly tells the head waiter to give some part of it to them they will not receive a cent. The head waiter takes it all as his share. He does not tip the chef either unless the diner who hands to him a large fee especially tells him that a part of the money is intended for the chef. He is supposed to attend merely to his business when he prepares the best meal that he can.

The difference between a day dream and the ordinary dream is that the latter only costs you loss of sleep, while the former costs you both loss of time and money.

Gratitude

Always seeks to find some expression for itself, and womanly gratitude will not keep silence. Cynical people sometimes say Why do women write these testimonials to the value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription? The answer can be put in one word, Gratitude. When, after years of agony a woman is freed from pain, when the weak woman is made strong and the sick woman well, the natural impulse is to write a word of grateful thanks for the medicine which caused the cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures diseases peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Having used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' during the past year," writes Mrs. Mattie Long, of Pfouts Valley, Perry Co., Pa. "I can truthfully recommend the medicines for all female weaknesses. I have used several bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' which I consider a great blessing to weak women. I was so nervous and discouraged that I hardly knew what to do. Your kind advice for home treatment helped me wonderfully. Thanks to Dr. Pierce."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness, and sick headache. They should be used in connection with "Favorite Prescription," whenever the use of a laxative is indicated.

NEURALGIA

We suggest curing a pain in the face by taking Scott's Emulsion into the stomach. Usual way of treating neuralgia is to rub liniment on the outside. That's only a makeshift.

Scott's Emulsion is nerve food. Scott's Emulsion feeds and strengthens nerves.

For an obstinate neuralgia, for nervousness, for nerve weakness take Scott's Emulsion. It's nerve food and nerve strength.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

EXPERIENCE.

We had an expedition down to Bobbsh on the Crick;
We got some decorations, an' we made the town look slick.
We let the other places have the same old county fair;
We did the thing up proper; for the cost we didn't care.
Expenses cut no figure; so we sat out with a will;
We wouldn't falter if it took a hundred dollar bill.
We'd make the other towns look like a tallow candle's flicker,
Till each of us was proud to be a Bobbsh-on-the-Cricker.

We started in for business, an' we did the thing up brown;
We 'lowed we'd make Chicago seem a wayback country town,
An' Paris, when the climax we proceeded here to cap,
Would hide its face in blushes an' jar dwindle from the map.
The exposition's over, an' we're countin' up the cost;
We're striking off a balance, to to see what's gained or lost,
An' every now an' then the solemn thought occurs to us
That it ain't no easy job to be a great metropolis.

The town is full of castoff organs and squeaky toy balloons
An' other curious instruments that play outlandish tunes.
There's a lot of stranded people gettin' up a benefit;
Us home folks hasn't got the cash to pay the sectin' it.
The tavern man's the only one that done the stranger brown;
He's made some little money, an' he's goin' to quit the town.
If you want to git experience, an' git it hard an' quick,
Just go right in to make a splurge, like Bobbsh on the Crick.

Woman is as old as She Looks.

It is not age but disease, weakness and ill-health that makes women look old, care-worn and wrinkled. You cannot look your best unless you feel well, strong and vigourous with pure, rich blood and steady nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes good looks because it makes good health, restores the healthful glow to the complexion, rounds out the form and gives elasticity to every motion of the body.

Women Hermits in Russia.

Among the villagers on the Volga in the Province of Samara a curious sect of women has made its appearance. It was originated by an elderly peasant woman in Soznova, called the "Blessed Mother." These women have fled from the villages around into a remote district, where they live singly in holes dug out of the face of the hill. They lead a life of fasting and prayer, and believe themselves called from the world, which they think is shortly about to perish in a general conflagration. The "Blessed Mother" has "ten wise virgins" as a sort of bodyguard, and the sect believes that these 11 women are possessed of miraculous powers.

AN INTERESTING ADDRESS

By Miss Fife at the George Street Epworth League Last Night.

Those present at the regular meeting of the George street Epworth League last evening listened to a very interesting and comprehensive address on the topic "The Right Use of Ability," by Miss Fife. The subject was in the hands of a most competent person and was dealt with in a very clever and capable manner. In the course of her remarks, Miss Fife, said that ability or the power to work was in the possession of all, and the extent of one's ability depended altogether on the use one made of it. What we call genius is simply great capacity for hard work. The right use of ability depends much on the motive or aim we have in view. Selfishness always contracts — never expands our powers. A life spent in the service of others is always a life of development. To attain the highest development we must have God as the controlling influence in our lives.

The singing was most hearty and enjoyable, and the League choir is doing much to make this a pleasing feature of the meetings.

The society has under preparation a most excellent programme for their concert to be given Dec. 16th. The admission programmes have been printed and the members are asked to assist in the sale of tickets that the entertainment may be a complete success.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

There will be a meeting of the Executive of the Rugby Club at the Y.M.C.A. Hall this evening at 8 o'clock.

HOCKEY.

A meeting of the Executive of the Hockey Club is called for Thursday evening at 9.30 o'clock at the Oriental parlours. All members will please attend.

The annual meeting of the Trent Valley League will be held in the Oriental Hotel on the morning of Saturday, Dec. 14th. This is the date fixed by the constitution which was adopted last season. The membership of the league will be greatly increased this year. Amongst the Clubs that have made application to the secretary are, Millbrook, Omemee, Hastings, Beaverton, Cannington, Uxbridge, and Port Perry.

The Lakeviews are quietly looking about themselves. Their annual meeting will be held in the course of a few days, and the team will be augmented it is understood, by a number of players who were last year identified with the Peterborough. It is expected that the Lakeviews will challenge the Peterboroughs for a game on New Year's Day.

BASKET BALL.

Last Saturday evening a committee organized to draft a schedule of basket ball games, arranged the games as follows, to be played two each Saturday evening consecutively, at 8.30 and 9.00 p.m. The officials for these games will be chosen by the captains of the playing teams. The public are cordially invited to attend the gymnasium each Saturday night this winter when they will have the pleasure of witnessing apparatus work by the men with league basket ball matches for finals. Be on hand for the first two games next Saturday night. Following is the schedule:

Dec. 7—1 vs. 5 and 4 vs. 3.
Dec. 14—2 vs. 6 and 1 vs. 3.
Dec. 21—4 vs. 2 and 6 vs. 5.
Dec. 28—1 vs. 4 and 3 vs. 6.
Jan. 4—1 vs. 2 and 3 vs. 5.
Jan. 11—4 vs. 6 and 2 vs. 5.
Jan. 18—1 vs. 6 and 4 vs. 5.
Jan. 25—2 vs. 3.

THE INSTITUTE ANNUAL MEETINGS

Opened in County Council Chamber Yesterday.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES

By Miss Maddock, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Silverwood and Mr. Howson—Free Discussion Followed.

The annual winter meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute commenced yesterday afternoon, in the County Council Chamber when interesting addresses were delivered by Mr. Duncan Anderson, Miss Maddock, of Guelph, Mr. Silverwood, of Lindsay and Mr. Howson, of Norwood. The attendance was not very large but those who were present were amply repaid by the instructive adresses given.

Mr. E. M. Elliott, the president of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, occupied the chair and opened the meeting in a few preliminary remarks in which he claimed that the Farmers' Institute were a means of education for the farmers, which should be taken advantage of to a greater extent than they are at the present time. Continuing the president referred to the beet sugar question which he claimed had been agitated first in this district by the Farmers' Institute, who prompted the Board of Trade and the town council in securing the establishment of a factory of this kind in Peterborough. Apparently at the present time the matter lay entirely with the farmers. If they could show the capitalists that they could grow the proper quality of beets there would be no difficulty in inducing capitalists to locate in Peterborough. He strongly advocated a strong delegation of farmers attending the meeting.

MISS MADDOCK.

Miss Maddock, of Guelph, was the first speaker, and delivered a very interesting address on the subject of "Bacteria." This is a subject that is of more particular interest to the ladies, but Miss Maddock hastened over the results that follow bacteria germs, in which she claimed that milk was one of the greatest conductor of diseases that there was. Referring more particularly to the matter of dairying, Miss Maddock said there was science in dairying as well as domestic science in the home. Dairying should not be conducted in a hap-hazard way and with practically no results. If carried on in a scientific way it would be helpful. One of the oldest occupation on the farm is dairying. We hear of milk as soon as we do of man The product of milk is butter and cheese and it is important that these two articles should be of the very best quality. The first churn in the world was a skin bag and the only way of churning the milk in those days was to attach the bag to the neck of an animal. The methods of churning are now changed. The principal thing now in churning is to get the concussion, but not friction, to get small fat particles. In order to have good butter keep your cans clean. You must also have clean cow stables and have them ventilated so that the pure air can get in. Then again you will never have pure milk by letting cows drink impure water. Parties milking cows should see that their hands are clean; clean the cows and wipe them with a dry cloth. After the milking is done strain the milk through a wire strainer and then cheese cloth. Milk should be left in a temperature of about 60 degrees. There is a germ that belongs to the lowest form of vegetable plant that will get into the milk and cause impurity.

Dry fodder should not be fed to the cows during milking time. All germs in milk will be destroyed by a temperature of 160. From 65 to 100 they will moisten and grow rapidly, but below 65 they will not multiply. Iron pots are used principally for heating the milk to temperature of 160, after which the milk should be left to cool down. Turnips should not be fed when milking. All milk tins should be first washed out with luke warm water, then hot water, after which scald them, but do not use a dishcloth, use a small brush as it is better. Cloths are always so moist that germs will go through them. Cans exposed to the sun will be free from germs. Separators are splendid things, and by their use purer butter will be obtained. Every cow's milk should be tested to ascertain if they produce enough pure milk to pay. Some animals do not pay and consequently they often interefere with cows who do pay well.

In the winter time if the butter is hard you may be obliged to use water but do not have it below a temperature of 29 degrees. There is nothing more detrimental to dairying than the ignorance of butter-making. Churns should only be about one-third full of milk and when tested should go about 25 to 30 per cent. butter fat. Milk should stand as long as possible before taking the cream off and it is necessary to use ice and cold water in winter as well as in summer. In cities and towns a good quality of butter is in demand and be easily disposed of at 20c. per lb.

MR. ANDERSON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Duncan Anderson, of Rugby, gave an address on "Soil Cultivation," which was much appreciated by those who were present. He is a practical farmer of much experience, and has made a study of farming in all its branches. He said that farmers should ever remember that the fertility of the soil was of the greatest national importance. All classes of people, whether they be merchants, professional men, manufacturers or men of wealth, all are dependent on the man who tills the soil, and consequently it is essential that good food should be supplied. Cultivating the soil, following a rotation of crops, and manuring, are three things which would have a tendency to keep up the fertility of the soil.

Farmers cannot make the seed plant too light. Take wheat and let it grow, and if there is no fertility in the soil it will die. Then again the seed bed should not be too fine and the fertility too near the top. If you put manure on the field on top of the surface exposed to the sun and should wet weather set in the good substance will wash away. Never let the cold sub-soil come up near the top as it will injure the fertility. Sandy loam or clay loam are the best soils because there is a certain amount of moisture that will facilitate and keep the crop in case of dry weather. Barnyard manure will give better results. Take barnyard and decayed manure to a chemist and have it analysed and he will tell you there is too much nitrogen in the latter. An intelligent man is one who feeds stock and secures manure to put on his land. If he grows, wheat, oats and hay without manuring he will sell the fertility of the soil. In plowing there are many difficulties, and you must be careful and avoid them. The proper way to plow a sod field is to use a plow that will prevent grass growing up on the furrows. If you leave the soil sitting up on its edges and a dry summer follows you will not grow a good crop, because it does not hold the moisture. There is no crop like the clover seed, and it is better for feed than timothy in the winter. Always follow rotation, and grow rye, oats and other grains in one field, but never use the one kind of grain two years in succession. Timothy seed is much different to clover, having a very small root it will have a tendency to impoverish the soil. Clover seed will go down to the subsoil, and there should be clover in every rotation. In dry seasons the gang-plow will be better in single furrows than a twin plow. In the spring there should not be applied more than 12 or 14 loads of manure on the land before plowing and cultivating it. The land should be feed as well as cultivated, and if farmers are compelled to hire extra help it would pay them to do so.

MR. SILVERWOOD.

Mr. A. E. Silverwood, representing Messrs. Dundass & Flavelle, of Lindsay, spoke on the subject of "Poultry Interests of Canada." A few years ago the people of this country began raising poultry for export. Until recently they were engaged entirely in the grain raising business, but conditions have changed of late, and the little hen brings more profit than the ordinary farmer imagines. The average farmer says that the hen does not pay, and as a matter of fact they don't, unless properly taken care of. The first thing that must be considered is the equipment of a suitable house. He then gave his attention to the matter of breeds, and the speaker was slightly prejudiced in favour of the Plymouth Rock. Thirdly, they must give the hen proper attention, and this was a matter that the speaker dwelt at some length on. Mr. Silverwood then spoke of chickens for export, and in connection he said that his firm has purchased thirty thousand chickens this fall, the most of which were raised in Victoria County, whereas a few years ago he could not have purchased 2000. As to the raising of the birds, the speaker said that there was a great difficulty in raising turkeys, but notwithstanding this fact one farmer in Peterborough county sold him $140 worth this fall, and even then did not sell all his flock. But the first thing to be considered was the matter of hatching, then how to keep the chickens in coops, and, finally, how to prepare them for the market. There is an unlimited market for poultry in the Old Country, and in fact the city of London alone can consume all the chickens that Canada can raise.

As to turkeys, the speaker claimed that some years ago the turkey was a drug on the market, but now matters were changed. The Peterborough market—as far as turkeys were concerned at any rate—was a splendid one, and it was extremely hard for him to compete with it. However, he considered that the more turkeys he purchased the greater the tendency would be towards sending the price up.

The speaker was asked concerning incubators, and he gave much valuable information in this regard. He strongly recommended the adoption of artificial incubators. He had experimented along this line with good results.

Mr. Howson, of Norwood, was the last speaker of the afternoon, and delivered a brief address on "The Bacon Hog." Mr. Howson is a young man who has evidently given much study to this particular line of farming, and he gave out many useful hints concerning the manner in which to raise hogs for the English market. Considerable discussion followed his remarks.

The meeting then adjourned.

PROVINCE HAS POWER

Premier Roblin on the New Prohibition Act of Manitoba.

ENFORCEMENT BY LEGISLATURE

Mr. Phippen's Contentions—He Says Act, If Enforced, Will Make Manitoba a Nation of Liquor Importers—The Difficulties in Way Are Not Few and Small—Liquor Man's View.

Winnipeg, Dec. 4.—Mr. Phippen, counsel for the liquor men before the Imperial Privy Council, in an interview yesterday said:

"The view of the Judicial Committee does not appear to differ materially from that of the Court of King's Bench, excepting as to the effect to be given to Section 119. The Judicial Committee appears to hold that this section limits and governs the extra provincial effect of the other sections of the act, that when we find something apparently prohibited by the act, which is beyond the power of provincial limitation, we must read that prohibition out of the act by reason of the construction to be placed upon Section 119. In other words, the Court of King's Bench, under the construction placed upon Section 119, thought the act had an extra provincial effect and was therefore ultra vires. The Judicial Committee, placing a different construction on Section 119, is of the opinion that the act cannot affect interprovincial transactions, but is limited strictly to transactions within the province, and is, therefore, within the power of the Provincial Legislature.

"It was for the purpose of meeting the difficulties occasioned by the court possibly coming to this conclusion that a number of the questions which the Judicial Committee has not answered were submitted. The result of the decision is that the right of an importer to import through an agent, to keep imported goods in places other than those specified by the act, the right of Dominion licenses to carry on their business as heretofore in the province, and numerous other questions are left untouched and can only be settled by future litigation."

"In your opinion, what will be the effect of the decision if the act is brought into force?" asked the reporter.

"It will simply make Manitoba a nation of importers."

The Act's Enforcement.

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 4.—Premier Roblin of Manitoba was asked yesterday for an opinion concerning the full text of the judgment of the Privy Council in the liquor law appeal. He replied that the published report showed that the cabled announcement of the judgment covered the ground and established the right of the province to pass prohibitory legislation.

He was asked if the Government would take steps to put the Macdonald Act into force.

"That will be for the Legislature to decide," he said.

This is taken to mean that the Cabinet will not put the law into force by proclamation and as indicated by Premier Roblin last week, will not assume responsibility for Hugh Macdonald's measure.

Danger of Break With the Turk.

Constantinople, Dec. 4.—Strained relations are threatened between Italy and Turkey. Two years ago the Sultan ordered an Italian firm, Messrs. Ansaldo of Genoa, to reconstruct and rearm eight of his disabled warships. Now His Majesty, fearing that before Turkey can pay for the work done on the ships, they will have to become obsolete, is seeking to break the contract. The Italians are consequently alleging bad faith. In hope of arriving at some settlement the Porte now proposes that the Ansaldos relinquish their former contract and accept an order for a cruiser like the one the Crampe are building to cover the indemnity for the Harpoot mission.

Will Die in the Church.

Vienna, Dec. 4.—The papers here yesterday published a St. Petersburg despatch, which states that the Czar has summoned M. Pobedonostseff, chief procurator of the Holy Synod, and M. Antony, metropolitan of St. Petersburg, and urged on them the withdrawal of the excommunication of Count Tolstoi, the Russian author, before the latter dies. The Czar, the despatch states, has been warned by the ecclesiastics that if Tolstoi dies under the ban the resulting indignation would produce a revolution.

Step Sale of Girls.

Cleveland, Dec. 4.—The workers of Alta House Social Settlement, which was established and is supported by Mrs. Prentice of Chicago, a daughter of John D. Rockefeller, are making an effort to stop the practice of Italian parents in the slums of selling their little daughters in marriage. They were successful in one case yesterday, preventing the issuance of a license to Gaudenzio Gentile to marry Beatrice Corry, 14 years old. They say that the prospective bridegroom had paid for the girl's hand.

Thinks He Has the Murderer.

Hartney, Man., Dec. 2.—Constable W. H. Bradley of this town has placed under arrest and is closely guarding a man whom he is quite convinced is the individual accused of the bloodthirsty murder of J. Aseling, which took place near Cartwright on Monday. The suspect gives his name as Louis Salic.

Dillon Counsels Force.

London, Dec. 2.—John Dillon, M. P., addressing the Irish League demonstration at Loughrea yesterday, counseled the evicted tenants to take back their farms by storm, and that they should fight and suffer if necessary. He said the League funds would be given to assist those who showed a soldier's spirit.

CONSUMPTION CAMPS.

Claim That Tent Life in Winter Will Restore Their Health.

(Montreal Witness.)

As soon as the weather will permit, and proper locations can be selected, there will be pitched near Boston the first of a number of camps for consumptives. The camp (and each succeeding camp will be like it) will consist of ten piano-box tents arranged in a circle, with an open-air fire in the centre, and surrounded by a duck wall eight feet high. Each of these tents will be a consumptive's home; a consumptive will sleep there, even through the coldest weather, with no other protection than plenty of felt blankets, felt sleeping boots and a two-gallon jug of hot water.

The tents are made of 12-ounce duck, are only seven feet high, with four-foot walls, boxed in around the bottom a foot from the ground. They will be lined with weather paper. The flaps will open toward the fire, the ten tents making a little circle about a clean gravel court. In the duck wall which will surround the wall will be a single entrance. The people who live there will wear one heavy suit night and day. They will each of them take one quick soapless bath a week, and will eat three good hearty meals a day, with coffee in the morning and hot chocolate any time of the day or night. Their bill of fare will include milk, eggs, vegetables, bread and butter, and meat—chiefly beef, mutton or pork, boiled on spits before the fire, or roasted in the embers, or boiled down into soup.

This open life is expected to cure them of their disease. The method is the result of experiments made last winter in a tent on Huntington avenue by a scientist whose name has not yet been divulged. This gentleman pitched his tent during the coldest part of January, which was more than usually cold, and stayed in there until the early spring, engrossed in his experiments, but finally seeing patients, and announcing that he wanted as many consumptives as possible to prove the truth of his theories.

He wants the consumptives still. His theory has been very well tested now, but he still wants as many consumptives as will come to him—the worse their condition the better—to put them in his settlements.

"The life there," he said recently, "quickly fortifies a man's bodily powers; it convolutes, then evolutes man back toward ancestral life again. The skin, nails and hair toughen and thicken; pulmonary catarrh stops; hemorrhages cease. A civilized man loses his sensitiveness to his surroundings. The body [illegible] features. All the energy [illegible] tribution; his intellectual centres [illegible] dormant. All the powers are [illegible] trusted in building and repair. He falls asleep at twilight, and wakes at dawn, ready to eat. Incidental disaster affects him little; he changes from an hothouse plant to an oak. The fear and panic customary to a crowd of consumptives no longer affects him, and thus the greatest danger of hospitalism is avoided.

"Baron Larry Nap, chief surgeon and adviser, made this same observation in his Egyptian and Russian campaigns that incipient consumptives make the best soldiers. They have Spartan courage, and army life properly regulated will cure them. A regiment of consumptives would be no mean enemy."

The camps are merely for the purpose of scientific investigation, and if a patient cannot afford the expenses he will be taken free. The camps will all be near the city, where scientific physicians are within call.

PROPER FEEDING OF PORK.

Prof. Shutt's Enquiry Into the Causes of Soft Pork.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a bulletin giving the details of an investigation made by Mr. Frank Shutt, chemist, Dominion Experimental Farm, into the character and causes of soft pork. Seeing that Canada last year received from England more than $12,000,000 for bacon, it is obvious that the bacon export trade is of great importance to this country. Among the qualities necessary for first-class bacon in England, none is of greater importance than firmness. A tendency to softness or tenderness is quite sufficient to rate the bacon at second-class prices, and if this softness is at all pronounced, to make it altogether unsaleable at a profit. Among the more important conclusions at which Mr. Shutt arrives as a result of his investigation are the following: That the one great controlling factor in the quality of the pork of finished hogs lies in the character of the food employed. That Indian corn and beans tend to softness, viz., to increase the percentage of olein in the fat. If these grains are used they must be fed judiciously if first class, firm pork, is to be profed. If fed in conjunction with skim milk it has been shown that a considerable portion of Indian corn may be used in the grain ration without injuring the quality of the pork. That a grain ration consisting of a mixture of oats, peas, and barley in equal parts gives a fair pork of excellent quality. That skim milk not only tends to thriftiness and rapid growth, but counteracts in a very marked manner, any tendency to softness. That rape, pumpkins, artichokes, sugar beets, turnips and mangolds can be fed in conjunction with a good ration without injuring the quality of the pork. That the fat of very young pigs and animals of unthrifty growth is softer than that of finished pigs that have increased steadily to the finishing weight.

HISTORIC HASTINGS.

Happenings in the Village on the Trent —Personal Mention.

The Thanksgiving dinner held in the town hall on that evening was a grand success; everybody present seeming to greatly enjoy themselves. The solos rendered by Miss Free of Campbellford, Miss Watson of Trenton, Mrs. Coyle of Lindsay, and Messrs. Hayeke Bros. of town, were well received by all present; each receiving several encores. The concert throughout was indeed excellent for which all join in congratulating the managing committee.

Mr. T. B. Waddell, manager of the Union Bank of Canada, Norwood, has been transferred to the Carleton Place branch.

Miss Carrie Gallagher, of Warkworth, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. W. Bailey, at present.

Messrs. T. T. Gallagher, W. T. Stewart and Dr. Wilson were in Norwood on Sunday.

A meeting for the purpose of organising a Hockey Club will be held in the council chamber on Saturday. All persons interested are requested to be present, as business of great importance will be transacted.

Messrs. T. W. Mix, R. P. Hulbert and T. Humphries passed through here to-day on their way to Peterborough.

Mr. T. R. Simpson, of Durham, was in town on Saturday.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, of Ameliasburg, spent Thanksgiving at the home of their daughter, Mrs. L. F. Clarry.

The many friends of Rev. P. J. McGuire are pleased to again see him around after his severe illness.

Miss Florence Weldon, of Lindsay, was the guest of Mrs. L. F. Clarry last week.

Mrs. Coyle, of Lindsay, is at present a guest of Mrs. A. L. Adams at the parsonage.

Pill Manufacturers Enraged.

The makers of all the various pills on the market are greatly troubled over the new medicine, Merrill's System Tonic. It is doing away with their business. System Tonic is not only a positive cure for Habitual Constipation, but a blood purifier and builder as well as a tonic for every organ in the body. One 50c. bottle cures to stay cured. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. Mr. Thompson of Ashburnham, presided at the missionary meeting in the Methodist church here on Sunday night. The church was well filled, and Mr. Thompson was much appreciated.

The Foresters will hold their annual at home on Friday night, Dec. 20th.

Miss Pauline Johnston, the talented Canadian poetess, of Indian birth, with Mr. Walter McRaye, will be present at an entertainment in the town hall on Wednesday, Dec. 11th. This will be a boon to a great many people who have desired to hear these talented people.

The river is now completely covered with ice, much to the delight of the small boy.

Mr. John McFarlane is having some improvements made to his dwelling.

The Bull Dog kind

Grip-Quinine

Cures any COLD or COUGH in a few hours.

The Croup.

is a terrible thing, isn't it? Somehow, that awful cough, that hard struggle for air, can never be forgotten. Be a little forehanded and prevent it. Keep Vapo-Cresolene in the house, and when the children take cold let them breathe in the vapor during the evening. It goes right to the throat, just where the croup lies. All irritation subsides, the cough quiets down and serious trouble is prevented. It never fails to cure whooping cough.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supply of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physiological testimonials from users, post-paid. VAPO-CRESOLENE CO., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Edmison, druggist.

KINMOUNT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. and Mrs. D. Graham, of Somerville, lost a beloved child by croup after three days illness. All that medical skill and loving care could do seemed of no avail. The remains were followed to their last resting place in the Burnt River cemetery by a large concourse of friends and neighbours. Mr. and Mrs. Graham have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement. Well can they say—

She is not dead the child of our affection,
But gone to that bright school,
Where she no longer needs our poor protection,
And Christ Himself doth rule.

HEARTBURN.

Many Sufferers From This Affection Fail to see Their Real Danger Till They are Completely Laid up With Chronic Indigestion.

Heartburn is Indigestion. The food instead of being properly digested and assimilated, ferments, and lies in a sour, rotting mass in the stomach.

The consequences are always unpleasant, and a great menace to all good health.

If not corrected, Heartburn culminates in Dyspepsia or Chronic Indigestion.

It is simply a warning which should be properly heeded. Something should be done at once to correct the disordered condition of the stomach and digestive organs.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are especially designed to cure all such weaknesses. They digest the food, allownesses. They digest the food, allowing rest and recuperation to the stomach. They correct at once all derangements. They stimulate and strengthen the action of the liver and bowels. They tone up the system, and obliterate every trace of Heartburn, Flatulency, Gas on the Stomach, Sour Stomach, or other symptoms of wrong digestive action.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more than relieve. They cure. Cure permanently and forever all Stomach Troubles.

They are 50c. a box, and are sold by all druggists.

Sufferers with Heartburn should lose no time in procuring a box of this remedy. It will cure, and by its prompt aid, you may yet avert the pains of Chronic Dyspepsia. However, if you have waited too long, and have already entered the final stages, don't despair. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure you, but of course it is easier and cheaper to prevent than to cure.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Clara Edith Graham, who died Nov. 20th, 1901, aged 8 years and 6 months:

The bleak November day was drawing to a close,
As on her bed of pain, a slender child reposed.
Her loving mother o'er her leant,
With grief her pain was riven;
Oh! mother dear, she said, don't weep,
We will meet again in Heaven.

To her brothers fond and sister dear,
She bid a sad farewell;
The absent ones were not forgot,
She thought of them as well.
All that loving care and kindness could devise,
To her was given.
Too frail for earth she seemed,
But not too fair for Heaven.

Like to a budding flower,
Her blossom tender;
This gentle maiden fair,
We can remember.
Her dying words of hope,
Her last request
Was to her kind father given:
"Mind me," she said, "be good,
Be good; meet me in Heaven."

A FRIEND.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. A. Campbell, late of Perrytown, is employed at the butter factory. The factory for the winter season. Farmers are rushing their milk to the factory, so as to have No. 1 butter which will command the highest price in the market.

Dr. Keith spent Thanksgiving Day at the paternal home in Lindsay.

Lindsay can boast of having one of our worthy citizens, who moved from here lately. We miss him in our town very much and the farming community will regret that he is not in the foundry as of yore, but Mr. J. Handley is rushing business himself and his staff as usual.

The annual meeting of the Mount Pleasant Branch of the Bible Society, was held here on the 21st ult., it being the 46th annual meeting held here. Rev. J. G. Potter, the agent, delivered an excellent address. Rural Mounties and Kannawin were also present and addressed the meeting. The choir, under their leader, Mrs. E. Brown, rendered some excellent music, and an anthem suitable for the occasion was also given. We hope that the collectors appointed will meet with a kind reception from those on whom they may call.

Mr. William Greig, the blacksmith, who has commenced business in the shop formerly occupied by Wm. Smith, is doing a good business.

Thanksgiving Day was observed much better in our town this year than in past years.

Farmers are reaping a rich harvest under the present Government, which has been the means of widening the channel between this Dominion and Great Britain so that our produce finds a good market and high prices in the English markets. The rush of farmers with their turkeys to dispose of them at Millbrook to-day was a proof of this fact. The loyalty of this Dominion is manifest in the offer of a third contingent to help Great Britain in her need in South Africa.

Speaker's Sore Throat.

Public speakers and singers know how useless and sickening are cough mixtures, sprays, lozenges, etc., etc., for irritable and sore throat, and state that the most satisfactory remedy is Catarrhozone, the advantage of which is that it acts quickly and is convenient to use in public places. Catarrhozone relieves congestion, allays inflammation, and is a protection to the membrane. As a safeguard against colds and catarrh it has no equal. Rev. Dr. McKay, of Goderich, says, "Catarrhozone is an excellent remedy for throat irritation, arising from colds." Physicians, ministers and singers recommend Catarrhozone; druggists sell it for $1. Small size, 25c. By mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Foreman for the Dominion Cooperage Co., Praises the Oxygen Preparation, Powley's Liquified Ozone.

The process of manufacture of Powley's Liquified Ozone is a long one. It takes time, but at the end of the process we have a preparation of oxygen in liquid form, producing all the energy and vigor peculiar to Nature's great health-giving element. That it has extreme value is evidenced by Mr. Moore's letter in which he says:

As foreman of Mr. Thompson's Cooperage works, I have put up in your laboratory several heavy retorts for making Ozone. I and my men noticed, while working in the laboratory and inhaling the gases, our energies and health becoming stronger. I obtained several bottles for my own use and I am pleased to state your remedy perfectly agreed with my stomach and built up my general constitution. I am recommending it to all my friends. You are at liberty to publish this for the benefit of humanity.

(Sgd.) JOHN MOORE, 140 Front St., West, Toronto, Ont.

The reason that Powley's Liquified Ozone makes cures is because it contains oxygen. This element has been found lately to be of extreme value in the treatment of disease of any sort. Its value being chiefly demonstrated as a tonic and antiseptic.

Every testimonial we publish is genuine. We want you to investigate every case because they are all absolutely true.

ON A MURDER CHARGE.

Dr. Alexander Graham of London Arrested There Tuesday.

London, Dec. 4.—Dr. Alexander Graham was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Rider on a charge of murder. The jury Monday night brought in a verdict that the infant child of Annie Kilbourne came to its death by premature birth, caused by Dr. Alexander Graham, with the consent of the mother, and there was nothing left for the crown authorities to do but order the doctor's arrest.

The doctor took the matter coolly, and said nothing to the officer in charge. Dr. Graham will appear at the Police Court this morning, and a date will then be set for his trial. If bail is taken permission must be received from the Attorney-General.

The case has caused widespread interest in the city. Dr. Graham being well known locally. He has lived in London fifteen years.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

A CURE FOR IT.

Not a Patent Cure all, nor a Modern Miracle but Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, as a rule, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think of leaving out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely certain to cure every dyspeptic and he need look no farther.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it, that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medical properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the over-worked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, gives refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Any druggist will tell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give universal satisfaction.

STRATHCONA'S ILLNESS SERIOUS.

Cannot Leave His Bed, and Physicians Have Forbidden Visits.

London, Dec. 4.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian High Commissioner, who has been confined to his house with a severe cold for some time, is still seriously ill. He cannot leave his bed and is unable to do any business.

Several specialists have been consulted by Sir William Broadbent, who is attending the patient, and they have forbidden visits from any one excepting the members of the family.

Bonine Murder Trial.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The case of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine on trial for the murder of James S. Ayers, jr., is expected to go to the jury the latter part of this week. Three witnesses, intimate friends of Ayres', were put on the stand yesterday, and swore that they had seen a revolver in Ayres' room. Two of them, Duncan B. Hubbard and Thomas Ford, had come from Michigan to testify. They said the revolver greatly resembled the one in evidence. The wrapper worn by Mrs. Bonine on the night of the tragedy was again the subject of discussion, the defence putting on the stand witnesses whose evidence was intended to discredit that given by Dr. Shaeffer, the Government expert who had testified that a careful examination of the wrapper had failed to disclose the presence of any blood spots thereon.

Chloroform Caused Death.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The investigation into the death of James M. Field, the turnkey at the Halton County jail, who died suddenly while undergoing an operation at the Western Hospital last Wednesday morning, was concluded last night at No. 3 Police Station, when the jury empanelled by Coroner Arthur Jukes Johnson, returned the following verdict: "We find that James M. Field came to his death while under the influence of chloroform and that no blame can be attached to the officials of the hospital. We believe that ether and chloroform should only be administered by duly qualified medical practitioners and that a special anaesthetist should be appointed in institutions where operations are performed."

Died at 101.

Windsor, Dec. 4.—Timothy Brennahan, the oldest man in Windsor, died yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. Lawley. He was 101 years of age. Mr. Brennahan was born in Castle Gregory, County Kerry, Ireland, and came to the United States in 1850. For a number of years he lived in Detroit, having come from that city to Windsor 14 years ago. Up to a short time before his death he was in possession of all his faculties, being able to read without spectacles.

Casualties Were Heavy.

Colon, Columbia, Dec. 4.—The total number of killed and wounded on both sides in recent engagements is estimated at about 400. Just prior to the capture of Colon, the Liberal Generals, Patrio, Cortisoz and Triana, were all three drowned, in an imprudent attempt in a small boat and through a rough and high sea to reach, surprise and seize the Columbian gunboat Gen. Pinzon.

Canal Shipments Falling Off.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—The quantity of grain carried through the Soulanges Canal during the season just closed was nearly a million and a half bushels less than during the previous year. In 1901 the quantity was 18,036,524 bushels, against 19,427,586 bushels in 1900.

Six French Jurors.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Frank Wabey, the halfbreed Indian, who is on trial at Hull for killing Thomas McCabe, the fur dealer, near Silver Lake, in Ottawa County, May 11, 1900, has claimed French as his nationality and was in consequence allowed six French jurors.

CHOOSING OFFICERS

Major Merritt Will Go to South Africa as Second in Command.

LONG SERVICE MEDALS ARRIVE

The Name of the Corps May Be Changed, As a Cablegram Has Been Sent to the War Office Asking That Regiment May Be Known as Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—It is expected that this morning a list of the officers who are to receive commissions in the Canadian Yeomanry, as the force is at present designated, will be made known. Lt.-Col. Evans, who has been granted a free hand by the Minister of Militia, has practically made up his mind as to the officers he wants, and unless it is decided to withhold the names until the formal approval of Lord Roberts has been given they will be made public without delay. Major Hamilton Merritt has been offered and has accepted the position of second in command. He arrived in the city yesterday morning and had an interview with Col. Evans, after which he reported to Major-General O'Grady-Haly. Major Merritt brought with him a telescope, and made the suggestion that each officer and man should be furnished with one of these valuable instruments for scanning the veldt. The telescope is enclosed in a small case, can be easily carried slung over the shoulder, and costs only $5. Major Merritt returned to Toronto last night. It is thought likely that Sergt.-Maj. Church of the Northwest Mounted Police will be appointed adjutant of the force, and that Messrs. A. J. Devine and R. Riddell will be chosen as medical officer and surgeon respectively. The new corps is looked upon in England as a regiment of Imperial Yeomanry. The authorities here, however, do not approve of the title, and a cablegram has been sent to the War Office recommending that the force be called the Canadian Mounted Rifles. It is not thought that any objection will be raised to this. No word has yet come from England in regard to the ocean transportation arrangements. Messrs. Campbell of the Dominion Steamship Line and H. M. Allan of the Allan Company were here interviewing the Minister of Militia yesterday, but in the absence of instructions from the War Office Col. Borden could not say what would be done. Accommodation for the regiment is being prepared at the exhibition grounds, and the caretaker there will provide subsistence for the men. Considerable interest is felt regarding the destination of the force after it reaches Cape Town. Colonel Evans hopes that his men will be brigaded under General Alderson, but, of course, that depends upon the Commander-in-Chief in South Africa.

Letter From Col. Steele.

In a letter dated Pretoria, Oct. 20, received by a prominent militia officer from Lt.-Col. Steele, the latter states that Major Ogilvy has been appointed inspecting Major of the "B," or northern, division of the South Africa Constabulary, at a salary of £750 per annum. The rainy season, Col. Steele says, has commenced, which makes travel and the transport of supplies very difficult. "I am," the writer goes on to say, "when not on the trek, living in Paul Kruger's house, a pretty comfortable one." Another item of news in the letter is that Dr. Vaux of Ottawa has been appointed civil surgeon to "A" column, operating near Bloemfontein.

Not Colonel Thompson.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The notice in the news that Lieut.-Col. Thompson had made application for membership in the third contingent was an error. Col. Thompson has not applied for enlistment. The error arose from the fact that the colonel had written on behalf of another man.

Tozer Still Ill.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—A cable from the War Office to Lord Minto announces that No. 2175, Trooper Walter Tozer, is seriously ill at Bloemfontein. His next of kin is Mathew Tozer, father, at 215 Bleecher street, Toronto.

Long Service Medals Have Arrived.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—The first consignment of the long service decoration reached the Militia Department yesterday from England, and will be distributed shortly to those entitled to receive them.

It is a very handsome decoration of gold and silver, suspended by a green ribbon. Inside an oval silver disc is the royal monogram of "V. R.I." in open letters of gold, and surmounting the disc is a golden crown to which the ribbon bar is attached. Around the face of the disc are the words "Colonial auxiliary forces." The decoration is for commissioned officers who have served 20 years in the militia. The long service medals are for similar length of service in the ranks. The Minister of Militia will wear the long service decoration.

Trying to Save Leplaine.

Montreal, Dec. 4.—Mr. A Geoffrion, counsel for Joseph Leplaine, the Montreal man sentenced to be hanged Dec. 14 for murder, saw the Minister of Justice yesterday and urged commutation of the sentence on the ground of hereditary insanity. Want of motive was also relied upon to indicate that Leplaine was not in his right mind when he committed the murder.

No Danger of Starvation.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—The settlers in the Temiskaming County will not suffer this winter from lack of supplies. The boats have been making all possible speed on every trip, and have succeeded in getting in ample provisions and stores.

A $1,000,000 Policy.

Vancouver, Dec. 4.—It is stated on good authority that the mother of Premier Dunsmuir has taken out a $1,000,000 insurance policy. It is understood that there is a little difficulty over the payment of $50,000 as commission on it.

Undergo an Engine.

St. Thomas, Dec. 4.—Jerome Sanderson of the Michigan Central roundhouse, miraculously escaped death this afternoon. An engine fell on him, pinning him down for 20 minutes. He was terribly injured.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Case of Poussette vs. Dickson Co. Now On.

RESUME OF THE EVIDENCE.

The Plaintiff in the Witness Box—Details of Negotiations.

The case of Poussette vs. the Dickson Company, in which no inconsiderable interest has been manifested, was taken up before Chief Justice Meredith this morning. The case, as is well known, is one in which Mr. A. P. Poussette, the former solicitor for the Dickson Company, sues the company for the sum of $169,000 damages sustained by an alleged breach of contract for the sale of certain properties which the plaintiff alleges he had verbal authority to sell.

The case was closely connected with one brought by Mr. Starr of Cornwall, against the Dickson Company for $77,000 in lieu of specific performance, which latter term applies to a contract made with the plaintiff by Poussette, solicitor of the company, for the sale of certain lands. As a portion of the land has been disposed of he sues for the sum stated in lieu of the specific performance which is now impossible.

R. F. McWilliams and Clark, K.C., Toronto, for pltf. Poussette; Leech, K.C., Cornwall, for Starr; Roger & Bennet, and Aylesworth, K.C., Toronto, for individual defendants; Hall & Hayes, and Watson, K.C., for deft., the Dickson Company.

It was decided that the evidence taken in the first case should be used in connection with the second as far as applicable.

Mr. A. P. Poussette was the first witness. To Mr. Clark he stated that he had been solicitor for the Dickson Company from 1889 uptil the present year. The shares were divided in $100 shares as follows:

Charles McGill	10 shares
Jas. Roger Davidson	10 "
Dickson Davidson	10 "
J. H. Hall	176 "
Annie Josephine Speer	170 "
S. D. Hall	176 "
Elisabeth Davidson	530 "
Charlotte Dickson	530 "
Martha Dickson	540 "
Ellen Walsh	530 "
Mary Ann Hazlitt	530 "
William Davidson	11 "
William Walsh	11 "
Richard Hall	12 "

Mr. T. G. Hazlitt was president of the company for the nine years previous to his death. He acted for the family in all their business affairs, with Mr. Richard Hall as trustee, but he was the acting trustee. In 1892 Mr. Hazlitt asked witness to interest himself in making a sale of the property. An endeavour was made to float a company in England. In 1893 the timber limits were sold but came back in 1897 into the hands of the company from the Howry Company. Mr. Hazlitt was unwilling to recommence lumbering, and again asked witness to try and make a sale. In September of 1897 witness received the necessary authority to make a sale of the limits and the Lakefield property. The sale, however, could not be effected. The written authority to make this sale could not be produced.

Mr. Watson, K.C. — We dispute the existence of such a document.

Witness, continuing, said that in the winters of 1897-98 he met Mr. Starr and asked him to consider a proposal to conduct the various properties by means of a company to be formed. He had then received an option on the property. This was on Oct. 10th, 1898. His instructions from Mr. Hazlitt were that he should endeavour to effect the sale and get $100,000 paid down, the rest to be secured by a mortgage on the property. The scheme was to combine the Dickson Co., the Peterborough Light and Power Co. and the Street Railway Co. Witness' remuneration was to be all he could get in excess of the price set which was a sum which would give each member of the family $100,000. After the option expired Mr. Hazlitt asked witness to continue his efforts. Witness explained to Mr. Hazlitt that his scheme with Mr. Starr to combine the three companies had fallen through. Mr. Hazlitt died on Oct. 29th, 1899. Afterwards witness was most largely in consultation with Mrs. Hazlitt and also with the Misses Dickson. He met William Davidson almost daily and discussed the matter with him. They were most anxious that he would succeed in effecting a sale. Concurrently with his negotiations with Mr. Star for the sale of the whole property witness was carrying on negotiations with Mr. Alexander McLaren, of Buckingham, for a sale of the timber limits. This was May 9th, 1900. This was the date of the contract with Mr. McLaren. A written offer from Mr. Star to the defendants dated May 10th was produced. It was delivered to Mr. Richard Hall the following day. Mr. William Davidson and Mr. Dickson Hall were present at the time. On the evening of May 11th he was asked to explain the offer of Mr. Star to the company. This he did. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Hazlitt, Mrs. Walsh and, he thought, Miss Laura Davidson were there. The offer was discussed, concerning security, terms, etc. They expressed themselves as satisfied with the offer which would net each member of the family about $90,000 each. The Misses Dickson were in Atlantic City at the time and were telegraphed to setting forth the terms of the offer. All agreed that Mrs. Hazlitt should sign the telegram. An answer was received approving the offer. Mr. Hall stated to witness that a Board meeting would be held that night but witness was told his presence was not wanted. On the following Monday Mr. Wm. Davidson told witness that objections had been made to the offer. Witness went to see Mrs. Hazlitt about the matter, who suggested that he go to Toronto to see Mr. McGill about the objection to the security. He telegraphed Mr. McGill, but Mr. McGill answered that it was no use arguing about it. He wouldn't receive him. Mrs. Hazlitt then suggested that witness write to Miss Charlotte Dickson. The letter was written and both Mrs. Hazlitt and Mrs. Walsh approved of its contents. A telegram was received stating that the Misses Dickson would return for a conference. Another telegram was received from the Misses Dickson authorizing Mrs. Hazlitt to vote for them if necessary at the Board meeting.

Mr. Poussette is still giving evidence as the Examiner goes to press.

THE BEET ROOT SUGAR INDUSTRY.

An Important Meeting Was Held in the Town Council Chamber.

COMPANY'S REPRESENTATIVE

Mr. Moody Insists That They Must Have a Bonus of $50,000.

THE FARMERS NOW CONTROL THE SITUATION.

Many Representative Men Speak — A Committee Appointed to Look Thoroughly Into the Matter—Will Probably go to Michigan for Facts.

A meeting of the County Council of the County of Peterborough, the Town Council, the Ashburnham VillageCouncil, representatives of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute and from the Peterborough Board of Trade, was held in the Town Council Chamber yesterday afternoon to hear the propositions made made by a representative of a beet sugar company in the States concerning the establishment of a beet sugar factory in Peterborough. The meeting was quite well attended, and was a representative gathering. Towards the close of it the discussion became quite general and the outcome of the meeting was that a committee was appointed to wait on the town council and the county council in reference to having a by-law submitted to the people of the town and county, bonusing the concern to the extent of $50,000.

The chair was occupied by Mayor Denne, and amongst those in attendance were the following:—George W. Fitzgerald, warden, Wm. Anderson, T. M. Hunter, Paul Castello, Wm. Collins, T. G. Eastland, E. M. Elliott, J. B. Pearce, W. H. Casement, Dr. Jeffs, Robt. Pollock, Reeve Adams, Peter Campbell, Jas. Edgcumb, Jno. Riddell, E. A. Peck, Geo. E. Elliott, G. M. Roger, Joseph Forster, S. B. Armstrong, Geo. Stewart, Adam Hall, Vincent Eastwood, F. H. Dobbin, T. E. Bradburn, Geo. S. Matthews, H. Rush, H. P. Kennedy, J. W. Garvin, W. J. Morrow, W. B. Bamford, Dawson Kennedy, Josiah Smithson and others.

THE CHAIRMAN.

His worship explained the object of the meeting which was the outcome of certain correspondence between the representative of a certain sugar beet company, and himself. In a certain letter from the said company, which the chairman read, the company stated that they would require a bonus of $50,000, and exemption of taxation for ten years. His worship made a few further remarks as to the importance of the beet sugar industry and called upon Mr. Moody, representing an American concern, to address the meeting.

Mr. Moody, after a few preliminary remarks, said that the results of the analysis of the sugar beets grown in this district, had been a great surprise to his company. It certainly showed that they had a very progressive lot of farmers in the neighbourhood, or exceptionally fine farms for growing beets. The establishment of a sugar beet factory does not depend entirely upon the matter of bonus, the speaker said, as it is profitable enough in any event, but it is important that they should have the farmers of the community directly interested in the venture. The principal feature is the acreage. There is no doubt that there is a vast amount of money in sugar beets, and in support of this he read a number of extracts from reports to show the profits gained by certain farmers in Michigan, who cultivate the sugar beet. In Michigan many people who do not own an acre of land, grow beets to advantage, after paying for all the labour connected therewith, paying rent for their farms, and meeting other expenses, etc. They average a profit of $25 per acre. The farmer is benefitted more directly in this business than anyone else; after him the business man. There would be about four hundred and eighty thousand dollars distributed amongst the farmers of this district by the operation of a factory such as they proposed establishing in Peterborough. Speaking as to the capacity of the plant, the speaker said that it would require ten thousand tons of lime, twenty thousand tons of coal, and ten thousand tons of coke a year to run the establishment. About $750,000 would actually be paid out in the vicinity each year. As to the labour required in growing the beets, he said that a farmer who grows ten acres of beets need not have any extra help. The labour is both in the factory and in the country. In the establishment of a factory it is important that the action should be as prompt as possible, as the machinery which must be purchased in Germany or the States, will come in free of duty until April 1st of next year.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy — "You are asking a bonus of $50,000?"

"Yes."

"Would your company undertake to cultivate any quantity of beets, as the companies do in Michigan?—

"Yes, they will."

Continuing, Mr. Moody said, that the roots have to be delivered in October, November, December and January. The frost does not affect them unless they have already been frozen and thawed out. Then the speaker told of the manner in which Galt and Berlin obtained information before entering upon the establishment of a factory. They sent delegations to Michigan and saw for themselves before giving a bonus. His company would pay $4 a ton at the factory for beets and they would furnish the seed in the first place, and instruct the farmers how to cultivate the same. This $4 is the price fixed by the Government for the first year, and after that the company paid in accordance to the amount of sugar contained in the beets. At this rate the beets raised in this district would have yielded over $5 a ton. The by-products were excellent for feeding purposes and should be taken away by the farmers. They can get these by-products free of cost. The company would require from 25 to 30 acres, and would require plenty of water; the water is not necessarily boiled for washing the beets. The company he represented is the same company as is engaged in the sugar beet industry in Michigan. The Cairo industry in Michigan paid 20 per cent. on the common stock. He would not advise the erection of any factory less than a one thousand ton plant; it would scarcely pay. The sugar to be turned out would be of the very best granulated variety. It would require $750,000 to build the plant, and after the first 15 or 20 days after the factory would be in operation, they would be getting returns.

A farmer — "What precentage of sugar used in Canada is made from sugar beets?"

Mr. Moodie — "In Canada it is about 60 per cent., but in the States it is not quite so great, so that instead of thinking that we are using cane sugar we are only using 1-3 of cane sugar. Most of the sugar in Canada comes from Germany.

Mr. Moodie said that Wallaceburg is the only town in Canada that has as established a beet sugar factory.

MAYOR DENNE.

Mayor Denne said that Mr. Moodie represented American capitalists that are willing to expend $750,000 in the erection of a plant in Peterborough, and are willing to outlay about the same amount each year in the operation of the same. Now, then, is it worth while for us to give a cash bonus of $50,000 towards such an undertaking? Berlin has already granted a bonus of $25,000, and the townships around about are voting on another $25,000. There is only going to be one factory in this section of the province. Lindsay has already sent a delegation to Michigan to gain information on the subject, and Peterborough should not be idle. One of the very first questions he asked Mr. Moody when he came, was if he was working Peterborough against any other town; Mr. Moody assured him that he was not, that he came here purely on the strength of the result of the analysis of the sugar beets grown in this vicinity.

Reeve Adams — "Is the Town Council prepared to vote a bonus, Mr. Mayor?"

Mayor Denne said that they did not know sufficiently about the industry to say definitely at the present time whether or not they would.

Continuing Reeve Adams thought that if there was an excursion arranged for a number of the representative men of the county to visit Michigan, it might be a good idea. They could then obtain all the information necessary.

Mr. Moody further said that it was necessary that the machinery should be placed somewhere by April 1st, as there would be a duty placed on machinery coming in after that date. He also said that the company would require a guarantee of 5000 acres for the first year. There should be no trouble in raising 20 tons per acre.

Mr. Wm. Collins, secretary of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, struck a popular note when he said that considering Peterborough's natural advantages, her unlimited water power, the excellent railway facilities, the means of transportation that will be afforded by the Trent Valley Canal, the high analysis of her sugar beets, and her limestone, there was no town in Canada, than can compare with us, and everything considered he thought that Peterborough was the choice of the province, as the most desirable place in which to establish a factory. If, therefore, Mr. Moody or anyother company meant business, they would not insist on such a large bonus, but should be only too willing to locate in the town under such favourable circumstances.

Mr. Moody said that when the Government asked the farmers to cultivate a quarter of an acre each they might be sure that they would put a great deal of labour therein, while had they grown ten acres of beets, the percentage might not be as great. He also said that if they gave a smaller bonus they would get a smaller plant, and accordingly the sugar could not be manufactured as cheap as in larger quantities.

Mr. Collins said that there would be no diffficulty in getting the acreage. He knew one farmer, Mr. George Webber, who reluctantly accepted of the experiment last summer, had since stated that he was prepared to grow 10 acres. There would be no difficulty in getting sufficient beets.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy contended that it was not the farmer alone that were responsible for the excellent results recently attained in this vicinity. He held that it was the land that had as much as anything to do with the success attained.

MR. MOODY AGAIN.

Mr. Moody intimated that if he were the ony gentleman concerned in the matter he might not be looking for a bonus. But his capitalists say the town that offers the most money will get the call, and it is under these conditions that he was now working.

Mr. Wm. Anderson said that as a member of the county council he could not guarantee that they would give a bonus. He thought that the natural advantages offered in Peterborough were sufficiently strong to induce the company to locate in Peterborough. It might be a good idea to let the Municipalities that would be benefited by the factory vote upon the bylaw to raise the bonus.

Mr. Moody said that the first year they accepted the beets no matter what quality they were, but the second and subsequent years they accepted no beets that were not up to the specified quality. The seed is sold to the farmer at 15 cents per pound. They would require to plant 15 pounds to the acre.

Mr Kennedy held that it was a very important question and it should not be allowed to pass without due

ROYAL ARCANUM.

A Reception for Grand Organizer Brown Last Evening.

Members of the local branch of the Royal Arcanum had a merry time last night in the Foresters' Hall, on Simcoe street. Mr. Harry Brown, grand organizer, was in town and such an occasion was not to be allowed to pass lightly, so the members foregathered in force and tendered Mr. Brown a most hearty reception. Vocal and instrumental music were interspersed with speeches and refreshments were served at the close.

THE BOWLING CLUB BALL

Will be Held on Monday Evening, December 30th in the Opera House.

A meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club was held last evening for the purpose of considering the advisability of holding a ball during the winter in the opera house.

The members were unanimous in supporting the idea and the following members of the club were drafted as a ball committee to complete the arrangements: Dr. Boucher, R. C. McHarrie, Robert Kerr, Alf. Terrill, E. C. Complin, Peter Campbell, Dickson Davidson, Judge Weller, F. H. Dickson, G. W. Hatton, Dr. Moher, H. LeBrun, W. D. Parker, Harry Rush, A. H. Stratton, R. E. Wood and R. H. Ross.

The date decided upon was Monday, December 30th, and arrangements are being made to decorate the hall on a sumptuous scale. The refreshments are to be placed in the hands of a caterer.

The committee will meet on Friday evening at half past seven in the Canada Life Board Room to discuss further details.

Rare Chances for Early Buyers.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Roosevelt's Views on the Great Question of Reciprocity.

WELL-BEING OF WAGE WORKERS

The President Says That Is a Prime Necessity in Economic Legislation—The Monroe Doctrine—He Simply Opposes Territorial Aggrandizement—Suppression of Anarchists—Peace of the World.

Washington, Dec. 4.—In his message to Congress yesterday, President Roosevelt advised that Congress should consider the immigration of Anarchists, and expressed the view that Anarchy "should be made an offence against the law of nations, like piracy and the slave trade; for it is of far blacker infamy than either. It should be so declared by treaties among all civilized powers."

Of reciprocity, the President says: "There is general acquiescence in our present tariff system as a national policy. The first requisite to our prosperity is the continuity and stability of this economic policy. Nothing could be more unwise than to disturb the business interests of the country by any general tariff change at this time. Doubt, apprehension, uncertainty, are exactly what we most wish to avoid in the interest of our commercial and material well-being. Our experience in the past has shown that sweeping revisions of the tariff are apt to produce conditions closely approaching panic in the business world. Yet it is not only possible, but eminently desirable, to combine with the stability of our economic system a supplementary system of reciprocal benefit and obligation with other nations. Such reciprocity is an incident and result of the firm establishment and preservation of our present economic policy. It was specially provided for in the present tariff law.

"Reciprocity must be treated as the handmaiden of protection. Our first duty is to see that the protection granted by the tariff in every case where it is needed is maintained, and the reciprocity be sought so far as it can be safely done without injury to our home industries. Just how far this is possible must be determined according to the individual case, remembering always that every application of our tariff policy to meet our shifting national needs must be conditioned upon the cardinal fact that the duties must never be reduced below the point that will cover the difference between the labor cost here and abroad. The well-being of the wage worker is a prime consideration of our entire policy of economic legislation.

"Subject to this proviso of the proper protection necessary to our industrial well-being at home, the principle of reciprocity must command our hearty support. The phenomenal growth of our export trade emphasizes the urgency of the need for wider markets and for a liberal policy in dealing with foreign nations. Whatever is merely petty and vexatious in the way of trade restrictions should be avoided. The customers to whom we dispose of our surplus products in the long run, directly or indirectly, purchase those surplus products by giving us something in return. Their ability to purchase our products should as far as possible be secured by so arranging our tariff as to enable us to take from them those products which we can use without harm to our own industries and labor, or the use of which will be of marked benefit to us."

The message defined the Monroe doctrine as a declaration that there must be no territorial aggrandizement by any non-American power at the expense of any American power on American soil. It was simply a step and a long step, toward assuring the universal peace of the world by securing the possibility of permanent peace on this hemisphere. The United States did not ask under this doctrine for any exclusive commercial dealings with any other American state. It did not guarantee any States against punishment if it misconducted itself, provided that punishment did not take the form of the acquisition of territory by any non-American power. The attitude of the United States in Cuba was sufficient guarantee of its good faith. The work of upbuilding the navy must be continued. It was not necessary to increase the army beyond its present size.

The message concluded as follows: "The death of Queen Victoria caused the people of the United States deep and heartfelt sorrow, to which the Government gave full expression. When President McKinley died our nation in return received from every quarter of the British Empire expressions of grief and sympathy no less sincere. The death of the Empress-Dowager Frederick of Germany also aroused the genuine sympathy of the American people, and this sympathy was cordially reciprocated by Germany when the President was assassinated. Indeed, from every quarter of the civilized world we received at the time of the President's death assurances of such grief and regard as to touch the hearts of our people. In the midst of our affliction we reverently thank the Almighty that we are at peace with the nations of mankind, and we fairly intend that our policy shall be such as to continue unbroken these international relations of mutual respect and goodwill."

WHAT ARE PILES.

Ask Scores of People Who Endure the Wretched Itching, Burning Sensations of Piles and do not Know the Nature of Their Disease or the Remedy to Apply.

Piles or hemorrhoids, as they are sometimes called, are small tumors which form in and about the orifice of the rectum. They are caused by an enlarged and inflamed condition of the veins, which are very numerous in this part of the body. Internal piles are situated along the veins which carry blood from the intestines to the liver; external piles, on the veins which surround the rectum.

Piles are of frequent occurrence among people who have a predisposition to rheumatism or gout. Such persons are subject to constipation and to obstruction in the passage of blood from the intestines, the most common form of piles. Congestion of the rectum, bladder and uterine organs, ovarian tumors and nearly all diseases of the liver are followed by piles, and they are very liable to appear during pregnancy and immediately after childbirth.

In bleeding piles the hemorrhage is sometimes so profuse as to cause death, but protruding piles are probably more dreaded because it is believed that nothing short of a surgical operation will cure them. As a rule every form of piles becomes at times acutely inflamed and extremely painful. The itching and burning usually increases at night, and the misery which many people endure is beyond description.

The magical power which Dr. Chase's Ointment has over each and every kind of piles gives it mastery over this disease, even in its chronic form and it is not unusual to hear of it curing where cruel, expensive and dangerous operations have failed.

There is no guesswork about Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for piles. It has been tried in the crucible of time, and gradually won its way into favor with the medical profession, as well as with the public in general. It has a wonderful soothing and healing effect, and whenever applied to burning, itching, inflamed skin, it affords almost instant relief, cooling the fires of disease and healing the raw ulcerous skin.

As your friends and neighbours about Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is recognized by a surprisingly large number of people as the only actual cure for piles. It will not fail you. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or by mail postpaid on receipt of price, by Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto.

"A handsome and useful Christmas present for your mother or grandmother is a copy of Dr. Chase's last and complete Receipt Book. Illustrated folder free."

Ontario Beekeepers.

Woodstock, Dec. 4.—The annual meeting of the Ontario Beekeepers' Association opened in this city yesterday morning. No business of importance was transacted at the morning session. In the afternoon, John Newton, president of the association, who superintended the Canadian honey exhibit at the Pan-American, gave a short address. H. G. Sibbald of Claude, Ont., read a very practical paper on "The Management of Out-Apiaries and the Prevention of Swarming." The paper was discussed at length, and much valuable information thus elicited. The question of catering to the demands of the British market was then introduced, and an address on the subject made by Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P. It was resolved that the directorate of the association confer on the advisability of forming a guild for the purpose of furthering the interests of beekeepers, and deciding upon a uniform price for honey each season. Prof. Harrison of the Ontario Agricultural College gave an interesting talk on "The Treatment of Foul Brood." The convention will be in session Wednesday and Thursday.

Carpenters' Kidneys.

Carpentering is not an easy trade. The constant reaching up and down, the lifting and stooping over are all severe strains on the kidneys. No wonder a carpenter exclaimed, recently, that every time he drove a nail it seemed as though he was piercing his own back. He uses now on the first sign of Backache and is able to follow his trade with comfort and profit.

DOAN'S Kidney Pills

"I have had kidney and urinary troubles for more than three years with severe pain in the small of my back and in both sides. I could not sleep without difficulty, and I had severe neuralgic pain in both temples. Seeing the advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box. They have given me quick relief, removing the pain from the back and sides, and banishing the neuralgic pains from my head. The urinary difficulty is now entirely gone, I feel fresh and vigorous in the mornings, and am much better in every way since taking these pills." CLARENCE R. SMITH, Carpenter and Builder, Trenton, Ont.

Men, as a class, eat too much meat and are prone to kidney troubles. Women eat too much starch and sweets, bread, and butter and preserves, puddings, pies and cakes, which produce corpulency.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Mr. Charlton at Buffalo.

Buffalo, Dec. 4.—John Charlton, M. P., was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Liberal Club last night. He was given a hearty reception.

Among other things Mr. Charlton said: "Absolute free trade between all the States of the American unions has existed since the union was formed.

"The trade principle that applies to all the States of the American union could be extended to the British American provinces and territories with precisely the same results, and, while the two countries are likely to retain their separate autonomy, it is in the interest of each to apply, to the greatest possible extent, the system that governs the relations of the American states to each other, and to secure, to the greatest attainable extent, the material advantages that would result from union."

Kruger Still Undecided.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Mr. R. T. Vanalen, secretary of the Holland Society of Chicago, has received the following letter from the secretary of President Kruger in reply to an invitation to visit America:

"Casa Cara, Hilversum, Nov. 20, 1901.

"Dear Sir,—I am directed by His Honor the President of the South African Republic to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 1st inst., and to thank you and the Board of Trustees of the Holland Society of Chicago cordially for the resolution passed by them.

"His Honor desires me, however, to add that nothing has been decided as to an eventual visit to America, and that, therefore, nothing can be arranged in connection with the matter."

Two Million Victims.

It is estimated that one-third the population of Canada are victims to the pill habit. This should not be so as Morrill's System Tonic tones the liver, restores the natural muscular powers to the bowels and permanently cures habitual Constipation. The result is that dyspepsia, impure blood and nerve troubles disappear. One 50 cent bottle cures. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

Wanted in Minnesota.

Winnipeg, Dec. 4.—Antoine Thomas was arrested by Detective McKenzie at Morris on Monday on the charge of murder. He was brought here and is awaiting the action of the Minnesota authorities. It was learned that the murder of a man named Bushby, for which Thomas is wanted, was committed at Hallock, Minn., two years ago.

600 Thrown Out.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 4.—The breaker of the Green Ridge Coal Company was destroyed by fire yesterday with all boiler and engine houses, blacksmith shops, and car sheds, entailing a loss of $110,000, partly insured. Six hundred employes are thrown out of employment.

C.P.R. Earnings.

Montreal, Dec. 4.—The C.P.R. traffic earnings for the week ending Nov. 30, was $1,048,000; for the same week last year, $781,000.

Pain in the Joints

may be muscular or rheumatic. The joints are hard to get at, and it requires a powerful, penetrating medicine to reach the affected parts. Polson's Nerviline exactly meets the requirements, for it both powerful and penetrating. The pain is expelled as if by magic, for one drop of Nerviline equals in strength five drops of other medicine. You won't often call the doctor if Nerviline is in the house. Price 25c.

Spicer Held for Murder.

Halifax, Dec. 3.—The preliminary examination of James Spicer, who shot John Spicer in the woods near Advocate Harbor on Saturday, was held yesterday at Parrsboro. The prisoner was committed for trial on a charge of murder. He will be taken to the Amherst Jail and confined there until the June term of the Supreme Court.

Double Tragedy in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Dec. 3.—While in a drunken frenzy last night, Joseph Flory, a clerk in the employ of the Graubner Ice Company, stabbed his wife Lena in the breast with a huge hunting knife, and then cut his own throat, both dying instantly. A 10-year-old son of the couple was a witness of the affair.

King to Visit Cannes.

Cannes, Dec. 3.—Yesterday's Tribune de Cannes states with assurance that King Edward is coming to Cannes at the end of January, after the opening of Parliament. According to the paper, Lord Glenesk, who has a villa at Cannes, communicated this good news to one of his friends residing here.

A HEALTHY WOMAN.

Queen Victoria lived to a glorious old age, but the very best care was taken of her health. She never suffered from headache, indigestion or dyspepsia, brought on in most cases by negligence at one time or another. "Climax" Iron Tonic Pills cure such complaints. Fifty-Seventh Congress Opened.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The opening day of the first session of the 57th Congress in the House of Representatives yesterday furnished a spectacle that delighted the crowded galleries. The organization of the House was accomplished according to time-honored precedents. Speaker Henderson was sworn in by General Bingham, the "Father of the House," and after delivering a very graceful speech in recognition of the honor bestowed upon him, he in turn administered the oath to the members-elect. The usual committees were appointed to inform the President and the Senate that the House was organized and ready to do business. The flower show, which is the great feature of the opening day, was not as imposing as usual. More flowers than ever before were sent to members, but after the seat drawing the House adjourned before a third of them were brought into the hall.

Shot by Companion.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—The remains of the late Frederick Percy Ball, who was accidently shot by a companion while hunting at Sag Harbor, Long Island, N.Y., on Thanksgiving Day, were brought here yesterday afternoon. Deceased's wife and two children accompanied the remains here, where they will be buried to-day.

To Make Marriages Easy.

Paris, Dec. 2.—The Chamber of Deputies voted urgency for a bill introduced by Charles Bernard, making all marriage formalities absolutely free of all costs, with a view to check depopulation.

Missions in China Combine.

Pekin, Dec. 1.—The representatives of the three great missions in China, the American Board of Foreign Missions, the London Society and the Presbyterian Board are engaged in carrying out the most important scheme for co-operation in the history of missions in China. The consolidated missions will be called the North China Educational Union. They will embrace theological and female schools and the college at Tungchou. The Rev. Dr. Sheffield of the American Board of Foreign Missions will be president of the united societies.

Canada Takes First Prize.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—At the Live Stock Exposition, sheep were exhibited from Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, and Michigan, and many Canadian sections. Canada won each prize in the first contest. Shropshires, fat wethers, first, Richard Gibson, Delaware, Ont.; second, Jno. Campbell, Woodville, Ont.; third, Richard Gibson.

Will Never Play Again.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Sol Smith Russel, the famous actor, whose home is here, was recently stricken with locomotor ataxia. The malady has advanced so far that kindly Thespian is denied the use of his legs. He is pushed about in a go-cart by a colored man.

Specify Details.

The tramp was very tired and sorely in need of something to devour. He approached a farmhouse and, meeting the farmer's wife, observed:

"Give me something to satisfy the cravings of the inner man and I will kill all the rats about the place."

"Agreed," was the answer.

He was given a good plate of meat and bread, which he consumed speedily, and then asked for the heaviest mallet that could be found. Receiving the club he sat down upon the threshold and said to the farmer's wife:

"Now, bring out your rats."

A Dead Heat With One Entry.

"What's the funniest thing I ever saw?" repeated the gentleman of sporting tendencies. "Well, I guess it was a dead heat in an event where there was only one entry." "How in the world was that?" came from the other end of the store, and when the answer came, "A cremation," the questioner ordered the cigars.

In place of wedding cake in Holland wedding sweets are given. "Bruid suikers" they are called. They are handed round by children and are served in flower trimmed baskets.

A Lady's Lunch

Has been rudely defined by some cynic as "slops and sweets." And after all there's more truth than poetry in the definition. Ice cream and cake may satisfy the palate, but they are far from satisfying to the stomach, which requires that food be nutritious first and nice afterward. By careless eating women pave the way for stomach "trouble," and its kindred miseries.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is confidently commended as a cure for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. By curing diseases which prevent the assimilation of food it enables the body to be built up and strengthened in the only way known to nature—by food digested and assimilated.

"For twelve long months I suffered untold misery," writes Mrs. Mollie Colquitt, of Randolph, Charlotte Co., Va. "No tongue could express the pain that I endured before I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine. I was not able to do anything at all. Could not eat anything except bread and tea—or if I did the top of my head hurt so it seemed it would kill me; would all that I could do it would burn like fire. But now, since using your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription,' I can eat a little of almost anything I want, and can do a good day's work as well as anybody can. Am better than I have been for years."

A Thankful Child.

The child who is adopted finds that there are disadvantages about the adopted position, and one of these is the desire to twit that exists in the minds of youthful companions. A small girl who had endured the scathing remarks of a number of other small girls as long as she considered it necessary ended the conversation with these words: "Well, your papas and mammas had to take you whether they wanted you or not. Mine picked me out of a whole lot of little boys and girls."

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

THE BEET ROOT SUGAR INDUSTRY.

consideration. As a matter of fact there is no town in Canada that has the natural advantages in this regard as has Peterborough. He had changed his mind somewhat of late and if Mr. Moody's company would undertake to cultivate 1,000 acres which they would rent from the farmers. He thought that matters might be brought to a close to-day by a motion recommending that a bylaw be submitted to the town and county.

Mr. Adam Hall considered that the question was a vital one and he thought that there was no business the farmer of Peterborough could go into that would pay them better than sugar beets. He also said that if a bylaw were submitted to the people, there would be no difficulty in securing the $50,000 bonus. Mr. Hall also dwelt on the vast advantages of Peterborough natural and otherwise. He was quite largely interested in the town and was against the bonus system on principle, still, if other towns were offering bonuses Peterborough would have to do the same, and he would favour it for this particular occasion.

Reeve Adams said that he was one of those who had come to the meeting to listen. He coincided with the remarks made by Mr. Hall. A bonus of $50,000 distributed over the town and county for 20 years would not amount to very much. He also considered that the arguments advanced by those who opposed the idea of a bonus, were more favourable towards the granting of the same than against it. He thought that a resolution of some kind should be put through, and he favoured the sending of a delegation to Michigan to see the factories in that State.

Mr. John Riddell did not favour granting bonuses excepting in exceptional circumstances, and this, he thought, was one of these cases. There was no reason why the bonus could not be raised. However, he did not think that the municipalities lying at a distance from the town, as South Monaghan, should be taxed as heavily as the other townships in closer proximity to the factory.

Mr. Geo. E. Elliott urged that the meeting get down to business and take some definite action one way or the other.

Warden Fitzgerald considered that in view of the exceptional facility that Peterborough offers that a bonus of $50,000 should not be asked. He cautioned them to go slow. As an individual he would certainly vote against a bonus.

Mr. Josiah Smithson did not see how any company should ask for a bonus of $50,000 when they were paying a dividend of 20 per cent. He remembered that they voted $60,000 the Grand Junction Railway. But was voted conditionally and as the ..mpany broke their agreement the ..nicipalities got out of paying anything. Perhaps it might be the ..me with this company. All things ..nsidered he would, nevertheless, not object to paying a bonus.

MR. MATTHEWS SPEAKS.

Mr. George S. Matthews made a very logical speech, in which he said that if the town were to vote the whole $50,000 it would amount to only 7-10 of one mill on the dollar, spread over 20 years. If they voted one half the amount, presuming that the other half came from some place else it would amount to only one half of that amount. Bonuses, said the speaker, are given quite freely by other towns, as is known by all manufacturers. He knew that there were manufacturers in Peterborough who are occasionally offered inducements to move to other towns. There is no use in putting up our backs and saying, "Come along, if you want to, and if you don't want to — all right!" Factories can be operated outside of Peterborough just as well as in Peterborough; and while he was as a matter of principle, opposed to the bonusing system, still when factories are looking for bonuses, and other towns are offering inducements we will have to do the same. No concern may expect a bonus without earning it, however, and all bonuses are given subject to certain conditions and no company that has any regard for its standing will fail to live up to such conditions as laid down in the agreement between the parties concerned. He moved, seconded by Mr. Shortly that Messrs. A. Hall, B. F. Ackerman, Dawson Kennedy and William Collins be appointed a committee from this meeting to bring the matter of the establishment of a sugar beet factory in Peterborough before the council of the town and county, and ask the councils to submit bylaws to the ratepayers for that purpose, or to the ratepayers of part of the county, if that is thought advisable; and also to ask the councils to send a deputation to Michigan to enquire into the matter before the bylaws are voted upon.

Before the question was put, Mr. D. W. Dumble made a telling speech in support of the establishment of a sugar beet factory here. It was not a question of whether a bonus was right or wrong, but whether we can get this establishment without a bonus. During his remarks he pointed out the manner in which the county would benefit by the establishment of such a factory.

The motion was carried amid much enthusiasm.

THE SNOW BYLAW.

Will the Snow be Cleared From the Walks or the Bylaw From the Statute?

At four o'clock yesterday a petition signed by seventy-six citizens was filed with the town clerk praying for the repeal of the so styled obnoxious fire-limit snow bylaw, which is regarded as impossible of enforcement, and only productive of police court cases. The petitioners for the repeal of the bylaw claim that the enforcement of the bylaw entails hardship and injustice; that residents within the fire limits are compelled to clean the walks for the benefit of persons living in the outside of the town. In the case of widows and persons of weak health or scant means, the enforcement is a hardship. In case of a heavy snow fall these persons cannot clean the snow themselves nor get out to procure assistance even if they could afford to do so. If they do not comply with the bylaw then they are "haled" before the police court and if the bylaw is adhered to are fined mulcted in costs. In either event the walk is not cleaned, and we have slippery spots alternating with clear pavement, a trap to the unwary who knows not of these slippery spots till he comes down with a dull or sharp thud as the case may be. Suppose a heavy snow falls on Saturday night the owners of shops who live in the suburbs are compelled to come down town and shovel snow instead of going to church. It is claimed that as trunk sewers are built in the central part of the town by a general tax, because they are for the general good, the snow in the central part of the town should be removed at the expense of the town. This would secure uniformity and a satisfactory clearing. It is further claimed that no bylaw which conflicts so strongly with public sentiment as does the fire-limit snow bylaw, can be enforced even if its palpable injustice made its enforcement advisable. The petition mentioned will probably come before the council at its meeting to-night, and no doubt our city fathers will give it respectful heed, for, are not the elections at hand?

YOUNG MENS' GUILD

Of St. Andrew's Church Elected Their Officers Last Night.

The regular monthly meeting and annual meeting for the election of officers of the Young Men's Guild, of St. Andrew's church, was held last night, there being a good attendance of members. The chair was occupied by Mr. T. G. Anderson.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. J. G. Potter.
President—T. G. Anderson.
Vice Pres.—Wm. Campbell.
Rec. Sec.—John Lang.
Cor. Sec.—Chas. Anderson.
Treas.—E. M. Glover.
Councillors—Messrs. Willis Gatrow, Jack Gerrard, Peter Kerr and H. H. Edmison.

A musical committee was also appointed consisting of Messrs. Gatraw, Moore, Elliott, Gerrard and Lang.

A committee was appointed to draft a form of ceremony to be used upon the installation of new members and also upon the opening and closing of the meetings.

An invitation will be sent to the Men's Guild of St. Paul's church to have a representative attend the next regular meeting of the Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's.

The regular business of the League was then taken up.

EVANGELICAL MEETINGS.

Mr. Walden Speaks on "A True and Tried Friend"—Very Successful.

A very interest audience listened to Evangelist Walden in St. Andrew's church hall last evening.

Mr. Walden took as his subject "And there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother," and referred to the fact that the heart of man seeks friendship—that the friendships of the world are deceptive, being soon won and soon lost, and that Christ is the only constant friend because His love and interest are not conditioned by our circumstances. He strongly urged all to put their confidence in such a friend as He had proved His friendship to the world, and that His love was ever the same.

The services will be continued each night, beginning at 7.45. All are welcome.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club was held in the Y.M.C.A. last night, there being present, Messrs. R. F. McWilliams, H. R. H. Kenner, Hal. Burnham, Andrew Scott, H. Rush and E. S. Clarry.

The report of the dance committee was received and proved to be quite satisfactory.

The secretary was instructed to write to London in reply to their challenge for a game, stating that the local club will have nothing to do with them until they have paid the Peterborough club the $50 they owe them.

A number of recommendations to the Union as to the change of rules were made, the principal of which was the abolition of the age limit in the junior series.

Woodstock Sentinal-Review.—Some time ago the London News suggested that the Cockney football team would give the Argos the game of their lives for the O.R.F.U. senior championship. The Hamilton Tigers beat London handily and yet the Ambitious City bunch couldn't get within hailing distance of the flag. London wouldn't have one chance in ten with the Argos.

Something About Faith Cures.

What a great variety of faith cures there must be, some have faith in so-called divine healers, others in certain doctors and still others in the medicines they use. Every person who has tested Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has faith in them, but faith or no faith they cure just the same, for they act directly and specifically on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and make these organs healthy, acitve and vigourous. Judging from the enormous demand for these pills there must be hosts of people that have faith in them.

TALK IT OVER!

The Important Matter of Buying Fur Garments that are the Best and Cheapest.

After a Persian Lamb Jacket has been once seen and worn, the "Jacket talk is no longer confined to the ordinary or commonplace. It rises with the occasion. The thoughts suggested dignify and elevate the discussion of relative Fur merits, and BARRIE FURS will be found in the lead.

"Our Furs" show more important and exclusive styles, marking modern fashions and progress than any other store in Peterborough. These are real facts.

Thus when a buyer buys a Fur garment from us—and buyers are buying them pretty fast these days—they are assured of possessing not only a distinct and distinguished style, but a garment of high grade both in quality and manufacture. In fine, they have acquired a garment that will not belie their claim of possessing "the best." You've not yet bought that Christmas Present. Why not let it be a nice Fur Garment?

ST. LUKE'S MISSION.

Divine Service To-morrow Evening at 7.30 O'clock.

To-morrow evening at 7.30 divine services will be held in St. Luke's church, preparatory to the Mission, which will commence on Sunday next. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will preach at this service on "Separation from Known Evil." The public is heartily invited to attend this and the other services, which will be held every afternoon at 4.15, and evening at 7.30 throughout the Mission.

The Children's Mission Band of St. Luke's church, which meets every Saturday at 2 p.m., is rapidly growing in membership under the efficient leadership of Mrs. Sawyer and Mrs. T. H. Adams. Over 40 boys and girls constitute the membership. They intend caring for and clothing a child of one of the Mission Schools in the Northwest.

A mothers' meeting has been started in connection with St. Luke's church, which meets every first and third Wednesday of each month.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. W. L. Armitage and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt are attending the induction of Rev. J. H. Teney to the Rectory of Omemee and Emily, which will be held tonight in Christ church, Omemee. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt is to preach the induction sermon.

A. P. POUSSETTE VS. DICKSON COMPANY.

Continuation of the Hearing of the Case.

PLAINTIFF ON THE STAND.

Continuation of the Report of the Testimony of Plaintiff—The Public Interest in the Trial.

The trial of the case, Poussette vs. Dickson Company engaged the attention of the court all day yesterday and even at a late hour last evening when the court rose the examination of the plaintiff, who had been in the witness box continuously for some ten hours, was not concluded and was resumed this morning. The large attendance including ladies showed the public interest in the trial.

The following is a continuation of Mr. Poussette's evidence:

Mr. William Davidson and Mr. R. S. Davidson considered the offer in presence of witness, and Mr. R. S. Davidson advised former to accept the offer of purchase without delay. Miss Charlotte Dickson had told him that $150,000 cash down would be satisfactory. Mr. William Davidson had issued instructions to the foreman of the company to allow the timber limits to be inspected. Witness had made a cash basis statement, and submitted the balance sheets of 1899, and some figures from the balance sheet of April, 1900, to Mr. Starr as taken from the company's books. The balance sheets of 1898 were also submitted. According to the valuations fixed by the statements the sale would provide $100,000 for each member of the family, after all liabilities had been paid. Mr. Starr proposed to take over the limits, the plant, and the last season's cut of logs. The matter then remained in abeyance until June 21st. In the meantime Mr. William Davidson had told him that the ladies said not to let the sale stick for a few thousand dollars. The Misses Dickson had also returned from Atlantic City. Miss Dickson was non-committal. Witness then asked for a family discussion, which took place at Miss Dickson's house. There seemed to be no objection now to the security. The only objection had been that the mortgage on the real estate was too large. There was no objection to selling the limits to Mr. McLaren. A new board had been elected in May whereby Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Walsh replaced the Misses Dickson for the purpose of allowing a sale to be carried out in their absence. The meeting on June 21st included all the shareholders, a bylaw being passed to allow the Misses Dickson to also act on the board. Mr. Starr's proposition was then refused, and a resolution passed authorizing a sale to be made to Mr. McLaren, to whom witness and Mr. Starr had proposed to sell the property themselves. Witness protested against a sale being made to Mr. McLaren, stating that the option should be given to either himself or Mr. Starr. The company however would not deal with any one but Mr. McLaren. The offer to Mr. McLaren was not accepted by him. Witness produced memorandum of sale which he had made to Mr. Starr. It was dated May 9th, 1900, and was signed by witness as agent of the company, and by Mr. Starr. Data were then produced upon which witness figured his loss by being deprived of the profits, which by such a sale, would accrue to him.

Justice Meredith held that the question of liability should take precedence over the matter of the amount of damages.

The figures went in as a matter of record, the investigation being postponed until a later stage of the trial.

Resuming, Mr. Poussette said that the date showed his loss to be $160,000.

THE CROSS EXAMINATION.

To Mr. Watson, K.C., Mr. Poussette stated that he had been practicing in Peterborough for 25 or 30 years. He had acted as Mr. Hazlitt's solicitor until the latter's death. He was appointed solicitor of the estate in 1886, and was solicitor of the company until this year, with the exception of two years. Some two years after the formation of the company, he was appointed secretary of the company. His salary as solicitor and secretary was $1000 per year. On May 12th, 1899, his duties were lightened, and remuneration lessened. Up to the time of his death Mr. Hazlitt was the general manager of the company, and witness advised with him in regard to all business affairs. Witness spent several hours a day with Mr. Hazlitt for the three years previous to the latter's death. Witness practically managed the estate during this time. The ladies who were shareholders, took no part in the management of the company until Mr. Hazlitt's death. From this time on witness was not consulted as much as before. He received the confidence of the ladies and gave them full information concerning the proposed sale of the property. Relations were not quite so cordial after the failure of the sale to Mr. Starr. What he proposed to sell to Mr. Starr consisted of company property with the exception of the shares in the Peterborough Light and Power Co. He was more intimate with Mr. Wm. Davidson than with the others. He saw him every day and made the fullest disclosures to him of the company's business. There was no difference made between him and the other members. Mr. Starr was equally interested in the sale with him. The written agreement was given to Mr. Pringle, of Cornwall, to keep, as trustee. There was an agreement between him and Mr. Starr as far back as fall of 1898. Mr. Starr was seeking to sell the property at that time as equal agent with witness. All gains were to be shared equally. Witness considered Mr. Starr was equally interested in the present suit with him. Witness was agent for the company and Starr was agent for witness. Witness always represented the company in negotiations for sale.

Mr. Watson—"Then you professed, as agent, to make a sale to Mr. Starr, and had an interest in the gains of the agent and the gains of the purchaser."

Continuing, witness stated that he had told Mr. Davidson of Mr. Starr's connection with him in the matter. He had drawn up the offer made by Mr. Starr. He was jointly interested with Mr. Starr in the exploitation and was also acting at the same time as adviser of the company. At this time he was not sure that he was vested with authority to act for the company. He had told Mr. Starr this. Mr. Starr knew witness could not bind the company. He never intended to purchase the property himself. He got the option for the purpose of making a sale. The option expired in three months. There was no written authority given after that time. He did not claim to have authority after this but he did not know but that he had authority. On May 9th, 1900, he was in Ottawa and signed the agreement with Mr. McLaren. He could not say in whose behalf he had signed this. Mr. Starr had also signed the agreement. He was not making a claim for the sale to Mr. McLaren. Mr. Starr was doing the selling to Mr. McLaren. Witness had agreed to sell to Mr. Starr. Both agreements were made in Ottawa. On his return to Peterborough he had not notified the company of this transaction. He never mentioned the sale to Mr. Starr to the company. He did not profess to be acting for the company. He had made a bona fide sale to Mr. Starr. It was not binding in law as there was no written agreement. There was nothing to conceal. He had refused Mr. Starr to put the agreement in writing. Mr. Starr had said that he doubted his honesty when he refused to put it into writing. He recollected no correspondence in the matter. Later, in February last, he had had signed the agreement of sale with Mr. Starr.

This offer which was rejected in June by the company was afterwards ratified by witness, who then gave Mr. Starr a written agreement of sale ante-dating it by several months. He had made no disclosure of his letters to Mr. Starr regarding the sale. He would not at first ante-date a document as requested. He had given an agreement later dated at the time the agreement had been made verbally. He had not disclosed this to the company and considered it straightforward. He was not the agent of the company when he signed and gave the agreement of the sale to Starr, but he was agent when the agreement was really made. The agreement of sale had been ante-dated at the request of Mr. Starr. He thought it was perfectly right to ante-date a document in this manner. He had told Miss Dickson of the sale. He had not told the company.

His Lordship, at this juncture, questioned as to whether a sale would hold good under such circumstances as these in which an agent sold to himself without informing his principal. He thought the rest of the evidence might be left over until this point was settled.

Mr. Watson professed himself willing to let the case stand as it was at present, simply putting in the correspondence between Messrs. Poussette and Starr which he averred would prove grave breach of trust on Mr. Poussette's part in connection with the company.

Mrs. James Craig, who has been in the Nicholls Hospital under treatment, for the past couple of weeks is improving, and the doctors have decided that an operation shall not be necessary as was first feared.

The Ladies' Institute gave a social on Monday evening for the purpose of increasing their membership. A most enjoyable evening was spent with music and impromptu speeches by the ladies. The secretary reports quite a large addition to the membership.

The Lakefield Portland Cement Co. have purchased a much larger steam engine to haul marl from Buckley's Lake to the plant here. It arrived here Wednesday.

Mr. Finlay while in North Dakota was out hunting in the Pembina Mountains with Mr. George Cunningham. Mr. Cunningham's gun was accidently discharged, the contents lodging in Mr. Finlay's leg. It was some time before a doctor could be procured, and when he arrived it was found necessary to amputate the limb below the knee. Mr. Finlay has the sympathy of the entire community in his most unfortunate accident.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Robert Gilroy, of Nassau street, on Wednesday evening when his daughter, Miss Minnie Gilroy, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Gilbert Gordon, of the village, in the presence of the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Rev. Mr. Bridgeman performed the ceremony. Miss Mary Gordon acted as bride's maid, and Mr. John Blewett supported the groom. The number of valuable presents received by the bride testifies to the high esteem in which the young couple are held by the residents of the village.

Wednesday and Thursday of last week were "Turkey Days" in Lakefield. Four carloads of turkeys were brought in and shipped to Lindsay by Dundass & Flavelle Bros.

The sleighing has improved business in Lakefield, bringing a great many farmers and their wives from distant points, as well as those in the immediate neighbourhood, to do their trading here. Our local merchants have laid in large stocks and are prepared to give better bargains than ever to their numerous customers. The local carters state that more new goods are being handled by the merchants this year than for a number of years.

Mlle. Decrey of Peterborough, was in the village on Thanksgiving Day, arranging for classes in Music, and French and German. She will be in Lakefield every Thursday, and will teach pupils at the residence of Mr. C. J. Blomfield.

The Chosen Friends will hold their regular meetings in the Foresters' Hall on the first and third Friday evenings of each month. Their next regular meeting will be Friday, Dec. 6th.

On Monday evening, Dec. 2nd, Beresford, L.O.L., meets in the Orange Hall. Election of officers.

Tuesday evening is Past Masters' night in Clementi Lodge, No. 313, A. F. & A.M., when they are expected to exemplify the work in the third degree. The officers for 1902 will also be elected.

They Cure Coughs

GRIP-QUININE Tablets are a new, safe and speedy cure for coughs, colds and similiar affections. Grip-Quinine has all the beneficial effects of old fashioned quinine without its nauseous taste and unpleasant consequences. Grip-Quinine breaks up the worst cold or cough, cures LaGrippe, chills, fever, malaria, etc. A dose at bedtime breaks the cold before morning. Relief in one dose. Cure in one day. The genuine has the Dog's Head Trade Mark on every box. Refuse all others. 25 cents a box at your druggists, or by mail from the Canada Grip-Quinine Co., Ltd., Brockville, Ont.

BAD BLOOD.

You can't be healthy if your blood is impure or watery,—if poison is circulating through your arteries instead of rich, pure, life-giving blood.

If you feel, drowsy, languid,—are constipated, have pimples or blotches breaking out on your body, the remedy for you is Burdock Blood Bitters.

"I have been using B.B.B., also my brother and sister-in-law, and we find it a most reliable and efficacious blood purifier, and most cordially recommend it. We purchased it from J. R. Ault & Sons of this town." MISS C. M. WATSON, Aultsville, Ont.

B.B.B. is a highly concentrated blood purifying vegetable remedy,—only 1 teaspoonful at a dose,—you add the water yourself.

WHAT CAUSES DEAFNESS.

The Principal Cause is Curable but Generally Overlooked.

Many things may cause deafness, and very often it is difficult to trace a cause. Some people inherit deafness. Acute diseases, like scarlet fever, sometimes cause deafness. But by far the most common cause of loss of hearing is catarrh of the head and throat.

A prominent specialist on ear troubles gives as his opinion that nine out of ten cases of deafness is traced to throat trouble; this is probably over-stated, but it is certainly true that more than half of all cases of poor hearing are caused by catarrh.

The catarrhal secretion in the nose and throat finds its way into the Eustachian tube and by clogging it up it very soon affects the hearing, and the hardening of the secretion makes the loss of hearing permanent, unless the catarrh which caused the trouble is cured.

Those who are hard of hearing may think this a little far-fetched, but any one at all observant must have noticed how a hard cold in the head will affect the hearing and that catarrh, if long neglected will certainly impair the sense of hearing and ultimately cause deafness.

If the nose and throat are kept clear and free from the unhealthy secretions of catarrh, the hearing will at once greatly improve and anyone suffering from deafness and catarrh can satisfy themselves on this point by using a fifty-cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new catarrh cure, which in the past year has won the approval of thousands of catarrh sufferers, as well as physicians, because it is in convenient form to use, contains no cocaine or opiate, and is as safe and pleasant for children as for their elders.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a wholesome combination of Blood Root, Guaiacol, Eucalyptol and similar antiseptics, and they cure catarrh and catarrhal deafness by action upon the blood and mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

As one physician aptly expresses it, "You do not have to draw upon the imagination to discover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvement and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken."

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but fifty cents for full sized packages, and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders, will appreciate to the full the merit of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

What is Going on in the Village to the East.

Mr. Samuel Girven was in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Frank Rutherford, who is attending the School of Practical Science, Toronto, has been spending the past few days in town visiting friends.

Mr. S. Hendren left on Saturday of last week for Chatham, where he has secured a position in the Chatham Wagon Factory. If the job proves satisfactory Mr. Hendren will take up his residence there.
